Frustration Lies Behind Hair-pulling

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter 16, began pulling out her eyelashes, then her eyebrows, about four years ago, and for the last two years has been pulling a spot about four inches across on top of her head almost bare.

We have had her checked by family physician, psychiatrist and psychologist, and all say it is just a habit. What to do on and on? Would hypnosis help her? — A. C.

It may be a habit, all right, but I would proceed on the assumption that she must be severely frustrated in some way because something must lie behind the habit.

This baby-pulling trick is more expectable at a younger age, but at 16 it is time to look deeper for a cause. More habit, without some underlying compulsion, doesn't satisfy me as an explanation.

I am reluctant to suggest hypnosis. That might better be determined by your physician of the psychiatrist, but I surely would return the girl to one or the other for more investigation.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cure for a person who has taken amphetamines for 10 years? — J. T.

Stop taking them.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: How are "crabs" transmitted? Can they come from the bathroom stool? How long before the eggs are laid? Does hot soap and water kill "crabs"? What will? — M. A. S.

Pthirius pubis, or the "crab louse" can be transmitted sexually to person, or through indirect contact — a toilet stool that has not been adequately cleaned, via clothing or bedclothes.

When a female crab louse lays eggs, she glues them to the base of a hair, usually in the region of the crotch, but sometimes elsewhere on the body. The egg hatches in about 10 days: a female can begin laying more eggs almost immediately after birth, will live about 30 days and in that time lays 200 eggs.

The lice can hide in the seams of clothes, too, so frequent and thorough cleaning is necessary.

Hot water and detergent will kill both lice and eggs but taking an ordinary bath with soap will not.

Thus for clothes, thorough washing or dry cleaning is essential; as well as thorough cleaning of bathroom or other places where the insects may be.

A few lice can cause a great deal of itching and scratching and when a patient is not treated promptly, irritation and skin infection is a very frequent result.

Several very effective medications or lotions can clear up the crab lice quickly, but have a physician tell you which to use and how. Reason: Self-medication seldom gets often and thorough cleaning is necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a sister about a special light that can remove it. Are there any other ways? I am 18. — H. M.

The light you read about might possibly be laser, with which a great deal of experimenting is now in progress, but most other familiar methods, long in use, and very effective. Depending on the location of the mark, you might have your regular doctor remove it, or go to a dermatologist or plastic surgeon if an absolute minimum of scar is required.

• • •

Note to "M": No, tranquilizers do not harm the heart. In any event, you are wisely using them in moderate amount.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a sister who is under the care of a physician for a thyroid condition. Would a sanitarium be helpful? — M. A. S.

Sanitarium care is not necessary.

School Official Honored

MARMORA — E. D. O'Connor, 90, of Marmora, received an award of merit at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Thursday, in recognition of outstanding service rendered on behalf of Catholic education in Ontario. Dr. Joseph J. Fyfe, Sudbury, past president of the Ontario Separate School Trustees' Association, made the presentation at the annual dinner of the Association. Mr. O'Connor, who has had 52 years' service as secretary of the Deloro Separate School Board, received a standing ovation from the 600 people present at the dinner.

In attendance with Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Breen O'Connor, Marmora; Mrs. Joseph Donnelly, Niagara Falls; a granddaughter, Anne O'Connor, Toronto, and Monsignor F. J. Spotts, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, Marmora, and Mrs. W. Spence.

STAYING ON THE JOB

Only one working day in 1,000,000 was lost in Sweden owing to strikes or labor disputes in 1944.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Ways Wife Can Lure Hubby Into That Early Retirement

By THOMAS COLLINS

How can a wife make her husband retire at age 65 when she is seeing all around her the widows of men who tried to hang on in 65 or 70?

"I am deeply concerned with this," a wife said this week. "Too many of my friends have lost husbands between age 62 and 65 . . . and too many of them wouldn't be old if they had made them retire before their jobs broke them down."

This wife was using a technique, a strategy, to lure her husband to quit. "I'd rather have a man in the living room making $350 a month than to have one in the cemetery making $800 . . .

Now this wife could do what a few wives have done, after 40 years of handling the laundry, the cooking and the bed-making for their man. She could announce she is just sticking over in the next county, and forget to come back. In about three weeks, if she kept willing him as age when "position" is full of it in the bible of success. And more important, if retirement comes to them, too. Does your husband really think, anyway, that he can get a crown between now and 65?

3. What to do with leisure. The wife normally would have to cook up the answer to this because husband is usually aren't attuned to it. The answer must look like fun. It must be absorbing. It must be diversified. And it fit fits these requirements it will lure the husband out of his job as a steak bone lures a beagle.

It could be a new pattern of life at home, with late breakfasts, outdoor cooking, naps, afternoon walks, and some etc. It could be travel to some wild blue yonder. It should not be another job, even part-time, but it could be the pursuit of some new special hobby or interest of the husband, for which the wife might be justified in spending $100 out of grocery money for new power tools, new photographic equip ment, new golf clubs.

A wife who keeps her husband from killing himself by work or neglect, and thus keeps him, like the hen treasure a gray-haired lady can have. Better even than trading stamps.

Now, at the bottom of the street, list assets — equity in the house, investments, cash value on life insurance. Multiply by 6 per cent, which is a conservative return on these assets. Add this figure to the retirem e nt benefits at the left of the sheet. Compare the results with the act income of the salary.

Now husbands out of ten although they don't because you made them do jobs — are surprised and delighted how little real difference there is between job and retirement income.

2. Prestige and position. This is an area for feminine debate . . . and not too gentle. Who does he think he is? A sultan? Roman Caesar? A holder of big titles . . . and not too much. Any husband, and probably his wife, can name at least 10 other men in the husband's job field who have more prestige and position than the husband has. And what has it got them? Just more slaves in an age when "position" is full of it in the bible of success. And more important, if retirement comes to them, too. Does your husband really think, anyway, that he can get a crown between now and 65?

Latin American Countries Make Trade Priority Item

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Foreign Ministers begin work today on a final draft of inter - American social and economic development plans, in preparation for next week's summit meeting of 19 American countries.

Rio Secretary Dean Rusk, who arrived Friday, said the three - day meeting starting Wednesday will help set the course of inter - American development for decades.

The draft declaration—which Rusk for a long time—will be a source red, will be basic Latin American can sell their products in U.S. markets. The economic expansion with aid to concern Americans.

It was thought Johnson might make fresh concessions in opening American markets to Latin exports.

The meeting in Punta del Este, a popular resort 90 miles from Montevideo, will mark the first appearance at an inter-American meeting by the Prime Minister of Trinidad and Tobago, Sir Eric Williams. His land and people became a member of the Organization of American States in February.

Not represented will be Haiti, Cuba and Bolivia.

Cuba's Communist government was recently expelled from the OAS, and Bolivia is angry because its claim for access to the Pacific has not been put on the president's agenda.

SPRUCE PAYS OFF

HALIFAX (CP)—Red spruce is the principal lumber tree in Nova Scotia although balsam fir is probably the most common. The most common hardwoods include sugar maple, red maple, striped maple, mountain ash, white elm, black cherry and ironwood.

The United States already has announced it is prepared to increase aid by $300,000,000 a year to Latin nations struggling to improve education and health standards.

Argentina's Foreign Minister, Nicanor Costa Mendez said today he will not bring up a proposal to create an inter - American peace force as had been expected.

Communists in Uruguay have attacked the conference for being a tool for Yankee dollars into the air Friday to disperse a group of students shouting anti-conference slogans.

Police meanwhile denied published reports of a plot to kill President Johnson by crashing at Punta del Este. But the air force banned all air traffic between Montevideo and Punta del Este during the meeting.

Canadian Firms Bid to Acquire Schlitz Interest in Labatt

TORONTO (CP)—Control of the brewing firm of John Labatt Ltd. of London, Ont., would be returned to Canada under a deal announced Friday to the giant Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. of Milwaukee.

Three Canadian firms — Brazilian light and Power Co., Investors Mutual of Canada Ltd., and Jonlab Investments Ltd. — have offered $35,000,000 — slightly more than $21 a share—for 1,700,000 shares of common stock of John Labatt Ltd.

Schlitz acquired the 40 per cent of Labatt common stock and working control of the Canadian firm in February, 1964, for $29,100,000, so the proposed deal announced Friday would mean a loss of more than $3,000,000 for the U.S. firm.

Canadian officials deplored loss of control to outsiders and the buyers run into determined opposition from the U.S. government, who successfully challenged the deal under U.S. antitrust laws.

The U.S. courts ordered Schlitz to divest itself of the Labatt shares. They found that Schlitz had acted to monopolize the brewing industry in California because, through control of Labatt, it gained control of General Brewing Corp. of San Francisco.

The divestiture to Canadian firms, still requiring approval from the U.S. courts, involves the purchase of stock by Jonlab on behalf of Imsil, Brazilian Light and Power and Investors Mutual.

Brazilian Light's announcement said funds for the purchase came from sale of Montelephone utilities to the Brazilian government.

Brazilian is expected to acquire the largest single block of Labatt stock—1,000,000 shares. The other 700,000 would be acquired by Jonlab, a private company formed by a group of light Bay investment, finish project. Be determined and tenacious. If temptation to give up arises, overcome it. You're on right track!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): What appears to be opposition actually due to melt. Know this — proceed with confidence. New contacts favored. Stress originality, independence. Accent today on creative accomplishment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Don't try too much at once. Proceed with care, caution . . . avoid expanding too quickly. Be observant. Aspects favor minor details could add up to major story.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Indirect approach achieves goal. Means avoid forcing issues. Be subtle . . . then favorable results from recent written report come about. You get news which affects security.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Opportunities highlighted. Ideas can be transformed into realities — and profit. Break from rigid patterns. Experiment . . . shake off lethargy. Come alive! Aid is forthcoming.

* * *

If today is your birthday . . . you are inventive, capable of finding new ways to achieve purpose, goal. You are a natural pioneer, explorer . . . and seldom take no for an answer.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Tiburus, Gemini. Special word to Scorpio: Nothing halfway. Do all the way — or don't start in first place.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Stress today on personality, ability to talk initiative. Emphasis on way you look, act and react. Don't wait for others. Take ball and carry it. You can win!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): New Moon highlights hidden areas. You find things out, solve dilemma if you co-operate with group, organization. Welcome individual who offers constructive aid.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Friends, hopes, wishes are in spotlight. Be pleasant, versatile. Don't insist on any one course of action. If pleasant, you can win. Otherwise, forces are scattered. React accordingly.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Check details. Some restrictions may be beneficial. Certain duties no longer can be neglected. Emphasis now on commitments, resolutions, standing in community.

LEO (July 23—Aug. 22): Active day where ideas are concerned, be ready for changes . . . move with the times. Don't hang on to outmoded procedures. Before day ends, you may be asked to consider plans related to travel.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Be practical where finances enter picture. Fulfill obligations . . . but be sure you get "something for deal." Mate or partner may confide secret. Very likely it's connected with debt.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Emphasis today on relationships in realistic light. If you try to fool yourself . . . there is delay, possible check or critical obligations, agreements . . . review schedule.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Control tendency to argue. Emphasize harmony, organization. You accomplish most through understanding of problems. Satisfaction is forthcoming if you display sincerity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): New Moon highlights romance, creative activity. Refuse to be pushed or bullied. Break out of any emotional rut. When opportunity presents itself . . . take advantage of it.

Canadian officials deplored loss of control to outsiders and the buyers run into determined opposition from the U.S. government, who successfully challenged the deal under U.S. antitrust laws.

The U.S. courts ordered Schlitz to divest itself of the Labatt shares. They found that Schlitz had acted to monopolize the brewing industry in California because, through control of Labatt, it gained control of General Brewing Corp. of San Francisco.

The divestiture to Canadian firms, still requiring approval from the U.S. courts, involves the purchase of stock by Jonlab on behalf of Imsil, Brazilian Light and Power and Investors Mutual.

Brazilian Light's announcement said funds for the purchase came from sale of Montelephone utilities to the Brazilian government.

Brazilian is expected to acquire the largest single block of Labatt stock—1,000,000 shares. The other 700,000 would be acquired by Jonlab, a private company formed by a group of light Bay investment, finish project. Be determined and tenacious. If temptation to give up arises, overcome it. # Michener In Ottawa On Friday

OTTAWA (CP)—Roland Michener, designated as Canada's new Governor-General, will arrive in Ottawa next Friday to prepare for the formal swearing-in ceremony in the Senate chamber Monday, April 17.

A government spokesman said Friday an RCAF Yukon aircraft is being sent to pick up Mr. and Mrs. Michener at New Delhi where he has been Canadian High commissioner since 1964. The Micheners now are completing a round of formal fare-wells in the Indian capital.

The Yukon is scheduled to leave New Delhi Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. and arrive in London at 8:30 a.m., Thursday.

The Micheners will dine with the Queen at Windsor Castle Thursday night when Mr. Michener will receive his formal commission of appointment. The commission is to be flown to London for the Queen's signature.

After rehearsing overnight at the castle, the Micheners will leave London Friday on a regular Air Canada DC-8 flight at 12:35 p.m. A special section of the jet has been prepared as a private cabin.

The flight is due at Montreal at 3:35 p.m. Friday. The Micheners will leave immediately for Ottawa, either by government aircraft or a special train.

They will spend the weekend at 7 Rideau Gate, the luxury mansion recently purchased and refurnished by the government for the use of important state visitors.

After Monday's ceremony the couple will take up residence at Rideau Hall, official residence of Canadian governors-general.

FISHERMEN DROWN

TOKYO (AP)—Nine Japanese fishermen are dead and 11 others missing following the sinking of two fishing boats in gales and heavy seas off northern Japan, the maritime safety agency reported Friday. Two fishermen were rescued.

Hangover, Lack of Sleep Prime Accident Causes

OTTAWA (CP)—A sober man with a hang-over may be a bigger menace behind the wheel of a car than a man who has just had a few cracks at the bottle, says Dr. C. B. Gibbs of the National Research Council.

Moreover, other forms of stress such as lack of sleep and, in particular, frustration, are major causes of car accidents.

In a paper prepared for the Commons justice committee after four years of research, Dr. Gibbs says the driving problem seems to stem from a small minority of drivers with marginal driving ability and low tolerance to stress.

Even if liquor were prohibited entirely "those drivers would probably still cause accidents because of the effects of the many other forms of stress."

He found that some drivers with low readings in breath-analysis tests performed a set of skill tests worse than others with higher readings.

Consequently, when it comes to alcoholic impairment, "the use of the breathalyzer alone could condemn the relatively innocent and exonerate the more guilty."

He has developed an instrument which he calls a "stress-alyzer." It detects individual differences in speed, precision and accuracy and in the preference for speed or accuracy.

"These measures are essential to supplement breathalyzer readings," he says.

Training aids should be designed for drivers which would seek to avoid or eradicate a preference for speed rather than accuracy in given highway situations.

Reactions of teen-aged drivers are usually more rapid and precise than those of adults. But youths had less experience of improbable events and thus often reached too quickly on the mistaken assumption that the more familiar event would occur.

Moderate intoxication did not appreciably impair the ability to deal with familiar driving situations. But it increased markedly the time needed to reach a proper decision in unfamiliar ones.

At least one member of the justice committee — Howard Gradley, Conservative MP for Brome-Missisquoi—has taken a keen interest in the problem of highway safety and has assembled a small mountain of facts.

Mr. Gradley says that since 1899 more than 1,750,000 Canadians and Americans have been killed in car accidents — a greater number than the dead of all wars in Canadian and U.S. history.

After cancer and heart disease, the automobile is the greatest killer in the two countries. It is the No. 1 killer of young people between the ages of 16 and 25.

Mr. Gradley says that unless immediate and dramatic action is taken, 26,000 Canadians will die and more than 1,000,000 will be injured in car accidents in the next five years.

By 1971, he says, every second car coming off Canadian assembly lines will be involved in an accident, resulting in death or injury.

Buddha's Birthday May Halt Bombing

U.S. Admits Bombs Designed to Kill

HONG KONG (AP) — A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon today confirmed a report from the six American Quakers who delivered medical supplies to North Vietnam that U.S. planes are dropping anti-personnel fragmentation bombs on North Vietnam.

The bombs, called CBU for Cluster Bomb Units, are canisters which contain some 800 small bombs, each the size of a fist. Compressed air forces them from the canister, and their damage capability has been compared to that of 800 hand grenades.

"Sure, we used CBU in North Vietnam," the U.S. spokesman said in South Vietnam's capital in response to the statement issued by the Quakers in Hong Kong.

The spokesman did not comment on the Quaker reports that the bombs had been used against civilians in villages. But reliable U.S. sources have said American jets regularly drop anti-personnel bombs on North Vietnamese anti-aircraft batteries even when they are located in villages.

One member of the group, Philip Deeth of San Rapael, Calif., said they were told the bombs contain hundreds of pellets which spray out in all directions "not to destroy buildings or installations but to cut down people."

The group returned to Hong Kong today in the 50-foot ketch Phoenix after delivering $10,000 worth of medical supplies to the North Vietnamese in defiance of U.S. state department regulations.

The six said in a statement that they visited hospitals in Hanoi and Haipong where they were shown persons the North Vietnamese said were civilian victims of U.S. bombing raids.

Truce Is Proposed By South Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AAP) — The United States would halt the bombing of North Vietnam if a ceasefire proposed by South Vietnam goes into effect, a state department spokesman said Sunday.

At the same time, the defence department made it clear that U.S. air and naval forces will be turned loose to strike swiftly if the Communists should try to use a truce period to flood arms and supplies to their forces in South Vietnam.

The state department spokesman said he knew of no Hanoi response so far to Saigon's proposal for a 36-hour Vietnam truce on Buddha's birthday, May 23.

He confirmed that the Saigon regime had consulted with the United States and its other allies before putting forward the latest truce offer.

"The United States concurred in the ceasefire proposal as did the other allies," he said.

"The ceasefire would include a halt in the bombing of the North."

Apollo Moon Program Found to Be Deficient

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (CP-AP)—The U.S. man-to-the-moon program is due for a major overhaul if an investigative board's critical report is to be followed, and it will mean a delay in the project.

The eight-man board said Sunday that it found many workmanship and management deficiencies in the Apollo moon project while it investigated a spacecraft fire that killed three astronauts.

The seven weeks of investigation of the Apollo 1 tragedy, the board recommended a major overhaul of Apollo spacecraft, including a quick-escape hatch, fewer combustible items inside the moonship, and a review of components in Apollo electrical, communications and life-support systems.

The board said a bruised or broken wire most likely sparked the blaze that killed astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White and Roger B. Chaffee in a launch pad test Jan. 27.

The report said probable cause of the fire was either an electrical arc or short circuit in direct - current wiring. An electrical arc is a band of sparks between two closely-placed electrical sources, such as open ends of a broken or bruised wire.

In its 2,000-page report, the board said the fire is believed to have started in the left-hand equipment bay, beneath Grissom's couch.

The board, headed by Dr. Floyd L. Thompson of the Langley Research Centre, said it found numerous examples of wiring which had been poorly designed and installed in Apollo 1.

The board also cited inadequate provisions for the crew to escape, and inadequate provisions for rescue or medical assistance on the launch pad.

The space agency already has started building a new type of hatch that can be opened in two seconds. The Apollo 1 crew could not have opened the hatch in less than 90 seconds.

Big Jets Reach Base In Thailand

SAIGON (CP) — The U.S. Command reported today a sharp increase in ground actions throughout South Vietnam with 315 Communists killed in the preceding 24 hours.

The first wave of three B-52 bombers to be based in Thailand arrived there today from Guam after dropping 180,000 pounds of bombs on a suspected Viet Cong camp 21 miles from Saigon.

Nine more B-52s will move to Utapao Air Base, in southern Thailand, later this month, cutting their round trip time for raids on South Vietnam from 12 hours to less than three.

Mao Endorsed By Single Vote

TOKYO (CP) — Mao tse-tung's forces, reported bolstered by a 6-to-5 endorsement in the Chinese Communist party's policy making body, stepped up its attacks on President Liu Shao-chi today.

It accused him of "eight serious crimes" and charged he was a "traitor." The crimes were not explained.

The new attacks against Liu, already denounced as a counter-revolutionary, indicated Mao may be preparing a criminal action against the 68-year-old chief of state.

Correspondents in Peking for the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri and the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported that the standing committee had voted 6-5 to back Mao in his struggle to wrest the party and government machinery from Liu and his supporters.

Latin American Common Market Will Be Sought

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Hemisphere foreign ministers, after 11 hours of hard bargaining, agreed early today to set in motion measures intended to lead to a Common Market for Latin America's 200,000,000 people.

The foreign ministers of 19 Latin American nations and the United States are trying to smooth the way for the summit meeting of their chiefs of state opening Wednesday in this seaside resort. They still faced stubborn snags in establishing new foreign trade policies for Latin America.

Latin Americans want a bigger share of the U.S. market for their commodity exports. The United States has been resisting the demands for preferential treatment of hemisphere goods.

However, the United States was reported trying to compromise with an offer to lift the requirement U.S. credit dollars be used only for the purchase of U.S. goods.

With President Johnson expected Tuesday, issues remained unresolved which could reduce the final declaration to a set of generalities. However, the ministers agreed on the final wording of a passage on economic integration and industrial development of Latin America.

The U.S. had wanted the Common Market started by 1970 and completed by 1980. But it bowed to demands that the term be extended to 15 years, feeling that the process may speed up of its own accord.

School System Said Obsolete Because Pupils May Be Wiser

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Robert Theobald of New York, said Saturday today's education system is obsolete, has become harmful to the thinking of young people and must be revamped.

He said schools as they stand today with authoritarian teachers and a step-by-step graded measurement system should be abolished because modern communications and the fact that young people may be wiser than older persons make them outdated in structure.

Speaking at a conference sponsored by students of Althouse College, London Teacher's College and the University of Western Ontario, Mr. Theobald said schools should be replaced by small study groups of young people with non-authoritarian teachers, preferably with access to a computer.

He said the only relevant matter to the schools should be the individual needs of its pupils without having to be graded and their achievement measured.

"Schools and universities are continuations of a policy which used to be necessary — that the only way to get a student connected to information was to put him in a classroom," he said, "But the tape recorder, the radio, television, the computer and programmed learning make that sort of concept obsolete."

Mr. Theobald said as education is changed, a teacher must suppress 30 or so small children, preventing them from expressing themselves if she values her sanity.

Small groups replacing the schools would remove emotional and other obstacles to growth and would sharpen perception, he said.

Existing schools do not teach students how to think for themselves and have glorified objective fact to the point where feelings are practically included from the school building, Mr. Theobald asserted.

U.S. Trucking Companies End Cross-country Runs

CHICAGO (AP)—Hundreds of United States trucking firms, embroiled in a labor dispute with the Teamsters Union, voted not to let a single cross-country truck on the road today. Some predicted dire effects on the economy.

Some union men agreed the truck tie-up would hurt the economy.

But nobody involved knew just when the effects would show up. Many said it might take a week or more.

National talks with the Teamsters ended at 4 a.m. Sunday in Washington. Later in the day, Trucking Employers, Inc., a federation accounting for 65 per cent of the U.S. long - distance trucking, called on its 1,200 member firms to lock their drivers out. The federation later termed the order 100 per cent effective.

The tie-up came amid sporadic drivers' strikes, which began several days ago as negotiations headed toward an impasse. The federal mediation and conciliation service said it would meet today with the trucking employers in an effort to get talks moving again.

Truckers wages range from $3.47 to $5.35 an hour. They are asking a seven-per-cent wage boost, which would raise the range to from $3.74 to $5.35 an hour. The carriers here offered a five-per-cent increase.

Unofficial reports held that the employers and union were less than 10 cents an hour apart on wages but much farther apart on fringe benefits.

In many areas, the tie-up was far from 100-per-cent effective. A Florida trucker, for instance, guessed that 5 affected less than half the state's traffic.

But in other areas, truckers who are not federation members joined in closing operations.

Reaction from drivers was mixed. The president of an IL-000 - member Independent Drivers' Union walked out of negotiations in Chicago saying:

"We are on strike as of 6 p.m. I'm going to the picket line myself now." But Teamsters-affiliated locals involved in the session continued bargaining.

Debutante Heather Slade, curtseys before Lt.-Gov. Rowe as she is presented at opening of Centennial ball in Hastings and Prince Edward armoury Saturday night.

Styles Evident at Ball

Major style note at the Centennial Ball Saturday night was struck not by the women present, but by the men.

The lacy, be-ruffled shirt front for wear with formal attire has made a come-back especially appropriate in centennial year.

Simply styled sheath and Aline gowns of rich materials were favored by the women present, although the occasional hooped costume with an 1867 air was noted among the 450 guests.

Mrs. William Rowe chose a peacock blue peau - de - soie gown with a scoop neckline, Mrs. Howard Graham was in pale yellow crepe, the bodice embroidered with crystals and pearls. Mrs. D. D. Cameron wore a white brocade gown, and Mrs. Allan Rose was attired in black, with a draped bodice and narrow shoulder straps. Mrs. F. Bert Sandell chose a sheath with square neckline fashioned of a brilliant rose, blue, green and purple brocade. Mrs. T. De-Faye was attired in turquoise green brocade and Mrs Jack Ellis appeared in an Empire gown of rose crepe and lace.

Mrs. D. D. H. Wilkinson was dressed in an A-line gown of gold and pale blue brocade and Mrs. R. W. Cunningham wore ice blue satin.

Other senior officers' wives attending the dinner before the ball were Mrs. L. S. Caughill, Campbellford, in blue green brocade and Mrs. F. R. Allan in pale green brocade.

Present also at the ball were two former commanding officers, Lt.-Col. Angus Duffy and Lt.-Col. Everett Fairman. Mrs. Duffy wore a blue sparkle crepe sheath with a scoop neckline and Mrs. Fairman wore a black, beaded peau-de-soie sheath.

Behind the "Glass"

The curling season officially ended at the Quinte Curling Club on Saturday evening. A mixed bonspiel was held which started on Monday and finished Saturday evening. An award presentation and social evening was then held. The spiel had a record number of 32 rinks and there were many close and exciting games.

This year will be one to be remembered for addition to the centennial celebrations of the Quinte Curling Club which was formed in 1867, the club rinks registered eight-enders this season. This is the lifting of the curling and four such events in one season are most unusual.

The winning rink of the closing mixed bonspiel was presented with the Northern Electric Trophy. This rink was comprised of Dorothy Clarke, Skip, Mel McQueen, Katherine Brown, and Dave Brown, Skip. The runners up were Louise Halpin, Al Nellies, Mary Livingston, and Goldie Livingston, Skip.

Night Ender Awards were presented to the following four Quinte Curling Club rinks. Anne Hartley, Henderson, Bill Henderson, Katherine, Brown, and Dave Brown, Skip.

Jack Glavreau, Everett Adamson, Abe Tobe, and Al McCullam, Skip.

Jean Lamont, Helen Cameron, Mary Livingston, and Anne Alexander.

Charles McIlraith, Robert Hopwood-Jones, Clare Hopwood-Jones and Murray Johnson, skip.

TROPHIES PRESENTED

The Bill Gault Trophy was presented by Bill Gault to the club championship rink comprised of Earl Cousins, Ernie Palmer, Ken Bullord and Bill Riley, skip. The runners-up was C. Scales, J. Wright, Pete Acton with Al McCullam as skip.

Hugh Murray presented the Hugh Murray Trophy to a rink of Lyle Langstaff, Ab Wannacott, Art Bannon and Bob Lansing, skip. The runners-up were Bruce Parsons, G. Mannacott, Al. Hopwood-Jones with Dr P. Knutson as skip.

The Club president, Fred Maund, thanked club members for their support during the curling season and stated that it was their efforts that made the past curling season so successful. Special thanks were also given to Goldie Livingston, Doug Bennett and Ev. Gowsell for their part in ensuring the success of the closing mixed spiel and the enjoyable wind-up to the curling season.

Doug Bennett, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. Wyn Maund, wife of the president, and Mrs. Agnes Bean, president of the women's section, with bouquets of flowers. He also thanked Mrs. Connie McCullam and her committee for coffee during the week.

Doug Asselstine and his group provided the music for dancing and Mrs. W. McKenna catered for the buffet lunch.

Vehicle Crashes Into Two Parked Cars

PICTON (Staff) — A second accident on Picton's Main street occurred within a week. Early Sunday morning, a car driven by 31-year-old James A. Maclaine of Camp Picton crashed into two parked cars in front of the Royal Hotel. There were no injuries as a result of the collision and overall damage according to police is estimated at near $1,000. The two parked cars were unoccupied at the time of the accident and belonged to George Powers of R.R. 4 Picton and Harry Knox of R.R. 1 Ameliasburgh.

Welfare Philosophy of Report Praised By Group

Mrs. Jane Forrester, chairman of United Community Services' study - action committee on public welfare today praised the report submitted to council by the mayor's committee on welfare. Alderman Dod Williams presented the report. Ald. Ezzo David submitted a minority report as well.

"We are pleased the committee recommended assistance be granted on the basis of need. This new philosophy replaces the emphasis on the determination of eligibility," she said, "and is authorized by the Ontario Family Benefits Act."

This new approach to solving the problems of poverty represents the greatest single change in the history of welfare since government assumed total responsibility for income maintenance, she claimed.

Mrs. Forrester pointed out that assistance on the basis of need also implied subordination of families on marginal incomes. "This is a major preventive measure," she said.

United Community Services was also pleased to learn that the report had recommended the use of professional staff in the city welfare department. The United Community Services' brief to the mayor's committee outlines the need for setting up the department on a firm legislative base. In addition, it points the need for developing goals and a sound, codified welfare policy. Only agreed such goals and policy, said Mrs. Forrester, could the effectiveness of the welfare department be evaluated.

Copies of the United Community Services' brief are available to the public, without charge, by telephoning 963-9577.

Bishop Wright Honored

St George's Canterbury Hall in Trenton was the scene on Friday evening of a banquet honoring one of the Diocese of Ontario's illustrious sons in the person of the Most Reverend William Lockridge Wright, Archbishop of Algoma and Metropolitan of the Province of Ontario. Clergy and laity from Trenton, Brighton, Carrying Place, St. Thomas', Christ Church and St. Margarets Belleville were in attendance to hear the outstanding address given to the men of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen is attendance.

Archbishop Wright, born in Carrying Place and who grew up in Roslin, served in the Diocese of Ontario in the parish of Cherry and laity from Trenton, Brighton, Carrying Place, St. George's Church in Toronto and later as Dean of Algoma and then its Bishop.

Archbishop Wright said there were three things that the church needed most today and thing also both in the country of Canada in Centennial year and throughout the world. First was a need for Christian Unity. He is chairman of the Anglican representatives that are meeting with the United church representatives in the matter of the ultimate union of the two churches. He decried the terrible misuse of time and facilities that is going on in many rural parishes where one man could very easily cover an area now being covered by three or four clergy. Secondly he mentioned that Canada was important. Why are we here as Christians must be asked by each church person. If he is not, he continued to maintain buildings that are to the glory of God, but not to the glory of God, to the glory of God, though they be erected in memory of those who have served very faithfully over the years. The mission of the church, continued Archbishop Wright is to proclaim Christ to the world, and he cited John Wesley's statement that his parish was the world. Lastly he challenged them we can afford to be parochial, in a world that is changing so rapidly. If a population are going to bed hungry and many are illiterate and haven't even heard the name of Jesus spoken once.

Thirdly he mentioned that there must be a renewal in each parish, and in the thinking of parishioners. A perspective of what the real priorities really are. It was mentioned that some parishes had commenced light the exterior of their buildings, as a Centennial project. Archbishop Wright commended them, but also mentioned that each parish should develop individuals who would act as shafts of light to lighten the dark areas of life in Canada and throughout the world.

After the gathering Archbishop Wright met with many persons he had known as a child when his father was rector of Carrying Place. The gentleman present was celebrating his 90th birthday, and remembered the Archbishop as a boy. The meeting was enjoyed by all who attended and many remarked that it had been a long time since one heard such a challenging address given to the men of the church.

Shipping Season Opens

PICTON (Staff) — The shipping season has opened in Picton harbor once again.

Last week saw the cement carrier "Metis" first in the harbor for the season — she left with approximately 7,700 tons. Monday, today, she was back, again loading cement, her cargo this time bound for Hochester, N.Y. Also in harbor this week the ore carrier "Hochelaga" loaded 16,000 tons of ore pellets from Moramston ore, docks here bound for Lachawanna foundries in Buffalo. All Quinte waters seem to be open now, however an icebreaker last week made the trip up from Kingston to clear a path for the early ships.

Want to Change Name of Outlet Park

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward County's famous Outlet park may soon have a new name. Members of the Prince Edward Chamber Board of Directors, at their regular meeting last week decided to support a suggestion that the name Outlet Provincial Park be changed to Quinte Isle Provincial Park.

Appearing before the chamber board to solicit support on behalf of the Quinte's Isle Tourist Association and the local Kinsmen Club of Picton, was William Wesi, President of the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Council.

Mr. West pointed out that the name Outlet is not very suitable, for many years seem distasteful to some people, who are not familiar with the beach. He added that even the Department of Lands and Forests is interested in changing the name if a suitable replacement can be found.

S' Long Son!

Sgt. Jack Denyes, who believes he's the only Belleviliian in the tattoo, gets fond farewell at troupe train from mother, Mrs. Walter Denyes and sister Marylou Denyes, R. R. 3 Belleville.

Integrated--for Show Business!

Politicians may storm over unifications, but tattoo already has joined servicemen in common tasks — as this picture at Belleville railroad yards showed Saturday. Soldier, sailor and airman get helping hand from porter in sorting baggage.

Menus aboard tattoo special are top-flight railroad fare — a point demonstrated by chief chef James Sweeney to group commander Lt. Col. Robert Kelly (centre) and tattoo commander Col. G. P. Marriott.

Blue Group of Military Tattoo Takes to Road in Big Train

One of two troupes making up the Canadian Forces Centennial tattoo was railroaded out of Belleville Saturday — on the biggest passenger run on railway record.

The troupe train transported the tattoo on the first leg of its cross-country tour after the show's training time at Camp Picton and several trial runs in Eastern Ontario.

Aboard were nearly 350 service-showmen of Blue group — one of two touring tattoo companies.

Heading for Sidney, N.S. and an opening date in Glace Bay, the troupe and its equipment was spread through 26 cars, including four piggybacks.

Information officer Squadron Leader Jean Boulet said it was the longest passenger train in the history of Canadian railroading.

The show rolled out from the Belleville Canadian National yards at 3.30 p.m. — after arrival of the servicemen from Camp Picton, by bus.

Among them was 28-year-old Jack Denyes, sergeant in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery band stationed at Winnipeg, who says he's the only Belleviliian in the show.

The tattoo's second road company — Red Group — makes a similar exit April 12, bonding for Barrie.

Both groups will travel across country, combining at Victoria, B.C., in May for the first full-stage production of the big service showpiece.

Vimy Vets Hear Praise Of Battle

TRENTON — Eighteen Vimy Vets at Trenton Friday night heard the former Branch 110 famous chairman, Harry Devonshire, predict that never again would Canada send an expeditionary force to any future war.

Mr. Devonshire said that Canada would probably serve as a "haven" for refugees of any nuclear war.

"Right now," Mr. Devonshire said, "Canada was known throughout the world as a peace keeping force."

Recalling the "terrors" of trench warfare in World War One, Mr. Devonshire said "Canada came into her own as a nation at Vimy."

The members of the local branch were lauded for their efforts in paying off the debt on the new legion hall, opened on Jan. 1, 1958. Mr. Devonshire was largely instrumental in getting this project underway and seeing it through to completion. While in Trenton he worked as district treasury officer for Air Defence Command and later for Air Transport Command. After his retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Devonshire moved to eastern Canada.

Mrs. Devonshire, the former women's editor of the Courier - Advocate, accompanied her husband to Trenton last weekend.

PLANE ENGINNES FAIL

TORONTO (CP) — A four-engine plane carrying singer Andy Williams and orchestra leader Henry Mancini to Toronto made an emergency landing at Buffalo Sunday afternoon after three engines failed, Williams' manager reported here. None of the 63 passengers was injured. They continued on to Toronto in cars and buses.

Livestock Lost in Barn Fire

Fire early Sunday afternoon completely destroyed a Roslin area farm barn along with two cows, two calves and 130 bales of hay.

The barn was on the 8th concession Tyendinaga farm tenanted by Jack Bath who was away at the time of the blaze.

The fire was noticed first by a neighbor Mrs. Cyril Read, who phoned in the alarm but the barn was destroyed before the arrival of the fire department from Belleville. Firemen stood by until all danger to close by buildings was over.

Saturday night city firemen were called to Corbyville where fire was discovered in the top of a coal chute conveyor shed which earlier in the day had been repaired.

Firemen had to use the aerial ladder to put out the blaze. Damage was said light.

Four-Vehicle Mishap Causes $1,000 Damage

TRENTON — Damage in a four-vehicle accident on Dundas Street West in Trenton Friday night was set by police at close to $1,000.

A Trenton taxi driver, Albert Tripp, 56, suffered leg bruises; the four-year-old daughter of the driver of another car in the mix up, Darlene Cormier of Batawa, suffered a cut lip.

Police say the taxicab driven by Mr. Tripp was turning onto the street from the taxi stand when it was involved in a collision with a car driven by Ronald Simpson of Brighton. The taxi was then involved in a collision with the car driven by Willard Cormier and went on to strike a parked car owned by William Flindall of Brighton.

HOLD ART EXHIBIT

Trenton's public school students are featured in an art exhibition at the Trenton library this week. This is a Centennial project arranged by the teachers.

NO DAMAGE

The Trenton fire department was called out twice over the weekend; to the Trentonian office where a fluorescent light had burned out and to Bentinck Street where an oil burner had flooded. No damage was reported in either case.

Gary Filion, Trenton, Given $1,500 Grant

Gary Filion, 25, a former Trenton resident, now studying for his Ph.D in genetics at Western University, is among the many students to receive Ontario Graduate Fellowships, of $1,500 announced over the weekend by Education Minister William Davis.

Mr. Filion, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Filion of Trenton, attended Trenton High School, and took his M.A. at Guelph University. Now married, he is in his first year at Western University.

Lord's Day Act Bylaw Reviewed

Inspector R. W. Hutchford of the police force is taking a look at the bylaw related to the lord's Day Act passed in January 1966.

It permits movies, theatrical performances, concerts and lectures on Sundays in Belleville.

The police advised the Tiki Club that it could not hold a dance this past Sunday, but a concert could proceed.

EXHIBIT FIRST GEM

The first diamond discovered in South Africa, the Eureka stone of 1866, has been put on permanent display in Cape Town.

Monument Will Be Rebuilt

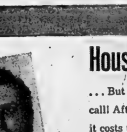
The monument to Sir Mackenzie Bowell, situated in the corner of the Armouries lawn is in bad state of disrepair and will be completely rebuilt.

World to this effect has been received by Hastings South MP Lee Grills, who was asked to look into the matter by Mayor J. R. Ellis following discussion in city council.



The monument, honoring the only Belleville man ever to become Canadian prime minister, was erected about 1930 by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, and was unveiled by then Prime Minister Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

The National and Historic Parks Branch of the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development will rebuild the monument.

Up Again

A note of "good cheer" for the beginning of the week: The cost of living is still going up.

The consumer price index, as the bureaucrats prefer to call it, advanced to 146.5 in March from 146.1 a month earlier despite the fifth overall drop in food prices in the last seven months.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, moved higher mainly because of housing and clothing costs.

It would be cause for celebration if that cold statistic from the DBS were to drop significantly. But even if it did we cannot see it remaining that way for long. All the evidence is that prices will go up further as the economy expands. Come to think of it why should this be so disturbing, provided production is maintained at an increasingly high level and wages keep pace?

Cheerful Leader

In the face of every criticism or setback, Prime Minister Pearson always manages to come up with a smile. In this regard he must be considered one of the most amiable leaders of our day.

Busy man that he is, Mr. Pearson recently found himself in California where he received an honorary degree. On the way back he spent some time in Vancouver and earned local approval by getting some action on the provision of additional bridge facilities across the harbor.

The Vancouver Sun had this to say on the issue: "Citizens of the Greater Vancouver area are immensely grateful to Prime Minister Pearson for his speed in seizing the initiative in the absurdly-convoluted inter-governmental confrontation over the question of providing a second First Narrows crossing. Mr. Pearson came, looked at the problem through his own eyes and quickly agreed something should be done — soon."

Throughout it all the Pearson smile was present. The prime minister and his wife were pictured dancing happily at a fund-raising ball in Vancouver — and again, looking windblown but at ease, taking a trip on board the harbour vessel Malibu.

If the prime minister does not have a personal motto it could well be: "Never say die."

Coroner Dismissed

The dismissal of Dr. Morton Shulman by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart brings to an end the controversial extra-curricular career of Toronto Metro's chief coroner.

That is not to say of course that Dr. Shulman is finished as an outspoken defender of what he considers to be the truth. Never one to shun a fight or to shirk controversy, Dr. Shulman has been just that — outspokenly controversial — to the embarrassment of all, whether individuals or agencies of the Government authority, who have incurred his displeasure.

Fired from his job because he disobeyed a directive of Dr. H. B. Cotnam, the chief provincial coroner, he the master of his own man's dismissal recalls that of General Douglas MacArthur.

General MacArthur was sacked by President Truman for his controversial leadership and statements as commander-in-chief of Allied forces during the Korean war.

New there is talk of Dr. Shulman entering politics. From his statements in the last few days it is clear the former coroner will not be running on the Government ticket. However, his presence at Queen's Park, should he win a seat there, would add a stimulating new voice to Ontario politics.

A Man's Man

Bob Gauchie, the 39-year-old bush pilot who survived 58 days of isolation and hunger and cold after an emergency landing on a far northern lake, is a no-nonsense character who knows whaye he is going.

When he first talked with newsmen after his ordeal he said little because he feared he might have his pilot's licence revoked and consequently did not want to "queer" his chances of selling his diary and story to the highest bidder.

"I have a wife and three daughters to think about," he explained.

But now he is talking about returning to flying, possibly in helicopters because loss of several toes from frostbite would make it difficult to fly the kind of float planes and doing a lot of other stuff."

A man's man is Bob Gauchie — a fellow with a head on his shoulders. One of the first things he wanted to know on being rescued was the identity of the new Commissioner of the Northwest Territories. If, Mr. Gauchie is interested in politics we imagine he would make a valuable member of the Council of the territories.

"Closure" Has Become Honorable Antidote to "Filibustering"

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — With quiet, unhurried efficiency, the Hiddden Parliament of Parliament Hill have managed these past four years to re-shape the meanings of two basic words in the working vocabulary of the Federal world of practical politics.

The two:

Closure.

Filibuster.

The one, Closure, only 10 years ago was a dangerous, even politically dirty word, and one to be avoided at all costs.

For the cost of its usage could come high—as high as the very life of the government employing it.

And back then, Filibuster was a sort of politically heroic word, signifying a brave Horatius-like stand to the very end, in the name of public interest, against governmental dictation.

That was in the days of the Battle of the Pipeline.

The government won that battle, but lost the war of the 1957 election.

Remember how it was.

The Opposition Conservatives made majority votes in the Commons, rammed through the Pipeline Bill, smashing the minority opposition Filibuster with one Closure measure after another.

There were times when the battle roared on all through the night, as they fought it out, week after fateful week.

And in the public mind — quickly confirmed by the subsequent election — the government majority was derided as so many "trained seals" rubber-stamping a $30 million loan to "millionaire American buccaneers" for the pipeline, while the opposition minority was lionized as defenders of the public purse.

Filibuster became proudly regarded as the shield of a brave minority.

Closure was accordingly described as the club of a brutal majority.

So that is the way it was — with the election, in breaking the government and making the opposition, almost putting an official seal of public approval on it — until along about six years later.

Came soon, then, the Great Flag Debate, another opposition Filibuster, and another government Closure.

But meanwhile the Hidden Permanders had been at work — the Dick O'Hagans, the Keith Daveys and the rest of the Whitlocks and the Backtown Boys the government had recruited from the swinging world of Toronto — and with totally unsuspected what it has been happening, the political dictionary was skilfully re-written.

Filibuster wasn't quite the bright and shining word it used to be.

Nor was Closure quite so soiled.

Back of this re-shading of the meanings of the two terms was a delicate change in accepted political philosophy.

A minority making a stand against a majority no longer was to be regarded as stout, but merely stubborn. Opposition, far from being daring, was actually a drag.

Wait Closure, the new flag was raised—and all things have turned out, the red and white leaf and bars seems to have been a good, even great national achievement.

But now, since the Flag Debate, the re-shading of Closure and Filibuster in the working political vocabulary is complete.

And so is the re-shaping of the philosophy behind it.

It now verges on the political, by unanimous consent, to deem a majority.

Filibuster is almost an indecent act — the disciplined electric of the flow to prevail over the many.

Closure, once a dirty word, has been sanitized.

Now it becomes the accepted, even desirable antiseptic against the infection of Filibuster.

And so the stage long has been set for the Battle of Armed Forces Unification.

And in advance, Opposition defence critic, Donald Churchill felt compelled to explain that those who oppose unification would not be Filibustering. They'd be standing on principle, doing it what they think must be done in the public interest.

While also in advance, Government House chairman Russell Honey felt equally compelled to explain that those who Silence it, if employing Closure to put it through, would be only doing what is right and decent in the same public interest.

Is U.S. Neglecting Its European Commitments?

WASHINGTON (CP)— Martin Luther King, a Negro minister, Nobel Peace Prize winner and civil-rights leader, is reaping criticism for a bitter attack on the American role in Vietnam.

"A tragedy," says the Washington Post, regarded as Liberal by American standards.

"Mr. King has done a grave injury to those who are his riches in a great struggle to remove ancient (anti - Negro) abuses . . . many who have learned to hate with respect will never again accord him the same confidence."

"A tongue gone astray," says the Washington Daily News. "The Vietnamese Communists have never gone so far."

What did King say?

"If America's soul becomes totally poisoned, part of the autopsy must read Vietnam," King declared Tuesday in a speech in New York.

Never in favor of the war, he lashed out on grounds of conscience, the damage being done by the war's cost on the U.S. war on poverty and on the preportionately greater number of Negroes than whites fighting and dying.

His text called the U.S. "The greatest purveyor of violence in the world today . . . a society gone mad on war."

The anti-King reaction illustrates the forming up of the warlike mood in the U.S. President Johnson, for example, has now taken to calling American soldiers killed during the pauses to bombings against North Vietnam "martyrs for peace."

Any fundamental criticism of the war draws increasingly stiffer fire, as Senator J. W. Fulbright and others recently.

These are not easy days for King. As his speech showed, he is an angry man. His fellow Negroes to boycott the war by refusing military service. He accuses the U.S. of murdering Vietnam in a misguided war against communism and claims the U.S. and its fellow Anglo-Saxonic allies have killed a million civilians.

His anger and frustration illustrate some of the malaise and division within the civil-rights movement.

After the great crusades of Selma, Ala., and elsewhere in 1965, King and his fellow advocates of non-violence headed North to battle for desegregated housing.

He got bogged down in Chicago last year. And his foe, Mayor Richard Daley, the last of the old Democratic machine bosses, has just won a fourth term with a record margin.

Negro comedian Dick Gregory, a civil-rights campaigner, finished a badly-beaten third.

King's dedication to non-violence and loyalty to white supporters has resulted in a decline among some Negroes who look to more militant leaders, such as Stokely Carmichael.

King is right when he says Negroes fight and die in Vietnam.

Negroes who constitute about 11 per cent of the total U.S. population had combat deaths of 22.4 per cent last year.

More Negroes are drafted then whites because fewer Negroes can go to college or take other evasive action. More Negroes re-enlist than whites because the military strikes many as the best life they've ever had.

More are killed proportionately because there are more of them where the action is — out with rifles in the jungle.

Announcer In Dilemma

Dennis Braithwaite in The Globe and Mail

On an average of once a week I hear a report that Stan Burke has or is about to quit the National News. Well, is Burke quitter or isn't he? I don't know, even though I talked to him about it yesterday. You know why he's not happy? Because he is caught between two CBC unions: one, the announcers' union, ARTEC, objects to newsmen reading the news, and the other, the newsmen's union, the Guild, is against announcers writing news. Burke, a reporter by trade, had to join the announcers' union before he could read the National News; now, the Guild wants him to write anything. What's so wonderful about writing news? The thing is, Burke has a newshound's itch, he's conscientious and he believes the National would be a better newscast if he were permitted to research and background some of the stories, to explain what they really mean, in other words. This was the basis on which he took the job in the first place. Stan was for years a CBC European correspondent (his family is still in England), in which job he gathered and spoke all his own stuff. Anyhow, things are coming to a head. His correspondent's contract is up on April 1, his announcer's on May 6; somewhere in there he will have to decide whether being the nation's top news announcer is enough. I think the unions are being shortsighted; jurisdictional rules that prohibit legitimate innovations in any job are stultifying, and reduce labor's philosophy to an absurdity. Would Donald Gordon's peers really turn in his grave if Stan Burke made a few phone calls to Ottawa?

Yesterday was the 20th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge — it was fought on April 9, 1917 and succeeding days and veterans all over Canada will call to remembrance the battle which resulted in the passing of the transport to Canadian hands. Its importance was further emphasized last July 26 when Canada's national memorial atop the ridge was dedicated. A banquet will be held by the veterans of this city and district in the city hall auditorium this evening. The guest speaker will be Col. Norman Rawson of Ottawa, who is one of the eleven ex-prisoner after-dinner speakers in Canada. This evening early the veterans will march to the cenotaph and place a wreath at its base.

A Veteran Subscriber Looks Back

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

We receive six other papers regularly, but the "inch" is the first we read. Have plenty of time living retired and being well past the allotted span of life, why reading papers. The "fill-ins" are very interesting, especially when they tell of other countries as about China having been the first to invent the compass, the wheel, porcelain, and that paper comes from the papyrus reed which grows in swamps in some countries.

Also reading about the large increase in Federal employment in last four years. It gives a person the impression that there might be a lot of 'hangers-on' in high places.

For some time past I have been saving these "fill-ins" for the benefit of grandchildren and say who may be interested.

Some years ago I read the following:

When Sir Robert Borden, then prime minister of Canada, signed the Treaty of Versailles, in June 1919, he was bitterly opposed by some British politicians and that it made Canada an independent country (as only independent countries were allowed to sign it). Robert pointed out that Canada had left 60,000 men behind (many in unmarked graves, as some of us know too well), I remember his talk to a very large number of us veterans when overseas. He said: "Some of you men may get back to Canada and many of you may not but I want to tell you one thing: The people of Canada have no notion of what anything for you, regardless of the sacrifices you have made." Some felt hurt at his talk, others thought it was well to know. He was a fearless man — just what any country needed then and now.

In war the government stopped the flow in the time of levity. Why does it take months to investigate this and meanwhile nothing can be done to stop the rise in the cost of the necessities of life.

Somewhere I read about a man who was a director in several companies. This gave him a chance to manipulate markets. If such things were illegal, it would make things different.

At the moment the producers of grains on the prairies receive very little more per wheat, oats and barley than when I lived there for several years before exhisting in 1915. Also, many chain stores are getting control of village shops.

Do we want Canada to be like Europe, with the landlords owning thousands of acres. Some of the richest families in Europe and some of my relatives used to rent from these landlords.

Big Business is not good for Canada, and even farming seems to be going that way. Last year the Intelligencer pointed out that Canadians owe seven billion dollars on credit buying. Is this good business? It worked through the depressions of 1907 and 1914, and the Thirties, and was very hard to work when so many in Ontario and on the Prairies were so badly off. I often wonder if it might be better for everybody if the brakes were put on credit buying. Those who hold the mortgages are the ones in a position to dictate the terms. It seems to me the sooner we forget "Party Politics" and get more fearless men to do the business for Canada the better.

Mail List Mystery Solved

Hamilton Spectator

For once a government department has decided to make a little money instead of spending it — and all it gets in return is an overdose of self-righteous huffing and puffing.

We refer to the Ontario Department of Transport which recently acknowledged it has for years been selling to a firm which deals in the mailing list trade the names and addresses of holders of Ontario motor vehicle operators permits.

This harmless activity has sent opposition members and other assorted critics into a frenzy of noise accusations of "invasion of privacy". Nonsense.

Everybody's literary names and addresses these days and there's no reason why the province's motorists shouldn't turn a modest profit itself. Direct mail selling is big business which would benefit all that at least some of those receiving promotional mail appreciate the service.

To a lot of us, though, junk mail is junk mail and the householder's best line of defence is that admirable old standby, the waste basket. Our only quibble with the government is that it ought to raise its price. An increase in the value of waste paper ought to be worth more than one cent.

Federal-provincial Meeting Studies Securities Legislation

OTTAWA (CP)—Ministers of seven of the 10 provinces opened a two-day conference with Finance Minister Sharp and federal officials today to discuss stronger and more uniform securities legislation.

The provinces of Newfoundland, Alberta and British Columbia were represented at the meeting by senior government officials, the other provinces by cabinet ministers.

Quebec's Finance Minister Paul Dozois headed the largest provincial delegation, including 13 advisers. Ontario's delegation was headed by H. L. Rowntree, minister of financial and commercial affairs.

The conference is preliminary to a full-dress federal-provincial conference later this year, suggested by Premier Johnson of Quebec.

That conference, probably involving provincial premiers, which would deal with interrelationships between the 10 provincial governments and the federal administration in deposit insurance, bank, trust, and loan company inspection, securities registration, and securities trading.

Ontario has established a provincial system of deposit insurance, and Quebec intends to do the same but hopes to avoid duplicating the federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Federal deposit insurance, as approved by Parliament, is scheduled to become effective April 17.

One of the purposes of the meeting is to canvass ways of integrating the federal and provincial plans.

Ministers heading provincial delegations are: Gerald Doucet, provincial secretary of Nova Scotia; T. E. Hickey, provincial treasurer of Prince Edward Island; Bernard Jean, attorney-general, and J. E. LeBlanc, provincial secretary of New Brunswick; Stewart McLean, provincial secretary of Manitoba; and D. D. Heald, attorney-general of Saskatchewan.

The conference is closed to the press.

Colleges Delay Decisions

VANCOUVER (CP) — The dean of arts and sciences at the University of Manitoba says most large universities are wallowing in inefficiency.

Dr. William Sibley told a weekend meeting at the University of British Columbia that a reduction is needed in the committee system of administration.

"By the time some decision is reached, so much time has elapsed that new problems have arisen," he said. "The policy the university has arrived at may bear no relationship whatever to the situation that now confronts it.

"In this inefficiency there is a real danger to our autonomy."

Dr. Sibley, a UBC graduate, said most major universities try to operate by committees that "proliferate without end."

"We should leave ultimate policy decisions to some strong central body, whose right to govern is undisputed."

The dean said that after a proposition has run a gauntlet of committees it is usually so chopped up as to be unrecognizable.

New Drug May Stop Blood Clot

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— A Denver physician today reported a possible breakthrough toward developing oral drugs that might help eliminate "our worst killer"—blood clots that cause coronary heart attacks.

Describing development of a series of new, synthetic compounds that may dissolve abnormal - type blood clots in the testube, Dr. Kurt N. von Kaulla of the University of Colorado School of Medicine told the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society:

"Such clots are the cause of fatal heart attacks by occlusion (blockage) of the coronary artery, and are annually responsible for several hundred thou- . . . and the crippling of an equal number more . . . by the blockage of this and other vital blood vessels."

Can young people under 20 handle money sensibly?

London Life believes that many young Canadians should brush up on the financial facts of life. How about you? Test your knowledge with the 9 true and false statements below. (They cover everything from cars to rock'n'roll singers to marriage.) Then read the surprising answers:

| | TRUE | FALSE |
|---|---|---|
| 1. A salary of $50 a week is enough to raise a family on. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 2. It is a mistake to borrow money. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 3. Ten years from now our most popular rock'n'roll singers will be flat broke. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 4. A life insurance policy is worthless until you die. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 5. Clothes and cars are a good way to invest your money. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 6. A college graduate will probably earn at least $50,000 more in his lifetime than a high school graduate. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 7. If you don't have $1,000 in cash you should forget about university. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 8. A life insurance policy costs more the longer you wait to buy it. | ☐ | ☐ |
| 9. Young people should live for today and forget about tomorrow. | ☐ | ☐ |

1. A salary of $50 a week is enough to raise a family on. FALSE

If you are like many young people, your first job when you leave school will pay about $50 a week. A fortune to spend on clothes, dates and fun. You live at home. Mother does your laundry and cooks your meals. If you pay "board," it's often a token amount.

But think about even $60 a few years from now. You meet somebody. You marry. You have children. That $60 a week works out to $3,120 a year.

You need furniture, baby clothes, life insurance. You want a car, and eventually a home.

Normally you should apply about ⅓ of your salary to pay for your home or apartment. That works out to $65 a month. What kind of house or apartment can you get for $65 a month? If you should decide to buy a car, you'll borrow from a bank. For a $2,000 loan, you'll pay back about $65 a month for three years. You can't afford it.

Don't rush out to earn $50 a week. Make education and training help you up the salary ladder so you'll be able to support a family comfortably.

2. It is a mistake to borrow money. FALSE

Thoughtful borrowing is often wise. It can help a young man go to university. It can help a couple start a home.

But remember that word "thoughtful." Don't rush into foolish borrowing. Don't borrow more than you can afford to pay back with 10% of your money income. Don't borrow at excessive rates of interest.

3. Ten years from now our most popular rock 'n roll singers will be flat broke. FALSE

Young singers today can make a lot of money. Most of them are smart enough to put this money to work to earn more money. For example, $1,000 invested annually in stocks or bonds that earn 5% each year will grow by $50 in the first year (before taxes). And so on.

When their singing days are over, these young people will have a good income from their investments.

4. A life insurance policy is worthless until you die. FALSE

A permanent policy gives you protection and builds savings at the same time. (London Life Jubilee policies are profit-sharing plans that bring you dividends every year. In fact, with a Jubilee policy, a young person can more than double his money before he retires at age 65.)

Many people use permanent insurance to protect their families and also build savings for retirement.

5. Clothes and cars are a good way to invest your money. FALSE

Clothes are a necessity of life. But a third sports jacket or fourth angora sweater is pure luxury. A car is often a luxury (and drops in value very quickly).

You're kidding yourself if you think excessive clothes or a car are wise investments. They're for fun—if you've got the money.

If you want your money to grow, you should be looking at bank accounts, life insurance, stocks and bonds. Talk to the experts. (Your father is a good place to start.)

6. A college graduate will probably earn at least $50,000 more in his lifetime than a high school graduate. TRUE

Don't fall in love with the idea of making $50 or $60 as soon as you can escape school. You'll regret it. (How often have you heard that?)

The prospect of four years in university frightens many young people. They want money in their pockets. But education pays off later—when you really need money to support your family. Statistics show that university graduates do much better financially. Right at the top of the salary scale are doctors, lawyers, engineers: men who gave up a modest income for a few years to earn a good deal more later on.

7. If you don't have $1,000 in cash you should forget about university. FALSE

If you can get the marks, you'll usually find the money. University scholarships and bursaries are awarded on the basis of marks and need. University loans are available at surprisingly low interest rates. Government loans are waiting for deserving students.

Life insurance can also help you. Example: London Life permanent insurance builds up a cash value over the years. You can borrow up to this amount from the Company.

Give some thought to part-time jobs. It's surprising how much you can make in a couple of evenings a week and on Saturday. Many summer jobs also pay well. Talk to your high school principal or guidance teacher.

8. A life insurance policy costs more the longer you wait to buy it. TRUE

Consider the example of a $10,000 London Life Jubilee whole life policy.

A father who insures his newborn son will pay $82.60 a year. If the boy purchases the policy at age 20, he will pay $131.50 a year. If he delays until he is 30, he will pay $176.70 a year.

The longer you wait, the more you pay.

Early purchase of life insurance has two important advantages.

First, protection. Every man wants insurance to protect his family—to give them an income if he should die. But to get this protection, you must pass a medical examination. This becomes more difficult as you grow older. (You can arrange with London Life—when you buy your first policy—to add more insurance at regular intervals without a medical.)

Second, savings. The sooner you buy, the more money you'll save. Example: A $10,000 Jubilee whole life policy purchased at age 20 will require, to age 65, total premiums of $5,917. But savings at age 65 will amount to $16,460. More than double the money paid in. (This is made up of $5,760 in guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends. While dividends are never guaranteed, the Company has had an outstanding record of dividend payments.)

9. Young people should live for today and forget tomorrow. FALSE

Youth is the time for fun. It's also the time to prepare for adult life. Money is not a source of happiness. It is not the beginning or end of any life. But it is a fact of life.

The sooner you grasp the basics of earning, spending and saving, the sooner you can enjoy more important things.

London Life hopes that this article has been of some help. If you would like to learn a little more about life insurance, send for a free copy of our handbook, PLAIN TALK ABOUT LIFE INSURANCE. Write to Dept. BB, London Life Insurance Company, 255 Dufferin Avenue, London, Ontario.

Stylish Women This Spring Tented in Stinging Hues

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

Bright citrus colors, wild patterns and the flaring tent dress while versatile are the stars of the past suit are the fashion elements that spell spring, 1962.

In a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press, fashion buyers in every area predict the popularity of explosive, brilliant colors, sometimes in jangling combinations, and in patterns variously called African, jungle, tent, sleeveless, flare, paisley and kinetic.

The color mentioned most often in a yellow described by a Vancouver fashion reporter as stinging. Orange and lime are running a shoulder to shoulder race with shocking pink for every shade of green from pale acid to emerald being shown in store windows.

A tempering note is the navy reported popular for early spring in Ottawa, St. John's, Nfld., and Saint John, N.B. In each city, lighter colors are expected to replace it in warmer weather.

The dress of the season is called a float or a tent, and it shows African influence. It is high - necked, with narrow armholes and is more controlled of line than it might seem to be. And in a Toronto department store, tent dresses are styled to emphasize the bosom, are flaring or pleated below the bustline.

Pant suits have surely developed almost every permutation possible for a woman. They are long, short, casual or dressy, skimpy, culinary or chromium. They are culottes, knickers and even pant-skirt in one, looking like pants in front and a skirt at the back. They are made in leather and in lace.

One favorite is a safari, military style with shoulder tabs, big pockets, straight belt. Another is the Bermuda suit with a long jacket, still another the one-piece jump suit.

In Winnipeg as elsewhere, coats and dresses match or at least "go with" each other. Coats are narrow-shouldered, slightly flared and belted, though the belt may be above the waist, below it or even at the natural waistline.

There seems to be no single favored hat style, though Vancouver reports sales of an African topee style and hats dyed to match coats or suits are part of the costume look.

An Edmonton buyer was one of several who said there is a decline in enthusiasm for hats, perhaps because of casual hair styles and changes in church practice.

Mini and mod are silk much in evidence, of course, though their most extreme manifestations are generally considered strictly for the young. At a Winnipeg fashion show, mod, mini and wild colors were unsied on a model who wore a long-sleeved shirt in acid green with a turquoise and purple printed mini-skirt and burgundy leotard and hairband.

The pointed toe appears finally to have disappeared, and with it the high heel. A Halifax retailer says there are no high heels left, though some customers are still asking for them.

Toes are squared or rounded, heels no lighter than two inches and sometimes squared. Sling and strap styles are popular.

Colors are neutral or mid-brown, bloe or pastel. A Montreal report says the brightest colors appear in the lowest heels.

U.C.W Meetings

CANNIFTON UCW

On Wednesday evening a large number of the members of Cannifton circuit attended a meeting in Cannifton Church at which Mrs. Don Lockyer of Belleville showed slides and told of recent experiences in Nigeria.

Mrs. A. Boyd, president, welcomed visitors and the worship service was conducted by Mrs. G. Brenton, assisted by Mrs. H. Putman and Mrs. R. Gelsthorpe. Mrs. Lockyer was introduced by Mrs. Boyd. Mr. and Mrs. Lockyer and family spent 18 months in Northern Nigeria where Mr. Lockyer was engaged in teaching at a college for teachers.

Before showing her slides, Mrs. Lockyer showed a map of Nigeria and compared its size and population with that of Ontario. Nigeria has a population of 35,000,000 people. Northern Nigeria is near the desert region, its climate hot and dry, with a short rainy season. The Nigerian people were granted independence in 1960. The supreme ruler is the Emir, who wields great power, and is very highly respected. The people are passing through difficult times politically and find it hard to think of themselves as a nation, there are many tribes and the tribal influence is still very strong. In religion they are Muslims.

The people are intelligent, but there is a very high rate of illiteracy. Schools are being built and the younger generation is anxious to learn.

Physically the people are tall and stately. They dress in long loose flowing robes, the men usually in white, the women in various colors, the dyes being made in dye pits which are holes in the ground. The houses are built of mud, usually without windows and are comparatively cool inside. Public buildings are often quite modern. Agriculture is still in a primitive stage, crops are small, meat and poultry are scarce and dear.

There are very few doctors. Many diseases, including leprosy and undernourishment, are common.

The most important day of the week is Friday, the day for worship at the Mosque, attendance at the market to sell their wares and visits with friends.

Nigeria has great need for teachers, doctors and technicians to help them make the adjustment to modern nationhood.

Mrs. C. Elsworth expressed the appreciation of the group.

Polish-born Teacher Once Member of Underground

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) The first woman teacher on the staff of Mount Carmel College is a Polish-born French teacher who has known the excitement and fear of fighting the Nazis as a member of the underground during the Second World War.

Mary Grotowska, who came to Canada in 1950 and worked in Hamilton before coming here to teach high school French and history at Loretto Academy, now teaches university French at Mount Carmel.

Talking to a reporter, she revelled how the outbreak of war interfered with her plans to teach in university after getting her MA in history from the University of Krakow in 1939.

With universities and high schools closed by the Nazis and professors being sent to concentration camps, she joined the underground in 1940 and remained in it until the first Soviet Poland in 1946 and sought asylum in the American-occupied zone of West Germany.

"Everyone in Poland worked with the underground," Miss Grotowska said. "Even the children would warn you when the Gestapo was near."

At first her work was in organization, then it involved obtaining information and carrying orders. She had many narrow escapes with the Gestapo but was never apprehended.

She was walking to her home, a large farm outside Krakow, in 1943 when she saw the Gestapo and realized they were heading for her house. She continued on up the road and disappeared. She never went home again.

Another hair-raising experience occurred when she and a girl friend were transporting munitions to the guerrillas in suitcases. They had to take a train to reach their destination.

"The train was late and my friend went out of the waiting room on to the platform to see why the delay. She returned to say the station was surrounded by the Gestapo.

"We could not leave the suitcases there, so took them and walked out on to the platform and approached the officer in charge. I could speak German so I politely asked why the train was late.

"He said the tracks had been blown up not far from the town and the train would not be arrived that day. So I said, 'There is no use to wait!'

"He replied 'No.' I thanked him politely and we picked up our suitcases and walked through the Gestapo lines. The officers and men saw us talking to the officer and they assumed we had been cleared."

She had a close call in Vienna where a German soldier had been shot and the place was surrounded by troops. She was stopped and searched but because she had nothing incriminating on her she was allowed to go. Because of the shooting, she said, every 10th person in the town was killed.

Miss Grotowska got to Paris after the war and resumed study for her PhD at the Sorbonne but had no money and refugees were barred from working in Paris. She took a job on a farm and began preparing to come to Canada.

Bess Truman Prefers Retiring, Quiet Life

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Bess Truman is—as always—opposed to life in a goldfish bowl.

As the wife of Harry S Truman, 33rd president of the United States, she kept her distance from a curious world. Fifteen years later, a friend says:

"Now, more than ever, she is adamant on total withdrawal. She is rigid about any exposure."

In that choice, the community of Independence concurs. One of the unique aspects of Mrs. Truman's life—before and after the White House—has been the town's loyalty to the former president's "boss lady." They don't talk much about her.

Some claim it's because there isn't much to know about Bess Truman. Others give a more likely explanation: "She doesn't exact publicity. She never has. She's fundamentally a simple, midwest housewife and she doesn't want to be compared to all the sophisticates. She wants to remain anonymous."

At 82, she is spry and active. She watches calories to keep her five-foot-four frame between 130 and 140 pounds. She attends her Tuesday bridge club regularly, as she has for 40 years.

She is a devout Episcopalian (Anglican) and takes part in activities at the Trinity Episcopal Church, where she and their daughter Margaret were married.

Mrs. Truman telephoned Lady Bird Johnson about the president's operation before Christmas. She is known to like soap opera—entered by a relative few. She meets those she sees elsewhere.

Mrs. Truman is the chauffeur when her husband takes an afternoon drive. She "got her foot down" on his driving several years ago.

At her last public appearance one of the rare ones she has accepted in recent years, she received a plaque for outstanding contributions to her community.

It read: "To Mrs. Harry S Truman for having endowed her status as the wife of the former president with gracious ness and dignity."

She blushed when she accepted it.

WEDDING

CAIN — KEEGAN

Christ Church, Belleville was the scene of the recent wedding of Phoebe Margaret Keegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keegan, Belleville and John Robert Cain, son of Mrs. Frank Cain, Belleville and the late Mr. Cain. Rev. Alan Lander officiated at the ceremony and John Withers played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Charles Keegan, wore a white lace over satin dress with long lace sleeves and lace train falling from a white satin bow. Her fingertip illusion veil extended from a rose-shaped headdress with white satin leaves and she carried a bouquet of red roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Linda Cain, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor and Miss Edith Keegan, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore dresses of pink lace over satin with long sleeves, train and pink organza flowered headdresses. They carried nosegays of pink and white carnations with fern.

James Cain, Kingston, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and Brian Lake ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the home of the bridegroom. The bride's mother wore an aqua and white ensemble with matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of white mums. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy suit with matching hat, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

For her wedding trip to eastern points the bride wore a brown dress, navy lace coat, red accessories and a corsage of red roses. The couple will live in Scott, Gerrard, where the bridegroom is with the armed forces.

Gets Orders For Salmon From Letter

TANGIER, N.S. (CP)—Willy J. Kruech is being flooded with orders for smoked salmon—all because he wrote a letter of praise to the New York Times.

Mr. Kruech took issue with an article in the newspaper's travel section early this year. The article said Nova Scotia salmon, low in the delicatessen, is all but unknown in the province.

Mr. Kruech wrote saying he smokes about 10,000 salmon—mostly Atlantic and Pacific — a year at this eastern Nova Scotia community. He also sent samples to the Times food editor, Craig Claiborne.

Mr Claiborne printed the letter and also gave Mr. Kruech enough space to run his price list.

Within a week, 140 Americans, from Miami to Sea Freance, sent orders or inquiries for smoked salmon because it still coming in.

Mr. Kruech calls his product Danish smoked salmon because he learned the art of smoking fish in his native Denmark.

Duplicate Bridge Session

While Blackwood and Gerber are conventions well known to all bridge players, a conventioner may do just as well - known conventions can be of value to duplicate bridge players for they can use or is defending against them.

Such a one is the system initiated by Howard Schenken to avoid the weaknesses of two - level bids for all powerful hands. By his system all game - supporting hands are opened two-clubs, regardless of where the strength is, just to show power. This leaves a two-spade, two-heart or two-diamond opener to be used as a mild pre - emot.

This weak two-bid shows no honor count of only one and a half to two with a good six - card suit usually on most of the strength in it, and as a safety measure not much length or strength in the unbid major - in case his partner has it. The opposition is then faced with the problem of centring the bidding at the two or three level, while opener's partner with trump support, seven good points and a void can happily raise a major to game, and a void - fired distribution - wise at least to three in fair safety.

Remember the two-Clubs by a Schenken - opener means strength.

The next Duplicate Bridge Session will be on Tuesday night, April 17 at 210 Pinnacle Street at 7.30. Everyone welcome.

Women Who Enjoy Food Better Able to Enjoy Sex

The study also found that women with "a low level of angry tension are better able to obtain sexual enjoyment."

"They also get satisfaction from using the procedures of the body, they're active, like vigorous exercise and outdoor activities, the report said.

"We concluded," the report said, "that the ability to enjoy sex is part of a general ability to enjoy the world, to see the world as a fairly friendly place, to distinguish enjoyable arousing."

The study was conducted by Drs. Lorna Farber Fisher and Howard Ozofsky at the State University of New York upstate medical center in Syracuse. It was reported Saturday to the annual meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association.

Dr. Fisher said 42 women were recruited for the year-long study. Most were about 26 years old and had at least a high school education.

The general attitude toward food was included in the study because "it is one of the few drives which, like sexuality, has a clear object and also involves a definite body response at the time of gratification."

Club Activities

GAMMA MU CHAPTER

Gamma Mu's bi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Hugh Murray was enlivened by Mrs. Spence Womacott who presented information concerning the College of Applied Arts and Technology which will be opening in the fall. She is a member of the Board of Directors.

Attending the area convention for Beta Sigma Phi to be held in Ottawa on May 12-14 are the four delegates: Mrs. David Davey, Mrs. Peter Anderson, Mrs. Ted Bylow and Mrs. Charles Lundy.

Gamma Mu voted to donate $25. to the Mental Health Clinic in Belleville, also $10. toward a centennial float in which Gamma Mu will participate with the other chapters.

Mrs. James Cleary presented a most excellent program on "Literature," with such audio-visual aids as a tape recorder, a candle, and reading material.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Hugh Murray and co-hostess, Mrs. Robert Owen.

Hot Meals Being Served To Elderly

FREDERICTON (CP) — A group of Fredericton women have organized a meal - on - wheels program to bring hot, full-course meals to invalids and elderly persons.

The women, most of them housewives, are operating in liaison with the Victorian Order of Nurses.

The program began as a project of a unit of the Catholic Women from St. Paul's United Church, but it soon passed beyond club boundaries.

Unit President, Mrs. George Mossmen says: "Many of those who participate are from other churches, or have no church affiliation at all. And we don't want the project to be an 'in-group thing; we're after all the volunteers we can get."

The women began last fall before consultation with the VON, which indicated there was a need for such a service. It had already been successfully tried in other cities.

VON Regional Director Dorothy Loane estimates meals have been served to about 14 patients so far, most of them handicapped, elderly and living alone. She says persons do not have to be on welfare to receive the meals. Others are able to pay, are happy to do so.

At present, the individual volunteer delivers about one meal a month. The meals are prepared at the volunteers' homes and then "your figure and prodigious method of keeping it hot while you deliver it to the patient's home," says Mrs. Mossmen.

"In large centres they're prepared en masse, in a central kitchen, and it's the volunteers' job to deliver them all at once to various patients. At present we don't know whether there's enough requirement in Fredericton to warrant that kind of service; we're trying to find out."

Janie: "Everybody was invited to Mary's party, but me. Why do you think she didn't invite me?"

Mother: "Janie, I'm sorry but I can't talk now. I have to call the cloth list for the mending tomorrow."

No career, no civic need or social function should be more important than the joys and problems of growing children.

It's not enough to be home physically when your children come home from school. You must be there mentally as well, with a sympathetic ear and a mind tuned to their needs. Do your telephoning during school hours.

Population Expert Chosen as One To Query Status of Canadian Women

MONTREAL (CP) — How does a married man with three daughters find on being picked to listen to a country-ful of women's complaints?

For Jacques Henripin, one of two male commissioners on the federal government's inquiry into the status of women in Canada, his appointment is both "amusing and fascinating."

"I can't think why I was chosen," he said in an interview in his book-lined University of Montreal office.

"I'm not even sure men are necessary on a women's commission. Unless, of course, our findings turn out to be so damaging to male pride that it seems best a man should present them."

But at head of his native city's department of demography, Prof. Henripin has a long list of backgrounds qualifies he feels will be of prime importance to the committee—among them Canada's birth, death, marriage and divorce rates.

And on such matters, his six fellow commissioners may find the bilingual, 40-year-old Montreader startlingly open-minded.

The father of 13-year-old twin girls and a daughter aged eight, he has a wife busy finishing her master's degree in sociology who, he says, "taught me not to be study about women."

The result of the teaching is a man ready to suggest his own sex must make sacrifices for the sake of greater freedom for women, and a Roman Catholic who believes in relaxed divorce and birth-control laws.

"Society has been organized for males. Here's the main problem today is that she wants to adopt new roles—to study or hold an important job—but within our present structure that is almost impossible for a mother with children.

"Personally I think men are going to have to learn to be more gregarious."

Announced Feb. 3 by Prime Minister Pearson, the royal commission, headed by Ottawa journalist Anne Francis, has a wide mandate to investigate and report on any government measures which could help ensure female equality in all aspects of Canadian society.

Besides Miss Francis, Mrs. John Bird is private life, it is made up of two more married women, two unmarried women and two men—Prof. Henripin and Donald Gordon, a political science professor at the University of Waterloo.

Prof. Henripin, a native of Lachine, Que., is perhaps overly modest when he says he does not know why he was asked to join this group.

A member of the Family Planning Association of Montreal, he has for some five years been an active spokesman on Quebec television and radio for greater birth control and increased family allowances, said to keep pace with inflation and promote parenthood.

And as head of Canada's only department of demography, he has spent some five years researching and 18 graduate students directly involved in research on various reconnaissance family allowances, said to keep pace with inflation and promote parenthood.

It is a department that the professor set up himself three years ago after taking his doctoral degree in economics in Paris and spending years as professor of economics and statistics at the University of Montreal.

"Demographers are supposed to be social scientists who simply take measurements of human phenomena but I'm too curious to leave it at that," he says with a grin.

"I find myself wanting to know the causes of things like falling birth rates or rising divorce rates, and that leads me into all sorts of human complications."

One complication that has been an abiding concern for him is social structures that prevent the very people who need birth control most from having easy access to it.

"We've too many unmarried mothers and too many families with several children and small incomes. These are going to be main problems before the commission."

If they are, Prof. Henripin, with his liberal attitudes and special training in comprehending social problems, may be uniquely equipped to study them.

Men Must Be Generous

Successful Living

Overcomes Infatuation for Family Doctor

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Three years ago I had a severe siege of depression. This followed a year in which my young daughter was very near to death, my father was ill, the winter was long and storm-stayed, and I nursed my husband through a severe case of pneumonia.

Throughout these trials my doctor was of great help. To my consternation I developed a sort of infatuation for him. I realize this happens to many women but I'd been around doctors enough to think I was immune. I think this has pretty well disappeared. I have done some part time hospital nursing and have seen him from a nurse's viewpoint rather than a patient's — and have discovered he has a few human flaws!

This is about the only thing I haven't been able to talk over with my husband, whom I love dearly. So I chose you, Doris; and thanks for listening. — Confessing

Dear Confessing: That staunch personality of yours, which saw loved ones through a sickness and disaster is now showing additional insight and strength in putting down your haunting guilt on paper. And sending the letter to someone it won't hurt.

True, a woman may become temporarily infatuated with the doctor who shows deep interest in her — and you are normal in this. Being thus able to relate to a lifeline, is sometimes seen as a good symptom in mental upset.

O.K., you have told all. I won't tell on you. Go on from here. Congratulations on having a happy home.

Dear Doris: I am 17. Three weeks ago junior was born. Since then we have had arguments over practically nothing.

Last night he even threatened to take the baby away from me. I told him off. This morning he phones me up and says he wants to talk to me about what happened last night. When he did come to my house I told him that we were through. He was very hurt, because as soon as he got back on the job he phoned me up and begged me to take him back.

Doris, every time we have an argument I end up crying and I am just about tired of this and he always appears my arm. I know he loves me and the baby but I just can't take this alone any more. I told him so and he said he would stop hurting me. I love him and hated to tell him it is quits. — Unsure Love.

Dear Unsure: Don't do anything final until you are really over having the baby. Any woman feels pretty tired and upsetable for a while.

Then I'd strongly question the love of an abusive man. Can't say I found anything in your letter about getting married. Does he or does he not want to be responsible for the girl he loves?

Don't jump straight from the frying pan into the fire. This calls for high class personal counselling. Can't be done by long distance, on paper.

Confidential to Frightened: The most powerful argument, aside from the moral one, is that while physical relations are exciting, they are also physically draining when engaged in just for a momentary physical thrill. It is not time to give in, but it is hard to live with yourself afterwards.

Constant sessions of petting and cheap thrills suggest young people who are (1) lacking in brain power and interests; (2) lacking in self-discipline and self-respect, and (3) lacking in maturity.

Don't just muddle along. Do something about what's troubling you. A letter to Doris can put you on the way to more Successful Living.

Ann Landers

Gun Toters Take Pot Shot at Ann

ANN LANDERS

DEAR READERS: One of the unalterable characteristics of human nature is the inclination to express oneself against something instead of for something. And more strongly than for something. The "agin-ners" in our society are infinitely more vocal (and better organized) than the "Positive thinkers."

I recently printed a letter decrying the easy availability of guns in this country and the need for some degree of control. I was with the writer and asked my readers to write to their senators and congressmen and state legislators. In a month of mail one letter, my mail has virtually tripled. The National Rifle Association boasts 800,000 members. I have the feeling that most of them must have written (at least once) to tell me to "Get lost" — "Drop dead" — "Go drown." There were numerous other suggestions — mostly unprintable.

Here are some samples of what my week has been like:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What are you a Communist or something? What do you mean by trying to take guns away from the American people? Don't you know the Constitution of the United States gives us the right to bear arms? I'm going to write to my senator as you suggested, but it won't be about gun laws. I'll tell her a request that you be investigated for un-American activities. — TEXAS CITIZEN.

I replied to Texas Citizen (and to 20,000 other citizens who made the same point) that the intent of the second amendment to the Constitution is to give each state the right to maintain an organized militia. It doesn't mean states and the federal government can't have laws strictly regulating the sale and registration of firearms. Many states already have such laws (and less trouble.)

Here's another doll:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Guns are not dangerous. People who don't know how to use guns are dangerous. What we need is proper instruction on the handling of firearms. I am in favor of school children being taught in the class room how to use a gun.

Children who grow up with guns and learn how to handle them intelligently will never have a problem. — R. A. OF ILLINOIS.

DEAR R. A.: You sound like that New England psychiatrist who was in favor of school kids learning how to drink liquor in kindergarten. His theory was that if kids became acquainted with liquor early in life, they would know how to handle it later. Sorry, but I didn't buy his theory, and I don't buy yours.

DEAR ANN: If people want to kill they will kill. If they don't have a gun handy they will use a knife, or a letter opener, or a slit stocking. The Boston strangler used his hands. So why don't you stick to love problems and stay out of things you don't know anything about! — CHARLIE.

DEAR CHARLIE: Police officers say guns are about eight times more likely to kill than other weapons. Of the 35 men who have served as President of the United States, one-fifth have been shot at, four were killed, two were wounded and two were missed. According to the FBI in 1965, 53 American police officers were murdered — 52 by guns.

Danish Pastries Are Popular

By MARY MOORE

Bakery Danish Pastries are having such a run of popularity that readers are wanting to make their own.

This is no mean feat. Yesterday I got to work on them and today I will give you the recipe and method of making the dough. It is similar to croissant dough, which as you know is layered yeast dough, and takes time. Tomorrow I will give you directions for shaping and baking.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Creole Pork Chops; Baked Squash; Grated Cabbage Salad with Boiled Dressing; Dutch Plum Cake; Pouring Cream; Tea.

I figured that the 38 "Danish" that I produced cost between 45 and 50 cents. In the stores and restaurants you pay between 10 and 25 cents each, depending on size.

DANISH PASTRY DOUGH
(quantity sufficient for 38)

2 pkgs. granular yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 tsp. sugar
½ cup scalded milk
2½ tbsps. sugar (second amount)
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. shortening
¼ tsp. vanilla
2¾ cups (2½ cups plus 2 plus 2 tbsps.) sifted all-purpose flour (NOT soft wheat flour)
1 egg
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour (for flouring kneading board)

Into large mixing bowl soak the yeast in the lukewarm water with 1 tsp. sugar 10 min. To the scalded milk add the 2½ tbsps. sugar, salt, shortening and vanilla and cool to lukewarm. Add to soaked yeast liquid along with 2¾ cups sifted flour and egg and beat 10 min. (I "kneaded" mine with my electric dough hook.) Let rise until tripled in bulk. Punch down dough and beat for 2 min. Sprinkle your bake board with the ¼ cup flour and turn dough out on it and knead by hand until not sticky. Dough is soft and velvet smooth and a joy to handle. Now with determination and patience, roll out to 20 x 15" rectangle. Dot centre third (a strip down the middle) with ¼ cup of the butter. Fold over one side to cover butter. Dot folded-over side with remaining ¼ cup butter. Fold over other side to cover butter and seal edges by pressing firmly with finger tips. Turn dough so that long side is toward you and roll in evenly flour-sprinkled board patiently and carefully, roll out dough to 30 x 15" rectangle. Fold each, and of dough to centre, then fold again to bring open ends together to make 4 layers. Wrap in double sheets of wax paper being sure air is excluded and chill at least 2 hrs.

Roll out again on well-floured board to 20 x 15" rectangle, fold again to make 6 layers — sides to centre, then crosswise fold, wrap and chill one hour.

NOTES: 1) Dough must be kept cold at all times.

2) See Tomorrow for methods of rolling, shaping, decorating, baking and icing Danish Pastries.

3) Please clip this recipe now.

Full Dress - - and Decorations!

Glamorous gowns, full-dress uniforms gaily swirl beneath overhead decorations as centennial-year ball at Hastings and Prince Edward armouries gets into full swing. More than 200 couples took the floor for colorful social occasion.

Those Last-minute Details!

Presentation to the Queen's representative is only moments away and excitement adds to the radiance of young debutantes. Susan Bennett and Ruth Ann Campbell check last minute details with Carol Ann Brant (centre) watched by two young escorts.

Gold and Blue Turn Armoury Into Ballroom

The sound of revelry by night filled the Armoury Saturday as officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment staged a Centennial Ball with the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario as guest.

The drill hall was transformed into a ballroom for the occasion with streamers in the regimental colors of gold and blue, strings of colored lights, wall plaques featuring provincial crests, flowers and the centennial symbol.

The official party was seated on a pavilion dais in the middle of the north wall with the regimental mascots, Chief Petawawa-a-much and the little Indian flanking the steps. Opposite, on the south wall, the Troubadors orchestra played for dancing from a castle-like stand.

As the formally-clad guests entered the ballroom they were received by Lt.-Col. E. D. H. Willcocks, officer commanding the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and Mrs. Willcocks, and Major A. W. Cunningham, second in command, and Mrs. Cunningham.

The skirl of pipes, played by piper Ken McIlevin of Deseronto signalled the approach of Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe. Members of the official party seated on the dais were Mrs. William Rowe, Toronto, the Lieutenant - Governor's daughter-in-law; his aide-de-camp, Lt.-Col. F. MacEachren, (48th Highlanders) and Mrs. MacEachren; General Howard Graham and Mrs. Graham; Brigadier D. C. Cameron, honorary colonel of the regiment, and Mrs. Cameron; Hon. Lt.-Col. Allan B. Ross of Montreal and Mrs. Ross, Col. T. De Faye, Eastern Area District Commander, and Mrs. DeFaye and Mayor Jack Ellis and Mrs. Ellis.

A touch of historical color was added by 12 milliliamen, dressed in county-old uniforms who presented arms during the playing of the general salute. Corinne Willcocks, 6-year-old daughter of the regiment's commanding officer, demure in a full-length flocked organdy dress, presented a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Rowe. Near tears from nervousness after her long solo walk across the ballroom floor, she was comforted with a big hug and kiss from the Lieutenant-Governor.

Dancing followed the presentation of the debutantes and during the evening former regimental officers and other distinguished guests were individually presented to the Lieutenant - Governor.

A highlight of the evening was the dancing of the Gay Gordons by regimental officers and their wives. They were accompanied by Piper McNevin, Lt.-Col. MacEachren upheld the tradition of his regiment by joining, together with Mrs. MacEachren, in the second round of the dance.

Earlier in the evening, senior officers of the regiment entertained the official party at a dinner at Hotel Quinte. Following the dinner, a reception was held in the officers' mess for the remaining officers.

The Colonel's Lady

Lt.-Gov. Rowe and Mrs. Kenneth Willcocks, wife of regiment's commander, lead couples in opening dance at Hastings and Prince Edward ball.

Debutantes Were Nervous But Still Highlight of Life

With a rustle of nerve-shaken taffeta and silk, 15 young women made their bow to Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe Saturday night to signify their official "coming out" in society.

The presentation of the debutantes, the first event of its kind in Belleville, was a colorful feature of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's Centennial Ball. Each debutante walked between two rows of scarlet coated militiamen to the dais, where she made her deep curtsy to the Lieutenant - Governor. He beamed in reassurance and at each tense young woman.

Following the presentation, the debutantes and their escorts performed an old fashioned waltz for the Lieutenant-Governor's pleasure.

The presentation climaxed four weeks of training in dancing and deportment for the girls and the young men who escorted them. The girls, all 18 to 20 years old, were chosen by a committee of the Arvid Chapter, IODE from officers' daughters and others representing a cross-section of Belleville society.

Most of the girls admitted their presentation was the most exciting event so far in their lives. "It gives you something to look forward to and something to look back on all your life," was the way one debutante put it. "It should be a yearly event, so every girl can have her chance!"

Another disagreed. "If debuts were held every year they would soon become a routine matter," she said!

A poised brunette said the best part of the ball was the opportunity it gave the girls to dress in floor-length formal attire. "You feel so much like a lady," she said. Another confessed that without the experience gained at teachers' college in facing a classroom of pupils, she would never have had the self-confidence to go through with the presentation.

Debutantes presented were: Allison Birkenshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Birkenshaw, Belleville, escorted by Ray Monroe; Judy Lyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyon, Belleville, escorted by Jerry Grant; Jane Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Simmons, Trenton, escorted by Dave Willet; Nancy Howell, daughter of Mrs. Stuart Howell, Belleville, and the late Mr. Howell, escorted by Kevin MacLeod; Anne Ireland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ireland, Trenton, escorted by Peter Magnus; Donna Ridley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ridley, Belleville, escorted by George Porter; Susan Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bennett, Carrying Place, escorted by Spencer Ghalali; Ruth Ann Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell, Trenton, escorted by Hermann Miedema; Carol Ann Brant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brant, Deseronto, escorted by Rod Colquhoun; Heather Slade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Slade, Belleville, escorted by Earle MacDonald; Marilyn Hurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurst, Belleville, escorted by Paul Callaghan; Margaret Kellar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kellar, Belleville, escorted by Ross Huntley; Diane Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowman, Trenton, escorted by John Ahern; Jacqueline Lundberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lundberg, Belleville, escorted by Earl Reid; Peggy Jge Ackerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ackerman, Trenton, escorted by Bob Farrow.

Supper Is Served

Ball-goers relaxed briefly from gaiety of evening as supper was served on dance floor, buffet-style. Repast included huge centennial-year birthday cake.

Oops! Momentary Mishap!

One of those awful moments in a girl's life happens for Corinne Willcocks as s. s presents roses to Mrs. William Rowe, lieutenant-governor's daughter-in-law. Corinne tripped on gown mounting dais. But gallant officer — her father, Lt. Col. Kenneth Willcocks — was nearby to lend reassuring hand.

Centennial Cake Hit of Ball

A cake almost stole the show from the spotlighted dignitaries at the Centennial Ball in the Armoury Saturday night.

No ordinary confection it was four feet in diameter, flanked with lighted sparklers and garlands of Centennial roses, carried by four militiamen and piped into the ballroom. Gen. Howard Graham cut the first piece of cake with a regimental sword.

The cake was baked and decorated by Sgt. Frank Jarrell, Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, in the form of a centennial maple leaf symbol.

Shulman Says Wishart Orders Police To Keep Him Out of Coroner's Office

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman abandoned all claim to the job of Metropolitan Toronto chief coroner Sunday night after two confrontations during the day with representatives of Dr. H. B. Cotnam, chief coroner of Ontario.

Dr. Shulman, whose stormy career as chief Metro coroner was officially ended on Friday when he was dismissed by the provincial cabinet, said Attorney - General Arthur Wishart had ordered police to keep him out of the coroner's building.

"I no longer have any authority," he said. "I am no longer the chief coroner."

Saying he was proud of his controversy - marked record in the post, Dr. Shulman said he didn't know just what he would do next.

"But I do know I'm to devote myself to the overthrow of the existing government."

"However, he said, his battle with his provincial superiors was not started for political reasons.

Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario New Democratic Party leader, said Sunday he will ask the legislature this afternoon to adjourn regular business to debate "the peremptory dismissal of Metro's chief coroner."

In another development, it was reported that Liberal leader Robert Nixon and Mr. MacDonald had asked Dr. Shulman to join their parties if he decides to seek election to the legislature.

Dr. Shulman said he did not have time to make any political decision because of the "inexplicable, police state behavior of the supervising coroner's office."

Dr. Shulman's dismissal by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart Friday followed charges by Dr. Cotnam that Dr. Shulman had violated his orders in calling an inquest into a recent fire death at the Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital here.

Dr. Cotnam also accused Dr. Shulman of lying to the attorney-general about the case. Shulman said he ordered the inquest to go ahead because he thought a delay might conceal some facts.

The first confrontation Sunday involved Dr. Shulman, the police and Jack Ellis, Dr. Cotnam's chief executive officer, and occurred when Dr. Shulman barred Mr. Ellis' access to files in the coroner's office.

Each accused the other of attempting to remove files.

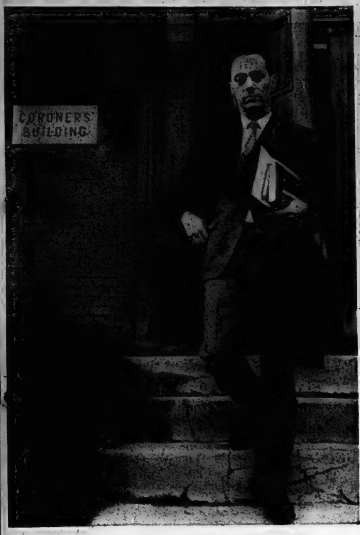
They finally agreed the files should be left in the keeping of John Wagner, chief officer in charge of the Metro coroner's office.

Ellis claimed that Shulman was no longer in charge because of his dismissal, but Dr. Shulman said he was still in command since he had never been properly notified of his dismissal.

Randall Dick, deputy attorney-general, said Sunday night that Dr. Shulman was fired last Friday when the lieutenant-governor signed an order-in-council dismissing him.

"We didn't need to give him any kind of written notice, "Mr. Dick said. "We sent him a photostat of the published order simply out of courtesy."

Dr. Shulman said later that he had removed some of the files and that they were in the charge of a lawyer and would be available for due proper persons to look at. He said he was afraid they would disappear or be destroyed.



The second confrontation occurred in the afternoon when Dr. Shulman had police bar Kenneth Lewis, Metro officer for Dr. Cotnam, from the inner offices of the coroner's building.

In the earlier encounter, Mr. Ellis had demanded to see a letter concerning the inquest into the death of John Stera who died from a fall after taking the hallucinatory drug LSD.

Dr. Shulman said he intended to proceed with the Stera inquest Tuesday and that "if they stop me it will have to be by court order or by force."

The other inquest in question was into the death of Frasercare Gualdieri, 30, who died last Friday in a fire at the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board hospital.

The fire was surrounded by controversy because officials said three-paper tile used on the ceilings of the building helped flames spread rapidly.

Shulman Turned Away

Dr. Morton Shulman, dismissed as Toronto's chief coroner, is shown on the steps of the coroners' building, from which he has been excluded by police.

Hees Says New Leader Will Be Backed by All

TORONTO (CP)—The winner of September's Progressive Conservative leadership convention here will have the full backing of the losing candidates, George Hees, member of Parliament for the Ontario riding of Northumberland promised Saturday.

Mr. Hees, a leadership candidate himself and two other contenders, Davie Fulton of Kamloops, B.C., and Michael Starr, member for Ontario riding, were taking part in a panel session at Scarborough Col-

"I think that to every Conservative in this country the most important thing is that we should finish the convention in September with a completely unified party," Mr. Hees told an audience of 100.

"And once we have finished the convention and chosen a leader—and I'm sure he'll be a sound choice whoever he is—we'll back the winner solidly."

Both Mr. Fulton and Mr. Hees praised the Carter report on taxation.

"The whole approach and objective seem to me to be in accord with what should be a basic principle of tax policies. That is, to leave in the pockets of the average taxpayer the maximum amount of his own earnings," said Mr. Fulton.

Mr. Hees said the "basic concept" of the report was fair and would allow more Canadians to put their savings to use in developing Canada.

Mr. Fulton suggested a national public information program be launched and special press, radio and television schedules be arranged to further public understanding of the proposed new tax regulation.

Turning to the housing problem, Mr. Fulton said a new federal ministry of housing should be established immediately.

It is no longer possible to regard housing as solely a provincial and municipal responsibility, he said.

He also said the educational system must be expanded, out of economic necessity, so that graduates can help Canada make better products and stimulate growth.

Tories Challenge Labor Party Hold On London Council

LONDON (AP)—Voting began today in a week-long series of county elections highlighted by a challenge to the Labor party's 33-year-old rule over London.

The polling in 59 counties is the first countrywide test of Labor's popularity since Prime Minister Wilson swept back to power in the general election a year ago.

For the Opposition Conservative party it's a chance to dent Wilson's image and capture London, the most glittering prize in British local government.

The elections, to replace councilmen who have completed three years in office, will range from almost non-political rural counties to a full - scale party battle for the capital's 8,000,000 people.

Labor holds 64 of the 100 seats in the Greater London Council, which administers the city and surrounding areas. Conservatives hold the other 36.

Public opinion polls show both parties running neck and neck in the hardest fought London election in memory.

The Labor, Conservative and Liberal parties each are contesting all 100 seats on the Greater London Council. In addition, there are 28 Communists in the field along with 47 Independents for a grand total of 385 candidates.

Conservative Leader Edward Heat is banking on discontent over the Labor government's economic squeeze to produce a swing to the right.

Residents in rural Norfolk an Monmouthshire were first to vote on a morning of heavy rain—something certain to produce a low ballot.

The peak voting day is Thursday with elections in 24 counties, including London.

Rylstone Personals

RYLSTONE — Though the warm spring weather, for the past few days and nights, was much appreciated, the frost came out of the roads too fast to allow them to settle. There are numerous bad spots on the county and township roads, the road repair men cannot keep up with it. The Stirling high school bus had to be re-routed on Monday and the mailman was unable to finish his route.

Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and Mrs. John Spencer and Nancy spent an afternoon recently, with Mrs. Fred Spencer and new baby at Allan's Mills.

Tommie Mumby returned home on Saturday from Campbellford Memorial Hospital, where he underwent surgery for appendicitis recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McComb of Peterborough spent a day recently, with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stewart and daughters. Their granddaughters Donna and Maureen Stewart returned home with them for a few days. While in the city, they also visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Prindible.

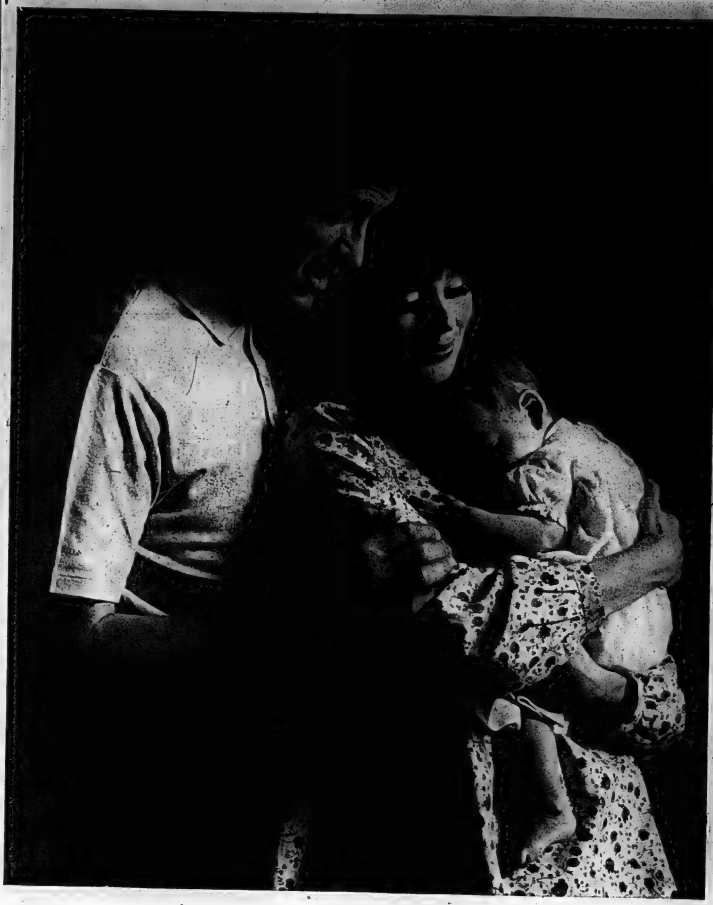
A few from here attended the centennial dance, in Springbrook Orange Hall, on Saturday evening, sponsored by the Local Farmers' Union. A good many were in centennial costumes.

A money shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Milne, (nee Anne Barker, of Havelock) was held in Sentinel Orange Hall, Petherick's Corners, on Friday evening. A short program of music, readings and dancing was enjoyed.

The congregation of Stanwood and Rylstone United Churches attended the sacrament service at Springbrook United Church, on Sunday morning. For the balance of the month of April, regular church services will be held at Stanwood Church, for the two congregations. The two Sunday Schools will also meet together at Stanwood this month, beginning Sunday, April 9th, at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Wm. A. Stewart is spending some time with his son Alex Stewart and Mrs. Stewart in Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jackson, Dawn, Denise, Michael and Michelle of Shannonville were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petherick. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jackson and family, who have been visiting at the Petherick and Jackson homes, returned to Oshawa, on Sunday.



Donna Stewart was a week-end guest of Helen Searles, at Minto.

The United Church Women of Rylstone United Church, will hold their annual missionary meeting in the church, on April 12th. Rev. Gordon A. Whitehorne of Campbellford, will deliver an address, taped in Nigeria, West Africa, by Mrs. Jack Chesworth, formerly Esther Meikle)ohn of Rylstone. Ladies from the surrounding women's associations have been invited to attend.

King Arthur's Camelot Goal of Archeologists

SOUTH CADBURY, Eng. (AP) — Alert centuries of doubt, archeologists may be on the eve of finding King Arthur's romantic kingdom of Camelot.

"We could be standing on it right now," said Leslie Alcock. "It could be right here beneath our feet — and we hope to find it."

Probing in a freshly opened pit he said: "This is the sort of pit in which inhabitants long ago kept their grain. These were subsequently filled in with rubbish, and the rubbish contains the things archeologists like.

"I refer to metal objects, bits of pottery and animal bones, all of which help us build up a picture of the past."

But what about Camelot itself?

"Ah," replied Alcock, a distinguished archeologist of University College of South Wales, "I don't think scholars of today would accept the idea of King Arthur as a king, but they would accept the idea of him as a great military leader, a sort of generalissimo of the early 6th century.

"It so happens that South Cadbury Castle — the spot where we are now talking — is the largest fortified site that we know for that period.

"Beneath the late Saxon defenses here . . . we should find some sort of refortification of Arthur's date. This is one of the things we'll be out for this summer."

Reagan's Popularity Remains But Economies Not Attained

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Ronald Reagan has swept through his first 100 days as governor of California with a dash and glamor reminiscent of his movie star days, but he concedes it hasn't been a honeymoon.

A Democratic opponent calls it a period of "on-the-job training" for a newcomer to office.

Nevertheless, Reagan has been propelled into the national spotlight as a possible Republican presidential nominee — praised and condemned for his determination to keep campaign promises of governmental economy and to move California along a conservative path.

Reagan, inaugurated Jan. 2 as chief executive of the United States' most populous state, completes his first 100 days Tuesday.

There has not been the flood of new laws that sometimes marks the advent of a landslide victor, but there has been plenty of noise and fire.

Reagan confronts a legislature controlled by the Democratic opposition; and sometimes his Republican colleagues have disagreed with him.

Reagan has spoken before 10,000 demonstrators protesting his effort to charge tuition at state colleges and universities.

Polls indicate he has retained much of the popularity which carried him to an almost 1,000,000 - vote victory over Democratic Governor Edmund G. Brown last November.

At the age of 56, Reagan is enjoying the job. He intends to lead a Reagan / for / pre-Viewed delegation to the 1968 Republican national convention.

His friends say he is not a serious candidate, but his Californ ia supporters believe he could wind up with the nomination if the convention should be deadlocked.

In his 1966 race Reagan promised morality in government, more local control and strict economy—a program he called the "creative society."

Reagan so far has fallen short of his goals in economy.

He is asking for a $5,000,000,000 state budget, largest in the history of any state. To replenish state funds, he has called for a $946,000,000 tax increase, largest in state history.

He tried to reduce the budget by demanding a general 10-per-cent cut in state spending, including the costs of higher education, but his program has fallen short.

Some newspapers which endorsed him now are critical of his economies.

On the plus side, Reagan can point to a $20,000,000 reduction in current spending and a $127,000,000 cut in departmental budget requests.

The Senate has approved his bills to increase penalties for robbery, burglary and rape. Proposals to ease farm labor disputes and improve rural living conditions are before the legislature.

'War Crimes' Trial Will Open April 26

PARIS (Reuters)—Jean-Paul Sartre, French pacifist, writer and philosopher, announced today that Bertrand Russell's international Vietnam "war crimes" tribunal will open in Paris April 26.

The tribunal will meet at the Hotel Continental in the centre of Paris, a communique said.

It said the tribunal will deliberate on two main questions:

1. Have the United States, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea committed acts of aggression according to international law?

2. Has there been bombardment of targets of a purely civilian character, such as hospitals, schools, churches, and is that acts has the concurred.

The tribunal will examine evidence from individual witnesses, as well as from its investigating teams of lawyers, doctors, surgeons and other specialists who have visited Vietnam and Cambodia.

The Hotel Continental was the headquarters of the Nazi SS-Elite Corps—during the Second World War German occupation of France.

Russell first announced his plans for the tribunal last June.

He planned to "try" President Johnson and other leading U.S. officials for their part in the Vietnam war and hear evidence from about 300 North Vietnamese alleged war victims. But the plan were cleansed.

Several nations, including lawyers, university professors and left-wing politicians visited Hanoi to obtain "evidence" for the tribunal.

Despite Egg Barrages Humphrey Tour 'Success'

BRUSSELS (CP) — Vice-President Hubert Humphrey flew home today, ending a stormy two-week tour through seven Western European countries.

Youths pelted the vice-president's motorcade with rotten eggs and fruit Sunday as it proceeded to a wreath-placing ceremony at the tomb of Belgium's Unknown Soldier.

But the anti-American demonstrations were on a much smaller scale than those that greeted him during his visits to Italy, France and West Germany.

Humphrey nevertheless was reported to feel that he achieved diplomatic successes despite the war which captured much of his headlines.

But European diplomatic sources felt his reception in Europe minimized chances that President Johnson will follow in Humphrey's footsteps later this year.

Humphrey is understood to have advised all the European leaders he visited that the U.S. would not make any deal with the Soviet Union or reduce the size of its forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization without consulting its allies.

The London Times described the demonstrations Humphrey encountered as a sign of "a core of anti-Americanism as bitter and irrational as anti-Semitism." The London Daily Express said the vice-president "has won something more valuable than popularity: Respect."

In Moscow, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Humphrey's "listen and learn" tour showed that the Vietnam war has left the U.S. in "even greater isolation."

Biological Warfare Program Claimed Deterrent by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States defence department is spending $230,000,000 this year on a chemical and biological warfare program it describes as a vital deterrent as well as a deadly weapons system.

Government - sponsored research and development projects to produce and protect against germ- and gas-warfare agents are under way on at least 32 college and university campuses—with the emphasis on protection.

Scores of private firms, ranging from industrial giants to small engineering companies, also are involved.

Six military bases serve as centres for the research, testing and storing of chemical and biological munitions.

Much of the government's work is top-secret, but defence department officials are known to be convinced the U.S. has assured means of delivering biological and chemical munitions to enemy soil.

Harmless germs and gases have been successfully test-delivered by guided missiles, bombs, artillery shells, hand grenades and aerosol sprays. Military planners say the aerosol sprays are most effective.

Large sums have been spent on the program to develop an array of silent killers, known to include sarin and tabun. These odorless, colorless gases are being produced and stockpiled in two plants.

The defence department also is believed to be able to deploy effectively a variety of virulent germ agents, including bruce-losis and pneumonic plague.

But despite its vast research programs, scores of visits in a series of interviews, the United States still faces a major hurdle:

It is producing some deadly gases and germs for which there are no known defences.

More than half of this year's estimated $100,000,000 research and-development budget is being spent for defensive purposes—such as developing vaccines, antibiotics and chemical and electrical warning systems capable of warning the U.S. of surprise chemical - biological warfare attack. Another $130,000,000 is earmarked for actual procurement of CBW munitions.

Some of the research funds in recent years have been used for developing germ - proof fields tents and specially air-conditioned and air-filtered trailers that could operate as combat headquarters, sources said.

The department, asked why a major effort is being made, said U.S. military planners "cannot overlook the possibility of a surprise attack which could be launched with less effort, and less expenditure, and with greater accuracy than the attack on Pearl Harbor."

Many other countries are known to be experimenting with germ and gas warfare. Some experts believe the Soviet Union is as advanced as the United States in CBW work.

It is known the United States keeps a close watch on chemical and biological progress in all Warsaw Pact nations and

NEW SHELL SUPER MULTIGRADE

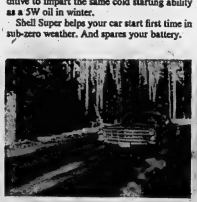
One motor oil for all cars, all seasons, all driving conditions

To test new Shell Super's performance at any temperature, a car was driven from White River, Ontario—Canada's coldest spot—to Death Valley, California—where temperatures can reach 120 degrees above. And new Shell Super gave complete protection all the way.

White River, Ontario. Temperature 26 below. If an oil becomes too thick in sub-zero weather an excessive load is placed on battery and starter. It can even prevent an engine turning over. Shell Super has a multigrade additive to impart the same cold starting ability as a 5W oil in winter.

Shell Super helps your car start first time in sub-zero weather. And spares your battery.

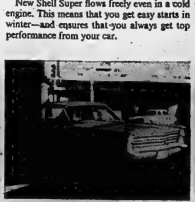
Freezing cold winter temperatures: Fort William, Ontario. New Shell Super Multigrade motor oil lubricates effectively in freezing cold winter temperatures. It quickly establishes a lubricating film to protect the engine.



New Shell Super flows freely even in a cold engine. This means that you get easy starts in winter—and ensures that you always get top performance from your car.

Cold, damp weather: Minneapolis, Typical winter conditions that set up a severe problem for a motor oil. Short trips and long stops.

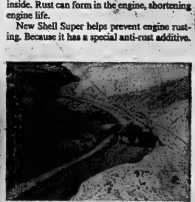
The engine doesn't have a chance to warm up. It cools down and water vapour condenses inside. Rust can form in the engine, shortening engine life.



New Shell Super helps prevent engine rusting. Because it has a special anti-rust additive.

Sustained high-speed Driving: Denver, Colorado. Air is constantly beaten into the hot oil. This reacts chemically to form lacquer on pistons, rings and lifters. When this happens, an engine can lose compression. This can result in a loss of power.

New Shell Super also has a powerful, high temperature Anti-Oxidant to prevent lacquering.



Keeps pistons clean. Keeps rings clean. Gives you better performance.

Heavy city traffic: Albuquerque, New Mexico. Typical conditions that face motorists in Canadian cities, too. Conditions that prevent an engine from warming up properly.

When this happens, carbon particles from the burning fuel can unite with moisture in the crankcase to form sludge, which can block oil lines.

New Shell Super-motor oil has a special ingredient to prevent sludging.

Death Valley, California: One of the hottest places in the world. Temperatures can reach 120 degrees. If an oil gets too thin, it can lead to excessive oil consumption. And high engine wear.

New Shell Super has the correct viscosity for summer driving and protects engines from excessive wear.

Shell Super, proven from White River to Death Valley. The one motor oil good for all cars, all seasons, all driving conditions.

Fuels Ont. Champions!

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Belleville captured its first Ontario Minor Hockey Association all-Ontario championship here Saturday afternoon. Smith's Fuels were blowing off the steam that came with the winning of a first all-Ontario championship.

Fans, and a crowd of back-slapping youngsters, most of them minor puckchasers, invaded the ice and almost mobbed the victorious gang in an outburst of happy damage.

Eyes shining, faces red with the flush of a climactic victory, they grabbed and hugged each other. They nearly shredded their young goalie in the first paroxysm of joy. They submerged their coach and manager under what appeared to be the Ottawa Keogh Riders in a goal-to-go huddle.

Down the ice a gallant crew of youngsters trying to smile through the disappointment of defeat watched the high jinks of the victors. Some stood with heads bowed, pecking at imaginary objects with the blades of their sticks. Others smiled bravely but one could almost imagine the lumps in their throats. Their coach, general manager and fans stood with them, arms draped over players' shoulders trying to forestall the bitter taste of loss.

As OMHA past-president Albert Watkin of Peterborough said when presenting the Conn Smythe trophy to the Fuels' captain. "In hockey as in other sports, someone must win and someone must lose. But when the final chips are down and the victory sauced, both teams are champions."

When the first victory demonstrations subsided the spirit of sportsmanship that is always apparent in minor sports teams asserted itself.

Victors and vanquished lined up and clasped hands in congratulation to the winners and a "better luck next time" gesture on the part of the losers.

The red-jerseyed youngsters from Sarnia trooped sadly to their dressing room. When I visited them, some sat heads bowed in dejection. Others stood up slowly understanding, smiling bravely through tear-glazed eyes. They were as gallant in defeat as their opponents were jubilant in victory.

Coach, manager and other club officials with Sarnia fans did their best to cheer them. "Don't forget, boys, you're still champions in your own right," said an official. "You did your best to win but remember we were beaten by a better team on the afternoon's play. We cannot take that from them. They have a great club and are worthy champions."

Proud parents and well-wishers crowded or tried to crowd the dressing room of the happy Fuels. The youngsters stood on the dressing benches, slowly divesting themselves of their hockey apparel and shaking hands with admirers at the same time.

Suddenly there was a commotion. A welter of Fuels made a huge for Coach Tom Miller as he entered the room and without a by-your-leave hoisted the big fellow on their shoulders. Minutes later dripping wet he sputtered to me, "Greatest day of my life."

Miller, manager Tom Neill and sponsor Mac Smith were the happiest people in the arena. They had every reason to be proud. After all, it is not every team that battles through a 40 game schedule and tastes the sweet wine of victory in forty-four. That's the brilliant seasonal record of the Fuels, a team that played together for the first time as an entity.

Up in the press box His Worship Mayor Jack Ellis, sandwiched between his reporter and Jack Devine of CJBQ, proved himself a staunch Belleville hockey fan. He applauded the plays of both teams and thumped his approval when the Fuels scored.

The mayor intimated that something will be done to give the newly-crowned Ontario champions municipal recognition. This is as it should be. It is the first time a group of gallant youngsters (between 10 and 12 years of age) has brought an all-Ontario minor hockey championship in the Old Lady of the Moira.

A crowd estimated at between 600-700 cheering, fans saw a brilliant exhibition of championship hockey between the two best peewee teams in the province.

The score indicates the play. A first-minute goal by Danny Lupinette sent the Fuels off to a brilliant start and they never looked backwards.

It was a fast-skating hard-checking battle with both clubs going all out, the Fuels to maintain the early lead and the Sarnians battling desperately to cut the margin and come within striking distance.

A fierce first-period assault that gave the Fuels a 3-0 lead practically sailed away the victory. The teams split a pair in the second frame for a Fuels 4-1 margin.

They made it 5-1 in the opening seconds of the third period. The desperate Sarnia youngsters in a brilliant rallying display cut the margin to 5-3 with two quick goals.

The Fuels nullified that pair with two fast goals within a minute of each other to tuck the championship away. Sarnia scored their fourth goal with the clock ticking away the final seconds.

The game was clean and hard fought with the Fuels assessing six of the eleven minor penalties. Two were costly with the winners scoring a goal while they were a man short. At one time two Sarnians and a Belleville player occupied the penalty box with no damage resulting.

The brilliant first line of the Fuels led by Danny Lupinette with Dave Smith and Jim Richardson, proved the best attacking division on the ice.

Lupinette came up with three goals, all in the first period, and an assist. Smith accounted for two goals and two assists and Richardson one goal and two helpers. Murray Dales with Grant Goegan assisting, scored the Fuels' seventh marker.

David McCosh led the Sarnia scoring with two goals, Jim Wordley and Rick Cromheen getting the others. Cromheen and Chuck Joynt each had two assists with Rick Fraser getting one.

But the Fuels' victory was not a three-man effort. Every player gave all he had in a fine display of teamwork with John Mulvihill leading a rock-like defence that faltered only on one or two occasions.

Both goalies came up with brilliant efforts especially in the face of ganging attacks.

The game was scarcely a minute old when Lupinette, dashing down the left boards, took Smith's pass to beat the Sarnia goalie cleanly.

Sarnia's star defenceman Mike McKegney was given the gate at 7.35 and on the first play Lupinette drove home Richardson's pass to put the Fuels two up.

Danny Conlon was penalized at 12.45 for holding and the Sarnians drove in the attack. Lupinette broke away with Smith and blasted home the third goal of the period.

Sarnia swarmed to the attack opening the second period and with the clock reading 24 seconds McCosh climaxed a drive with Fraser and Cromheen in score helper first goal.

A few minutes later Joynt scored but the Sarnia goal was disallowed, officials ruling his stick was over his head when the puck deflected into the net.

For the next eighteen minutes play surged up and down the ice with both defences outstanding and goalies kicking out hard drives. It was in this period the Fuels showed their superiority in the power play clicking department.

At 16.33 Dave Smith sent Lupinette's pass with a hard high shot to put the Fuels up 5-1 and it looked to be all over.

But they hadn't reckoned with the Sarnia spirit. Refusing to acknowledge defeat, the visitors staged a spirited offensive that paid off. This came after Dave Smith's second goal of the night when he intercepted a Sarnia goalmouth pass to score unassisted.

Then came the Sarnia drive. At 16.16 Cromheen took Joynt's pass to score and 28 seconds later Worsley on a scally with Cromheen and Joyce reduced the margin to 5-3.

Stung by the sudden goals, the Fuels rallied back to the attack scoring two goals and in 30 seconds with Richardson combining with Lupinette for the first at 13.46 and Murray Dales firing home Grant Goegan's pass at 14.15.

The Sarnians never gave up trying. They battled hard to reduce the margin scoring their fourth goal from McCosh with 43 seconds to go.

The Fuels outshot the visitors 28-20.

Gallant in defeat the rivalling youngsters soon with tear-glazed eyes lined up to congratulate their conquerors. This after the victorious Fuels had wax-showered in a wild exhibition of exuberance. They hugged one another and almost suffocated their goalie.

OMHA past-president Albert Watkin of Peterborough presented the Fuels with the Conn Smythe Trophy emblematic of the "A" peewee Ontario championship. The Rotarians were presented with the runners-up award.

Tebworth Named Convener

Belch Elected To OASA Executive

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

NORTH YORK — Boston in a stiff four - way battle for the title of vice president's position, Belleville's Cliff Belch rebounded to lead the voting for the executive committee of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association here Saturday.

Over 250 persons attended the OASA's 45th annual convention here on the weekend, including 147 voting delegates, the largest number in the organization's history.

Belch, elected to the executive committee in 1966, was defeated along with Kingston's Harold Langabeer and Sudbury's Don Prescott, by Stan Reeve, of Sarnia, in the battle for third vice president. It was the toughest fight of the day with Reeve finally winning on the third ballot.

Fourteen of 23 nominated stood for the six executive committee positions and Belch led the poles here, followed by Prescott, Tom Sims of Hereford, V. Walker of Port Perry, George Thomas of Simcoe and Langabeer, who grabbed the last elected position.

Earlier, Wiltwide's Clare Butler went in unopposed as president, succeeding Peterborough's Harold Dorrner.

Max Schoff of Toronto defeated Prescott in a two - way battle for first vice president and Cec Dunn, Galt, won over Hamilton's Danny Flynn for the position of second vice president.

Secretary L. G. Pickard and treasurer W. L. Algaier, both of St. Catharines, and auditors H. K. Champion of Hanmon and Dave Leather, of Peterborough, were returned to office by acclamation.

At an executive meeting Saturday evening, Belch was appointed to the sub committee; Harry Rollins of the city was named OASA honorary president; Jim Tebworth, Belleville, and Charlie Hamilton, Madoc, were appointed special conveners for this area.

Thirteen of 13 amendments to the constitution were passed, including one rule change which notes that play is dead and no pitch shall be called when a base-runner is called out for a leadoff. An amendment calling for the pitching distance to be lengthened to 46 feet was passed for senior "A" ball only.

John Brady, of Oshawa, was made a life member of the OASA after many years' service in the sport. He is a past president of the OASA.

At the umpires' clinic held Sunday to wind up the convention, dates were announced for numerous clinics, which will also include coaches and managers, all across the province.

A clinic will be held in Belleville on Sunday, May 14, one in Kingston on April 29 and 30 and another in Peterborough, May 13. The importance of all OASA umpires, especially young officials and those handling minor ball, was stressed by the OASA executive.

The 1968 convention will be held in St. Catharines on April 5,6 and 7 and in 1969 will be held in Sudbury.

Marlies In Finals

KITCHENER (CP) — Toronto Marlboros advanced to the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A finals, opening in Toronto Wednesday, with a 3-1 win over Kitchener Rangers Saturday night.

It was the seventh game in the best-of-seven semi-finals with the Marlies winning 4-2 with one tie. In the finals they meet Hamilton Red Wings who won three games to one and host two in their semi-final series with Niagara Falls Flyers.

For the Marlies, the Saturday win was a measure of revenge. A year ago they were eliminated by the Rangers in eight games.

The Kitchener team dominated Saturday's game but could not put the puck in the net. The big stumbling block was Marlboro goalie Bob Whidden, who was spectacular throughout the match.

Whidden was at his best in the opening and closing periods. In both the Rangers had 17 shots on goal but failed to score. All told, the Rangers had 48 shots at the net.

Ferguson, Backstrom Repeat Stars In Canadiens' 3-1 Win Over Blues

OOMPH — Defenceman Arnie Brown of New York Rangers gives defenceman Terry Harper of Montreal Canadiens a stiff check during the second game of the Stanley Cup semi-final between the two clubs. (CP Wirephoto)

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers will have had three days rest by the time the two teams meet at New York's Madison Square Garden Tuesday night in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final round.

No doubt some of this rest period will be spent by the players in calculating the profit and loss aspects of winning or losing the series.

The Montrealers grabbed a 2-0 edge in the round when they added a 3-1 Saturday afternoon win to their 4-1 victory over the Rangers here last Thursday night.

Winners of the semi - final rounds earn $2,250 a man and the losers $1,500 each. The victors then advance to skirmish with either Chicago Black Hawks or Toronto Maple Leafs, with the added incentive of gaining $2,000 individually for a win or $1,500 for a loss.

A pair of Montrealers have records they may have the financial dwarfs in mind. For the second consecutive game they spearheaded a Canadiens' third period rally to beat the Rangers.

Winger John Ferguson and centre Ralph Backstrom scored third period goals Saturday to break a 1-1 tie. The same two players scored the tying and winning goals as Canadiens rallied from a 4-1 third - period deficit Thursday.

Dick Duff opened the scoring for Montreal Saturday at 8:55 of the first period while defenceman Harry Howell was serving a Rangers penalty.

The game was a much-tighter checking one than the series opener and kept 13,773 partisan Montrealers in a constant uproar especially in the final when Montreal captain Jean Beliveau missed the open New York goal after Ed Giacomin had been removed for an extra attacker.

New York's Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion, a former Montreal star, evened the count in the second period with a power - play goal as Montreal's Jean Beliveau was serving a minor for holding Earl Ingarfield.

There were 21 seconds remaining in Beliveau's minor when Geoffrion scored—his 30th playoff goal since turning professional with Montreal in 1950.

Ferguson's goal came with Rangers' Al MacNeil in the penalty box. The New York defenceman put out an arm to grab Leon Rochefort, as Canadiens' right winger had a clear path to Giacomin in the New York goal.

After the game Ferguson credited Beliveau with advising him what strategy to use on the faceoff that preceded the goal.

"We were taking a faceoff in the circle to the left of Giacomin," Beliveau said. "Ferguson came out to replace Gilles Tremblay on left wing. He asked me where he should stand to pick up a pass and I suggested he stay out a bit in front of the net."

The puck landed on Ferguson's stick as Arnie Brown, the New York defenceman, fanned in his attempt to clear it out of danger.

"There it was and I just let go and it went in," Ferguson said.

Yankees At Washington

"Play Ball"; And Away They Go!

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season opened today with all the pomp and pageantry of a presidential address in Washington and the traditional National League first game at Cincinnati.

In Washington, the Senators entertained New York Yankees, with President Johnson a somewhat doubtful starter to throw out the first pitch.

And in Cincinnati, the Reds met the National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers, who knew for sure they would not have Sandy Koufax on hand.

The Dodgers, who rode Koufax's arthritic left arm to two straight pennants, sent Bob Miller, 4-2 last year, to the mound against Jim Maloney, 16-6. Koufax has retired to the world of television.

President Johnson had a busy day planned in Washington and it was not clear whether he would be able to throw out the traditional first ball.

The Senators gave southpaw Pete Richert, 14-14 last year, the starting job against the Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre, 12-20.

The 16 other major league teams open their season Tuesday with four games scheduled in each league.

Pittsburgh Pirates will pitch Bob Veale, 18-12, at New York against Don Cardwell of the Mets, 6-6 in 1966 and a former Pirate.

Philadelphia Phillies open at Chicago with Jim Bunning, the Phillies' ace at 19-14 last year, against the Cubs prodigy, Ken Holtzman, 11-16.

Danny Lemaster, 11-8, goes for Atlanta Braves in Houston against the Astros' Mike Cuellar 12-10. San Francisco will pitch Juan Marichal, 25-6, against Bob Gibson, 21-12, at St. Louis. Cleveland opens with Sam McDowell, 9-8, or Steve Hargan, 13 - 10, against Kansas City's rookie flash, Jim Nash, 12-1. Detroit Tigers sends Denny McLain, 20-14, against the Angels' George Brunet, 13-13, at California.

Minnesota opens at Baltimore with Jim Kaat, 25-13, opposing Dave McNally, 13-6.

"Weiner" Scores Two

Aces Square Series

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Kingston Aces defeated Morrisburg Combines 7-3 Sunday to tie their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-final series at one game each.

The teams move to Kingston for the third and fourth games Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kingston's Wayne Brown, who played for Morrisburg for three years prior to this season, led the scoring with two goals.

Brown has spent the season in Belleville and was one of three men imported by the Aces for the Sunday game. The others were Dave McComb from Collingwood, who notched up one assist, and Jack Price of Oakville, who scored once.

Morrisburg coach Ralph Hurley said he thought Brown helped the Aces, "but I wasn't impressed with McComb and Price."

The Combines Friday night won 8-5 in the first game of the series.

SACO Wins, Game Away From Title

Ray Lucas' SACO squad moved to within one game of the Quinte Hockey League championship Saturday night with a 5-3 victory over Grant Realty.

SACO leads the best-of-seven titular series three games to one with the next game tonight, at 8:00. Should a sixth game be necessary it will be played Tuesday, at 8:00.

Saturday's tilt, by far the roughest of the series to date, saw SACO jump ahead 2-0 in the first period, split a pair in the second and outscore Grant's 2-1 in the third.

Ken Forsythe scored SACO's last two goals and assisted on another. Ray Allen had a goal and assist, Larry Potter and Frank "Junior" Day the other goals. Doug Hallam drew two assists, Billy McGuire and Jack Lucas one each.

Terry Casselman and Don Wood were the Realty marksmen. Jack O'Neil, Mike Foxon, Hugh Petrie and Keith Detenbout drew assists.

The losers were never in contention as SACO led 3-0 before Grant's got their initial goal and 5-1 before they closed the scoring with about a minute to play.

Grant's took the lion's share of the penalties, collecting nine of 14. Howard Skelly and "Wedge" Adams drew misconducts in defeat while teammate Merv Thompson and SACO's Doug Hallam had majors for a last-minute fight.

Trenton Tournament

Bantams Win "B" Title

Belleville Kinsmen won the "B" title at the annual Trenton bantam hockey tournament on the weekend but lost out in the grand championship game to Bowmanville.

The Kinsmen were knocked back into "B" competition when they bowed 3-1 to Ottawa in their first game.

Belleville then defeated Peterborough City All-Stars 2-1 and won the "B" crown with another 2-1 decision over Port Hope.

The "A" champions from Bowmanville won the grand title with an 8-3 victory over Belleville.

Clarke scored twice and Grey once while Geoff Morton from Gary Thompson and Dennis Cone was Kinsmen's scoring play in the 3-2 game.

Peterborough led 1-0 on Williams' goal until Terry Meagher scored at 10:15 and 14:20 of the third period for Belleville's first win. Peter Ackerman had one assist.

In the "B" title game, Geoff Morton comprised a play with Leslie McKenna and Bill Buchanan for a first-period lead that stood up until Hills tied it at 1:15 of the third. Rick Meagher triggered the winning marker, aided by brother Terry, at 9:15.

Bowmanville built a 4-0 lead and coasted to the title, leading 7-0 before Terry Meagher scored Belleville's three goals in the last three minutes of play. Leslie McKenna assisted on two. Simpson netted three for Bowmanville; Donoghue two, Simms, Crough and Cowls one each.

Defeat Hawks 3-1

Sawchuk Brilliant In Leaf Victory

CHICAGO (CP)—Three days after she crowned Good night Terry at Chicago Stadium, Toronto goaltender Terry Sawchuk had his laugh.

The veteran netminder came within a whisker of collecting playoff shutout No. 12 Sunday night as Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 in the second game of the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

The best-of-seven series is tied 1-1.

It was a great comeback for Sawchuk, who had looked less than spectacular as the Leafs lost the opening game 5-3 Thursday night.

But a different Sawchuk came to play Sunday night. He stopped 33 shots as Leafs outclassed the Hawks with a powerful display of forechecking to score the first goal.

"That's the big one," defenceman Tim Horton of Toronto said. "That's the one that puts you up there in every game."

Pete Stemkowski scored it, beating Chicago netminder Denis DeJordy from a pass across the goal mouth from Jim Pappin.

Dave Keon and George Armstrong scored the other Toronto goals, while Stan Mikita, the National Hockey League scoring champion, scored for the Hawks.

It was Sawchuk who kept the Leafs in the lead, however, stopping a breakaway by Eric Nesterenko midway through the first period with the Leafs leading 1-0.

"... that one on Nesterenko was great," Chicago coach Billy Reay said. "If he had scored that goal it would have made all the difference in the world."

Armstrong's goal, which made it 3-0, was the prettiest of the game. The veteran right winger was bigger men on a three - way pass-play with Frank Mahovlich and Keon. He lifted the puck into the Chicago net as DeJordy sprawled to make the save.

Armstrong suffered an injured right knee later in the game when he collided with Chicago scoring ace Bobby Hull.

"We won't know how bad it is until today," Toronto coach Punch Imlach said after the game. "They tell me it isn't too bad though."

Armstrong also assisted on Keon's winning goal in the first period.

Mikita's goal came midway through the third period when the shifty centre broke in on the left side and beat Sawchuk with a blazing 30-footer.

"This is what they (Leafs) wanted," Reay said. "They needed that victory here so we have to win one game in Toronto now."

Imlach disagreed, contending the Leafs "are still the underdogs as far as I'm concerned."

Imlach singled out Sawchuk, veteran defenceman Allan Stanley as Keon as the Leafs' best performers.

"He (Keon) went both ways and killed penalties."

The difference in the Leafs' play Sunday night was in their penalty killing. During the Hawks' first power play of the game, Chicago managed only two shots at the Toronto net.

Both clubs took two minor penalties in the game.

Both clubs arrived in Toronto today where the Leafs will work out at 1 p.m. EST and the Hawks were to practice later in the day.

Their game of the series is scheduled for Tuesday night in Maple Leaf Gardens, while the fourth is also scheduled for there Thursday night.

Lead Series 2-1

Quebec Tops Clippers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces, who dropped their opener in the American Hockey League playoffs series for the Calder Cup, have rebounded with two victories to lead the best-of-five quarter-finals 2-1.

In the only game Sunday, the Aces walloped Baltimore Clippers 7-4 and need one more win to advance to the semi-final round. The two teams meet again Wednesday at Quebec City.

In games Saturday, Pittsburgh Hornets took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series when they defeated Hershey Bears and Rochester Americans managed to escape elimination by nipping Cleveland Barons 3-2 in sudden death overtime. The Barons hold a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five quarter-finals and the fourth game is scheduled Tuesday at Cleveland.

Foinavon Wins National

AINTREE, England (CP)—British - owned Foinavon won the classic Grand National—world's roughest steeplechase—at betting odds of 100 to 1 Saturday in a fantastic race that turned into a bookies' benefit.

The race featured the most dramatic pileup of horses in 40 years.

Only 18 of the 44 starters finished the race over a turf course of four miles, 856 yards and 30 obstacles.

None of the second-ranked favorites—movie star Gregory Peck's Different Class, The Fossa and Basmet, all at odds of 100-8—finished the race.

Anglo, last year's winner, was never a fighting factor and was pulled up after the 15th fence.

WON TOP MONEY

Foinavon, a nine - year - old brown gelding aired in Ireland by Vulgan out of Ecclaco, won £17,630 ($52,890) for owner C. P. T. Watkins.

After a great battle for the next three places, Honey End, top favorite at 15 to 2, finished second to win £3,295, Red Alligator, 30 to 1, placed third to earn £2,510. Greek Scholar, 20 to 1, was fourth.

Hawks Bow In Opener

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP)—A goal by Bob Kastelan with less than six minutes to play in the game gave Drummondville Eaglets a 3-2 victory over Moncton Hawks Sunday night and a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five Eastern Canada semi-final series leading to hockey's Allan Cup.

Second game of the series will be played here tonight.

Masters To Brewer By Stroke

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gay Brewer Jr., dubbed "the man who will never come back" after he blew the Masters golf tournament last year, won the prestige-laden event Sunday in a stirring duel with Bobby Nichols.

Brewer, 35, wiped out that dreadful memory of a year ago by coming from two strokes back to win the tournament with a brilliant five-under-par 67 for 280. He sank two long putts on the closing holes to outstrip Nichols, leader through 64 holes. Nichols had a 70 for 281.

"I may be the happiest man in history to win the Masters," Brewer said after he had broken the seven-year stranglehold of Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player on the tournament.

Nicklaus, three - time champion and winner of two in a row, did not make the cut for the last two rounds. Palmer, a four-time champion, finished with a 69 for 285 and fourth place. Player, the little South African who won in 1961, finished with 71 for 287 and a share of sixth.

Toronto's George Knudson shot 74s both Saturday and Sunday and ended with 296 for a tie for 30th position. He won $1,300. It was Knudson's poorest showing in three performances in the Masters.

Brewer, who had never before won a major tournament, came within a fraction of an inch of it in the 1956 Masters. He went on the 18th tee with a one-stroke lead and was on the green in two.

Needing only a par to win, he three-putted from 40 feet, leaving a five-foot par putt—the one that would have won it—hanging on the lip of the cup.

Nicklaus and Tommy Jacobs tied him and when it went to a playoff Brewer finished third with a dismal 78.

Forest Eliminates Everton

LONDON (CP) — Everton, hoping to repeat as English Football Association Cup winners, was eliminated Saturday in the semi-finals, going down 3-2 to Nottingham Forest.

Nottingham, which has a great chance of winning the English League championship this year in addition to the cup, was down a goal at halftime but came back to win.

Chelsea, knocked out by Sheffield Wednesday in last year's semi-final, gained revenge on the Yorkshire team with a 1-0 victory before over 52,000 spectators at Stamford Bridge.

Bobby Tambling was taken off the field on a stretcher with only 14 minutes to go and it appeared the London team would be involved in a replay. But Johnny Baldwin won the game for Chelsea with the last kick of the match.

Leeds United reached the semi-finals for only the second time in its history by beating Manchester City 1-0 at Leeds. Leeds' winning goal came after 31 minutes when Jackie Charlton headed home a corner taken by Gray.

Before Saturday's matches Leeds was joint favorite for the cup with Tottenham Hotspur. The Spurs were held to a scoreless tie by Second - Division Birmingham City. The teams replay at Tottenham Wednesday.

There were incidents at two of the quarter-final matches. At Stamford Bridge, both Chelsea and Sheffield Wednesday were called together and lectured by the referee. Play was bad-tempered throughout the first half.

Police ordered several youths from the stadium at the Notts Forest - Everton game when fighting broke out. On the field there were several incidents of rough play.

Ian Moore scored in the 66th and 69th minutes to put Forest ahead. He scored a third time late in the game.

Everton took the lead in the 36th minute when Jim Husband scored. The same player scored Everton's second.

In a reduced league program, none of the leading teams in the First Division was in action. Blackpool was officially relegated to the Second Division following its 1-0 loss to Sheffield United.

'Old Sweats' Return to Vimy Ridge Half A Century After Great Victory

VIMY, France (CP) — "Perhaps you don't feel well enough to march with the others," said the young officer to a Vimy veteran who, at 83 years of age, was looking a might pale.

"Get out of my way," said the old sweat.

The incident typified the spirit of about 125 survivors of the battle of Vimy Ridge who joined Sunday in a ceremony marking the 50th anniversary of the famous Canadian victory.

Today, the 73 "official" veteran representatives from Canada planned a final tour of the battle field before moving on to Arras from where they will fly home aboard an RCAF Yukon aircraft Tuesday.

Other veterans on private trips were following an equally rigorous schedule.

Jack Moyer of Salmon Arm, B.C., who at 85 is one of the oldest veterans here, laughed delightedly when asked about the pace.

"I sit down once in a while," he said. "I can stand a lot of this."

Sunday's ceremony featured Canadian and British guards of honor, bands and the magnificence of many observers—none from France.

Official Canadian and French estimates of the turnout at the towering, white Vimy memorial varied all the way from 12,000 to 21,000.

Thousands waited on the offside of the giant monument for a close-up view of Prince Philip who represented the Queen in her role as Canadian Monarch.

The crowd broke down a cordon and delayed Philip's car for a time as he left for the airport.

Prime Minister Pearson, in a message read to the assembly by Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, said of the Vimy battle on Easter Monday, April 9, 1917:

"Here, for the first time, Canada's four divisions—of the contingent formations of the Canadian Expeditionary Force — accepted responsibility for the capture of a major tactical feature: One which withstood fullscale attacks for over two years of bitter warfare.

"But the battle of Vimy Ridge was not only a feat of arms for Canada: It was the first of a nation."

The 73 "official" veterans, each representing a unit in the Vimy battle, placed wreaths at the memorial Sunday in freezing rain with a touch of snow—temperatures two inches of the sleet and snow they faced on the fateful Easter Monday.

Another touching, if less formal ceremony was held at the town of Vimy which regards itself as "godchild" of Toronto, its benefactor since the First World War. Leslie Frost, former Ontario premier, presented the town with a Canadian flag on behalf of the Royal Canadian Legion and presented an Ontario flag on behalf of Premier Robarts.

The town people, old and young, showered praise and gifts on Brigadier J. A. de Lalanne, Dominion honorary treasurer of the Legion, who, as a young lieutenant, liberated the town after the ridge was taken.

Prince Philip, in the uniform of the commander-in-chief of the Legion, spoke of the enormous cost of the action in which nearly 100,000 Canadians took part. He said the sacrifice was a lesson for present and future generations.

"History may relate the events which led up to this four-year holocaust of death and destruction . . . but this is not enough. All mankind must learn what happens when the personal ambition, arrogance and pride of its national leaders and the nationalism and aggressive instincts of a people drag half the world into war."

LL-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, officer in charge of the "official" veterans, and now Canada's disarmament negotiator, said Vimy showed the Canadians were able to meet professional soldiers on their own terms and win.

Gen. Burns, whose unit attacked Hill 154 where the Vimy memorial now stands, said it was as if the highly - trained Germans regarded the Canadians as raw amateurs. However, after the Canadian victory there was no holding them.

National War Memorial Scene Of Vimy Ridge Ceremony Sunday

OTTAWA (CP)—They had to be at least 65 or real liars.

Most frankly admitted to being in their 70s.

But all of them, down to the gunner who slogged shells all morning and the clerk who didn't lay an eyeball on a German all day long, were proud they were at Vimy Ridge.

They had a little chance to show their pride Sunday. Seventy-three "old sweats" representing each Canadian unit that took part in the battle that won Canada recognition as a military power held places of honor in Ottawa.

They took part in a commemorative ceremony at the National War Memorial in Confederation Square. They also took their places around the head table at a dinner Sunday night thrown by the veterans affairs department.

It was the 50th anniversary of Vimy Ridge.

Fifty years since 100,000 Canadians climbed out of their trenches at 5:30 a.m. on a sleety morning in France and started across one of the best-defended pieces of no-man's land the First World War had seen.

Defence Minister Hellyer remarked at the dinner Sunday, Vimy Ridge had been taken by the Germans in 1914. The French had suffered 100,000 casualties trying to retake it in 1915, another 40,000 in 1916.

But the Canadians chalked up gains ranging from 1,000 yards against the toughest German emplacements on the highest ground, to 4,000 yards in a single day. Every objective was occupied by the evening of April 9, 1917, except Hill 145. That was taken the following morning.

Vimy was recognized as a classic manoeuvre in trench warfare.

But it was no classic to the men who gathered in Ottawa Sunday. They were happy to be alive and sorry for comrades who were not.

They marched to the memorial under a leaden sky that loosed a chilly drizzle. They stood through the anthems, prayers, volley for the dead, moment of silence, Last Post and Reveille.

They placed their wreaths at the memorial and they marched away.

"I wasn't at those awful 50, 1917, except Hill 145. That was taken the following morning.

French Were Not Consulted

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir says it has learned from reliable sources that Canadians responsible for organization of Sunday's ceremonies at Arras, France, marking the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, did not see it as their duty to consult the French government when preparing the program.

It was with a certain surprise, the newspaper says, that Paris learned that Prince Philip had been invited to come to France and that he had accepted the invitation.

"However, it turned out to be too late to change the program and the French government, believing the ceremony to be strictly Canadian, decided against representation."

South Korean Patrols Kill Four Intruders

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean Army patrols shot and killed four North Koreans in two gun fights on the western front today, the army headquarters announced.

Both border clashes occurred within 20 miles of the gunfight last Wednesday in which U.S. and Infantry Division troops killed at least four North Koreans, an army spokesman said.

The spokesman said a patrol encountered three North Koreans south of the demilitarized zone today. In a brief gunfight, the patrol killed one of the North Koreans and the other two fled into the heavy underbrush. The patrol pursued and killed them both.

Four of Six Entries Declared for National Drama Festival

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four of six entries have been announced for this year's Dominion Drama Festival, the first ever to be a strictly Canadian affair.

In honor of Canada's Centennial, only plays written by Canadians will be taking part in this year's festival final at St. John's, Nfld., from May 22-27.

Regional winners have been announced in Western Canada, Central Ontario, Western Ontario and Western Quebec but not in Quebec-southern Ontario or the Atlantic provinces.

Neither of the drama groups which won four awards at the 1966 championships in Victoria—the MAC Theatre Society of Calgary and a Montreal group called the Mouvement contemporain—advanced past regional finals this year.

Groups winning regional finals to enter the championships are Guelph Little Theatre in Western Ontario, Theatre de la Mauderaque of Montreal in Western Quebec and a group from Aurora - Newmarket in Central Ontario.

The Vernon, B.C., Little Theatre, which won the British Columbia regional festival, was awarded the entry for Western Canada over winners in the Prairie provinces.

The representative for the Atlantic provinces has yet to be announced from provincial winning groups—St. John's Players in Newfoundland, The Vagabond Independent Players Theatre for Children of Charlottetown, P.E.I., St. Francis Xavier University in N.S., and La Societe d'Art Dramatique of Edmundston, N.B.

And in the Quebec-Northern Ontario region, officials will announce a representative from among The Soo Theatre Workshop, the Dauphin Players of Ottawa and the Jonquieres, Que., theatre group.

There were 14 regional festivals in Canada during the last two months but only six winners will compete in the dominion final. There were seven finalists in Victoria last year.

The Vernon Little Theatre will present Gibbons, a play written by three Vancouver journalists which won a sweep of eight awards at the British Columbia final.

Gibbons, a comic - tragedy character study of a 25-year-old man, was written by Peter Wilson of The Canadian Press, Ray Logie of the Vancouver Sun and Myles Murchison of radio station CKNW.

It was declared best play and best production of the four-entry festival, thus giving the authors a $1,000 prize with the same amount going to the Vernon Little Theatre.

The production took five other awards — best actress, Mary Huggins; best supporting actor, Peter Bolman; best director, Mrs. Packly Malcolm; best visual production, Doug Huggins; speech and diction award, John Destry Adams.

The Guelph Little Theatre will enter Donald Harron's The Bryan Jog. It won both the Centennial Commission Award for the best Canadian play and the DDF regional trophy for the best production. Phyllis Dobson of the Guelph cast received the award for the festival's best actress.

Martin Hunter's play, Out Here the Web and Flooded Wide, won top honors in Central Ontario for a cast drawn from four theatre groups of the Aurora-Newmarket district.

The 36-year-old Toronto playwright received the medal for the best Canadian play and a Centennial Commission prize of $1,000. The production was directed by Pamela Terry Beckwith.

La Poudre, a French-language play by Robert Gurik, won the Western Quebec festival top award for Theatre de la Mauderaque of Montreal. The play, directed by Roland Lacuche, revolves around Yonel, a young miner who takes beggar after being blocked in a mining accident.

'Man for All Seasons' Slight Favorite for Major Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 39th annual Academy Award contest approached the climax tonight with A Man For All Seasons an "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? as the favorites to win the major prizes.

Although Virginia Woolf won 13 nominations, A Man For All Seasons appeared to have a slight edge to dominate the ceremonies at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. The pageant of Sir Thomas More's martyrdom was nominated in eight categories.

Although negotiations announced a tentative agreement in the performers' strike against the television networks early today, TV broadcast depends on ratification of the agreement.

A source close to the union said: "Indications are that the Oscars on ABC-TV will be permitted to go if the tentative strike settlement is approved by the AFTRA national board. If it will go on, but the Oscar show will not."

A continuation of the strike would reduce the audience from millions of TV viewers to 2,500 guests at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

The contest for best actor seemed almost neck - and - neck between Richard Burton of Virginia Woolf and Paul Scofield of A Man For All Seasons with the latter favored.

Burton's co - star, Elizabeth Taylor, appeared to have a good chance to win her second Oscar. Her principal competition is Lynn Redgrave in Georgy Girl.

Nearly all the acting contenders except Burton, Miss Taylor and Michael Caine—Alfie —are expected to be in the audience for the ceremonies.

The cast of the extravaganza continued to rehearse with television cameras through the weekend on a waiver from the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

"We rehearsed everything but Bob Hope's monologue," said producer Joe Pasternak. "Bob doesn't like to do it before the show because someone might steal his gags."

Windsor Baritone Gets La Scala Acclaim

MILAN, Italy (Reuters) — Victor Braun, rising Canadian star of the Frankfurt Opera, was warmly received in his debut at the famous La Scala Opera House Saturday night.

He sang the Wolfram role in Richard Wagner's Tannhauser.

The young baritone, born in Windsor, Ont., said before his appearance: "I'm calm and collected, but facing the Scala audience is always a difficult test. I've got a touch of the butterflies."

The audience here is noted as one of the most critical in the world.

But once on stage, Braun seemed to forget any nervousness in his portrayal of Wolfram, the most important role in the opera after that of Tannhauser.

Singing in German, Braun showed complete mastery of the part, with excellent voice control, clear tone and good acting.

The audience was particularly pleased with his interpretation of the third-act aria, Oh You, My Beautiful Evening Star.

Italian newspapers, Sunday were a unanimously about Braun's performance.

Milan's Il Giorno says Braun showed "good musical and vocal qualities, although unexceptionally off balance in the high registers."

Another Milan newspaper, Corriere della Sera, says: "The baritone Victor Braun showed himself an admirable exponent of Wolfram's inspired aria."

Turin's La Stampa comments: "The baritone Victor Braun played the role of Wolfram von Eschenbach with vigorous musical accents."

The Communist l'Unita says: "Victor Braun gave a moving and plastic performance in the role of Wolfram."

Oshawa Wins Bantam Title

NIAGARA FALLS (CP) — Oshawa downed the host Stamford Optimists 5-3 Sunday to win the Ontario Minor Hockey Association Major A bantam hockey title three games to one in a best-of-five final.

Dick Gamble, son of the veteran American Hockey League star, scored twice for Oshawa with other goals going to Chris Bone, Dave Heron and Eric Howard.

Stamford tied the game 3-3 halfway through the third period with goals by Larry Carr, Billy Leskiw and Fred Smith.

Int. Series All Square

FREDERICTON (CP)— Fort Erie Frontiers edged Fredericton Capitals 4-3 Sunday after suffering an 8-5 defeat Saturday to even the best-of-three eastern Canada Intermediate A hockey semi-finals at 1-1.

Tentative Agreement Reached In U.S. TV Network Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators reached a tentative settlement today in the radio and television performers strike that for 13 days put celebrities on picket lines and programming on a schedule of old films and reruns.

Terms of the agreement between the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists and ABC, CBS and NBC were not revealed pending a union vote, but bargainers for both sides and shook hands as the settlement was announced at 6 a.m. today after 14 hours that began at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Pickets still walked outside NBC at Rockefeller Center, however, and mediators would not say if the lines would be withdrawn. No date was announced for the union vote on acceptance.

"The strike is still on," one picket said.

Immediately involved in the settlement were the fate of the Motion Picture Academy Award show, scheduled for tonight on ABC. It was not known if arrangements could be made to broadcast the show.

The strike that began March 29 prevented a diet of canned reruns on TV screens late last week when engineers refused to cross AFTRA picket lines forced supervising producers to take over technical duties. The results at times were harrowing sound, blurred pictures and missed cues.

Writers, cameramen and even motorcycle newscasters at network pivot points stayed away from their jobs in sympathy with the 18,000 members striking union.

At issue in the strike were the union's demand for $50 a week or $335 a week and a greater share of commercial fees for about 100 local newscasters at network - owned stations in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago.

Another area of dispute was automation at network - owned FM stations.

The networks, who previously offered $300 a week through a system of base pay and fees, charged that AFTRA was demanding the assignment of extra staff announcers to cover jobs requiring only a few hours of work each.

The strike produced two major personality disputes: one involving NBC newscasters David Huntley, who, although an AFTRA member, crossed its picket line to broadcast as usual, and Johnny Carson, who quit his Tonight show charging that the network had violated his contract by using reruns during the strike.

Huntley worked while his partner, David Brinkley, stayed home. Huntley said he would have been part of a team that represented "hustlers" and called for the formation of a network newsman's guild.

Desolie Carson's insistance that his decision to leave the Tonight show was final, NBC maintained that it expected him back after the strike was resolved. Network sources indicated that Carson seemed primarily interested in renegotiating his $10,000 to $15,000 a week contract which has three years to run.

Damn Yankees Said Poorly Translated for TV Showing

NEW YORK (AP) — Damn Yankees, in the dear, dead days when the New York baseball team was the closest thing to an irresistible force in sports, was a hit Broadway musical translated into an amusing motion picture.

Since then, of course, the Yankees have lost their fearsome reputation, so the basic joke of the show—a Washington Senators fan selling his soul to the devil to help beat the New York team—is a dated as Little Audrey stories. But that is no excuse for the unfortunate thing that happened in its translation to television on NBC Saturday night.

Drastic things were done to the book. They cut away considerably from the performers to throw in extraneous crazy effects in the manner of The Monkees and employed blank words like "bam" and "woof" on the screen the way it is done in Batman.

The result was to interrupt and prevent the viewer from getting to know anything about the performers.

The program was performed against fals fake drawn backgrounds. Phil Silvers, who seemed a perfect choice to play the devil, never was given a chance to do the swaggering things he does well. Lee Remick shared her bit "whatever Lola wants, Lola gets" number with pointless camera and animation tricks.

Obviously television has found no way successfully to move a musical show from a stage to a TV screen. Annie Get Your Gun, broadcast recently, did not try to do much more than put a camera on a stage musical. Damn Yankees attempted to remodel the whole fabric and botched the job. The old method, if one must choose, is infinitely more enjoyable for the viewer.

New Swim Marks Set

REGINA (CP)—Three Canadian records, all by Alberta athletes, were established on the annual Prairie all - star swimming and diving championships.

Pat McCloskey of Edmonton chopped nearly four seconds off the Canadian record for the boys 11 and 12 years old in the 200 - metre individual medley, winning in 2:41.3 seconds. The old mark was 2:44.7.

Bev Stirling turned in a 1:34.6 performance in the girls' 11 and 12 100-metre breaststroke, breaking the old record of 1:36.6.

Commercial Teams Fit To Be Tied

The four Commercial "T" Hockey League teams were fit to be tied in more ways than one as playoffs continued yesterday.

Pepsi's and Stewart Warner battled 5-5 in the finals while American Optical and Belvedere Hotel were even at 4-4 in the consolation series.

And the latter two clubs were victims of a dressing room robbery in which the players were cleaned of their wallets, money, rings, car keys and personal papers.

Both series will wind up next Sunday, April 16, with Belvedere and Optical playing at 9:30, Stewart Warner and Pepsi's at 10:30 in the morning.

Pepsi's, who handed the Warrermen their first loss of the season last week, almost did it again. They led 4-3 at least at one point before Stewart Wagner ripped back. Chuck Richardson finally tied it 5-5 with 18 seconds left to play.

Other Warner goals went to Hoyt Bryant, two a piece to Gord Irwin and Pug Kellar. Rey Manibert had two assists, Wayne Waite and Gary Rowbotham one each.

Stu Muirhead and Paul Ford fired two Pepsi goals each and Bruce Smith had the other. Doug Dickey and Paul Rutan drew two assists each, Ralph Boomhour one.

Optical also had to overcome a 5-0 deficit and Jack Garvin notched the tying tally with 21 seconds left to play. Gary Reid scored two and Ken assisted on the other two. Doug Phillips had a goal, Jerry Jones and Harris a pair and Lee Moreau the other goals.

Parsons Win Exhibition 6-0

Belleville Parsons Cleaners blanked Trenton Travellers 6-0 in a pre-season practice training game over the weekend.

The Travellers are a new entry in the 11-team Kingston and District Soccer League which also includes Parsons and Kingston Cable Area. The schedule will open in May.

Parsons led 4-0 at half time, dominated the rest of the game, with Ron Gale the individual star. He scored five of the six goals and Sidney Macserious got the other one.

Both clubs have been undergoing indoor training for some time. Parsons, with much the same team as this season, work out each Sunday morning at 10:30 in the Recreation Centre at Trenton air station.

Strike Hits Wallet

MONTREAL (CP) — The strike by members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists in the United States will not cheap junior networks is causing considerable anxiety at National Hockey League headquarters.

A scheduled telecast of Saturday's second game of the semi - final Sunday night between Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers was cancelled by the strike.

Canadian unions said they would not work the game if the Columbia Broadcasting System used supervisory personnel to televise the game in the United States.

Brian O'Neill, director of administration of the NHL, said the decision was unfortunate, while a financial loss, was also a loss of opportunity to boost the sport on TV screens.

The league has a contract with CBS to televise four playoff games this week. Revenues from this agreement was expected to be close to $400,000. Loss of Saturday's game cost the league $100,000.

DRIVER KILLED

Report Rapid Progress On High School Addition

NAPANEE — The Napanee Secondary School is in a state of confusion these days, with class rooms loaded to capacity, and hallways filled between classes. But both teachers and pupils are putting up with inconvenience and frustration by looking forward to next year this time, when the building program will have been completed.

The work under the Memp Construction Co. of Hamilton and Kingston is making rapid progress. Every day that the weather permits, a large crew of brick layers swarm over the site, and walls are soon ready for the roof. Some of these have already been installed, as many as six classrooms completed in one day. Huge slabs of pre-stressed concrete are put into place by a crane and are welded together ready to be surfaced.

Most of the construction workers are local, but many bricklayers from outside help to speed up the work. If all goes well, Principal Charles Proud expects that the major part of the 31-room addition will be ready by September. "But that does not mean that everything will be completed," he warned. "In all probability we shall have men here putting on the finishing touches until early next year."

Meanwhile, only three of the five exit doors can be used and the main door is the only one which does not open out on to mud or excavations.

Three Are Injured In Two-car Mishap

NAPANEE — Three people received facial injuries in a two-car accident about 2.30 Sunday afternoon at the junction of Highway 41 and the Marlbank Road.

Ian H. Jennings of Napanee and his two passengers were both given treatment in the emergency section of the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital and were allowed to return home. His car went into a six-foot ditch and received damages estimated at $300.

Owner and driver of the second car, Alex Lewis, was unharmed and his three passengers were also uninjured. His car received only $5 damage.

The accident is still under investigation by the Napanee detachment of the O.P.P.

Kindergarten Will Open On May 1

TYENDINAGA RESERVE — According to information received from Inspector Paul Anderson, a kindergarten will be opened in the Quinte Mohawk School May 1. The feeling is that the two-months' period this school year will be an advantage when next year's work begins.

An available room has been fitted up, Mr. Anderson stated. Everything is ready to size for a five-year-old, with even a bench just inside the door where they may remove their snow boots or rubbers. The little folk will have their own wash room and cloak rooms. There is full indoor-garten equipment.

Mrs. Lorne Graves of Napanee who comes highly recommended will be the kindergarten teacher. She is a specialist in kindergarten and grade one work, who has had experience with Indian children when teaching kindergarten in Manitoba. Shehas been doing supply work in the Napanee area since her husband has been a member of the staff of the H.D.S. She has travelled extensively with her husband when he was in the RCAF, living for years in both France and Germany.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (CP) — Claiborne Farm's favored Moniter swept through the stretch from fourth to win the $50,000-added Arkansas Derby in record time Saturday at Hot Springs, Ark., but had to withstand a foul claim before the result was official.

Meanwhile at Miami's Gulfstream Park, Canadian-owned Cool Reception was romping to a decisive victory in the $15,000 Fort Lauderdale Handicap. The victory appeared to have earned the colt a start in the Kentucky Derby.

Monitor, ably ridden by Jimmy Nichols, won by a nose over Holiday Stable's fast-closing Ask the Fare, winner of the Louisiana Derby." Barbs Delight, a 15-to-1 shot, was third, three-quarters of a length back.

Monitor was timed in 1:48 3-5 for the 1¼-mile test, one-fifth better than the track record set by 1959 Arkansas Derby winner Al Davelle.

Larry Grubb, rider of Barbs Delight, charged interference at the 16th pole but the foul claim was disallowed.

Monitor returned $4.60, $3.00 and $3. Ask the Fare paid $3.20 and $3.40. Barbs Delight returned $240. The race grossed $59,200, with the winner getting $35,520.

Jim Clark Captures Grand Prix

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)— Jim Clark of Scotland took the lead at the start and sped to victory Sunday in Barcelona's Grand Prix Formula Two auto race.

Clark, driving a Lotus, quickly took a two-second lead over Jochen Rindt of Austria, maintained his pace and finished the 60-lap, 161-mile race in one hour, 35 minutes, 58.7 seconds.

Clark rounded the fastest lap of the 2.3-mile circuit in one minute, 34.9 seconds for an average speed of 90 miles an hour.

Rindt was second and Dennis Hulme of New Zealand third, both driving Repco-Brabhams.

ANAF News

An item in the DVA news reads that a "Blood for Peace" clinic has been arranged for Wednesday, June 14th in the Duke of Edinburgh Unit Memorial Hall in Belleville, by Jack Lundberg, ANAFVC. The Canadian Red Cross Society hopes that other veterans' organizations will encourage the establishment of similar clinics throughout the country.

Comrade Jack had a busy weekend this last one. He had been invited to the Centennial Ball given by daughter, Jacqueline, was among the debutantes who were presented to the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and his gracious lady. He also received an invitation from Ottawa that he would join the officials that would be placing wreaths at the Ottawa Cenotaph at the 8 a.m. Vimy Memorial Service.

During in the hockey game before last televised Saturday afternoon the regular darts competition was cancelled. The ANAF Dukes put up a gallant fight for the bantam championship but were edged out by a two-game total score of 19 to 17. Coach stated that the Unit could be very proud of the youngsters as they had played heads up hockey all season and certainly had nothing of which to be ashamed. Better luck next year, lads.

Sick chairman, R. Feather-stone, reports three comrades in BGH, Cec Chapman, 221, Hank Boyle, East 1, and Don Greene, 224. Resting at home are comrades Jack Cunningham, R 2 y Reid and Bob Robinson. All have been visited and looked after as well as possible.

The next general meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 13th; will be one of the most important this Unit has ever held and it is hoped that all members that have the interest of the club at heart will make a special effort to attend and give their support where it is needed."

TASHKENT ROCKED AGAIN

MOSCOW—(AP) — Another earthquake rocked the Soviet Central Asian city of Tashkent Sunday. The city has felt more than 700 earthquakes since last April 26. Tass said the epicentre was in the centre of the city of 1,200,000 persons. There was no immediate reports of new damage or casualties.

STEAL ART OBJECTS

ROME (AP) — Art thieves broke into a Rome gallery early Sunday and took 40 rare pieces, mostly small renaissance bronzes, worth 60,000,000 lire ($96,000).

To Your Good Health

Spots Do Not Sound Like Bruising

Dear Dr. Molner: I am over 65, and for about two years have had black and blue spots all over my body and arms and legs. I should describe them as broken veins such as might be caused by a severe bruise.

They come and go. Sometimes there is pain but usually not. Several doctors have observed this but made no suggestion as to what might be done, except that my regular physician suggested lemon juice in the morning. Could you discuss this? — Mrs. H.P.

This doesn't sound like ordinary bruising — although that is something that rather frequently bothers folks who are not getting enough calcium or Vitamin C in their diet. The lemon juice provides vitamin C.

It doesn't sound like a matter of broken veins, which would appear primarily in the legs and be associated with a stinging sensation.

This raises a suspicion (from your description) of some form of purpura, or hemorrhaging in the skin or other surface tissues. Purura may result in a decrease in blood platelets, or special cells in the blood which have to do with clotting.

Drugs, certain toxic conditions, or even allergies can be factors in this. So also can a deficiency in Vitamin C.

If your condition is purpura, and if it is bothersome enough to warrant more elaborate investigation, a complete blood study, including a platelet count and prothrombin time test may provide the necessary clues.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am three months pregnant. My Doctor has given me a blood test. Will it show whether I have syphilis, or is a special test necessary? — N. P.

Yes, blood tests show that disease, and testing for it is part of good prenatal care. Most states require it by law.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has a very bad case of emphysema. He has 60 or 70 pigeons which he races. When we are away on vacation he feels very much better, but when we are home and when he is around the pens I notice he has much more trouble breathing.

The doctor has told me this is bad for him but my husband says the doctor hasn't told him that. He thinks I am just trying to make him get rid of the pigeons, but this is not so.

He quit smoking seven years ago but has taken up chewing tobacco and I wonder if that helps him, either. — Mrs. R. H.

Pigeons imply dust — and dust is bound to interfere with the breathing of anyone with emphysema. From the health standpoint, I certainly would suggest that he stay away from them — but from the psychological side, I don't know. It is very hard to give up a hobby to which one has become attached.

Considering that dust, it is possible — I suggest this but do not guarantee it — that a face mask or breathing filter, used when near the pigeons, might help him.

He may also be allergic to the dust or feathers.

Chewing tobacco does not relieve him from the effects of nicotine, but at least it does not irritate his lungs as smoking does, so I doubt that chewing will bother his emphysema greatly. In this case I wouldn't make an issue of the tobacco, but the pigeon dust inertia some thought on his part.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Is bed-wetting inherited? — E. M.

No, but stimulus of nervous tension (habit rather than heredity) sometimes run in families and this is usually an important part of the problem.

* * *

Bed-wetting is a distressing problem. If your child has the habit, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, PO Box 188, Dundee, Ill., for a copy of his helpful booklet, "Enuresis — Ten Ways to Stop Bed - Wetting." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Port Arthur Marrs put together three periods of steady hockey Sunday to whip Flin Flon Bombers 6-2 and take the first game in the best-of-seven Eastern Memorial Cup semi-finals.

Port Arthur represents the Thunder Bay Junior Hockey League while Flin Flon is the Manitoba Junior Hockey League entry.

Port Arthur's Ken Rodgers and Tim McCormack scored two goals each in the penalty-riddled opener which saw three players thrown out of the game as a wild third period.

Spurs Whip Maroons 7-4

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Spurs took a stranglehold on their western Canada Allan Cup semi-final with Winnipeg Maroons Sunday, whipping the Manitoba champs 7-4 before 3,497 fans.

The victory vaulted the Spurs into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series. The series will be completed in Winnipeg starting next Sunday.

With The Trotters

CAMPBELLVILLE (CP) — A crowd of 7,328 watched Hanover Waples notch four victories at Mohawk Raceway Saturday night to boost his win total to 51.

The veteran driver started his victories with Marvyn Graham's Tarport Avery in the first race. He returned to the winner's circle in the fourth race with Armbro Gimlet for the Certified Stable of Rexdale.

Waples' next win came in the $3,180 Burlington Stakes, a non-betting affair with three horses, run between the seventh and eighth races.

In the eighth race, Waples drove Admit, a 12-year-old New Zealand mare, to victory. Admit moved from fourth spot in the final furlong for a half-length win over Lou Sonic driven by Al Winger of Glencoe, Ont.

Red Sullivan; Leafs In Six

George Red Sullivan, former centre with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League from 1956-1961 and later coach of the Rangers from 1962-1965, now is coach of the new Philadelphia entry in the NHL. He was in the Stadium Sunday when Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 in the second game of their Stanley Cup semi-final.

Written for The Canadian Press

By RED SULLIVAN

CHICAGO (CP) — If Toronto Maple Leafs continue to check the way they checked Sunday night, they should beat Chicago Black Hawks in their semi-final series.

I thought the Leafs played the best game in some time against the Hawks. They checked like the old clubs used to.

Sawchuk made the key save on Eric Nesterenko when the score was 1-0, but the Leafs had the match clinched after the first period.

The line of Bob Pulford, Peter Stemkowski and Jim Pappin was brilliant. Stemkowski got the goal but it was really a line effort. Pappin got possession of the puck and Pulford made the key pass.

The Hawks weren't skating like they did Thursday, mainly because they couldn't get away from Toronto's checking. Terry Sawchuk made some key saves on Bobby Hull, however, especially in the third period.

George Armstrong was instrumental in Dave Keon's goal. He took out Hull and made the pass to give Keon the opportunity to go in on Denis DeJordy.

At first I thought Keon had the shot, but then he tucked and slipped the puck past DeJordy.

ARMSTRONG WRACKED

After the goal, Hull gave Armstrong the fiercest body check I have ever seen in the majors. He hit him like a train and lifted him right up in the air.

TO MEET JAPAN

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines defeated South Vietnam in the doubles match Sunday, taking a 3-0 lead and earning the right to meet Japan in the first round of the eastern zone Davis Cup tennis competition. Japan completed a 5-0 sweep of Indonesia at Jakarta Sunday with victories in the final two singles matches.

Jockey Is Fined $100

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Sandy Hawley was fined $100 Saturday for using abusive language to a steward at Greenwood Racetrack.

Hawley, 19, was fined after he was reported by Steward Ken Campbell for using abusive language after the fifth race Friday.

Hawley was riding Sir Ivor Jr. in the race, which was won by Sir Ivor Jr. at 3-1.

CONTENDER WINS

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)— Dame Pattie, one of Australia's two competitors for the right to challenge the United States for the America's Cup in September, easily beat Vim in an impromptu race Sunday. Vim, built in the U.S., was brought to Australia to serve as a trial horse for both Gretel, who challenged for the cup in 19664, and Dame Pattie.

Nashville 'Black Power' Riots Continue for Second Night

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sporadic violence continued early today in the Negro college section of Nashville where gunshots, fires and looting marked the second straight night of racial trouble and left one student severely wounded.

Police charged two Negroes with inciting a riot. They were identified as George Washington Ware of Atlanta, Ga., and Ernest Stephens of Tuskegee, Ala.

Ware told police he was with "black power" advocate Stokely Carmichael here Saturday. Stephens said he was a worker for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, headed by Carmichael.

The disturbances resulted from riots that erupted Saturday night—a few hours after Carmichael spoke at a symposium at predominantly - white Vanderbilt University. The violence was triggered when police ejected a Negro from a tavern at the owner's request.

One Negro college student was shot in the neck Sunday night as Negro rioters fired at police, stoned passing cars and roamed the streets between the campuses of predominantly-Negro Fisk and Tennessee State universities.

In two nights of violence, at least 30 persons were arrested. Most charges ranged from disorderly conduct to unauthorized possession and transportation of explosives. Four white men arrested six men and a woman at a house where officers said they found some Molotov Cocktails—gasoline bombs.

Three businesses, one owned by a white man, were set afire by Molotov Cocktails, police said, and one vacant house and several trucks caught fire.

At a food store, several Negroes fled under a hail of police bullets after a window was broken.

Hospitals reported many persons injured by rocks and bottles thrown from behind bushes, trees and stone walls.

The wounded student, Calvin Conners, 18, of Memphis, was standing in a crowd of Negroes when he was shot in the neck. Hospital officials said his condition was satisfactory.

Ronald White of Madison, driving past the Tennessee State campus, said a Negro threw a brick through the window of his car, narrowly missing his two-year-old daughter.

Several shots were fired from a Fisk dormitory, and police searched the building for weapons.

Earlier, some Fisk football players, wearing their jerseys, found and destroyed several Molotov Cocktails in a dormitory.

Nashville had experienced no racial violence in nearly four years.

'Lethal' Worms Exist In Quinte's Waters

Local authorities today are seeking further details on a Toronto zoologist's warning that bacteria-bearing worms, which are capable of causing serious blood-poisoning, inhabit the Bay of Quinte.

Dr. Ralph O. Brinkhurst of the University of Toronto, said the worms have been discovered in many places where human sewage is found in the Great Lakes.

He would not surmise whether the bacteria was likely to be communicated from the worms to humans.

But, he told a Toronto news conference yesterday: "I for one, am very alarmed. It's an extremely lethal thing."

Other breeding zones where the worms have been discovered include Toronto harbor, Port Credit, Oshawa, Hamilton Bay, Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair.

Local health and conservation officials also would not speculate on Dr. Brinkhurst's claims until further information was available.

In Belleville, Dr. C. R. Lenk, health officer for Hastings and Prince Edward counties, said he was seeking details through regional health authorities in Kingston.

However, he added, there seemed no cause for alarm since he could see no way at present such bacteria could be communicated to humans.

Municipal water supplies were fully chlorinated, the health officer pointed out.

"I don't think there is any problem for the present," said Dr. Lenk.

Dr. Brinkhurst disclosed his research findings after addressing a meeting of the International Association for Great Lakes Research in Toronto.

The worm is pimply, red and about an inch long. It is commonly called a sludge worm and is similar to the worms sold as food for aquarium fish.

Samples of Bay of Quinte organisms were taken last year by a student of Dr. Brinkhurst's — Murray Johnson — using facilities at Glenora Fisheries Research station near Picton.

Station director J. W. Christie said he had no information on the subject.

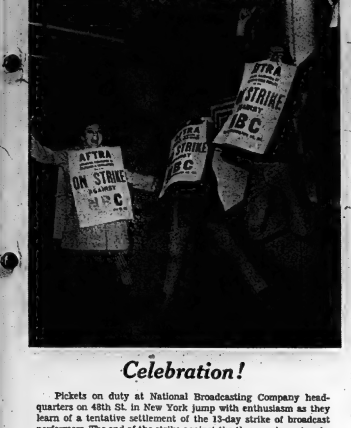
He described Dr. Brinkhurst as "an eminent authority in all things of this sort. So he considers it important or he wouldn't say it."

However, Mr. Christie cautioned: "I wouldn't read too much into it just immediately until we know what he's talking about."

J. H. McLeod, secretary-treasurer of the Moira River Conservation Authority, said he also was seeking further details.

"I would want to know first if there is any way of transmission to humans," he said.

Officials did not think the bacteria could be communicated through fish, since fish is generally cooked before eating.



However, Mr. McLeod noted that raw fish was a European delicacy and many European immigrants were now bringing native eating habits to Canada.

Dr. Brinkhurst said the worms are so thickly concentrated in Toronto harbor they color the bottom.

He guessed the bacteria enter the water through sewage.

He suggested that such pollution could be prevented by more exacting sewage treatment methods which would require research.

A manual of bacteriology calls the germs dangerous in soil, air and water, he said, and the worms seem to concentrate the germs in their bodies.

Celebration!

Pickets on duty at National Broadcasting Company headquarters on 48th St. in New York jump with enthusiasm as they learn of a tentative settlement of the 13-day strike of broadcast performers. ## TV's Stars Shine Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Old faces were back on camera and experienced hands at the controls today as network radio and television put taped reruns in storage boxes and returned to normal operations after its first nationwide strike in three normal time slots. The Arnold Zenkers and Russ Tornabenes who replaced them during the 13-day performers walkout went back to their management jobs.

Only formal approval from the 18,000 members of the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists was needed to ratify the agreement worked out by the union Monday with ABC, CBS and NBC.

Acceptance by AFTRA'S national board of the new contract at 8:05 p.m. Monday night resulted in the lifting of picket lines and the broadcast live, two hours later, of the Motion Picture Academy Awards.

The terms of the agreement pushed the basic weekly wage for about 100 local newscasters at network-owned stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles from the current $275 to $300 in a three-year contract retroactive to last Nov. 16. The newsmen also will get 25 per cent of all talent fees retroactive to last March 1.

Syrians Shell Tractor

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters) Syrian positions today opened fire on an Israeli armored tractor when it entered the demilitarized zone on the border between the two countries, a Syrian military spokesman said.

The tractor withdrew immediately the Israeli territory but the spokesman said it returned after 60 minutes and "our positions opened fire again forcing it to escape."

Syrian checkposts saw Israelis evacuating the inhabitants of Israeli settlements near the border, the spokesman added.

In Tiberias, Israel, reports said Syrian mortars shelled the Israeli tractor for nearly an hour in the area of Tel Katsir. There were no casualties.

The Israeli reports said the tractor went out this morning to plow the "beetroot patch" east of Tel Katsir.

Israeli sources said it was similar shelling on Israeli tractors Friday which started a day-long battle in which artillery, tanks, and jets participated on both sides.

Council Orders Review Of Aitken's Position

Despite a plea that the action would undermine the position of all city department heads, city council yesterday voted to review the tenure of office of city welfare administrator Donald Aitken.

The action came at the conclusion of discussion on the city report (a confidential matter) from members of the special committee on welfare. The report was released two weeks ago.

The majority report, submitted by Alderman Don Williams and Douglas Boyle, included a list of five recommendations for improvement of welfare department service. At the same time the department was commended "for a hard job" and, subject to the listed recommendations, the report asked that the department be given a vote of confidence.

On the other hand the minority report given by Alderman Ross Duval asked that the tenure of office of the welfare administrator be reviewed and if it was decided he should be replaced, the vacancy be filled with a person having not less than minimum qualifications suggested by the Belleville Community Services.

Yesterday council voted to accept both reports, after debating from the majority report the paragraph asking that the welfare department be given a vote of confidence.

The vote was 8 to 5, with Aldermen Allin, Carruthers, David, Joss, Keegan and Scott supporting the motion. Opposing were Mayor Elks, and Aldermen Boyle, Deacon, Soden and Williams.

Alderman David read his minority report to council two weeks ago in the absence of Mayor Ellis, and the two other committee members, Aldermen Williams and Boyle.

Yesterday Ald. Williams outlined his reasons for leaving council early two weeks ago when Ald. David submitted his report.

He said it had been agreed that the committee report would not be given to council until all committee members were present.

Alderman Williams said there was no reason to repeat the entire majority report which had already been received by council.

Accordingly he read only the recommendations contained in the majority report and the paragraph asking for a vote of confidence for the welfare department from council, and asked for its adoption by council.

On the other hand Alderman David said that when he read his minority report he was not trying to by-pass Alderman Williams. Subject to certain deletions, he said, he had been prepared to go along with the majority committee report.

Alderman J. R. Scott moved the amendment asking that the

Truck Lockout Starts to Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coast-to-coast trucking shutdown pinched the supply lifeline of U.S. merchants and manufacturers today amid predictions consumers soon will feel the squeeze.

Effects were being felt in Canada, too, where many provinces are dependent on U.S. trucking.

Cuts in auto manufacturing in Ontario, Michigan and elsewhere, and forecast of massive worker layoffs in Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and Connecticut came on the dispute between the Teamsters Union and Trucking Employers Inc. continued into its third day.

Negotiators for the Teamsters and TEI—whose 1,500 members account for 25 per cent of U.S. long-haul trucking — recessed talks at 11:50 p.m. Monday night. Spokesmen for both sides called the day's efforts "useful."

TEI locked out the Teamsters Sunday after accusing the union of staging scattered, selective strikes against its members.

With 3,000 workers made idle and other thousands on short shifts at parts-starved plants, the U.S. auto industry anticipated a worsening of the situation.

The first manifestation in Canada of effects of the lockout appeared Monday when a spokesman for Ford of Canada said production at the company's Ontario truck plant in Oakville will be shut down for two shifts today.

The official said attempts were being made to fly in enough critical parts to permit production to resume Wednesday.

In any event there is a possibility of a U.S. railway strike at Washington Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said the critical rail dispute could be settled in the 29-day cooling off period that President Johnson has urged Congress to tack onto Thursday's strike deadline.

Robarts Will Appoint Judge To Probe Shulman's Charges

TORONTO (CP) — The sideshows went on, but Premier John Robarts took the centre ring Monday in the political-medical-sociological circus surrounding the death of his employed chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto, Dr. Morton Shulman.

Mr. Robarts announced in the legislature that he will name a commissioner—certainly a high court judge—to "conduct a full, complete and impartial inquiry into the accusations made by Dr. Shulman."

Dr. Shulman, an admitted millionaire through financial expertise, has been involved in controversy with senior government officers almost since his appointment to the Toronto post in 1963.

The provincial cabinet passed an order-in-council Friday that fired him because he disregarded the advice of his superior, Dr. H. B. Cotnam, supervising coroner for Ontario. Dr. Shulman ordered an inquest to go ahead into the fire death of a patient at the Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital in Toronto, against Dr. Cotnam's instructions.

This was followed by a weekend of hard words and Mr. Robarts' statement Monday said:

The dismissed coroner had made allegations "in regard to the conduct and motives of this government officers and senior members of the attorney-general staff.

"I do not treat these accusations lightly. I feel they are accusations of the gravest nature in the minds of the public as to the conduct of senior civil servants of a high calibre in their duties and as to the motives of the government in conducting the affairs of the people of Ontario, and are very destructive of morale.

"It would be unwise and the government does not intend to permit these allegations, with the inferences that may be drawn from them, to remain uninvestigated or unanswered.

"If we are to have a government and a civil service in which the general public have confidence, then it is necessary that accusations such as these should be either proven or completely discredited."

Mr. Robarts said Dr. Shulman could lay his allegations before the inquiry.

Among other things, Dr. Shulman had said that Dr. Cotnam's order against holding an inquest in the hospital fire "carries the unpleasant implication that the government does not want all the facts brought out." He had also hinted that the government had covered up on other matters.

Doctors Ignore Abortion Law to Protect Health of Mothers

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Walker Hannah says some of the 12 abortions carried out at Women's College Hospital in 1966 might not be legal under a strict interpretation of the Criminal Code.

Dr. Hannah, chairman of the obstetrics and gynecology department of the hospital, said Monday however that "common interpretation of the law by responsible physicians emphasizes the health and life of the mother."

Under a rigid interpretation of the code, abortion is permitted only when the mother's life is in danger.

One of 36 annual reports released by the hospital says that 12 abortions were performed in 1966.

The report said six women had their pregnancies ended because their psychiatric conditions were serious. Psychiatrists believed the women risked worsening their condition if they went through with the births.

Three abortions were carried out because the mothers had caught German measles early in pregnancy and there was a high risk their babies would be born severely deformed.

Rape was the reason for terminating one pregnancy. Another was ended because the infant had a more than 50-per-cent chance of being born with a hereditary disease similar to muscular dystrophy.

The other abortion at the hospital was because the woman suffered from a liver disease.

Dr. Hannah said the abortions were performed after a decision by a five-member standing committee of doctors from the hospital. In each case, the judgement included an opinion by a psychiatrist about the mental health of the mother.

Safeguards in the hospital's system included a requirement for laboratory evidence showing that mothers had suffered German measles in the first three months of pregnancy before an abortion could be performed on those grounds.

Doctors attending the 1966 annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association in Edmonton admitted the Criminal Code was being violated by abortions performed in some Canadian hospitals.

However, the doctors recommended that the law not covered abortion under the code be extended to protect the mother's mental or physical health.

The association's general council is expected to be asked this year to recommend that the government further amend the code to include the possibility of a baby being born deformed as grounds for abortion.

Canada's Catholic Bishops Will Study Abortion Facts

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's Roman Catholic bishops will study the facts of abortion, though the position of the church on the subject is unchanged, says Most Rev. Philip Pocock, Archbishop of Toronto.

The church would welcome the views of other churches and organizations, informed laymen and doctors on the subject, the archbishop told a news conference Monday after issuing a statement on the church's position.

His statement added:

"When we deal with abortion we're dealing with the protection of human persons, of human life. I can't go into what will be the content of any brief, but I'm sure that any forecasting . . . that . . . should lead us to expect the bishops to say broadening the grounds for abortion is lawful would be ill conceived at the present time.

"I believe that all groups in Canada can agree on a common basic principle. We are all seeking the common good of civil society. Rather than engaging in polemics at this time I believe that we should unite our efforts in seeking exactly what is in the best interest of society."

Buget Shows Education Cost Pegged at $1,727,263

TRENTON — Education is big business in Trenton, with the budget for the current year running close to a million and three quarter dollars.

Estimates place the budget figure at $1,727,263 ! Estimated for high school expenditures are for $873,626; for public school, $853,637.

In the high school figure, $671,403 is for salaries and supplies. In the salary figure is an estimated rise of $82,000 this year. Other high school expenditures include administration costs, caretaking costs, maintenance, the cost of a school nurse and a small allocation ($1,525) for the Centennial program.

The provincial grant toward h2gh school costs is (estimated) $395,725, an increase of $69,000 over last year. The town of Trenton will be asked for $155,811, and tuition fees from the Canadian Armed Forces Base are $225,000. Also included in the estimated revenue figure for the high school is a 1967 surplus of $90,000.

Public school expenditures this year are estimated at $853,627, of which $353,811 will go for salaries and supplies. The salary figure includes an estimated increase over 1966 figures of $62,000.

Provincial grants for public schools are estimated at $439,876; $70,000 more than last year. The town will be asked for $260,209. Surplus in the public school funds is estimated at $13,442 this year.

The school board will be asking the town for $25,176 less this year than last for high school expenditures and $16,716 more for public schools. These figures result in a net "savings" of $11,460 to the town from last year.

In bringing down the 1967 budget for board approval last night, finance chairman Douglas Whitley explained that he, Miss Eva Baker, executive secretary-treasurer and other administrative personnel had studied the Department of Education officials in Toronto and "wrung" every last cent of grants from them.

"We can't keep this up forever," Mr. Whitley said, "we have been lucky so far."

Mr. Whitley said the government officials had warned him that an increase in town assessment would probably result in decreased government assistance.

"If the town has a general reassessment and the assessment figure goes up, this will be hard on the board," he said.

Mr. Whitley said he had submitted the budget to town officials yesterday and that they had been "pleased and delighted."

"We came up with a savings through careful budgeting, our tendering program and efficient work on the part of board members and the administrative staff."

Board member Ralph Weaver, chairman of management, reported that his committee had so far failed to reach agreement with high school and public school teachers.

Several board members expressed the hope that published accounts of "savings" and "surpluses" this year would not lead the teachers to hold out for higher salaries.

"We're at an interesting impasse," observed board chairman R. E. Parker Jr.

Board member George Greer said he hoped the announcement of a $15,000 savings to the town this year would bring to an end an implied criticism to the board for "padding up" the town's budget. (Council's finance chairman, D. R. Fraser, was reported to have laid the delay in bringing down the town's budget to a delay in receiving the school budget.)

Revise Plans

Reconstruction of Sidney St. Will Be Cut Off at Catherine

City council last night revised plans for the re-construction of Sidney Street and this year will rebuild only from Dundas Street-to Catherine Street instead of to Wilma Ave. as was originally planned.

The reason for the move was to reduce the first phase expenditure to more in line with original expenditure estimates.

At the same time council moved ahead with the assessment against property owners be reconsidered.

Earlier in the meeting William A. Campbell appeared as spokesman for Sidney street ratepayers protesting charges to be levied against property owners.

He said that ratepayers signing the petition recognized the need of Sidney street being rebuilt but asked that further consideration be given to local improvement charges.

He wondered if it might be cheaper, in the long run to do the entire Sidney Street project this year, including the C N R overpass and asked if more favorable government grants could be obtained if this were done.

In view of the fact that Sidney Street was expected to be a main artery, he said ratepayers felt that 80 per cent of the cost should be borne by the corporation.

In reply Mayor Ellis said the cost of the railway overpass and that of Moira Street was beyond the city's ability this year. There would be no grant benefit to be received by doing the work all in one year.

Discussion on the Sidney Street road building project gave a verbal clash erupt between Mayor Ellis and Alderman Enos Davis, who had asked whether ik might be advisable to defer the program until it could be all completed at once.

"This is exactly the policy which has been put forth in this council for years," the mayor replied.

"The policy expounded has been never to do today what can be put off until tomorrow, regardless of what it might cost in the future."

He said that many city projects have been put off until later years when the cost would have been completed much cheaper at the time.

The mayor asserted that completion of Sidney Street was essential to tie in with the city's Dundas Street project.

Alderman David jumped to his feet in protest against the mayor's charge of delaying tactics.

"I am not opposed to progress," he said.

He said he had asked only if it might be advisable to complete Sidney Street only to Bridge Street this year.

Mayor Ellis felt the Sidney Street project should be ahead and said that local improvement costs were the only problem.

The cost of the old Sidney Street project is now estimated at $241,000 for completion as far as Wilson Ave. This is about $90,000 more than was originally estimated.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said stopping re - construction at Catherine Street would cut about one third from the cost, but would not change local improvement costs for the property owners involved.

Mayor Ellis pointed out that discussions with other interests had decided on the local improvement charges for Sidney Street and noted that a change now would mean the policy would have to be amended.

He agreed, however, that the corporation should bear a greater share of costs for collector and arterial roads than would ordinarily be the case.

Alderman J. R. Scott said he sympathized with the Sidney Street ratepayers but said if there were to be a change in local improvement policy whenever and arterial street designations must have clear definition.

The city engineer was authorized to proceed with preparation of detailed plans for the street re-building and a report regarding possible local improvement policy changes will be brought to council at its next meeting.

HEALTH BOARD chairman H. S. Pane, centre, agreed to a proposal for additional sloping along the sides of the United Service Clubs swimming pool, after school board finance chairman Douglas Whitley, left, explained the new plan. On the right is councillor D. R. Fraser, finance chairman with council.

Trenton Pool Opens in May

TRENTON — The official opening of the Unified Service Clubs' swimming pool rescheduled for the first week of May to allow workmen to add as an additional three inch slope to the sides of the pool.

A mid-April opening was squashed last week when the local health board refused to approve the pool with the existing sloping, owing to a fear that splash-back might result is undesirable waste material running back into the pool.

At a pool-side meeting yesterday, health board chairman H. S. Pane agreed in the new proposal, after the plan had been outlined by school board finance chairman W. D. Whitley. Also at the pool site was council's finance chairman, D. R. Fraser and the school board's engineer, George Umb.

The public utility commission has offered to "donate" the heat water for the pool.

School board members also passed a vote of confidence in George Umb, superintendent of buildings at last night's meeting.

Mr. Umb was the object of criticism at a recent health board meeting when the "deficiencies" of the swimming pool were discussed.

Architects For Arena Chosen

City council yesterday approved an agreement between the corporation and Watson and Wiegand, local architects, respecting the proposed new arena for the Belleville fair grounds.

Alderman Donald Williams, chairman of the city parks board, said that no final decision had yet been made on proposals for the arena.

He said three different plans were under consideration. The estimated cost of the building they would like to construct is given as $677,000.

Original plans were for construction in three stages with final seating capacity of up to 2,700 depending on the plan chosen.

The architect will receive the usual six per cent fee for plans and supervision if the building is completed. A schedule of fees for preliminary studies and various stages of progress is provided in the architect's agreement.

Credit Union Borrowers Get Rebate

Borrowers from the St. Michael's Parish Credit Union will be getting a 15 per cent interest rebate and members will be getting a dividend of 4½ per cent.

This was suggested by the board of directors and approved by the membership at a recent meeting.

Goest speakaw was George Curry of the Metro Credit Union League. He explained the stabilization fund was established in 1960 by the C.C.U.L. for the protection of member credit unions throughout Ontario. This fund protects against loss of savings through liquidation.

Arthur Gooding was elected president by the board of directors for the coming year.

Bay Bridge Replacement Not Urgent Matter Says Minister

Replacement of the present swing bridge over the bay at Belleville with a new high level structure is not an urgent matter, according to Ontario Highways Minister Hon. G. E. Gomme.

In a reply to recent requests from the city of Belleville and from the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward for a study with the view of replacing the present bridge, Mr. Gomme has written Belleville Mayor J. R. Ellis stating that from inspection reports it is apparent that the exssing structure has a good many years of useful life remaining.

Therefore, by said replacement cannot be considered an urgent matter.

The highways minister said the department was presently engaged in a planning study of the Belleville bay bridge area and when all relevant data have been assembled the department would expect to have a reasonably clear picture of future road requirements.

He said it would not be feasible to form valid opinions or to make important decisions at this stage of the investigation.

Later in the meeting to a question as to whether the highway minister's letter would change council's decision to go ahead with the first phase of the Dundas Street roadway project, Mayor Ellis said this would not be the case.

He said that he was "more than ever" convinced that the Dundas Street project had no bearing on the future high level bridge.

He said that actually the highways department was expecting the city to go ahead with present plans for Dundas Street.

Council voted to ask the Ontario Highways Department to approve the proposed new roadway from the Dundas Street hill south across Ewick's Island Park as the No. 6 highway connecting link instead of the present route south of the CPR tracks.

Mayor Ellis said this would make the new railway overpass eligible for highway grants as a connecting link.

Rotarian Outlines Furniture Business

The furniture business is one of the major industries in Canada. What is more it is almost 100 per cent Canadian owned, Bob Michaud told fellow Rotarians yesterday.

The Belleville furniture store owner said British interests before the war had tried to establish in Canada after the war but each time they failed.

Tariff protection extended to the industry after the war had assisted the establishment here but Canadians and there had been "success stories galore."

The industry was centred largely in Quebec and southern Ontario. Exhibitions played an important role in the success of the trade, serving as the points for the display of the latest trends in furniture. Buyers come from all over Canada and the United States.

"Color and styling are important. Just as in the case of women's clothes, the ladies have their preferences in chesterfields and so on. We hope we guess right . . ." and so do the manufacturers.

Mr. Michaud said with regard to color they were influenced by the United States, but Canada was more conservative. Fifteen years ago it was greys mainly, ten years ago rose beige and five years ago browns held the spotlight. Today blues and greens are being mixed, and stronger accent like reds are finding acceptance.

"Carpeting represents a large part of the business," said Mr. Michaud, and like furniture this had boomed. Two things — the tufting machine and the growth of man-made fibres — had contributed much to the growth of this aspect of the business.

Mr. Michaud's business is on a side street but he said that with parking space available this had proved to be an asset.

Scholarship Offered by LOBA

TRENTON — Trenton L.O.B.A. No. 604, has offered a $100 scholarship for a deserving Grade 13 girl student who intends to enter teachers' college this fall . . . provided the student is not to receive more than $500 in other scholarships."

The gesture was approved by school board members last night.

Preston Rangers Visit Airflight at Trenton

TRENTON — Sixteen Rangers and their leaders visited the First Trenton Air Rangers' Flight over the weekend. The girls, from Port Credit and Preston, were returning a visit made to Preston by the Trenton flight last December.

Captain Eva Baker and Lts. Dorothy Jones and Susan Knack took their guests to the area Guide camp at Waupoos and to Lake on the Mountain. They were especially interested in a ride on the Glenora ferry.

On Saturday the Rangers toured the Canadian Forces Base.

RAN INTO CAR

Five year old John Loosemore of 33 Elizabeth Street was treated in Trenton hospital around noon yesterday after he had run into a moving car on his way home along Sidney Street from W. P. Carswell School. He suffered a gash to his forehead and a cut lip when he ran into a car driven by the Rev. W. H. Dunphy of Belleville. The child was taken to the hospital in a police cruiser, and was released after treatment.

NO DAMAGE

Two fire trucks were sent to Donnan Powerstat shortly after one p.m. yesterday when a fire under paper rollers was discovered. The fire was quickly extinguished and no damage reported.

WINS CONTEST

A Trenton High School student, Dale Carl, won the Lions' Club zone public speaking contest recently and will now go on to compete for boys' honors in the Eastern Canada semi-finals at St. John's Boys' Town, hopefully on his way to Dominion honors.

Margaret Nelson, also a THS student, was the runner up in the girls' zone contest.

Both will be sent letters of commendation from the Trenton school board.

IN MEMORIAM

MURRAY — In loving remembrance of a dear mother, Annie Murray who passed away April 11th, 1963.

We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of,
Are hard to find.

If all the days were more to give,
We'd give them, we said rejoyces,
To see the face of mother dear,
Come smiling through the years.

—Sadly missed by Margaret, Bill, Edna, Lorne, Jean.

MURRAY — In loving memory of our dear wife and mother Annie Murray who passed away April 11th, 1963.

No hand is soft and gentle,
No heart is tender true,
As those life could bring us,
To equal mother you.

—Inserted by husband Jack, and son Doug, daughter Diane and son-in-law Bill and family.

PEOPLES — In loving memory of our dear father, Alfred Peoples who passed away April 11th, 1953.

Though years have passed since we saw,
And your hand we cannot touch,
We have so many memories,
That we would not exchange much,
Always remembered by wife and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

MAY — We wish to express our thanks to all the friends, neighbors, relatives who sent cards, flowers, gifts and flowers to me during my recent stay in Belleville General Hospital. Your kindness will always be remembered.

—Larry Glue,
R.R. 1 Ameliasburg.

Mrs. Violet Jones wishes to thank all relatives and friends, who so kindly sent flowers and cards during her recent illness. Special thanks to Dr. Rowsby and Dr. Aikens, also to the nursing staff of Quinte District Hospital and the Belleville hospital who all gave her such wonderful attention during her stay in both.

The family of the late Mrs. Vida White wishes to express their gratitude and appreciation to Rev. Bell, one who has helped us during our present sorrow, also for flowers, cards, dedication of bibles and other kindnesses shown. Also special thanks to Dr. Mercer, nurses and aides on 3rd floor west, Dr. Dwyer, Lieut. Rennie and Belleville hospital who all gave her such wonderful attention during her illness.

The family of the late Mrs. Vida White wishes to express their appreciation and thanks to Rev. Bell, one who has helped us during our present sorrow, also for flowers, cards, dedication of bibles and other kindnesses shown. Also special thanks to Dr. Mercer, nurses and aides on 3rd floor west, Dr. Dwyer, Lieut. Rennie and Belleville hospital and Luscombe Funeral Home, for their kindness shown to us so much.

The family of the late Hugh Baker wish to express a sincere thank you to Rev. Bell and friends and neighbors for the lovely floral tributes, cards, and acts of kindness during the passing of a dear husband, father and grandfather. Special thanks to Dr. Mercer, to the John R. Bush Funeral Home.

—Mrs. Hugh Baker and family.

Council Orders Review of Daniel Aitken's Tenure of Office

paragraph is the majority report dealing with a vote of confidence be deleted and that both the majority and minority reports be received by council.

Alderman Boyle said the problem in the welfare department as he saw it was lack of communication.

He said that a few welfare recipients had some grounds for complaint but in the main complaints were not well founded and were the result of being turned down in their requests for assistance.

Alderman Boyle said he could not go along with the amendment asking that the tenure of office of the welfare administrator be reviewed.

He said what really was being asked was that the administrator be fired, adding that the move could undermine the position of all city department heads.

"The present administration has been guilty of lack of communication with welfare recipients, with the medical profession and other social agencies," he said and the greatest errors of the administrator was that he had the audacity to say "no."

"This is not a reason to fire him," the alderman said.

Alderman David asserted that he had no axe to grind with the welfare administrator.

He said his conclusions regarding the welfare administration had not come easily. During the investigation he had received dozens of phone calls and he had tried to see the other side of the picture.

"I went a bit further than the other members of the committee and I have said what I feel we should do," he said.

He felt the welfare administrator could be more useful to the city in some other line of duty.

Alderman Williams said there were many good aspects of the welfare administration which had not been mentioned in the report.

For instance, he said there had been only 14 letters of complaint out of more than 1100 persons receiving assistance.

In addition last year the welfare administrator had rehabilitated 16 chronic cases, enabling them to be removed from the welfare lists.

He said this was worthy of commendation and was one of the reasons why a vote of confidence for the administrator had been asked.

Alderman Scott remarked council that he had raised the welfare question in council more than a year ago and suggested the city manager's recommendations at the time had not been carried out.

Mayor Jack Ellis said that the complaints from welfare recipients had not come from the very low income groups but mostly had been from families unable to live within income of from $4,000 to $5,000 and who were living in subsidized low rental housing.

"It is not the low income families which provide us with our problems," he said.

The mayor referred to many phases of the local welfare administration which he said were being looked on as a model by other municipalities.

He listed work with emotionally disturbed families, retraining of workers, rehabilitation of chronic welfare cases, the city's day care nursery, and the special homemaking service.

He said that complaints by other municipalities of unresolved charge-back accounts were not altogether justified. He said there had been 144 charge-back accounts from Belleville to other municipalities and only 40 against Belleville.

There were instances of men quitting jobs in other municipalities to come to Belleville where welfare was "good."

"We will never be able to satisfy everyone with respect to welfare, but I don't think the averages ratepayer is anxious for us to pay welfare to people earning $4,000 to $5,000 per year," the mayor said.

"Scrapping all the rehabilitation work done to date is not the answer."

With respect to claims regarding the welfare administrator's lack of qualification, Mayor Ellis said he did not know exactly what was meant.

If a bachelor's or master's degree in social work was meant, the mayor said that only one welfare administrator in all of Ontario had this qualification.

Alderman Deacon said there was actually little connection between being qualified and being competent.

"A person can be fully qualified and not operate in a competent manner," he said.

Alderman Deacon said the city had got a good administrator was well informed and was doing a good job.

Alderman Donald Joss regretted that personalities had entered into discussions, saying the present director had become a political issue.

He said the city should seek out not only a qualified person but also a fully competent one and one who was above debate in council.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. JOAN EVELYN CLARKE (Consecon)

TRENTON — A service was conducted at the Rushnell Funeral Centre on Monday for Mrs. Joan Evelyn Clarke of Consecon by Rev. James Payton. Mrs. Clarke, 36, died suddenly at her home last Saturday.

Bearers were Dennis Clarke, George Clarke, Wayne Clarke, Bill Youngs, Jack Clarke and Frank Cook.

Interment was in the New Carrying Place Cemetery.

Youth Concern of All Speaker Tells Kiwanians

"Youth is everybody's concern," Lorne Williams, Deputy Recreation Area Director in Belleville, said last night. He was speaking to the Quinte Kiwanis Club at Johnny's Restaurant.

"Because of personality and character defects or because of the unavailability of appropriate community services, many young people fall by the wayside. These are the "Unreached Youth."

Mr. Williams blamed modern environment, complex organizations, global wars, for conflicting and confusing pressures on today's youth. "Modern mass society denies many of its citizens a genuine sense of self, a satisfying identity," said the speaker.

Mr. Williams also blamed the lack of opportunity to grow and develop in modern society for the "rootlessness, loneliness, unfulfillment, frustration, disorientation and anxiety" of modern youth.

Mr. Williams suggested altering basic institutions, schools and families, and letting "youth decide together what they want to do with social and economic reason."

"Our role is to listen and reinforce," he said.

26 Children Now Attending Day Nursery

A total of 26 children from two to five years of age are attending the Belleville Day Nursery, according to a report from the city manager dated April 6.

At the time of the report 22 children were attending full time and another four kiddies were attending half days. Of the total payment was being made for 18 children while 14 children were not being paid for.

Builder's Request for Taller Buildings in Area Turned Down

City council yesterday turned down a request from local builder, Maurice H. Rollins, for a bylaw amendment to allow construction of buildings of more than 35 feet in height for R.M. 3 areas.

The areas in question are along North Front Street, and East and West Dundas Streets, and included in the annexed areas of the city.

The request was laid over from the council meeting of two weeks ago at which time Planning Director P. J. Beavis said it would be unwise to remove the height limitation in its entirety.

Mr. Beavis said the "site plan", or "contractual agreement" method of re-zoning should be used.

Council approved the construction of sanitary sewers on Forest Hill Crescent, together with a pumping station to serve 18 vacant lots in the area. Cost of the works, along with construction of a roadway amounting to an estimated $46,000 is provided for in the city's 1967 capital works budget.

A petition for a sanitary sewer on Stanley Street was also received by council.

Council turned down the opportunity of purchasing $400 worth of "goodwill" advertising on six city buses.

The feeling was that the city was already subsidizing the bus lines.

The Ontario Humane Society was granted a request for a tag day in the city on either May 13 or 20. This is the first time that the society has requested permission for a tag day.

A proposal respecting a Hastings Planning Area was tabled for consideration at a later date.

Battle Remembered 50 Years Later

Legion veterans recalled the battle of Vimy Ridge last night at the Branch 99 banquet held at the Legion Hall. Members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment guard of honor present arms during the singing of the Queen. In a response to a toast to WW I vets, Art Hobbs summed up their feelings by saying they were "humbly proud." A total of 13,477 Canadians were killed or wounded in the battle.

Bay of Quinte Board Works on School Budget

After weeks of discussions and with teachers' salary negotiations still to be completed, members of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board will meet Thursday evening to decide on the 1967 budget estimates.

Board chairman Grant Kerr said today that if salary negotiations were still not completed by Thursday, the cost of instruction would have to be estimated for the year.

Salary requests by the approximately 200 high school teachers would boost instruction costs by considerably more than $200,000 .It was stated.

County Council April 18

The special meeting of Hastings county council to deal with the report on regional planning and a request to close the Stirling-Rawdon high school, will be set back a day to April 18.

The meeting was originally set for April 17, but the date was found to be unsuitable for some council members and county officials.

Hopes are that the business of the session can be completed in one day but due to the contentious nature of the two subjects, it thought possible the session could last for two days.

A Reproof to Humanity

United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who was persuaded only with difficulty to remain at the UN helm for a second term of five years (so discouraged had he become over the deteriorating situation in Viet Nam) is still fighting an uphill battle as the storm clouds thicken in Asia.

In a recent statement in Geneva he said prospects for peace in Vietnam "are as distant today as they were a year ago." And he warned that "because of the increasing intensification of the war, there are more prospects of it widening into a larger war and spilling over the frontiers."

As we contemplate the Vietnam situation the horror of this conflict in human terms once again comes into focus.

Recently The Star Weekly showed on its cover a little Vietnamese girl who had suffered a grievous wound below one eye. Fortunately, her pretty features were still evident and possibly with time and plastic surgery she may be restored almost to normal. Other children, however, have been less fortunate, and some have suffered indescribably brutal injuries — from bombing, gunshots, shrapnel and cold steel. Both sides in the war must share the guilt for these crimes against humanity.

If the United States is not entirely guiltless in this regard, the Viet communist Viet Cong are known to have deliberately murdered several thousand South Vietnamese village chiefs and innocent men, women and children. South Vietnamese Prime Minister Nguyen-Ky recently put the figure at more than 7,000 who have died in this manner.

As the Peterborough Examiner put it recently: "The toll of civilian casualties on both sides is high. There is not enough medical treatment to take care of even the most urgent cases. Amputations, extreme infection, hideous burns, all press on the available facilities. There is something less than one physician for every 100,000 population. An observer on the scene reports: 'The Vietnam war is savage and undiscriminating. Weapons which cause tremendous long-term medical problems are sending huge numbers of persons to hopelessly inadequate facilities. Most of the victims are women and children. . . .'"

The United States has its medical teams in Vietnam and they treat both military and civilians as far as the facilities will allow. But obviously the number of injured and maimed far exceed the medical resources. Doctors and nurses from otherwise uncommitted countries are also in Vietnam, and West Germany has provided a hospital ship, but again they cannot be everywhere.

Many voluntary agencies, as well as the Red Cross, are doing what they can to bring relief to the Vietnamese. But the need far exceeds existing facilities. When we look at the money spent individually as well as collectively on this continent, much of it on non-essentials or luxuries, it is time to re-consider and wonder whether at least part of such monies should not be made available for the provision of additional medical facilities and other comforts to the sick and the maimed in Vietnam.

Golf—And Life

In top-flight golf, as in other tough situations, tension can be a killer.

Masters champion Gay Brewer knows that as well as anyone. "I really wanted to win the Masters," the Texas veteran said after his success on the punishing Augusta, Georgia, course. "After leading the tournament a year ago and then three-putting the 18th, I had to prove to myself that I had it in me to win it."

Brewer, who never before had won a major title, won the title by one stroke from Bobby Nichols.

Another thing about golf is that accuracy is more important than length. Thus the great Jack Nicklaus, who usually combines both, fell by the wayside and failed to even qualify for the final rounds. But Gary Player, the South African star (and a former Masters champion himself) who long since has given up trying to slay with the big hitters, concentrates on finesse. He was among the leaders Sunday, finishing sixth. The legendary Ben Hogan was 10th and veteran Sam Snead 14th. They can still show the younger men a thing or two.

For most of us golf is fresh air and relaxation. For the professionals it is a livelihood — and a good one for the leading exponents. And the differing techniques and attitudes of the Gary Players and Jack Nicklauses of the circuit have their parallel in the larger arena of life's battles.

Risk . . . calculation . . . all or bust . . . cool and controlled. All these elements have their place. They are the very stuff of life.

"Reform"—New Symbol for Carte Blanche Govt. Spending

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The host is on in the House for what they choose to call "reform" of Parliament.

So what is different about that?

And hasn't it always been so?

Governments — this one, the last one, in fact, every one in the last personality eye-witness 27 years in the Capital — wanted to "reform" Parliament.

Maybe this would find, if you dug deep enough into the records in the air - conditioned vaults of the Parliamentary Library, that the government was talking wistfully of "reform" even back in Sir John A. Macdonald's days when it all started.

Governments call it, or more accurately, miscall it "reform" — but what they really mean, and don't like to say, is "speed-up."

They are everlastingly irritated — as the press perhaps more than most, has been — by what they regard as the endlessly nagging criticism of the Official Opposition.

So Prime Minister Pearson comes on strong for "reform"— echoed by three of the "Swing-ers" of his Cabinet, Health Minister MacEachen, the "Young Turk" Minister John Turner, and Small Minister Mont Elzear-ordinaire Walter Gordon.

It has always been in the expected and accepted style for the Young Freshmen - MP -in-a-Hurry to sound off about the old-declassified way Parliamentary does the nation's business.

For that is the traditional method of becoming an Instant Angry-Young-Man.

STILL SAME OLD SONG

But after a few Sessions of Parliament, these impatient AYM usually simmer down and reluctantly concede that while it may be an old-fashioned way to do the public business, it still gets it done.

And as well, or perhaps, hopefully, even better than most other alternative methods.

This time, though, it may be a bit different, and the Angry Young Men and the Freshmen-MPs-in-a-Hurry may not cool off quite so fast as previously has been the standard form on the Parliamentary course.

Because this time, the Prime Minister and his three swing-legged Cabinet "Swingers" — only Quebec Queen Judy LaMarsh is missing from the Go-Go lineup — have joined the Hurry-Up-Team.

Given this leadership from the top, the Angry Young Men are shoving their vocal muscles as it seldom before has been displayed.

Listen those days, when Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition is trying to do its assigned jobs of opposing, and you will hear an ill-tempered growl of impatience from the Angry Young Men.

It is a sound never before heard in the House, a snarl of irritation that any Opposition in it should dare to question, much less oppose anything that this lusty gaggle of Trouble - Spenders Government proposes.

So the cry, with

Finance Ministers Agree Additional Measures Needed, But...

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial conference of finance ministers Monday examined difficult areas of financial legislation where their interests coincide and their authority threatens to conflict.

Federal Finance Minister Sharp said they encountered "serious difficulties" across the board.

The one-day closed meeting discussed deposit insurance, securities investigation, regulation of near-banks and finance and acceptance companies, interest disclosure, consumer credit, and mutual funds and investments.

Federal and provincial representatives told a press conference Monday evening they recognize the need for co-operative action in improving laws applying to financial institutions.

Mr. Sharp said that despite their problems he had never before attended a federal-provincial meeting "in which there was so much effort to avoid conflict."

Registrar-General Turner said Ottawa is actively studying a four-point program of laws and control for securities trading.

He reported that all provinces agreed on the first three steps. First, Ottawa would try to use its influence to bring about uniform securities legislation in the provinces.

As previously announced, it is studying a centre for securities information and a securities fraud investigation unit through the RCMP.

Ottawa has on the drawing board a federal vehicle to "coordinate and supervise and, if necessary, regulate national and international trading in securities."

Mr. Turner joined Mr. Sharp at the conference table less than a week after his promotion to the job from minister without portfolio.

He told reporters that the provincial ministers conceded a federal role in the first three areas of the securities program. On the matter of a securities commission, "that was our position; we didn't seek any agreement on it."

But Quebec's Finance Minister Paul Dozois indicated possible trouble ahead for this assertion by Ottawa. The matter could be "quite a problem," he said, and should be referred to a continuing committee of finance ministers, likely to be set up as a result of Monday's discussions.

A series of meetings at the official and ministerial levels are expected to flow from the meeting. A number of officials from both sides will confer again today.

Monday's meeting was attended by finance ministers of seven provinces, leaving out Newfoundland, Alberta and British Columbia.

Their agreement will be sought to create the machinery for continuing study of the various problems.

Mr. Sharp and Mr. Dozois said there were no decisions taken at the conference.

Triarch Behind Labatt Bid

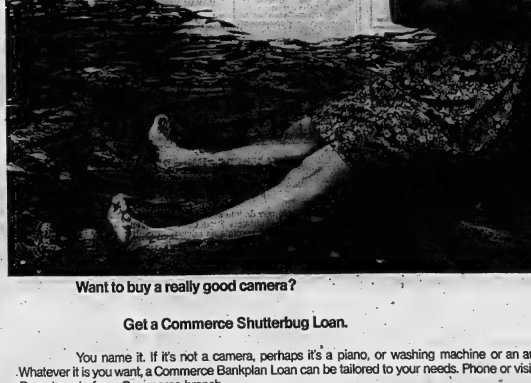
TORONTO (CP) — Triarch Corp. Ltd. of Toronto was the key firm in the $37,500,000 bid made last Friday to return control of the John Labatt Ltd. brewing firm to Canada, a company official said Friday.

A. G. S. Griffin, president of the investment banking firm called in by Labatt management 18 months ago, said in an interview Triarch put together the combination which offered the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. of Milwaukee $21 a share for Labatt stock.



Schlitz, which bought 1,700,000 shares of the third-largest Canadian brewing firm in 1964 at $23 a share, accepted the Canadian offer last Friday. The deal is still subject to United States court approval.

Schlitz ran afoul of U.S. anti-combines legislation after it bought control of Labatt and was ordered to divest itself of its holdings.

Mr. Griffin said that right from the beginning, Triarch proposed a holding company to buy the Schlitz - owned stock. The holding company, Jonlab Investments Ltd., is in the process of being formed, although it was incorporated in Ontario July 25, 1966.

Jonlab, which also was the code name used for the repatriation operation, will be the only company to act in the deal with Schlitz, said Mr. Griffin. If and when the deal goes through, it will sell 1,000,000 shares to Brazilian Light and Power Ltd. of Toronto and 300,000 shares to Investors Mutual of Canada. Investors already owned 36,083 shares of Labatt.

The remaining 400,000 shares will be retained by Jonlab, in which Brazilian Light and Power has a substantial but not controlling interest.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Investors trimmed opening losses in morning trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange but were unable to move prices to the plus side.

The industrial index eased .14 to 163.60 after suffering its sharpest daily drop of the year Monday when it fell 1.93.

By 11 a.m. only 543,000 shares had changed hands compared with 800,000 at the same time Monday.

Bank of Nova Scotia was off 1⅛ to 75¼ and Massey - Ferguson and Tamblyn ½ each to 23¾ and 23.

Inco and Falconbridge lost ¼ each to 94¾ and 86¼ in pace base metals lower. Pine Point added ¼ at 22.

Campbell Red Lake moved up ⅝ to 109⅜ in golds.

On index, golds were up 1.42 to 146.74 and western oils .23 to 153.74. Base metals eased .53 to 90.41.

Inco led the decline Monday as prices were battered in most sections.

The industrial index tumbled 1.93 to 163.74, following the trend at New York. Brokers said there was a continuing sell-off since Friday as the market appears to be going through a period of correction.

Inco fell 4¼ to 85 following reports that the United States government is being urged to release 60,000,000 pounds of nickel from its stockpile to meet domestic demand.

Falconbridge was down 1¼ to 86½. Sherritt Gordon was unchanged at 4.

In industrials, CIL fell ⅞ to 21¾ and Moore Corp. and Distillers ¾ each to 101¼ and 38½.

On index, golds were off .43 to 145.32, base metals .17 to 93.94 and western oils 3.52 to 153.51. Volume was 2,644,000 shares compared with 2,905,000 Friday.

GE Workers Vote on Talks

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Officials of the International Union of Electrical Workers said Monday meetings to consider a negotiating committee report on a dispute with Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., will be held tonight in Peterborough, Toronto, Oakville and Cobourg.

Although they said it was not a strike vote, the only two questions to be posed to more than 2,000 union members are to accept or reject the committee's report.

Board Asks Fluid Milk Price Hike

TORONTO (CP) — Lorne Hurd, general manager of the Ontario milk marketing board, said Monday the board has proposed an increase of 35 cents a hundredweight in the price paid by dairies to Ontario milk producers.

Mr. Hurd said the proposal has gone to an advisory committee which includes representatives of the producers and milk distributors.

Before the increase takes effect, approval will be sought from both the farmers and members of the Ontario Milk Distributors Association.

The dairies now pay $3.75 a hundredweight for milk. The 35-cent increase would boost the cost to dairies by nearly one cent a quart.

Mr. Hurd said news reports telling of plans for the increase were premature.

Home Science Teacher's Diet Mainly Rice

OTTAWA (CP)—Rice from a Hindu temple was the staple part of Janet Tripp's diet during two years as a home science teacher in India.

A volunteer with the Canadian University Service Overseas, Janet taught at Sri Venkateswara University in Tirupati, a city of 40,000 about 90 miles from Madras.

The 10-year-old university has about 5,000 students and is sponsored by Andhra Pradesh state and a nearby Hindu temple.

During periods when food was hard to get, the temple supplied the university with rice and vegetables.

"People visiting it always bring a gift, like coconuts, bananas or betel leaves, but the lower - caste Hindus usually bring rice."

The temple is one of the richest in the country, and many of the university buildings were built with its funds. It is the second most important pilgrimage centre for Hindus.

"Children are supposed to visit it before they are three years old to have their hair cut off. And people pray to Sri Venkateswara if they have a problem and promise to give their hair if he helps them."

Brown-haired Janet graduated from the University of Western Ontario in 1961 and worked for two years in Montreal and Fredericton before going overseas.

She had wanted to be a physical education teacher and says she's "not the home science type." Her decision to take the course followed a lecture she heard on nutrition problems in Thailand.

In India she worked mainly with 10 graduate students on a development program in four nearby villages.

The work included adult literacy classes, a school lunch program and explaining general nutrition to the village women.

The students also tried to encourage the women to use a "smokeless stove" which they would build from cow dung, hay, water and a tin pipe supplied by the school.

"The villagers live in one-room round huts and cook over an open fire in the hut.

"The smoke is good for getting rid of mosquitoes, but it means the woman is crouched on the floor all day. It takes a long time to cook an Indian meal."

Saturday and Sunday Janet and the students visited the local hospital instructing new mothers in the care and feeding of babies.

"It was all done through the students. To me, that's the only way it can be done.

"When I first thought of going to India, I had the usual idea of me out among the mud huts and bullock carts learning the language and getting things done.

"But there's not much you can do that way. The Indian girls can explain so much better.

"The girl who replaced me at the university was one of my students. That sums up all I was trying to do."

Community Centre Growing

BELLA BELLA, B.C. (CP)—A dream, 19 boxes of books and the hard work of Violet Hendry have resulted in the first community centre of this remote British Columbia coastal settlement.

The dream began to come true after Miss Hendry arrived at this Indian village last September with books donated by Vancouver public, school and church libraries.

She was assisted by Rev. John A. MacLeod, principal of the local school, who arranged for her to take over the school library.

"From there I worked with the children, and through them, reached the parents.

"Now I'm watching the library grow from a reading centre to the beginning of a community centre."

The library's first off-shoot was a square dance club which meets every two weeks "and is making healthy progress."

A senior citizens' group followed and activity mushroomed with the formation of a girls' hobby club and a boys' club.

The girls learn sewing and knitting while the boys gather in the school basement to watch Indian carvers and learn the craft themselves.

The library is also serving as an adult education centre, Miss Hendry says.

"Many of the men pick up books on home building and repair and are using the knowledge they've read."

The library is supported by a women's committee but "it's not only the women who are pitching in," says Miss Hendry. "Several men have volunteered too and one is starting repair work on the books."

Like all libraries, the one at Bella Bella is growing. But one volume will have a special place on its shelves.

"The children are preparing a centennial book which will be inscribed with all their names and which will contain stories about the people themselves.

"Right now, all the children are busily interviewing the older people in the village to get all the old stories."

Church Groups

TRINITY UCW (ROSLIN)

The April meeting of Bethel-Zion unit of Trinity UCW (Roslin) was held in Bethel-Zion Hall.

Mrs. L. Ketcheson led the worship service on the topic of spring. The program was in charge of Mrs. F. Ray and Mrs. G. Russell. The discussion was on urbanism and was taken from the mission study book. It was pointed out that those who live in the country have their thinking geared to the city on cultural physical and moral issues.

Plans were made for the centennial tea to be held on the June 7. A bale of used clothing was packed for shipment to the clothing depot of the United Church in Toronto.

Slowdown in Birth Rate In Russia Gives Concern

MOSCOW (CP) — Experts are concerned about signs of a slowdown in the rate of growth of the Soviet Union's population.

Demographers — scientists who study population trends—are determined to uncover the reasons for the declining birth rate, a phenomenon shared with a number of Western nations including Canada.

However, it will be several years before they can get their hands on statistical information. Their demands have forced statistical authorities to incorporate a special questionnaire into the 1969 census form.

The questionnaire, designed to shed light on the population question and help predict future trends, would be filled in by a small percentage of Soviet women on a selective basis.

The central statistical board had agreed to such a questionnaire at the 1959 census but it was never conducted.

One result was an error by statisticians in forecasting population trends. It predicted it would be 250,000,000 in 1970. But at the beginning of 1966 it was only 232,000,000 and demographers figure it will be around 244,000,000 in 1970.

The population experts also figure the statisticians' prediction that population will reach 289,000,000 in 1980 will be proved wrong.

One reason the demographers are so insistent that they be given accurate statistical information is that population is an important aspect of economic growth.

The Soviet Union needs an expanding population to develop its immense resources, particularly in Siberia, and to people vast, newly empty tracts in Soviet Asia that are coveted by China.

Today the situation with regard to the reproduction of population in the country is obviously unsatisfactory and it is becoming worse," an economist - research worker, V. Perevedentsev, wrote in Literaturnaya Gazeta — Literary Gazette.

The census can provide decisively important information on factors governing birth rate and, in the long run, how the birth rate can be controlled, he said.

"What is required for this is simply that some four or five per cent of the women should be asked a number of questions in addition to those which will be put to the rest of the population."

It was after Perevedentsev's article appeared that the statistical board announced the special questionnaire.

Official Soviet publications say the average Soviet family now has 3.7 members compared with 4.1 before the Second World War.

The number of births is reported to have dropped from about 5,300,000 in 1960 to 4,300,000 in 1965. As a result the natural population increase was 2,563,000 in 1965 as against 3,812,000 five years earlier.

Main reason given by statisticians is that women of child-bearing age are fewer in number, having been born during the war when the birth rate was at its lowest.

Demographers may well suspect there are other factors, such as birth control and abortion, both practised widely here, and they presumably want to know if their suspicions are well-founded.

Another possible reason for the decline is that 49 per cent of the labor force are women and that working wives are less likely to bear children.

Another point of dispute between the demographers and statisticians is migration. The population scientists don't think proposed census questions are properly formulated to provide the most useful information on population movements.

Gives Hints for Sending Goodies

Dear Doris: The way to win the heart of any service fellow away from home is with a parcel of goodies. They worry more of a feeling of impatience and "beloveder", for want of a better word, than is possible to explain. A few tips on these:

1. Substitute one-half the amount of sugar called for with honey in cookie recipes. They will keep much longer.

2. Use puffed cereals or unsalted popcorn for packing with food as a buffer. This prevents breakage in mail. But choose your recipes carefully, keeping the mailing factor in mind.

3. If the girl can bake buns, freeze them direct from baking and mail while still frozen to insure best freshness.

Check with the post office. They will gladly find out for you the best days and times of day to mail food packages so they will travel the fastest.

Could be said. Also carefully follow their instructions re tying and wrapping packages.

Food is not generally as bad as the boys try and make out, but even they realize that the food received is secondary; the most important thing is the time, effort and concern on your part to send them. They appreciate this far more than most can express.

One final warning, Doris, is this girl (who has a boy friend in the armed services). Please let that boys letters be few or often make common practice of reading each other's mail. A point to remember! Also, if possible, warn her of the danger of wrong interpretation. We sometimes grow discouraged and depressed without reason, not realizing that boys are generally not very adept at writing their feelings. And too often girls read what they wish to read into a vague statement, building themselves up for future heartbreak.

Because I've known so many of these boys in all three services (in fact, I am a physiotherapist), I know how much mail means to them. Bless the girl who is so concerned about this task. It will have a value beyond her imagining! — Soldier's Girl

Dear Soldier's Girl: Thank you for this second instalment. Girls — any girls with sweethearts needing letters and parcels — clip and keep handy these words of wisdom.

Dear Doris: Is it proper not to go to the casket at a funeral if you want to remember your friend or loved one as you knew them in life? — Close friend.

Dear Friend: Yes, This is nobody's business but yours — and your feeling is shared by many people.

You speak to those who grieve; you show by your presence that you grieve too, and sympathize. You don't reject your lost love by refusing to gaze on lifeless remains.

Many state funerals (and others) now feature closed caskets.

Dear Doris: Your answer to "Lipstick No!" was great. As a teen-ager myself I know that just because you start wearing make-up and get things doesn't mean you're going to, all of a sudden, be overly interested in boys!

When I was 12 my mother let me start wearing a little bit of lipstick and it certainly didn't stop me from going for sports. I was in almost everything in track and field and won second and third in most things. I hope I don't sound like I'm bragging, but I just want to show that permit that lipstick doesn't change anyone too drastically.

I started wearing earrings last year in grade 8, when I was 13. Now I am 14 and am still not allowed to go out on dates but I am well satisfied with life. — Anonymous

Dear Anonymous: Spoken like a red-blooded Canadian girl!

Fan in Depression Over TV Hero's Death

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I some kind of a nut? Perhaps if I write my problem down on paper it will look so ridiculous that I will be ashamed of myself and get back to normal.

I am Mrs. Average Housewife, married nearly 20 years. I have a wonderful family and a fine husband. (We have no financial) problems, no in-law problems and none of the heartaches that plague most people. I should be a contented, balanced person, but I think I am crazy. Please listen to this:

ANN LANDERS

A few months ago I began watching a soap opera, one of those drippy daytime things. Pretty soon I found myself looking forward to the program with great eagerness. After a few months I was completely hooked.

Last week one of the leading male characters died. I went into a depression and couldn't eat dinner. I felt as if I had lost a member of my family. My husband asked me what was wrong. Naturally I didn't tell him.

Why would a normal, middle-aged woman react like this? It's been three days and I'm still depressed. Can you help me or do I need a psychoanalyst? — IDIOT BOX VICTIM.

* * *

DEAR I.B.V.: Obviously you began to think of the soap opera character as a personal friend. This does not mean you are loony but it does suggest that you identified with him much too strongly.

If you are still grieving by the time this letter appears, tell yourself that when the male lead in a soap opera dies it means his agent got him a better job on Broadway — or if it's a girl she married Frank Sinatra.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Does a babysitter have to tell people the truth when she doesn't want to take a job?

A certain woman has called me three times in the last two weeks and I have fibbed and said I was busy although I had nothing else to do. I dread going to that house, the children are like wild animals.

The two older boys (seven and eight years old) fight something terrible. I don't feel it is the sitter's job to referee battles. Besides I always end up being bitten or kicked or hit.

The youngest child is a girl 3 years old and she is not trained yet. I think she refuses to be trained just to show who is boss. My mother says white lies are all right if they are for a good reason, like sparing someone's feelings. But I feel guilty saying I am busy when I'm not. Would it be best to tell the woman I don't want to work for her anymore because her children are like impossible? — TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES.

* * *

DEAR TRUTH: Isn't it enough that you have been hit and bitten over there? Don't let those kids make a liar out of you, too.

Tell the woman you don't care to sit with her children because they are too difficult to control. Maybe when the mother hears the sad truth from an outsider she'll do something about it.

* * *

Confidential to HURT AND BITTER: Man's capacity for cruelty to woman is matched only by her ability to remember it. Nothing is gained by picking at wounds. You merely prevent them from healing. Do yourself a favor and forgive him.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Danish Pastries

By MARY MOORE

Yesterday I gave you the recipe and lengthy method of making the dough for Danish Pastries.

(I visualize them, wrapped and chilled, in the refrigerator awaiting today's directions for shaping and baking. I am so optimistic though.)

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Mixed Grill: Bacon, Chicken Livers, Sliced Crumbed Veal Kidneys; Cauliflower au Gratin; Minted Green Peas; Salad Greens with Pimiento Dressing; Raisin Pie with Cheddar Cheese; Coffee.

DIRECTIONS FOR SHAPING AND BAKING DANISH PASTRIES (36—3 variations)

1: Jam Twirls: Roll out chilled Danish Pastry dough on floured board to 30 x 15" rectangle. This takes time and muscle. Cut into 3 lengthwise strips. Wrap and return two strips to refrigerator. Starting at narrow end of one strip roll it up like a jelly roll. With sharp knife cut into 10 ½" thick slices. Place on buttered cookie sheet at least 2" apart. At centre of each put ½ tsp. raspberry or strawberry or pineapple jam or marmalade. Let rise (see below) in warm place.

2: Pineapple Pickups: Remove a second strip of dough from refrigerator and fold long edges to meet at centre and fold over once more to make 4 layers. Cut into twelve 1½" pieces. Place these, open side up, on buttered cookie sheet 2" apart and press corners down a little to make them gape at centre. Into this side dip 1 tsp. pineapple jam or marmalade. Let rise in warm place (see below).

3: Jelly Bowknots: Remove third strip of chilled dough from refrigerator and cut in half crosswise. Cut each half into six very narrow lengthwise strips. Tie each strip into a simple single bowknot. You will have 12 knots. Place on buttered cookie sheet 2" apart. Push together opening at centre. Now mix together 1 egg yolk and 1 tbsp. water and sparingly and gently brush all exposed surfaces of all prepared Danish Pastries on cookie sheets with this glaze. After applying glaze, in centre of each bowknot, drop ½ tsp. red jelly — I used cherry jelly. Let rise in warm place (see below).

Let all Danish Pastries on all pans rise until doubled — about 1½ to 2 hrs. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. Time depends on how many bake at one time. I baked all of mine at once, switching pans at half-time and they took nearly 20 min. to become baked and golden. If you bake one pan at a time at centre of oven, they require only 15 or 18 min. especially the bowknots. Remove to cake racks to cool.

Frosting: While Danish Pastries are still somewhat warm mix together 1½ cups icing sugar and 2 tbsps. water. From tip of spoon dribble fine lines of icing around edges and in fine crisscross pattern to make them look like the bakery products. NOTE: If you want to warm these Danish Pastries put them in a warm oven but take them out as soon as the icing threatens to run.

Please clip these Danish Pastry directions now and attach to yesterday's column, which gives directions for making Danish Pastry dough.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Child: "I tant walk any farver. I are tired."

Mother: "Don't talk like that. Let me hear you say it correctly. You're not a baby anymore!"

Some small children grow out of baby talk slowly and find it difficult to enunciate words correctly, especially when they're tired. Don't encourage baby talk, but don't be unduly disturbed by it in a preschool child.

Dairy foods go with good living

For people on the go nothing refreshes like a tall glass of ice-cold milk. For milk's the versatile dairy food that goes with everything, any time of the day.

At snack time, team that milk with these crisp butter cookies, lightly flavoured with lemon. You'll get about six dozen cookies from the following easy-to-make recipe, enough to fill the cookie tin for a while!

1 cup soft butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1½ teaspoons lemon extract
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream butter; gradually beat in sugar, egg and lemon extract. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; gradually add to butter mixture. Chill dough, then shape into small balls and flatten with bottom of glass on cookie sheets. Bake in a 375° F. oven, 8 to 10 minutes.

These butter cookies lend themselves to many variations. Add glitter to the basic cookie by rolling the balls in coloured sugar crystals before pressing into shape and baking. The children will love them along with a banana milkshake to mark a special occasion.

Chopped candied cherries transform the dough into yet another treat. Add 1 cup chopped candied cherries and shape the dough into little fingers for a change. Any way you serve them, they're better with milk.

When friends drop in unexpectedly, add a dramatic touch by accompanying the cookies with Café au Lait. Pour equal amounts of hot milk and extra strong coffee into cups simultaneously. Garnish with dollops of whipped cream.

Brewin Says Martin Disciple of King's 'Studied Obscurity'

OTTAWA (CP)—"The ghost of Mackenzie King still rules the government," says Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood).

He said Monday in the Commons debate on armed forces unification, which goes into its seventh straight sitting day today, that External Affairs Minister Martin is a disciple of the late Liberal prime minister's "Studied obscurity."

The government's intentions on military contributions to NATO are wrapped in obscurity, Mr. Brewin said.

In the debate last week Mr. Martin appeared to say that Canada would maintain its present roles in NATO. But then the minister had stated he hoped Canada could withdraw militarily from Europe eventually.

It is wrong of the government "to conceal from the public its true intent," Mr. Brewin said. Unification would be easier and more acceptable to servicemen and public alike if the government would tell the Commons its defence plans. Uncertainty as to defence purposes and roles was undermining service morale.

Two former Conservative cabinet ministers joined Mr. Brewin in urging Prime Minister Pearson to take part in the debate and disclose what the government contemplates as the most effective future role or roles for the armed forces.

Richard Bell (PC—Carleton), former immigration minister, said Mr. Pearson is the only man who now can save the armed forces from annihilation through unification.

The services were being used as a pawn in the struggle for the Liberal leadership and Mr. Pearson should put a stop to it at once by withdrawing the legislation.

He was not advocating a snap election but it would do no harm for the government to announce that the bill would be proclaimed law only after the next election, which would provide a test of government defence policy.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West), former veterans minister, said Mr. Pearson must lay out clearly the relationship between foreign and defence policy and what the government proposes to do.

Grant Deachman (L — Vancouver Quadra), chairman of the Commons defence committee, said it is time to stop procrastinating and pass the bill.

Everything which could be said on the issue had been said 10 times over.

Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South) said Liberal MPs have become part of Mr. Hellyer's "propaganda machine" without any chance of voicing their individual opinions.

Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) said experiments with integration of the top command have not been completely successful. There was no reason why unification would succeed.

Search for New Name for Servicemen Abandoned at Least Temporarily

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence headquarters has abandoned, temporarily at least, its search for a flashy new name for Canadian servicemen.

Informants say some thought was given to calling servicemen "defenders." But this was at the time when the defence department was considering "Canadian defence forces" as the official title of the planned single service.

The official title in the armed forces unification bill now before the Commons is "Canadian armed forces."

Defence headquarters at one point wanted to name the single forces the "marine corps."

Voice Asked In Future Fee Boosts

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Matthew Dymond told the legislature Monday the Ontario government is trying to reach an agreement with the Ontario Medical Association so that any future increases in medical payment schedules would be subject to negotiation.

Speaking during a debate after the second reading of a bill to bring Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan payments into line with OMA fee increases which took effect April 1, Mr. Dymond said the new schedule was announced without prior consultation with the government.

"We're doing everything in our power to see that this doesn't happen again," he said.

Mr. Dymond commented that he was not as concerned with the latest fee increases as with the doctors' failure to indicate they were planned.

The bill was one of several given unanimous second reading by the house.

In other business:

1. —The legislature gave first reading to a human rights bill prohibiting discrimination in the rental of all self-contained housing units and removing exemption of employers of fewer than five persons from a fair-employment provision of the Human Rights Code.

2. Stephen Lewis (NDP — Scarborough West) described the government's Home Ownership Made Easy plan as a "total failure," saying not enough homes are being built to satisfy the demand of low-income families.

3. Rene Brunelle, minister of lands and forests, turned down proposals of a legislature committee to increase the present $25 bounty on wolves and to allow professional trappers, in Algonquin Park. He said neither would lower the wolf population.

4. Labor Minister Dalton Bales announced resolutions ensuring greater safety in passenger elevators in apartment buildings and educational institutions. They call for a metal apron below the elevator floor and the mounting of an alarm if the door opens between floors.

Ontario Backs Call for Parley On Securities

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts of Ontario took the legislature Monday that the province has enthusiastically endorsed Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson's proposal of a federal-provincial premiers' conference on financial institutions and securities regulations.

Mr. Robarts made the remark as a preface to reading a statement by Leslie Rowntree, commercial affairs minister, to the opening session of a ministerial-level conference in Ottawa Monday.

"Ontario is anxious to see federal initiative and federal leadership in this matter," Mr. Rowntree's statement said. But failing Ottawa's leadership, Ontario would have to take further steps to protect its own investors.

'Timber Wolf' Stands Guard

Bernard Coe lights his pipe after fastening a chain around logs while the Twiddy dog watches the logs drawn into the sawmill.

Water Level Critical Factor

On the left is the sawmill, and on the right is a water powered grist mill. Mr. Twiddy had his water wheel overhauled 10 years ago and the company which did the job said it couldn't match a wooden bearing like the one supporting the 2,000-pound wheel and crown gear. Over the years it had only worn slightly. Surprisingly, the water is "too high" right now for most efficient operation.

Sawmill Still Run By Water

Canada is a country bristling with hydro electric cables carrying current from huge places such as the mighty Niagara Falls.

In the midst of all this one new mill in Stockdale just west of Frankford keeps humming along with all its 80 horsepower . . . with no electricity or gasoline engines. Something like a perpetual motion machine — water driven.

Laymen would think that the higher the stream and the faster the water the better but not so, says Mr. Twiddy. If the water is too high the wheel won't function properly, and if it is too low air gets in, reducing horsepower.

But at least he doesn't have to worry about paying a hydro electric bill.

Only One More Like It

The twin of this water powered sawmill at Stockdale is near Bancroft. They are the only two such mills in Ontario still cutting timber into lumber using 'hydro' . . . and not the electric kind.

Mill Was His Father's

Richard Twiddy operates the original winch used to haul in the logs. He isn't positive of the age of the mill, but he thinks it is 50 years old.

Belleville Cheese On Menu

TORONTO (CP)—A centennial menu which could put fat men back in style is being offered by the Canadian Restaurant Association.

The 13-course dinner, a selection of delicacies in favor from coast to coast for 100 years, will be served to about 600 food experts as the climax of the 1967 CRA show to be held here April 17-20.

Created by a committee of CRA members, the menu lists a number of old Canadian favorites such as Atlantic salmon and Manitoba blueberries but presents them with a new flourish.

The 1867-1967 bill of fare: From British Columbia: Preserves, dill tomatoes, pickled red cabbage, spiced apple rings; Newfoundland: Smoked and garnished Atlantic salmon: Nova Scotia: Hot cinnamoned apple cider; Saskatchewan: Buttermilk tea biscuits; Quebec: Pea soup; Ontario: Lettuce with a sour cream-maple syrup dressing; Alberta: Roast beef; New Brunswick: Green beans with toasted pearl onions and pimentoes; Prince Edward Island: Escalloped potatoes; Manitoba: Blueberry torte with minted chocolate sauce, plus Belleville's Black Diamond cheddar cheese and coffee.

It reads a bit as if it all boils down to plain old roast beef and blueberry pie, but then the chefs have fancied it up a bit.

Hot cider, for instance, must be served from stone crocks, says M. A. Didier, chef at the Royal York Hotel. The cider is heated, but not boiled, and flavored with cloves and cinnamon sticks. It is served just before the course.

Different Education Philosophy Part of Community Colleges

With Saturday's announcement that a president had been appointed and already was seeking staff, the Loyalist campus of the College of Applied Arts and Technology is a step nearer reality.

But for John Kenneth Bradford the months leading to the September opening will be a period of crucial responsibility. As first president of the new campus, he has the task of assembling an administrative framework on which future patterns of success may flourish.

But, along with other appointees to the new community college complex for Ontario, he will have the aid of document specially prepared as a future guideline.

The document has been described as "a revolutionary manifesto" that may change Ontario's present inflexible educational system with an "up-to-date approach" whose theme is innovation.

The neatness of the message is not obscured by its rather laborious-title: "Some Unique Features of Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology."

Prepared by the Applied Arts and Technology Branch of the department of education and approved by the Ontario Council of Regents of the new colleges, it is now being read by presidents and governors of the new community institutions.

The paper commends new thinking on teacher education, modern education methods and individual counselling.

These new objectives may be introduced in about five or six years — after the new college's area wall established.

It sets forth these orelhminary reminders: "Colleges of applied arts and technology are neither universities nor extensions of the secondary school; they must find their own identity in service to that large segment of society that is inadequately served by the university; that is those students and adults whose failure to recognize the applicability of the humanities, languages or abstract mathematics to their own lives has made them potential or actual dropouts."

It is emphatic on the need for individual student counselling: "Adequate counselling services are critical. Admission . . . must be based on the ability profile of the student in a selected field of endeavor rather than on prescriptive entrance requirements alone."

This will mean a full range of evaluation tests and personal interviews conducted by "a team of counsellors as the only viable method."

Education methods, mod- communications must be used, with the potential of television being explored to the maximum. This would call for open-circuit television and videotaping of public television programs and closed-circuit TV instruction.

The document calls for a wide range of extension courses along with evening classes, correspondence and satellite courses in outlying areas.

(The town of Bancroft already is seeking a satellite course for the North-Hastings region.)

There is emphasis on adult education.

The paper says there should be a liberal arts program in the community colleges to meet the needs of possibly "a very large number of adults" who have failed to complete their formal education.

Says the document: "It is hoped that this program would be of the calibre that might meet the requirements for university entrance; a two-year program as an equivalent of Grade 13; a three-year program es an equivalent of, or for advance credits in, the first year of general arts at the university."

Graduate programs should be started for exceptional students and "some agreement with a university for university make-up courses might also be reached."

The program also ranges into a broader social spectrum.

It suggests community colleges should also play the part of rehabilitation centres in underdeveloped areas, gearing toward programs suitable for the economic, social and educational requirements of specific areas.

It also comments on basic administration functions.

It recommends that boards of governors, with advisory committees on local levels, are best suited to maximum flexibility in determining community needs.

The advisory committees would provide a link between industry and commerce and other public agencies.

Within the college there should be an educational services council and a director.

"This director would be responsible for operations analysis . . . and, with the council, would integrate . . . such services as those of the resource centre, data centre, counselling, research programs . . . The key here is innovation.

A curriculum committee should be appointed for each college, to seek ways of best implementing study programs.

The chairman of such a committee should be from outside the college — from industry, business or a public agency— and the board composed of university, college and secondary schools representatives.

There should also be a committee of students and faculty members, with the college president as arbitrator.

"The function of this committee would be to promote understanding of college policy between faculty and students and to provide a source of redress for grievances of either side."

The faculty and student population would be more diverse than other educational institutions, which "suggests some problems."

". . . but it should be possible to develop a strong sense of unity within the college, thus preventing the rather rigid class system that prevails in other educational establishments.

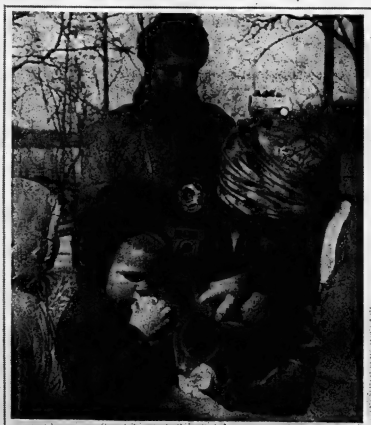
"The result should be a broader vision of education than exists at present, among students and faculty, and so, among the general public.

Finally, the paper has some profound pointers vitally concerning students and teachers.

It suggests the use of the credit system of student assessment, with the emphasis on term work rather than examination performance.

"The credit system would solve the obvious inequities of the percentage and grade systems; would foster comparable standards throughout the Ontario colleges, and would promote ease of transfer, not only at home, but also throughout North America where the credit system is generally accepted in community colleges."

For teacher-training, there is also a new concept:



"The preferred program is one of a pre-service orientation period followed by two years of in-service training.

"During the in-service period each group of teachers will perform regular duties under a special counsellor with master-teaching qualifications whose function is to advise rather than to supervise."

In the second in - service year, the student teacher will be required to engage in research in some aspect of teaching: programmed learning, new techniques of testing and evaluation. The results of this research will be embodied in a thesis for publication by the college. Acceptance of the thesis might constitute one prerequisite for certification, if such certification is deemed essential."

For all programs within the college, the teaching staff should be sought from business, industry and other agencies.

"Experience 'on the job' will provide one of the basic platforms of seminar-work for in-service teacher education, as well as providing a basis for sound student-teacher relationships, an essential in adult education."

Simply Sampling Syrup

Which was a sweet way to end a tour for these youngsters and Queen Mary schoolmates at Picton - district sugar bush Monday. Mrs. Cecil Kleinsteuber pours syrup samples, watched by teacher Marion Cameron.

Belleville Pupils Enjoy Bush Trek

PICTON — Two busloads of Belleville moppets took to the woods yesterday — managing to mop up a fair share of maple syrup before hitting the home trail.

The youngsters were grade one and kindergarten students at Queen Mary School and the scene of their foraging was the West Lake Road farm of Cecil Kleinsteuber.

Guided by the farmer they toured the Kleinsteuber sugar bush — now currently producing and processing maple sap.

They trekked through the woods to watch tree-tapping and holding demonstration at the Kleinsteuber evaporator shack where the sap from 1,400 buckets is steamed into syrup.

The visit was part of the school's Centennial program. It was the sixth busload of students to visit the farm.

"Fast Eddie" Given "Punch" Line

TORONTO (CP)—Fast Eddie Shack inlaid the plane taking Toronto Maple Leafs to Chicago Saturday for Sunday's National Hockey League semi-final game with the Black Hawks, but he got there even-tu—in time for the game.

Manager-coach Punch Imlach ... ...sy refused to discuss whether he had fined the winger, but it is understood he did manage the last word on the situation.

Those who were there report that following Sunday's game, Imlach entered the team bus to find only one seat left vacant—across the aisle from Shack.

Without breaking stride or cracking a smile, Imlach is reported to have sat quietly in his seat, turned to Shack and said:

"I'm glad you made the bus."

Mohns Injury Weakens Scooter Line

TORONTO (CP — Chicago Black Hawks are slowing down at last wing.

Doug Mohns, the workhorse on the Black Hawks Scooter line, will probably see action in the third game of the best - of - seven Stanley Cup semi - finals here tonight, but concerns is he won't be at his best.

Bobby Hull, Hawks' muscular scoring ace, "isn't complaining but I still don't think he's right," coach Billy Reay said after the Chicago club arrived here Monday.

Hull has been a question mark since the series started in Chicago last Thursday after missing the final three games of the regular season with an knee injury.

Mohns was also in pain for the first game, suffering from a recurring back ailment that has plagued him since late in the National Hockey League season.

But the converted defenceman received another injury in Sunday's second game of the series when struck on the hip by a stick.

Reay blames Leafs' Jim Pappin, claiming the Toronto forward clouded his lefwinger intentionally.

Mohns was in pain Monday and needed assistance getting on and off the Hawks' plane, carrying the club to Toronto. He shaked during Chicago's light workout Monday, but Reay was cautious about his fitness.

Tonight's game, scheduled for 8 p.m. EST, will be televised on the CBC's Ontario regional network. Fourth game of the series will be here Thursday.

Both clubs worked out at Maple Leaf Gardens Monday after arriving from Chicago. The two practice sessions were a study in contrast.

Toronto coach Punch Imlach worked most of his players for nearly an hour, putting them through free-on-two rushes and stiff shooting drills. Not one of the players came off the ice until he was bathed in perspiration.

Defencemen Marcel Pronovost, one of the first to go to the showers, said:

"You have to work the hardest to get off first."

Although all the Hawks practiced, the workout was nothing more than a loosening up session.

Toronto captain George Armstrong will not play in tonight's game. The veteran right winger underwent an eye operation for a detached retina when he was struck by Bobby Hull Sunday night.

Rookie forward Irvian Connacher will replace Armstrong on a line with Frank Mahovlich and Dave Keon.

Milan Marcetta, who scored 40 goals with Victoria of the Western Hockey League this season, will also dress as a spare man.

Imlach announced that Terry Sawchuk will be in goal. The veteran notsmoker was given much of the credit for Leafs' 3-1 victory over the Hawks Sunday.

Johnny Bower, who missed the first two games after injuring a finger on his stick hand, will be the backup goaltender.

Reay was as non-committal as usual about his starting goaltender. Denis Dejordy played the first two games of the series.

Toronto centre Pete Stemkowski, who suffered a bout of stomach cramps after Sunday's game, will also dress.

He visited a doctor, "but it's cleared up now," Imlach said.

Cornwall Sault Tied 3-3

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Rick Plasmondon, 18-year-old centre playing his last season in junior hockey, scored all three goals as Cornwall Royals defeated Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 3-2 in the sixth game of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup quarter-finals Monday night.

The best-of-seven series is tied 3-3. The seventh and deciding game will be played here Wednesday night.

Plasmondon, scoring champion in the Central Junior A Hockey League this season, scored once in the second period and twice in the third after the Greyhounds had led 2-0 after the first period.

The Greyhounds dominated the game until Plasmondon scored at 15:13 of the second period. Greyhounds' centre Bob Smith had just been stopped by Cornwall goalie Harold Murphy on an outstanding scoring chance.

Plamondon finished the scoring with goals at 13:02 and 16:44 of the third.

Three Overtime Periods
Realty Wins Marathon

Terry Casselman's third goal of the game, coming at 8.10 of the third overtime period, eliminated a terrific hockey game and kept Grant Realty's hopes for the Quinte League championship alive last night.

The goal gave Grant's a 4-3 nod over Realty although the losers still had the edge seven series three games to two.

Sixth game of the set will be played tonight at 8.00 with the seventh, if is is necessary, slated for Sunday afternoon, at 2.00.

Grant's appeared to have had the night's win in the bag when they built a 3-0 lead. Bill Lastimer scored at 14.45 of the first period and Casselman made it 2-0 at 6.05 of the second. Casselman again after just 55 seconds of the third made it 3-0.

But the bashing SACO squad was far from dead.

Billy McGuire ignited a rally at 13.10 with the club's initial goal and two minutes and 45 seconds later it was a 3-3 affair. Junior Day scored at 15.57 and Doug Harlton at 16.35 to send the tilt into overtime.

A ten - minute period was scoreless before the clubs entered a 20-minute sudden - death period. Grant's had a great chance here at 2.20 when "Widge" Adams was awarded a penalty shot but failed to score on the "free" chance.

The second sudden - death heat was 6.10 old when Casselman completed a play with Lastimer and Mike Force to end the action and keep his club alive.

Both goalies, Claude Carr of the winners and John French of SACO, turned in some great saves in the marathon.

Bill Barberstock, Foron and Lastimer had two assists each for Grant's with Steve Thompson, Casselman and Adams adding losers. Don Forsythe, Hallam, Day and Larry Potter drew SACO assists.

SACO took three of five minor penalties assessed.

Blazers Knights Lead 3-2

Oklahoma City Blazers, regular - season champions in the Central Hockey League, moved a step closer to the league playoff finals Monday night by defeating Houston Apollos 4-3.

The Blazers now hold a 3 - 2 edge in the best-of-seven semi-finals.

In another semi-final game Monday night, Memphis Wings defeated Omaha Knights 2-1. Omaha leads that series 3-2.

Yankees Maul Senators In Opener

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Yankees were back at their old stand today, but manager Ralph Houk isn't ready to call a long-term lease. New York's brave new world will have to mark time until Mickey Mantle can lace on his shoes again.

"Too bad it isn't October," Houk said Monday after his Yankees had mauled Washington Senators 8-0 in the American League's annual presidential opener to gain first place for the first time since Oct. 4, 1964.

New York's impressive getaway, a product of Mel Stottlemyre's brilliant two-hit pitching and a 14-hit attack, was marred by the loss of Mantle, whose debut as a first baseman was cut short when he aggravated a spring training injury during the Yankees' seven-run third inning explosion.

Mantle left the game with a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg after scoring from first base on Joe Pepitone's triple in the third. He originally had pulled the muscle sliding into second base in a March 22 exhibition against Boston.

While Stottlemyre, a 20-game loser for the 10th-place Yanks last year, was throttling the Senators before a D.C. Stadium crowd of 44,382 that included President Johnson, the Cincinnati Reds got the jump in the National League with a 6-1 victory over Los Angeles Dodgers.

Vada Pinson, Deron Johnson and Dick Simpson homered for the Reds in the traditional Cincinnati opener while right-hander Jim Maloney limited seven strong innings against the 1966 NL champs before relieving with a tight pitching shoulder.

At Washington, the president added a new twist to pre-game ceremonies by tossing out the first ball — and then making two more pitches. Fred Valentine of the Senators caught the first delivery, and Yankee pitchers took it from there.

Stottlemyre yielded only an infield hit by Cap Peterson in the second inning and a ground single by Valentine in the ninth.

Tom Tresh touched off the Yankees' third-inning uprising with a double off loser Pete Richert and rookie Bill Robinson followed with the season's first homer.

Manny Mota singled, Pepitone tripled and Elston Howard singled for two more runs. Charley Smith beat out an infield roller and John Kennedy, recently acquired from the Dodgers, lashed a two-run double before Stottlemyre capped the barrage with a run-scoring single.

Pinson and Johnson cracked first-inning homers for Cincinnati against right-hander Bob Miller, who has moved from the bullpen into Sandy Koufax' spot in the Dodgers pitching rotation. Simpson hit a pinch homer off reliever Ron Perranoski in the seventh before a turnout of 28,622 at Crosley Field.

The other 16 major league clubs opened their pennant bids today, with Baltimore's world champion Orioles entertaining Minnesota Twins and Pittsburgh Pirates, the National League favorites visiting the Mets at New York.

In other American League openers, Chicago White Sox visited Boston Red Sox the afternoon with Cleveland Indians Kansas City Athletics and Detroit Tigers at California Angels in night games.

Philadelphia Phillies are at Chicago Cubs, Atlanta Braves at Houston Astros and San Francisco Giants at St. Louis Cardinals in the National League, the latter two games going under the lights.

Track Boycott Over

Horsemen Purses Upped

NEW YORK (AP)—With the horsemen's boycott ended, Aqueduct is back in operation after being closed five days with an estimated revenue loss of $2,500,000.

About 250 members of Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association voted late Monday to accept a $3,500,000 increase in purses.

In ending the boycott of the entry box, the horsemen got a part of what they originally wanted. They originally asked for an additional one per cent of the parimutuel takeout, but accepted the one - half per cent originally recommended by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, but which never reached a vote in the state assembly.

The plan, drawn up after conference among the governor, legislative leaders and racing executives calls for the New York Racing Association to furnish the money this year and the state to provide it next year through legislative action.

Under the current law, the state collects 10 cents out of a dollar wagered and the track part of what they originally received $77,000,000 from thoroughbred racing last year, also gets the tax on admissions plus various fees.

EOBA Calls Registration Meetings

Eastern Ontario Baseball Association secretary Sports Andy of Peterborough, has announced that registration meetings for all teams will be held next week.

All senior, intermediate, junior, juvenile and midget entries will register on Monday, April 17. Bantam, peewee and tyke teams will hold their meeting on Wednesday, April 19.

Both meetings are scheduled for the Port Hope Town Hall, at 7.30 p.m. sharp, and all interested that all applications for entry and the necessary fees be presented at these meetings.

Jim Gilmer, of Port Hope, is the EOBA president for 1967. Orval Bell and Harold Griffin, of Belleville, are members of the executive, along with past president R. Ellis.

The EOBA stresses as is indicated by the fact that all teams in all divisions must wear baseball helmets and metal spikes are prohibited in the tyke division. Official rules of baseball govern play at all time.

Blues In Hideaway

Francis; "Split Means Trouble"

NEW YORK (CP)—When you are losing take a page from your opponent's book.

And Emile Francis, New York Rangers general manager and coach, appears to follow this line of thinking.

In an unprecedented move for the New York club, Francis ripped his athletes off to a Westchester County hideaway Monday to await tonight's engagement with Montreal Canadiens, who lead the best - of - seven Stanley Cup semi - final round 2-0.

Westchester County is a plush residential and country club area north of here. The Rangers are expected to return to the city until close to the 7:30 p.m. EST game time tonight.

Coach Toe Blake's Canadiens, who beat the New Yorkers by 6-4 and 3-1 scores last Thursday and Saturday, have followed this hibernation routine for the last few years.

Other National Hockey League coaches, have also followed the hideaway pattern in recent playoffs.

After Monday's 50 - minute workout at Madison Square Garden, Francis said his club must obtain and maintain a solid front against the Montrealers, defending cup champions.

"Winning is compulsory for us from now on," Francis said. "Even a split is 'two-piece' and Thursday's games here would leave us in deep trouble."

The Canadiens left Montreal by train Monday night for New York. They held what was described as a "relaxing practice session" Monday morning.

"Everyone in good shape and spirits high." was the brief report from Montreal club officials after the workout. This means that defencemen Jacques Laperriere will play his regular shift tonight.

Laperriere missed the Saturday game in Montreal because of a leg injury suffered in a collision with Rangers' defenceman Arnie Brown in Thursday's series opener.

Rookie goalie Rogatien Vachon is expected to continue in the nets for Montreal. Vachon, just 21 years old, played 18 games at the end of the regular season and has been in goal for the two playoff contests.

Rangers centres Phil Goyette and Orland Kurtenbach are still hampered by groin injuries, but the latest word is that both will play.

In their workout the Rangers concentrated on "lug" rushes against one and two defencemen.

"You get so few chances to carry the puck in behind the Montreal defence that your forwards have to be able to shoot it in and then go get it," Francis said.

New York will try tuning four lines and five defencemen against the Montreal club tonight, said Francis, with the blue corps all getting a try early in the game in case one member fails to shape up, he said.

For Crippled Children

Shrine Peewee Tourney

Ten teams will participate in the annual Belleville Shrine Club Peewee Hockey Tournament here on the weekend, it was announced recently.

The tournament will be held in Memorial Arena on Friday evening and all day Saturday, April 14 and 15. Play will start at 7.30 Friday night and run Saturday from 8.00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m.

And while the hockey will be top - be main winners will be a Shrine Club's crippled children's fund. The price of admission will be just 25c and all proceeds will go to the crippled children.

Heading the colorful list of entries will be Belleville's own Ontario peewee "A" champions, Smith Fuels.

But the Fuelers will receive plenty of opposition from such strong clubs as Oakville, Oshawa and Richmond Hill.

Other entries are Brooklin, Bowmanville, Peterborough Rebills, Peterborough Trentways, Rouge Hills and Trenton.

Play in the peewee division of minor hockey always provides the fans with something to cheer about and the tournament will be no exception.

COMPLETE DEAL

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins Monday acquired shortstop Jack Hernandez from California Angels to complete the trade in which Minnesota obtained pitcher Dean Chance in exchange for Jimmie Hall Don Mincher and Pete Cimino. The Twins assigned Hernandez to their farm team at Denver in the Pacific Coast League.

Centennials Had Good Season

The Belleville Centennials have hung up their equipment after having played fifteen games suffering only one loss that to the Picton Intermediates. It defeated Kingston Canoe, "B", Trenton Flyers, Intermediate "C", Quinte Mohawks Juniors, "C", R.C.A.F. Huskies, Selected Agincourt Boys, Campbellford, Batawa, North Hastings All Stars, and the Belleville Juvenile drivers

By playing those games the team helped raise $300.00 — $400.00 for various charities in the Quinte district, including minor hockey in Belleville and Tweed; building funds for an arena addition in Stirling and helping the Picton Picton "Amazins" to a girls tournament.

The team, a rather high scoring squad averaged about eight goals a game while receiving almost goal tending by Bill Moxon and Dave Charles. The team can attribute its success to a good blending of youth and experience under the able coaching of John Truscott. The costs of operating this team, except for the uniforms donated by Belleville businesses and associations, has been borne by the team members.

To help diminish an interest in establishing a permanent picture record of Belleville teams in the proposed new arena, a Centennial team picture will be presented to the city in the near future.

Next year's plans for the team are not completely definite. It is hoped the team will be able to play in the Lakeshore Intermediate League but failing advance to the Intermediate "A" playdowns. To carry on the aim of playing games for charity in the Quinte district, the team will also play exhibition games for such purposes next year.

The team thanks all the sponsors and the fans who turned out to see the games.

Perjury Charges

Race Driver Indicted

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — William (Buddy) Gilmour, one of the leading harness race drivers in the nation, has been indicted on eight counts of first-degree perjury.

The indictment by the Nassau County grand jury Monday was of the sixth since it began an investigation of harness racing early last year, following a beating the 36-year-old Canadian, a native of Lucan, Ont., received in a Westbury, N.Y., motel near Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island.

Six of the eight perjury counts related to the assault which allegedly took place in the room of a fellow horseman, Frank Bodice, of Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 23, 1966.

John Malizia, 48, also was indicted Monday on a charge of committing the assault on Gilmour.

Each count in the indictment against Gilmour could bring a maximum penalty of five years in prison or a $5,000 fine, or both, upon conviction.

On the night before Gilmour's indictment, he was honored by the New York Harness Racing Writers at a dinner at Roosevelt Raceway for outstanding achievement in harness racing in 1966. He was the fifth leading money-winning driver in the United States last year. Horses he drove earned $749,297.

Jenkins To Pitch Club Opener

CHICAGO (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins, 24 - year - old pitcher from Chatham, Ont., will pitch for Chicago Cubs today in their National League season opener against Philadelphia Phillies.

Jenkins, a right-hander traded by the Phillies to Chicago last year, will face Jim Bunning, ace Philadelphia right-hander who was 19-14 last year.

Jenkins had a 6-8 record last year in his rookie year. He was used exclusively in relief, switching to a starting role late in the season.

FRANCONA JOINS PHILS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies, without a regular first baseman since Bill White injured his foot during the winter, announced Monday that they have purchased first baseman Tito Francona from St. Louis Cardinals. The amount of money involved in the straight cash deal was not disclosed by the Phillies.

Lions to Give Jap Wrestler Grid Tryout

VANCOUVER (CP)— British Columbia Lions football club announced today they are giving a tryout to a Japanese rugby star turned wrestler.

Masaaki Kunitan, a 6-foot-3 250-pounder has been touring the U.S. wrestling circuit during recent months.

Lions general manager Dennis Veitch said he has invited the 25-year-old Kunitan to try out as a spot or flanker end at the club's rookie camp this year.

"He's the best rugby player to ever come out of Japan," said Veitch. "He was chosen all-Japan . . . where he played lock-forward in rugby."

With The Trotters

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Hi Hematte, an eight-year-old pacer from Calgary, won the featured sixth race at Mohawk Raceway Monday, defeating Les Johnson and setting up a $131.70 exacter.

Chaney Morey won the first race and Peter Way Sultan the second race to combine for a $4.80 daily double.

Provisional driver Melvin Keatle of London, Ont., received an eight-day suspension from Mohawk Judges for his drive with Ronnie C. Chief in the second race. Judges ruled Keatle caused interference and scattered the field before reaching the half-mile pole in the race.

Ronnie C. Chief was placed last after finishing in sixth place.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP)—Two Canadian-owned horses came into the winner's circle at Batavia Downs Monday night.

Mr. Cricket from the A G C and G stable, St. Lambert, Que., won the $300 claiming pace with Dick Macomber driving in place of Elden Tuscott paying $24.60.

Allen Vola, owned by The White and Black Stable, Union Ont., and driven by Dan Daley took the second race with a $13.80 payoff.

MONTREAL (CP) — Midge Diamond, a seven-year-old pacer owned by Harry Loyens and Leroy Revington of Lucan, Ont., won the $3,800 featured ninth race at Blue Bonnets Monday, doing the mile in 2:08 2-5 over a fast track.

Brewer Tops Loot List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Gay Brewer's $20,000 top money in the Masters golf tournament boosted his earnings into the lead of the top 10 pros' winnings compiled Monday by the Professional Golfers Association.

The win brought Brewer's winnings in official tournaments to $63,747. The PGA said his doesn't count other revenue in making up its standings.

George Knudson of Toronto, who won $1,300 in the Masters, upped his total earnings to $19,086 but dropped out of the top 10

Round And Round They Go!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tony Taylor's career as a first baseman, a temporary thing anyway, has been cut in half even before Philadelphia Phillies opened their 1967 baseball season today.

The Phillies shortened Taylor's try at first by acquiring veteran first baseman Tito Francona from St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed amount of cash Monday.

Taylor, second baseman, had been the scheduled replacement for Bill White, whose injured foot is expected to sideline him for several months. Now, the righthanded Taylor will be platooned with the lefthanded Francona.

Francona, 33, appeared in 83 games for the Cardinals last year, hit four home runs and drove in 17 runs while hitting .212. Philadelphia will be his sixth stop after tours with Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers, Baltimore Orioles and the Cardinals in his 10-year major league career.

To make room for him, the Phillies sent pitcher Bill Wilson outright to their San Diego farm club.

Another veteran got a new lease on his career as California Angels offered Jim Piersall a contract after he trained without one this spring.

Piersall, 37, who has been in the major leagues since 1953 and with the Angels the last three years, hit .211 in 75 games last season.

The Angels also grabbed catcher Orlando McFarlane from Detroit on waivers and sent right - handed Fred Newman, southpaw Clyde Wright and catcher Merritt Ranew to Seattle. Shortstop Jack Hernandez was sent to Minnesota's Denver farm club, completing the trade that brought Jim Hall, Don Mincher and Pete Cimino to the Angels for Dean Chance.

Chicago Cubs placed veteran infielder Felix Mantilla on the disabled list with a pulled tendon and added rookie pitcher Joe Nelkro and veteran catcher Dick Bertell-6r the roster.

Baltimore and Cleveland reached the 25-player limit as the Orioles optioned catcher Vic Roznovsky and pitcher Dave Leonhard to Rochester Red Wings and the Indians returned rookie pitcher Billy Wynne to Jacksonville Suns, both of the International League.

Houston optioned pitcher Danny Coombs to Asheville, N.C., returned catcher Doc Edwards to Oklahoma City and placed outfielder Alonzo Harris, 19, on the roster.

Oakville's Ron Taylor

Key Man In Mets' Plans

NEW YORK (CP) — New York Mets are looking for a stopper to back up their pitching staff and they hope they have found one in a Canadian right - hander with a rubber arm.

It isn't likely that many of the Mets' starting pitchers will go the distance in the National League's 162 club's 162 games this season.

For this reason, Ron Taylor, a 28-year-old right-handed relief pitcher who is one of the few Canadians in major league baseball, is a key man in the Mets' plans.

The Mets open their season in Shea Stadium here this afternoon against Pittsburgh Pirates, favorites to win the National League pennant. New York's starting pitcher will be Don Cardwell, who was with Pittsburgh last year and posted a 6-6 record.

Whether or not Taylor sees action today will depend upon the way the game goes. Mets manager Wes Westrum said Monday he plans to use Taylor as a short reliever and is hoping for "a big season" from him.

A short reliever is used for emergency duty in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. Westrum said he will start the season with Taylor on call as the right-handed man in this slot and Don Shaw as the left-handed short reliever.

Taylor, from Oakville, Ont., broke into the majors with St. Louis Cardinals in 1962. Later he went to Houston Astros, from whom the Mets acquired him after last season.

Lakeshore Minor Softball Organized

A Lakeshore Minor Softball Association was formed at a meeting in Cobourg this past weekend and hopes expressed to operate midget and bantam leagues.

The midget division was established and presently entries are in from Port Perry, Bellerville and Cobourg and others are expected from Trenton and Oshawa.

A bantam league was discussed.

A committee formed consists of chairman Buck Matthews, secretary John Copeland and treasurer Jack Bevan. Town representatives named were Vin Walker of Port Perry, Tom Matthews of Cobourg and Roy Payne of Belleville. Payne says the Belleville entry hopes to play its games on Friday nights at Alemite Park.

Another meeting is scheduled for Sunday, April 23, at Cobourg's Legion Hall, at 7.00 p.m., to complete arrangements for play.

Oscar Awards

Man for All Seasons Wins 6-5 Over Virginia Woolf

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) Britain's A Man For All Seasons topped Hollywood's Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?—six Oscars to five — in Academy Awards ceremonies televised Monday night after a late-hour strike settlement.

California Governor Ronald Reagan and his wife Nancy—former movie stars themselves —applauded the presentations from eighth row centre and laughed as master of ceremonies Bob Hope joked:

"Tonight we salute Hollywood, the birthplace of politicians. Soon we'll need another category—best performance by a governor."

A Man For All Seasons, the struggle of Sir Thomas More against King Henry VIII's scheming lieutenants, was acclaimed by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as best picture of 1966.

It won Oscars also for Paul Scofield, in the title role; its director, Fred Zinnemann; and for color cinematography, costume design and screenplay.

Scofield, 45, was in Britain rehearsing a play. His Oscar was accepted by Wendy Hiller, nominated for her supporting role in A Man For All Seasons.

Virginia Woolf, the profanity-studded clash of a couple whose hate is grounded in love, brought a second Oscar to Elizabeth Taylor, 35, who won in 1960 for Butterfield 8.

Woolf was acclaimed also for black and white cinematography, costume design and art direction.

Sandy Dennis, 23, the young college professor's wife in Woolf received the supporting actress award.

Walter Matthau, 43, got the supporting actor Oscar as the shyster lawyer of The Fortune Cookie.

He appeared on stage with his broken left arm in a cast and his face bruised—injuries received in falling off a motorcycle last Saturday.

Richard Burton and Miss Taylor were at work on The Comedians in France. By telephone, she said she was glad to have won but sorry that her nominee husband hadn't.

Miss Dennis received the news of her victory while dining in a New York restaurant with her husband, jazz saxophonist Gerry Mulligan.

A high point came when Patricia Neal, in a long purple and yellow gown, limped onstage to make her first appearance since three strokes nearly killed her in 1965.

Given a standing ovation, she said: "It really is wonderful, wonderful, to be back with you."

Miss Neal presented the best foreign-language film award to A Man and a Woman, produced in France.

An ABC television crew rehearsed the show with participants through the weekend in hopes a strike by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists would be settled.

Agreement permitting the show to be televised from Santa Monica Civic Auditorium came 10 minutes before airtime.

Fairytale Comes to Life On Stage Here May 17

A favorite fairytale frolics into three-dimensional life in Belleville early next month —to fill an evening with fun for young fans.

It is Hans Christian Andersen's The Tinderbox, now travelling Ontario as a stage adaptation and presented by the Toronto (Museum) Children's Theatre.

It will be seen here, under sponsorship of the Belleville Theatre Guild, May 17 at Centennial Secondary School, part of a tour that has been prompting happy responses from youthful audiences across the province.

In its adaptation by writer-composer - director Dorothy-Jane Goulding, it is proving a venture in theatre magic and something of a spell-binder.

In simple, warm terms it recounts the age-old theme love triumphing over all obstacles, using all the stock — but never stale — fairytale characters in the telling.

There's a beautiful princess locked in a tower by an old witch. There's a handsome soldier as the hero with a lovable dog and a magic tinderbox thrown in for good measure.

The onstage cast has only eight members, but their artistry and skill in quick changes fill the stage with characters.

In reality, however, the cast is enormous — since the audience is encouraged to participate in the play.

And, of course, there's a happy ending, but how that comes about is best seen to be believed — even if it all is make-believe.

Tickets available at door - or at Thomas' Cigar Store, Belleville.

Twins Take A "Chance"

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins acquired Monday shortstop Jack Hernandez from California Angels to complete the trade in which Minnesota obtained pitcher Dean Chance in exchange for Jimmie Hall, Don Mincher and Pete Cimino.

The Twins assigned Hernandez to their farm team at Denver in the Pacific Coast League.

Hernandez, 26, spent all of 1966 on the Angels' roster, but appeared in only 58 games and batted .063.

H.S. Students Will Present Variety Night

NAPANEE — The students of the N.D.S.S. are presenting their annual "Variety Night" Friday and Saturday this week. This is entirely student talent, and, for the most part, is student directed. Although Lloyd Cowie is named as the producer, he states that he is adviser rather than directes. Working with him is David Bennett. Mrs. Rose O'Neill is a fourth teacher assisting, acting in the capacity of a co-ordinator. Miss Lily Jean Rombough, who directed the Glee Club, is supervising the musical numbers.

The students have been working hard at their acts, especially since Easter and the usual full house is expected each night as in other years, where the performances were of high calibre. Dress rehearsals are slated for Tuesday and Thursday evening this week.

To Your Good Health

Rapid Heart Beat Can Be Harmless

Dear Dr. Molner: I have an ailment called Wolf-Parkinson-White syndrome. My doctor says there is no medication or surgery for this. Would you explain the disease and tell me if it can be fatal? I have frequent spells. — C. C.

Of all the common heart symptoms, a rapid heart beat probably causes the most worry on the part of the patient — and the least on the part of the doctor in the vast majority of cases.

Wolfe - Parkinson - White syndrome is one form of rapid heart beat. Without giving you a long discourse on the anatomy of the heart, the best way I can simplify it is this:

The impulses which govern the beating of the heart are conducted from the auricles (upper chambers) to the ventricles (lower chambers). The rate at which these impulses are transmitted can vary.

W-P-W syndrome is detected by measurements made in an electrocardiogram — and the cardiogram may often be made because the patient has noticed these episodes of racing heart beat, and wants to know what's happening to him.

The condition is not fatal. There may be some heart distress present in some cases, but that must be cared for on its own merits. The rapid heart beat also occurs in hearts which in all other respects are entirely normal and healthy.

Anyway, the patient thinks something terrible is happening to him, and his doctor (after identifying the exact type of heart rhythm involved) knows otherwise. Then the task is to convince the patient that his condition is annoying but not a threat; that he does not need heart surgery, isn't about to die, doesn't need to be put to bed or hospitalized, and shouldn't have drastic medication.

With the W-P-W syndrome, any treatment at all may be necessary only to control the periods of sudden racing of the heart, and quinidine is often used for this.

In other cases of rapid heart (the origin of speeded-up rate may be in different areas) the treatment may be quite different. Quite often too much stimulation, as from coffee or other sources of caffeine, or from too much smoking, may be the cause, and the answer is obvious. Cut down on the stimulants. Steer nerves unquestionably can have an important bearing.

I cannot say that a rapid heart beat or an irregular one is never a sign of real trouble, but most of the time the less you think about it, the better off you'll be.

If your doctor has examined you and heard your symptoms, and told you not to fret about the matter, let it go at that. The more you trust him and relax, the better you'll be. And the more you worry about it, the more symptoms you'll have.

I try to warn my readers of heart ills of any or may be dangerous, so they can waste no time in getting to their doctors, but I also try to tell them when they are worrying needlessly.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Since leukemia and leukopaisia are spelled somewhat alike, are these two diseases inter-related? — Mrs. H. N.

No. Both words are formed, in part, from the Greek word Leukos, meaning white. Leukemia is a disease involving the white cells of the blood. Leukopaisia (from leukos and plax) means white plates, or spots, or a mucuous membrane.

Note to Mrs. H. J.: I doubt that any more babies have sired herals now than ever was the case. A great many (unlike hernias in older folks) heal readily. A binder is seldom necessary or helpful. Simple taping of a flat object (like a half dollar) over the navel ordinarily is all that is necessary. Your baby's bronchitis and cough could well have caused strain enough to make it worse.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief — here's good news. A recovered research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce the most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among those sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions — from cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institute. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Centennial Park Group Makes Appeal for Funds

DESERONTO — The Centennial Park committee is disturbed for fear the park may not be ready by the opening date, July 1. There is still much to do, which would be done entirely by volunteers should time permit. Funds on hand would possibly have been sufficient had volunteers been able to do the work in time. Now they know that labor must be hired, and so they are appealing for funds with which to pay for that labor.

Jack Layfield, at the last meeting, was authorized to make an appeal for donations, and especially to industry. There has been little time so far to know how successful such an appeal will be, but already there are results.

Former donations have included $1,000 from the Lions Club, with which playground equipment was purchased. The ladies of the churches, through proceeds of the White Elephant Store, have contributed $1,000, which they have earmarked for purchasing fittings for the two washrooms. E. Penny donated $50 last summer. From the Dravo Co. the committee received material valued at approximately $650.

Since the appeal went out, up to April 1 the following donations have been received: the Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Dowdell, $25; Harold Unger, $10; the staff of Lyons Groceteria, through pledges, $25.

Rumor has it that other donations are pending, but these have not yet been confirmed. Committee members state that, now that spring is here, interest is reviving, and they are certain that Deseronto will turn out its pockets to help complete the park which they have begun as their own. Already fund - raising events are being planned. Centennial lapel pins are going like hotcakes, and all proceeds go toward finishing the park in time. A group of ladies, who wish to be anonymous, are holding a bridge and euchre party in the Lions Hall Wednesday, April 19 at 8.00 p.m., with refreshments and prizes.

Official Objection Recorded

NAPANEE — The Napanee Nature Club, meeting last Friday evening, registered its official objection to the proposal to exterminate wolves by the use of bait treated with strychnine.

Their objection is based on two counts. In the first place, the harm done by wolves has been greatly exaggerated, they believe. One member who formerly lived in the wilds of Northern Ontario, stated that he had never seen a wolf. Aside from that, the members believe that, as a form of Canadian wild life, wolves should not be exterminated. They are part of the balance of nature.

Their second objection is that, the strychnine will be picked up by many other wild creatures, not only foxes and other meat-eating animals, but also by hawks and eagles. A field man of the Department of Lands and Forests who was present, stated that where bait treated with strychnine has been used, it acts so quickly that the ground around it is littered with the bodies of all sorts of wild creatures, and that hawks and eagles have died so quickly that their bills are still in the carcass.

News in Brief

CHURCH SUPPER

DESERONTO — A splendid crowd turned out Wednesday evening to feast on the smorgasbord supper put on in the United Church by the UCW. They called it a supper, but it was little short of a banquet as far as the menu was concerned, featuring everything from chicken pie and ham to desserts in variety. The tables were decorated with spring flowers.

Members of the committee in charge consisted of Mrs. William Sills, Mrs. George Lyons, Mrs. Thomas Jackson, Mrs. William Wood, and Mrs. Ralph Aylsworth.

* * *

SHOW APPRECIATION

Mrs. Donald McMillan of Deseronto received a genuine surprise last Wednesday evening, when all available members of the Ladies' Aid of the Church of the Redeemer arrived to spend the evening with her. They brought organized entertainment, refreshments, and a gift.

The occasion was their way of saying "Thank you" for the part she had played in the Easter egg project. Her home had been the headquarters for the manufacture of 516 Easter eggs, with rich fondant centre, chocolate covering, and floral decorations. The work was done entirely by the eight active members of the small congregation, with other members, not able to assist, contributing financially. The project was begun months ago with sales in friends. Each year it has grown, with many orders now coming from out of town. Last year they made 396. This year they had to go back several times to make more to fill late orders.

The refreshments included a cake made by Mrs. Charles Griffith. A small gift further expressed appreciation.

Manning of Alberta Hits Out Against Critics of Public Men

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier E. C. Manning swung from the heels Monday in a wide-ranging attack against one issue in particular and the New Democratic Party in general.

Speaking during debate on a motion that "established a judicial inquiry into charges of improprieties in government, Mr. Manning launched into a discourse on morality in public life and finished off with a stinging tirade against "individuals without regard for truth and dignity, who malign, slander and besmirch the names of others."

The inquiry will investigate four charges by Garth Turcott:

—That Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke used or attempted to use his high office for the personal gain of himself, his friends and his business associates in conflict with his public duty.

—That former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman used or attempted to use his high office while a member of the government for personal gain in conflict with his public duty.

—That Mr. Hinman knowingly and deliberately misled the house by falsely disclaiming any and all involvement in the affairs of the Edmonton Airport Hotel and Alberta West Forest Products Corp. Ltd.

—That Mr. Manning wilfully and improperly questioned Mr. Turcott's integrity; that he implied and insinuated wrong-doing on Mr. Turcott's part and that he moved a motion wherein he deplored the aforementioned alleged impropriety without presenting specific charges supported by evidence.

Mr. Manning said he would meet with the Alberta chief justice as soon as possible to see which judge would be available for the inquiry and to discuss terms of reference.

Mr. Turcott, a 36-year-old lawyer, became his party's first MLA when he won a byelection last Oct. 6 in the southwestern constituency of Pincher Creek-Crowsnest. He began pressing for the inquiry from the minute he took his seat in a special session last November.

He was ruled out of order by Speaker Art Dixon then, when he attempted to make his allegations. He raised the matter again soon after the regular session opened Feb. 9, tabling documents allegedly in support of his contentions.

The next move came March 21 when the house, by a vote of 54 to 1, passed a motion rebuking Mr. Turcott and giving him 72 hours to file evidence supporting his charges with the speaker.

Mr. Turcott met his deadline —2 p.m. April 3—filing 54 exhibits in support of the four charges.

This led to the motion passed unanimously Monday.

Mr. Hooke, a 41-year-old former school teacher, first entered the legislature in the 1955 Social Credit sweep that brought the late premier William Aberhart to power, and entered the cabinet 34 years ago.

Mr. Hinman, 60, has represented the rural constituency of Cardston since 1950 and became provincial treasurer five years later. When the premier asked him to resign in 1964, Mr. Manning issued a statement saying Mr. Hinman's private associations with non-government enterprises was incompatible with his ministerial responsibilities.

GARTH TURCOTT

Mr. Hinman changed a statement Monday made two weeks ago that he had no involvement with either the Airport Hotel or Alberta West.

He said he had since looked up "involvement" in the dictionary and changed his statement to say he had never been a shareholder or officer of either company.

The Airport Hotel was built near the Edmonton International Airport, 18 miles south of the city, and has been involved in lengthy legal proceedings over financing.

Alberta West obtained a timber lease in northwestern Alberta with the object of building a pulp mill. The lease later was sold to MacMillan Bloedel, Ltd., and Alberta West was liquidated.

County Elections Next UK Test

LONDON (CP) — Frustrated Tories, ever - hopeful Liberals and a mixed bag of nuisance parties on the political flanks are out to shake Labor's confident grip on Britain in 19 county and capital elections this week.

The first national balloting since Labor swept the parliamentary general election a year ago opened Monday in Monmouthshire—bordering Wales and on the opposite side of England in Norfolk.

The county polls held once every three years, continue throughout England and Wales until Friday. The memberships of 12 county councils are at stake today.

Political observers are looking for upsets. Their predictions will be tested fully when results are complete from polling Thursday, a climactic day when voters in 23 counties and Greater London will chose their councillors.

Labor rolled up big gains in regional elections three years ago. The 1964 county results signalled Labor's return to power in Parliament six months later.

Conservative spokesmen are talking confidently of dealing Labor a jolt and the party has backed up the talk with vigorous campaigning. The Liberal party, hopeful of reaping gains from any voter protest, is pressing its hopes by fielding a full slate of candidates in Greater London for the first time in half a century.

London is the star attraction. In the massive headquarters of Greater London council, across Westminster Bridge from Parliament, the 100 councillors allocate an annual budget of about $1,200,000,000. Almost 6,000,000 citizens—one - sixth the national electoral roll — are eligible to vote for the councillors representing Greater London's 32 boroughs.

Greater London council—and London County council before the body was reorganized and renamed—has been controlled by Labor for 33 years. Labor councillors outnumbered Conservatives 64 to 36 in the outgoing council.

Conservative hopes are based in part on a belief that the people are chafing under austere economic restraints imposed by the national Labor government.

The Conservatives would need a swing of five per cent in the averages popular vote to them from Labor to capture London. Tories point to an anti - Labor swing ranging between 4½ to 6½ per cent in Parliamentary byelections last month.

Neutral experts give the Liberal party little hope of winning a single seat on the Greater London council.

Likewise given little chance are 36 Communists, 14 members of the Socialist party of Great Britain—a consistent loser since its establishment more than 50 years ago—five candidates of Sir Oswald Mosley's Union Movement and 28 other assorted political oddments.

Ameliasburg Area Asked For Wildlife

AMELIASBURG—Last night Ameliasburg Township Council gave unanimous support to a government - sponsored project that would transform 8,000 acres of swamp and wasteland into sportsmen's dreamland.

A recommendation calling for adoption of the proposal went forward to the District Forester at Tweed.

Much of the eastern boundary of Ameliasburg, some 3,000 acres of waterfront, is going to waste. Perhaps even more exhausted farmland grows up into scrub cedars as a tax liability. This might later be added to the refuge.

Instead the deserted wildlife habitats at present lacking an adequate food supply and the barren livestock pastures could be transformed into a thriving industry producing ever-increasing benefits for the residents of the district and neighboring communities.

The success of the plan is reactivate township natural resources according to game management officer Bill Bigg of the Ontario Lands and Forests Department, depends on the 100 per cent co-operation of the various people and organizations involved in ownership and associated interests. Farmers who participate stand to gain additional marshland conveniences if they ask for them. There is also an opportunity for some of them to contract land to create for landscape purposes under the arrangement.

Similar projects in operation south of Toronto and in particular at Long Point on Lake Erie continue to roll up new attendance records each season after season. In fact with more and more emphasis being placed on recreation in leisure time the scheme is in the category of big business. The returns generated by activity are enjoyed in all segments of the community it was pointed out.

Proposed is the transformation of unproductive marshland 100 miles in length. The area would be developed by the Lands and Forest Department with the aid of ARDA, (Agricultural Rehabilitation Development Association). Officially it would be called a waterfowl management unit.

The area under consideration lies from a half hour's drive by car south of the city of Belleville. It includes long stretches of marshy shoreline of Massassaga Point, Huff and Big Islands and the Ameliasburg mainland. It would provide refuge for wild ducks, geese and small fur-bearing animals like the muskrat. Regular feedings and various other modes of pampering would be employed to induce wildlife to patronize the man-made environment.

The key to making the plan function is a sanctuary where game birds would be protected from enthusiastic gunners the year round. It would be located at Lake and Forest Department presents the request for financial assistance from the federal agency.

Waterfowl Management Project Proposed

This shows part of the great expanse of Ameliasburg marshland a provincial and federal government cost-sharing plan would return to its former productive use a natural wildlife habitat. By regular feeding and controlled shooting of waterfowl, the now blackbird-infested areas could become a hunter's paradise.

Red Saboteurs Try to Blow Up British Tanker

SAIGON (Reuters)—Saboteurs today tried to blow up a British-registered oil tanker at Nha Trang, about 200 miles northeast of here, while Viet Cong guerrillas staged a mortar attack on a major U.S. marine base at Chu Lai.

A Shell Oil Co. spokesman said here an explosive charged fixed eight feet below the water line at the starn of the 12,273 ton Amastra ripped a hole six feet long and four feet wide in the hull.

Water flooded the engine and pump rooms of the vessel, but no casualties were reported among its mainly British crew, the spokesman said. The tanker owned by Tanker Finance Ltd., was discharging oil at the port when the explosion occurred.

A U.S. military spokesman said two U.S. Air Force men were killed and 45 other servicemen were wounded in a 20-minute shelling of the Chu Lai marine base, 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Another U.S. military spokesman said the storm of the Amastra had settled on the barber bottom in 60 feet of water.

He said the tanker had discharged most of its cargo when the explosion went off.

In another action, a Viet Cong platoon, engaged by two companies of American air cavalrymen, killed six U.S. soldiers and wounded 14 in Quang Ngai province, 310 miles northeast of Saigon.

A terror campaign continued Tuesday against South Vietnamese village officials. Two weekly report said 56 civilians were slain by terrorists, including 18 local officials or defectors. In all, the Viet Cong killed, wounded or abducted 302 civilians last week. Those kidnepped included 19 candidates in village elections now taking place.

Quebec Invites Pope

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Tuesday that the Quebec government has officially invited Pope Paul VI and President de Gaulle of France to visit the province during Expo 67.

In an attempt to persuade the Pope to accept the invitation, personal approaches had also been made by "several persons" after the official invitation was sent.

The premier said he has no objection if the French president wants to travel directly to Quebec before visiting the federal capital but he did not deny a suggestion that there was a misunderstanding between Ottawa and Quebec on this subject.

How Did Tourist Chief Earn Fee of Million?

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—A $1,000,000 fee is listed on casino books for Sir Stafford Sands, a Nassau and former minister of tourism and finance. A commission investigating gambling in this British colony wants to know what he did to earn it.

Sands is expected to accept an invitation to testify after he returns Saturday from Spain. He is reported recovering from a long ailment.

Sands, 54, one of the leaders of the United Bahamanian party, is still a member of Parliament. He lost his ministerial portfolio when the Negro-dominated Progressive Liberal party won control of the government in February.

Keith Gonsalves, president of Bahama Amusements Ltd., which operates the three gambling casinos, told the commission Sands was paid $200,000 in April, 1964, and was promised $30,000 a year for 10 years—for "technical advice in connection with publicity and promoting all phases of the development company."

He said the casino owners also donated $250,000 to the United Bahamian party when it was in power and funnelled the money through Sands as legal fees.

The license for Monte Carlo Casino was issued in late 1963 by the executive council, a board including Sands.

Border Fights Spread

From AP-Reuters

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The Syrian Army reported fighting on the Syrian-Israeli frontier today for the second day in succession and claimed three Israeli soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

In Tel Aviv, Israel, an Israeli army spokesman said only one Israeli farmer was wounded when Syrians and Israelis exchanged fire across the border.

A Syrian Army communique said an Israeli patrol crossed the armistic line shortly before noon in the northern sector of the frontier and was intercepted by a Syrian patrol about 210 yards inside Syrian territory.

A spokesman said there were no Syrian casualties.

The Israeli spokesman, in giving a different version, said the clash took place near the village of Gonen in the Hulch Valley, north of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said a Syrian post had opened light arms fire when a party of farmers from Gonen went out to check the fire fence on their pasture.

An Israeli escorting unit returned the fire, he said.

It was the first clash reported on the northern sector of the 70-mile frontier in some time.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Temperatures will moderate today and Thursday as a southerly flow of warmer air develops over the province. It will be mostly sunny across Ontario today except in the north country where skies will be increasing cloudiness and some showers later in the day. The prospects for Thursday are for variable amounts of cloud with showers in the north.

Pay Docked For Error Killing 105

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force has reprimanded three of its pilots, docked their pay and temporarily grounded them for the worst bombing mistake of the Vietnam war.

A board of inquiry cleared a fourth pilot who flew in the two-plane strike March 2. The strike killed 105 Montagnards — mounted tribesmen — and wounded 250 in the village of Lang Vei, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

The board said the bombing mistake was "inadvertent and the result of navigation errors." It ordered the disciplinary measure against the flight leader and the two co-pilots who were responsible for navigation.

The names of the pilots were not immediately available. The air force also refused to disclose the amount of pay lost and details of the reprimand — which normally would affect promotion and future assignment of the officers — until expiration of an appeal period.

The air force said the three grounded pilots, who are based in Thailand, would go before the flying evaluation board in the next week for another review of the incident.

An Air Force spokesman said the target on which the flyers had been briefed had almost identical terrain features as the Lang Vei area.

Nine-year-old Stomps Butts, Selects His Canned Dinner ---And He Is Only A Dog

CHATHAM (CP) — When Tippy isn't stomping out burning cigarette butts, he's usually making his daily visit to the grocer to select his canned dinner.

And it's come to the point where grocer Robert Elgie stops serving his human customers to watch the nine-year-old Labrador retriever make his daily choice.

"It's amazing," says Mr. Elgie.

Tippy, 80 pounds of muscular terror to anyone who approaches the service station where he sleeps at night, has been given out his own meals for four years now.

"The only thing he can't do for himself is open the can," says Hankin Johnson who operates a service station across the street from Mr. Elgie's store. He takes care of the dog for the owner, Joseph Bernier.

Tippy arrives at the pedestrian crosswalk on St. Clair Street every morning and waits patiently for the traffic to clear. Then he crosses the street, with a pause at the centre line to be sure it's safe.

In the grocery store, he goes directly to the food shelf and with his mouth picks up a can of his favorite food.

He makes the selection from a variety of pet-food cans, but always gets the right one. Then he takes the can back to the service station.

Mr. Johnson praises Tippy as an excellent fire guard at his service station. If customers toss a burning cigarette butt on the floor, Tippy pounces and stomps out the sparks with his paws.

He was also annoyed that as an internationally-known Canadian and a 1962 winner of the John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship, he was bypassed when the call went out for artists to exhibit at Expo 67.

However, he was recently commissioned to submit his work for the reception room at the federal building where Expo officials will greet heads of state.

"I put it together in two weeks and airmailed them to Montreal from Rome. And the government paid. But I charged them twice what I would have charged if they had asked earlier. I would have done it before for the prestige alone."

"I designed the book," Mr. Beny said. "I dotted every i I shook it apart and put it together five times."

He stressed that the book "is not on Canada—it is Canada. My subject just happened to be Canada."

U.S. Lockout Of Truckers Terminated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Truckers and Teamsters Union reached a tentative contract settlement early today and the industry ended its three-day lockout.

Directors of Trucking Employers Inc., whose lockout had closed down about 65 per cent of the U.S. trucking industry, approved the agreement hours after it was announced by federal mediators and officials from both sides.

The contract is still subject to approval by policy committees of both the Teamsters and industry, and then ratification by the 450,000 union members involved.

The three-year settlement included an estimated 50 cents an hour package increase. Details were not made available.

"We are notifying all our associations and carriers around the country, requesting that they go back to work," said Maxwell M. M. Conover of TEI.

TEI had called the lockout by some 1,500 of the biggest firms in the United States in response to a rash of small Teamsters strikes that involved a few hundred men in a dozen or so cities.

"We are notifying all our associations and carriers around the country, requesting that they go back to work," said M. M. Gordon, TEI president.

An exception, he said, is the Chicago area, where Teamsters are on strike and the trucking firms are not represented by TEI.

Gordon said the industry policy committee will meet Thursday. The board of directors of TEI will recommend to its policy committee that it accept the contract agreement, he said.

In Chicago, one of the hardest hit cities during the lockout, a wave of panic buying stripped some supermarket shelves of canned goods and produce.

More than 30,000 auto workers in numerous cities including 1,711 at Oakville, Ont., were laid off last week or on a day because of a shortage of parts.

But New York and New Jersey weren't affected at all because trucking contracts don't expire there until August.

In addition to the estimated 50-cent wage increase, the proposed contract includes cost-of-living pay increases, higher pension and health benefits and an increase in per - mile payments to 50 long - haul truck drivers.

Wages now range from a low of $3.25 up to about $5. Some drivers, by working long hours, now make as much as $15,000 a year.

Harlem Elects Powell

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second time in four months, the House of Representatives faces the sticky problem of what to do with Adam Clayton Powell, who won a lopsided election victory in absentia in his Harlem constituency Tuesday.

While the Democrat flubed in waters off his Bimini island retreat, unofficial returns gave Powell 77,000 votes to 4,981 for Mrs. Lucille Pickett Williams, a Republican, and only 427 for the third candidate, Mrs. Ervin F. Yeerling, a Conservative.

There was little surprise at the knockout victory scored in Harlem, where community leaders have agreed that the House decision to exclude Powell from the 90th Congress March 1 was a racially-motivated slap which ignored Harlem's wishes.

Speaker John W. McCormack (Dem. Mass.) has told reporters no decision—if it is reached will be made until it is known what motions will be offered when Powell shows up.

Railway Strike Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today signed the resolution barring a U.S.-wide railway strike for an extra 30 days.

The national mediation board announced it received the order the president, who is attending a hemispheric summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, made the document official.

Congress passed the resolution Tuesday.

Photographer Roloff Beny Falls Back in Love With Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Artist-photographer Roloff Beny celebrated Tuesday publication of a book on Canada which he started to produce when he was angry with his native country.

"Canada had insulted me, turned her back on me and those were my feelings when I started the book," he said at a reception marking publication of the 324-page To Every Thing There is a Season.

However, the 42-year-old Medicine Hat, Alta., native said he is not sure he is still angry with Canada.

"I fell in love with the country, with the scenery, with the people in the hinterland.

"The people in the north are simple, direct. I met a young lad from Toronto who was protesting in the Yukon. He asked me to get a message to the Queen. He thought she should go up there and prospect for a few months—get away from it all."

Mr. Beny, who has lived in Rome for the last 12 years and visits Canada frequently, said he became angry with the country because he was getting no where as a painter here, although art critics gave him favorable reviews.

Therapeutic Abortions Rare Here: MD

Incidents of therapeutic abortions in the Belleville area are extremely rare, Dr. A. G. Allen, head of Belleville General Hospital said today.

In Toronto, two hospitals Tuesday reported a total of therapeutic abortions in 1966, bringing to 30 the number reported in the last two days.

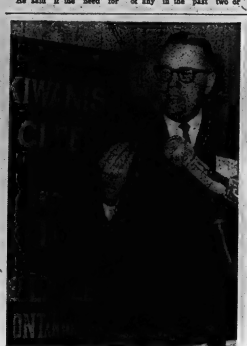
He said if the need for such an abortion was properly documented and sanctioned necessary by a screening committee of doctors, it could be performed at Belleville General.

However, he added, most cases probably would be sent to a Toronto hospital for the operation if it was considered medically necessary.

"But I cannot offhand think of any in the past two or three years," added Dr. Allen.

The hospital has a standing committee which also scrutinizes cases where sterilization is considered imperative for women.

The committee has three members including a obstetrician and general practitioner.



Meantime, Kingston psychiatrist Dr. George Scott agreed yesterday that therapeutic abortions are "extremely rare" in this region of Ontario.

Dr. Scott said "terms of reference" in which psychiatrists and surgeons may work is extensively limited.

Extensive documentation of the patient's psychiatric condition prevents women from using this as a means of terminating a pregnancy.

"There are very few cases where a woman will develop a mental illness in relationship to the development of pregnancy," said Dr. Scott.

Tuesday, Toronto Western Hospital accounted for 11 abortions in 1966 and Toronto East General reported seven. Women's College Hospital had similar confirmed 13 such abortions were performed during the last year.

Thompson at Service Club

Should Show More Interest In Asia Kiwanians Are Told

"I deplore the fact that we are not more interested in Asia," Robert N. Thompson MP said yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Thompson related the events of his recent trip to the Far East. He visited six countries, in addition to Hong Kong, from Japan to Singapore. He conferred with prime ministers, presidents, generals and government officials, businessmen and students, farmers and fishermen."

Mr. Thompson found all the countries generally friendly towards Canadians and Canada. He questioned the right of Canadians to deserve this goodwill. "The tragedy of it all is that Canadians seem to be neither interested nor concerned at their obligation and opportunity in Asia."

He mentioned other countries such as Australia and West Germany who are doing much more than we are.

Mr. Thompson spoke on the economic prosperity and influence of some of the Asian countries.

"Free Asia is Asia with great industrial strength and a standard of living unprecedented in Asia. Australia has almost overnight become a nation with which to be reckoned."

"Korea, Taiwan and Thailand for the past three years have had annual economic growth of more than seven percent." Mr. Thompson told the Kiwanians that these countries were even food-exporting.

"It seems almost strange to me that, without exception these countries are hungry for a closer relationship with Canada."

"In each country we heard talk of a Pacific community of free nations co-operating for mutual advantage and strength."

Mr. Thompson warned that Canada, being a Pacific power, must now turn to the east as well as to the west. "This is the only force which will rid Asia of tyranny and war. Canada is part of the Pacific Community."

Mr. Thompson then described his thoughts as a result of visiting Viet Nam. He said that enemy, since his return, have questioned him on the justification of the war.

"To withdraw from the Viet Nam war now would mean to turn over South Viet Nam to the Communists. It would destroy the image and position of the American influence. It would be an irresponsible abdication in favor of communist domination in the Pacific."

He stated that the war could not be an act of aggression because it was being fought on Vietcongese still against forces which were mainly from the outside.

"If the United States had not stood firm in 1965 the 1966 communist coups in Indonesia would have succeeded and Indonesia would now have become a full communist nation. The recent Japan election would not have thrown against the socialists as communists. Communism would have been on its way to a complete Asian takeover."

Mr. Thompson said that he learned that the war in Viet Nam would continue until political stability was established.

"There will be a presidential and constituent election before the end of the year," Mr. Thompson stated, regarding the political stability of the South Viet Nam government.

He summarized Canada's role in the war as a non-military one. "Canada's role will be essential when the conference table is reached."

More Mortgage Money Will Mean More Homes

Increased mortgage money being made available by the government for home building is expected to result in more house construction in Belleville this year.

This is the opinion of Douglas Bone, president of the Belleville Home Builders' Association, who this morning spoke to members of the Belleville Real Estate Board at their weekly meeting.

Mr. Bone said that the easing of mortgage money would result in more homes being built through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation loans. He felt that the request of the National Home Builders had been met at least partially responsible for more mortgage money being made available.

The meeting was told that the annual "parade of homes" sales promotion would again be carried out this year. Also it was revealed that an increased volume of house sales was being achieved through multiple listing service.

The winner of the real estate board sales contest for the month of March was Mrs. Anna O'Hara.

PE County First in Ontario To Adopt Planning Area

Prince Edward county is making a name for itself as one of the provincial pioneers in the adoption of county wide administration for the provision of municipal services.

The county was among the first in Ontario to adopt county assessment and also administers welfare on a county basis. It was also among the first to have a county health unit.

Now under a ruling of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs, Prince Edward is to become a county planning area, making it the first such area in Ontario.

Clerks of all the 10 county municipalities received word from that Municipal Affairs Minister J. W. Spooner had designated the new planning area and the word was passed along to county council on Monday.

There are two other planning areas in Ontario which take in an entire county but these also include one or more separated towns.

Hastings county council next week will give consideration to setting up a planning area which is proposed to include all of Hastings, the city of Belleville, the town of Trenton, and also Murray township.

IN MEMORIAM

STAPLEY — In cherished memory of our loving daddy who left us one year ago, April 13, 1966.

Sadly I bow my head and pray, Lord, in Thy mercy grant him day by day, Help us Lord to bear the cross, Always remembered by daughter Sandra and son Gary.

STAPLEY — In loving remembrance of my dear husband who departed one year ago, April 13, 1966.

The golden gates stood open, One year ago today, With farewells left unspoken, You quickly slipped away, It broke my heart to lose you, But you did not go alone, For part of me went with you, The day God called you home, I miss you Charles, so many ways, And see your vacant chair, What I would give, If I could talk with you once more, Only sitting there, Sadly missed and prayed for by your wife Ada.

STAPLEY — In loving memory of my dear daddy who passed away one year ago April 13th, 1966.

God gave me a wonderful father, His memory will never grow old, He harboured his smile out of sorrow, His chose that dear daddy of mine, —Lovingly remembered by daughter Marilyn and son-in-law Jim Tweedale.

GRABOWSKI — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister Doris Grabowski, passed away April 13th 1963.

Sweet was the soul that left us, To one of the best God ever made.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by mother and Dad, Kelar and brothers, Lewis, Frankie and Joseph, Sister-in-law Dorothy, Jean, and Margaret Ann.

Magistrate Will Rule On Monday

A trial within a trial was held yesterday during the hearing of John Rombough, 19, of Foxboro before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in Belleville.

Detective Lyle Davis took a statement from Rombough on March 10 pertaining to a break-in at Pam's Hobby Shop on February 8. Defence Counsel Robert Temple has been trying to get the statement ruled inadmissible, and pleaded his client not guilty.

Magistrate Wills will hand down his ruling next Monday. He said it wouldn't make much difference whether or not Rombough was found guilty of the charge since he would probably spend some time in jail anyway.

Rombough is yet to be sentenced for his part of a break-in at a Canniton garage on Mar. 8. Mr. Temple kept questioning Detective Davis as to why he would spend more time questioning Rombough on local breakins than the Canniton job.

"The ones he didn't want to talk about took the majority of the time," Mr. Temple claimed. Detective Davis said he wanted to try and clear up about ten to twelve local breakins but said Rombough only mentioned Pam's Hobby Shop.

In the witness stand Rombough said Detective Davis told him it would be better to get things off his chest, and it is this that the magistrate has to rule on. He will refer to similar statements in previous court cases.

No Alteration in Health Safeguards Necessary to Counteract Worm Threat

Possible existence of bacteria bearing worms threatening blood-poisoning in the Bay of Quinte calls for no extension of present official safeguards, health authorities said today.

Presence of the worm in polluted Great Lakes areas was noted Monday by Toronto zoologist Ralph O. Brinkhurst, who warned of concentrated bacteria possibly lethal to human life.

Dr. Brinkhurst's warning generated activity between local and provincial health authorities in the Quinte district.

Today Dr. C. R. Lenk, health officer for Hastings and Prince Edward counties, said the situation added nothing to the precautions already taken as a matter of course to protect Quinte district dwellers from water pollution.

The system already in force for testing bacteria counts already "is perfectly satisfactory," said the health officer.

"I don't think there'll be any drastic measures necessary in addition to those already take," he added.

Chances the bacteria might be induced into drinking water are ruled out by current municipal filtration measures, including chlorination.

Contaminated areas in the bay already are barred to swimmers, Dr. Lenk emphasized.

Yesterday, J. H. Neil, director of the division of laboratories for the Ontario Water Resources Commission, said the worms live on untreated but diluted sewage washed out in rainy weather.

The OWRC's bacteriologist has found bacteria frequently in water samples from all over the province but has not considered them dangerous, he said.

However, the OWRC had not previously found the worms Prof. Brinkhurst discovered harboring the bacteria and Mr. Neil acknowledged they might be concentrating the germ.

Prof. Brinkhurst quoted a 1954 medical publication to support his warning the organism had lethal potential.

He showed a reprint of a paper in the June 1956 issue of the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association, which said 13 cases of blood poisoning had been reported among humans caused by the germ in different parts of the world between 1927 and 1953. Eight patients died.

The article reported that after 125 swine drank water containing the bacteria, 60 died and 25 more were ill.

Prof. Brinkhurst pointed out the water in which the worms live is near recreation areas. He suggested there may be a chance of infection through accidental swallowing of the water or through a wound caused by handling boat equipment.

Brinkhurst said the pollution is so bad that the next stage would be complete extinction of life in the water.

Mr. Neil said no cases of infection by the bacteria had been reported in Ontario and the number throughout the world seemed small.

However, he admitted, the OWRC is concerned about the pollution the worms indicate.

In Toronto Tuesday night Federal Resources Minister Jean-Luc Pepin said a new water pollution law to regulate federal and provincial cooperation is almost ready to be presented for parliamentary consideration.

Mayor Asks Solicitor For Review Procedure

City Solicitor E. Gus Porter will be asked for advice before the position of city welfare administrator Daniel Aitken is reviewed.

This was stated today by Mayor J. R. Ellis, following Monday's decision by council to accept the two reports from the special committee named by December to investigate the operation of the city welfare department.

The minority committee report submitted to council by Alderman Ross David asked that the tenure of office of the welfare administrator be reviewed immediately.

"I am not sure just what the procedure will be," stated Mayor Ellis. "I hope tomorrow to again read the report carefully and then consult with the city solicitor regarding the implications."

However, he expected that as council asked for the review it would be up to council to act.

Mayor Ellis also said that he would confer with city manager J. R. Reynolds on the matter when he returns to his office at city hall Mr. Reynolds is in hospital for a check-up.

During the absence of Mr. Reynolds, Mayor Ellis has been acting in the role of executive chief and also looking after some of the city's administrative chores normally carried out by the city manager.

Bridge May Soon Open

Belleville's new College Street bridge could soon go into use if the wishes of city alderman Jack Aikin are carried out.

At council this week Ald. Aikin said he could see no reason why opening of the new four-lane bridge had to be delayed until the two approaches were paved.

"A few loads of crushed rock would make the approaches usable," he said.

Otherwise, the alderman continued, the bridge opening would have to wait until late in May until an asphalt plant in the district went into operation.

Mayor J. R. Ellis said that Alderman Aikin's point was well taken and indicated he would make enquiries and either have the work done or get a report for council.

Youths Sent to Trial On Counts of Theft

TRENTON — Three Trenton youths, Percy Brunton, 19, Peter Brunton, 21 and Philip Walsh, 18, all of 240 Queen Street ,were bound over for trial by Judge and jury in Trenton court Tuesday by Magistrate R. C. Jackson, after the magistrate had heard evidence on a Crown charge of robbery with violence.

The three were charged after police were told by an elderly Mary Street resident, Arthur Dionne, that four persons had entered his home where he lives alone, assaulted him and stole an alarm clock, an opened case of beer and two shirts in cellophane wrappers.

Appearing for the accused, Belleville lawyer Robert Templin asked for a dismissal, pleading that neighbors who saw four persons leave Mr. Dionne's home in the early morning hours of March 5 had failed to identify any of them beyond possible doubt. None of the witnesses attempted to identify any of his assailants.

However, Crown Attorney John A. Pringle told the court one witness had been convinced of her identification of the three youths before the court and asked that the case be taken to trial.

Young Man Given Time To Serve Jail Term

The time payment plan has been extended to the local crowbar hotel. Magistrate T. Y. Wills told a misunderstanding young man that he could come back in a week or even two to start serving a seven-day jail term for driving while his licence was suspended.

It took the Bench and the acting crown attorney some time to explain to William Douglas Brenton, 21, of in Dodald street that he did not have to go to jail right away. The magistrate added he was not urging Brenton to delay serving his time.

An officer said he saw Brenton driving on Front street and later found him behind the wheel of his car parked with the motor running. Brenton told the court that the keys were lost in the ignition, "so how could the motor run?"

Brenton decided to come back next week.

And, Magistrate Wills had another customer charged with driving with a suspended licence.

Conrad A. Harris, 51, of 31 Colborne street told the court he had lost his licence in 1957. Since then he has never paid anything on a $700 judgment against him.

The magistrate said the judge would be justified to fix a permanent bar against Harris driving. He said if he had another case like this, what he could be would get his licence.

Driver Freed On Charge

George Edward Truman, 39, of Pine Ave. was acquitted of impaired driving by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in Belleville city court yesterday.

An Ontario Provincial Police officer followed Truman's car for over a mile on January 29, watching it "zig-zag" from one side of the road to the other on the four lane divided Dundas St.

Truman, his wife, and another witness testified that Truman had only three glasses of beer before 11 p.m. and did not have any more until he was arrested at 2:20 a.m.

The magistrate said it was hard to believe there was any substantial alcohol content in Truman's blood, noting that no police testimony mentioned a "strong smell" of alcohol.

Funeral

MRS. DON STIRLING

The funeral of Mrs. Don Stirling was held Tuesday from the Thompson Funeral Chapel to St. Thomas' Anglican Church at Brockridge where service was conducted by Rev. David Mitchell. Interment was in the church cemetery at Stockbridge.

The bearers, all from Belleville were, Edward Field, Jack Burgess, Harold Mott, Linton Reid, Jack Lawrence and James Musgrove.

Girl Injured In Melee on School Grounds

TRENTON — A teenage girl is recovering in hospital from a wound received yesterday when a schoolmate threw a knife and caused a fracas during a school ball game.

The incident occurred at the Hart's Corners School, on the Wooler Road, just north of here.

Police said the stabbing was accidental and, since both girls were minors, no names would be revealed.

The game was being played during afternoon recess when suddenly one of its participants — a 15-year-old girl from Toronto living with local relatives — drew the knife.

The other players milled around and in the melee a 14-year-old girl received a wound in the rib cage while another student had a jacket slashed.

The injured girl was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Educational System Target Of Criticism and Complaint

Of late the educational system has been a prime target of criticism and complaint. Critics have charged schools, especially secondary schools, of being propagandistic, dictatorial, unfair to individualistic students and preachers of conformity.

However, there seems to be some disagreement as to the truth of these statements.

It has been suggested by some educational experts that grade-less groups of about three or four students 'fit' each teacher divided would eliminate some of the student-teacher problems.

J. C. Garrett, principal of Trenton High School disagrees. "Graded classes incite competition among the students which make them more successful in school."

E. A. Orr, superintendent of secondary schools, agrees that a smaller group of students is desirable but "economically it is not feasible". The payment of this many teachers would be astounding.

As far as propaganda goes, secondary school officials are in unanimous disagreement with the accusation. Grant Kerr, chairman of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board, says that it is not the policy of the board to have propaganda in the schools.

L. F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School, states that in high school students are taught "to discern propaganda from truth."

Mr. Reid also asserts that secondary schools acknowledge individualism.

Mr. Garrett from Trenton disagrees that the schools are getting "away from conformity". Mr. Orr maintains that the schools recognize individual differences. There is no tendency towards conformity." However Mr. Orr believes that rebellious non-conformity must be disciplined. "School should not be a bed of roses".

Another problem is, according to the critics the unconscious ignoring of the humanities, the artistic subjects as opposed to the scientific courses.

Mr. Reid suggests that this is unusual to a small degree. "That is the scientific age."

"There is no preponderance on scientific subjects," says Mr. Garrett, and Mr. Orr hopes that this is so.

However, J. L. Lambert, principal of Stirling High School, has an example of artistic malfunctioning. "Any person with a Bachelor of Arts degree and one or two summer courses in art can teach that subject." Still he feels that scientific subjects and the humanities are treated fairly in the schools.

Authority Will Construct Two Low Water Control Dams

Two low water control dams, one in the Moira River at Belleville, and the other at Stoco Lake, will be constructed this year by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The Conservation Authority executive meeting, members voted for the engineering firm of Totten, Sims, Hubicki and Associates to be employed to prepare plans, specifications and tenders form for the Belleville seasonal dam.

At the same meeting William Trow Associates Ltd. was authorized to do foundation testing for the two seasonal dams to be built at Stoco Lake.

Cost of the Belleville dam is estimated at about $16,000 and the two Stoco Lake dams at around $40,000.

The Belleville dam, to be constructed north of the old Lazier dam on Cannifton Road would be a maximum of four feet in height and would back up the water nearly to the 401 highway bridge in the form of a lagoon.

The dam is by capable of being removed from the river so as not to interfere with the access to the Moira.

Purpose of the Stoco Lake dams to be to control the level of the lake for the benefit of cottage owners and improvement of recreational facilities.

The Belleville dam is not expected to be built until late August so as to take advantage of low water conditions.

A Better Future

Who needs "pot" or LSD? Who needs a beard, with which to think? Who needs even to look scruffy?

Who, indeed, needs any of these manifestations of what has come to be known as "sub-culture?"

Is there nothing else in life besides the "beat" life?

The Ontario legislature's select committee on youth thinks there is. And the majority of people will agree that life can be more stimulating and wholesome, yet flexible, lived by accepted standards, than by any other new or "wayout" code.

The chairman of the committee, Sylvanus Apps ,told newsmen last week that Yorkville (Toronto's Bohemian quarter, and mecca of long-haired and scruffy young people) should be eradicated as a fun spot for the younger set.

"My own opinion of Yorkville — and it's a personal opinion — is that it is just a festering sore in the middle of the city."

The former Maple Leafs hockey star and Conservative member for Kingston suggested young people should be persuaded that Yorkville's image of good times is not the smart thing to follow. He said young people come to Metro from all parts of the province just to see Yorkville.

There is no doubt Yorkville is a phenomenon of our times. It represents escape, regression, a general malaise of the mind and imagination. It is the antithesis of the conformist and one of the virtues of the majority which, if dull, still have regard for human dignity and a sense of the fitness of things.

Within the conformist mold, moreover, there is all kinds of scope for positive thought and action, and for enjoyment of life.

The provincial committee, in addition to suggesting sterner controls on traffic in drugs now finding their way into Yorkville, and stiffer penalties on the pushers, went into the need for more facilities to promote physical fitness.

The main recommendation — which was submitted in an interim report a year ago — is that the Government establish a separate department of youth which would administer physical fitness and community-centre grants, as well as grants for sports equipment and athletic organizations now handled through the Ontario Athletic Commission under the Department of Labor.

Other recommendations relate to education (with emphasis on sex and tobacco), delinquency, handicapped children, and the operation of cars by young people. The committee proposes for instance that drivers aged 16 to 18 be restricted to temporary permits which they would lose after accumulating three demerit points.

Young Canadians need to set their sights on something more wholesome and inviting than Yorkville. At best it is little better than a curiosity, at worst — behind the facade — it harbors degradation and despair of the worst kind.

As Mr. Apps suggests, it is a "festering sore."

A Dog's Life

Dogs in Canada by and large lead a dog's life. Canadians care little for the four-footed critters. If they did they would exercise them more, give them the fresh air and running around they need, and generally treat them with some consideration.

The law in this regard is eloquent of the treatment dogs receive at the hands of an indifferent — and often hostile — public.

A recent advertisement with regard to licencing and registration put it in unequivocal terms. "Re Dogs — Notice to Owners." Each owner of a dog within the City of Belleville "shall procure annually on or before the first day of May, in each year, a licence for each dog owned within the municipality."

Then comes the law with regard to impounding of dogs "found running at large," reclamation of the said dog from the pound, and notice of the penalties to be incurred through failure to do so.

There can be little quarrel with these edicts. No community can tolerate dogs running around at will. We do question, however, the treatment, or lack of it, meeted out by owners of canines. We know of one handsome collie, a Scottish sheepherd that is kept within the confines of a pound in a back garden the year round. It has a kennel and a small area in which to wander around, but it is never allowed out and is never exercised in the kind of open area that a dog of this size and temperament needs.

Its owners presumably observe the strict letter of the law — but what a life for a German Shepherd! This is an extreme example, but it is symbolic of the general indifference of people at large toward man's best friend.

Utilitarian View

Universities Seen as Factories Turning Out Automatons

E. V. Rippingille Jr., president of Frigidaire Products of Canada Ltd., recently was quoted as saying he was shocked at the reluctance of university graduates and undergraduates to participate in the world of industry.

"It is time the university graduates that I have met recently that they don't want to get involved. They want to be intellectuals."

In one revealing passage he summed up the prevailing attitude in our materialistic society. "There is no place," he said, "for non-conformism in industry or commerce."

However, not everyone, we suggested editorially, is suited to that kind of life. Canada needs its intellectuals too. The universities need them — and no does industry. It is just a question of striking a balance between them.

The following correspondence in The Globe and Mail is indicative of the attitude among a body of Canadian scholars which has not lost sight of the fact that man is more than an economic statistic.

• • •

The Globe and Mail report (March 28) of E. V. Rippingille Jr.'s speech to the Ont. Educational Association illustrates the typical business view regarding education, i.e., education must be utilitarian. It must be directed toward a specific purpose usually associated with making more money. It must benefit society (for society read business) rather than the individual.

One might wonder what the private thoughts of (the 100 or so) principals who sat through this speech were. Did they ask themselves whether their own B.A.s had proved useful enough? Did they ask themselves whether all the years spent teaching math, English, Latin, history, etc., had been of no value to anyone if their students had not gone on to earn money from Latin, math, English, history, etc.?

Did they enter the teaching profession determined to produce students "imbued with a good, enthusiastic attitude toward life and society, profit oriented people," or to teach, to instill in their students a love of knowledge, to develop their natural curiosity and skillies, their maturity self-confidence, to produce students who questioned the existing standards and values of society, in other words, people who could think?

Apparently Mr. Rippingille envisions our universities as factories turning out ambitious automatons anxious to make good. Unfortunately for the business community, this has not been the case and, as has been reported in many business periodicals, university graduates are rejecting business as a career. I suggest that a thoughtful university (!) student, reading the report of Mr. Rippingille's speech, will have found one more reason to do so.

Instead of shaking E. V. Rippingille Jr.'s "bowl of beans" (College Graduates Reluctant In Compete—March 28), I poured them out on the table. The bill which resulted from my investigation of Mr. Rippingille's code of business ethics adds up to. If to success in industry I must have to become one of his "profit-oriented people" who "have to step on a few mouths" in order to emerge as top banana, I wouldn't be able to afford a bowl of beans, let alone a meal.

Mr. Rippingille states that, "All the educated in the world is of no value at all if you've taken that education just for the sake of being educated." On the contrary, my university education was of great value in that it taught me to see the wrongness of Mr. Rippingille's credo of an egotistical, no-holds-barred, rip - and - kill fight to the top of the hill of beans.

But if his values are those that my high school students will have to adopt in order to survive in industry, Mr. Rippingille is right in suggesting a plan to bring about "the transition of students from the classroom to the business world," because the contrast between Mr. Rippingille's values and those propagated by myself as a teacher (respect for the individual regardless of appearance or beliefs, rejection of gross materialism in favor of mental and spiritual enrichment, refusal to step on any part of another's anatomy for purposes of self-aggrandizement) is absolute and the transition is bound to be one hell of a job.

I believe Mr. Rippingille is right about the "better attitude" of high school or university graduates with regard to work at any rate. The reason is partly because many of the individuals who go to university is this country are handed the opportunity on a silver platter by their parents. They don't have to go out and make a buck like the other kids. And since not many university courses offer any real challenge (two or three solid weeks of cramming once a year repeated three times will get you your average B.A.), many graduates emerge lazy, without self - discipline, and with a vague feeling of having wasted three or four years having a real ball.

After this, having to go to work comes as a bit of a shock! The fault, then, lies not in the technocratic nightmare, but in the universities for failing to demand the very best from all their students.

At a recent Ontario Educational Association meeting, the comments of Flightsafety president E. V. Rippingille Jr. to a group of vice principals (March 28) are interesting enough to warrant a second look.

Such a clear and open statement of what is commonly called "the business mentality" deserves some respect. A sound commercial and industrial economy provides for us a country with material standards the envy most of the world can envy.

Nevertheless, the basic tenet is wrong, as it has always been and even in theory. If he is to be human, each man must live for higher values than the mere preservation of his identity with some abstract construct known as a company, for the purpose of that company's financial gain. Concerning personal identity, Mr. Rippingille's parable of shaking the bowl of beans to watch the best of beans come to the top, has little relevance. Each bean is only one in a pile, but each man is an irreplaceable unit, once as it is filled the bowl.

This is why education truly is valuable if sought for its own sake. Anyone attempting education primarily for material and pragmatic goals is liable to miss that elusive beam of light altogether, and end up trained, not educated.

"Creativity" is another word along about with abandon these days. True "creativity" is as elusive to define as is "education." Suffice it to say that what is often meant is more like cunning. At any rate, Mr. Rippingille's assertion of the "need" for "creativity in our record-keeping" is surely stretching the idea to its limit.

Let us, then, have a bold and vigorous business community. But leave the intellectuals alone. They may be mad sometimes, as is above the ants not because of his commerce but because of his intellect.

Today in History — Quinte Shares

April 12, 1967 . . .

A mine shaft caved in at Moose River, N.S., 10 years ago today—in 1936—trapping three Toronto men who were investigating the abandoned workings. H. R. Magill died April 20 during an enormous rescue operation in which 100 miners participated but Dr. D. F. Robertson and Allen Gerding were dug out alive. The progress of the rescue was broadcast constantly by radio, contributing to the keenness of public interest in the feat.

Construction at High Level This Year

Although housing starts lagged behind 1966, the construction work is expected to be maintained at a high level this year, according to HUGH MINERAY, president of the Quinte Construction Association.

In the following article Mr. Murray discusses the impact of the construction industry—Canada's largest — on the economy of the country.

The construction industry is Canada's largest. Persons employed directly on construction projects throughout Canada, together with those employed in the manufacture and delivery of the products used in the industry, represent approximately one-fifth of the total labor force of the country. The value of the construction program nationally in 1967 is estimated at some $11.5 billion.

Ontario's program is almost one-third of the national, and this year is expected to be up to the $3.7 billion mark. Persons employed directly in construction in Ontario in 1966 totalled more than 200,000 persons.

Economists Dr. J. J. Deutsch and W. A. Beckett indicate that whereas 1967 will be a year marked by a levelling out in the construction activity the prospects are bright for gains in the years ahead.

It is estimated that construction projects undertaken by members of the Quinte Construction Association in 1966 amounted to $13,500,000.00. The major portion of the construction activities are in the areas bounded by Port Hope, Bancroft, Napanee and Picton. Approximately 70 per cent of their total volume of activity is concentrated outside the limits of Belleville.

An indication of the construction activities undertaken during the past year in Belleville is reflected in the number of building permits. These totalled 300 with a gross volume of $3,684,-681.00. Housing starts were down appreciably in 1966 due to a scarcity of mortgage money.

The industry is reasonably confident of a substantial increase in the housing and construction generally in 1967.

The Quinte Construction Association was formed in 1965 to serve and advance the needs and objectives of the construction industry in Belleville and surrounding area. Over many years prior to that date a similar organization, known as the Belleville and District Builders Exchange, operated in this area.

The Association comprises some 30 members, representing the major general contractors, trade contractors, suppliers, manufacturers and professions interested in the commercial, industrial and engineering spheres of construction.

Its purpose is to promote better relations between members and owners, architects and engineers; to establish methods of practice between members; disseminate useful information within the industry and to co-ordinate the units of the industry in its producing, manufacturing distribution and construction activities.

The provision of a Plan Room for members is perhaps one of the most important services provided by the Association. Plans and specifications for all construction projects in the Belleville area are obtained from architects and firms. These are held on display so that general contractors and trade contractors may study them and prepare estimates for tendering purposes.

Close liaison is maintained with the Ontario Federation of Construction Associations through E. L. Quinney who serves on the Board of Directors of that Association.

New Zealand's Lead

Compensation Issue for Victims of Crime

Toronto Globe and Mail

In many jurisdictions, both inside Canada and elsewhere, the conviction is growing that a just and compassionate society cannot dismiss with a philosophical shrug the losses sustained by the victims of crimes and violence. More and more it is coming to be accepted that the victim of a crime is someone ciety has failed to protect adequately and that a responsibility therefore falls upon that society to make some kind of restitution.

New Zealand was a pioneer in this type of legislation and two years ago Britain set up its first Criminal Injuries Compensation Board to run a similar program. The board's first report, showing total payments during the year amounting to about $1.4-million, acknowledged the important part played in the administration by "luck" by the power to award compensation.

California was the leader in the United States in this field, but last August Governor Nelson Rockefeller signed New York's Compensation Law, providing for compensation up to a maximum of $15,000. Under the New York plan, the innocent victim must prove a minimum out-of-pocket loss of $100 or the loss of at least two weeks' pay. The program will apply only to claims resulting from crimes committed after March 1, 1967.

It might have been expected that, if establishment was to take root anywhere in Canada in this matter, it would be in one of the richer provinces. But not Manitoba showed us the way last December with a Government White Paper proposing compensation to persons who sustain injury directly attributable to a criminal offense. Two months later, Saskatchewan did the same and this week there were signs that Quebec might follow suit.

The Quebec Bar Association has recommended to the provincial Government that a system of compensation should be established and Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand has promised that the matter will be looked into.

This is all encouraging, but the Ontario Government maintains a stony silence on the issue, giving no indication one way or the other how it feels about the general principle of state responsibility to the victims of violent crime. A citizen hurt while helping a policeman may be compensated and we have the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund to aid anyone hurt by an uninsured motorist. Can we really look the other way when the victim is pistol-whipped and robbed?

Unwanted Mail Packages

Oshawa Times

A problem which has plagued householders in the United States for some time threatens to become a problem to Canadian householders as well. We are referring to the unordered mail package.

Already quite a few Canadian householders have received one and in this age of sales promotion devices we might consider ably expect an increase in this sales gimmick.

The deception is classically simple. The postman hands you a parcel which contains a necktie, or a set of greeting cards and maybe a pack of labels with your own name and address on them — and a letter.

"This is not quite a gift the letter explains. You are asked to send money for the article, or a "donation" to a worthy cause. If you don't what the merchandise you are simply to send it back.

Simply? To return it means wrapping, addressing, applying postage and putting it in the mail. If you don't do it you have a guilty feeling.

You shouldn't. However good the cause this sales trick should not be encouraged. In the United States some states have enacted laws regarding unordered merchandise. The Illinois law, for instance, states plainly that an unsolicited package shall be deemed a gift to the recipient. There seems to be a growing resistance in these "surprise" packages and the consensus seems to be: do not pay what you have not ordered; do not return the merchandise but if the sender he can come and get the merchandise if he wants it.

If everyone were to follow this advice the flow of unordered goods would eventually cease. Still to be found, however, is how to keep one's name off a mailing list.

Yorkville Is "A Sin-Bin"

Hamilton Spectator

Quite rightly, Sid Apps, the popular chairman of the Ontario Legislature Select Committee on Youth, says, with ample justification that scores of young Canadians in Hamilton and other communities are traipsing to Toronto just to take in the Yorkville atmosphere. It's hippy, it's cool, it's a drag. It's also a sin - bin.

Toronto always a place for non-conformists, and there's also a place for artsy crafty shoppers, boutiques, and yes also coffee houses. But these places should be forced to obey the same laws as other sections of the community. Freedom to be off-beat doesn't give a kid a licence to break society's laws.

Stevens Claims Bank Called $32,000 Loan on Hour's Notice

TORONTO (CP) — Sinclair Stevens, president of British International Finance (Canada) Ltd., said Tuesday he thinks testimony he gave before the Commons finance committee may have influenced the Toronto-Dominion Bank in calling in loan of about $32,000 on one hour's notice.

Loans to his wife, Noreen, and to Philip B. MacDonald, a senior officer of the BIF group, were called at the same time. Total value of the three loans was about $65,000.

Mr. Stevens said the bank's move came less than a month after he told the Commons committee the bank had shut off the BIF group's line of credit.

The BIF president told the committee Feb. 8 that the group's line of credit was cut off by Toronto-Dominion and other Canadian banks, partly because of BIF's interest in the Bank of Western Canada.

He said Tuesday the Toronto-Dominion loan he was phoned by R. F. Redpath manager of the bank's downtown Toronto branch, March 8, and told his BIF common shares, and his shares in the Bank of Western Canada and York Trust and Savings Corp. that secured the loan, could be sold within one hour if the loan was not paid off in cash.

He said the shares securing all three loans were valued at more than twice the loan amounts.

Mr. Redpath refused Tuesday to discuss what he called "accounts of customers." He did not deny the one-hour loan call.

The loans were made in the fall of 1964 for a total of about $100,000 and had been reduced to about $65,000 when the demand for payment was made.

Mr. Stevens is chairman of the Bank of Western Canada but resigned Feb. 17. He now is a director of the bank.

He said that on Feb. 28, he and Mr. MacDonald received a letter demanding payment of their loans within 24 hours or they would be sold out.

Mr. Stevens said he and Mr. MacDonald met Mr. Redpath the next day to offer alternative proposals. They offered additional security, increased interest and partial payment but were told the bank would "let them know."

Two days later they were told their loans must be paid in cash within one hour.

The bank extended the deadline to 2:59 p.m. and the three arrived at the bank at about 2:58 p.m. with full payment of about $30,000 in cash and the balance in bank drafts.

BIF common, Bank of Western Canada and York Trust shares are not listed on any stock exchange.

Cancer Patients Get Break

TRENTON — Mrs. George Greer, president of the Trenton Cancer Society said, made an announcement yesterday that from now on patients undergoing treatment in Toronto, London or Hamilton hospitals will be able to stay at Princess Margaret Lodge, (Toronto) and Ellis Irving places in the other two cities, free of charge.

Up until now, patients paid a nominal fee for accommodation, or none at all if their circumstances warranted it.

Mrs. Greer, who is the chairman of this month's cancer drive in this area, said $1,000 had been raised in last week's concentrated campaign. Area canvassers will continue to collect door-to-door until the end of the month. The campaign in Middlesex Perth will be carried out from April 17 to April 22.

The area groups hope to raise $7,000 this year.

Mrs. Greer said a number of films on cancer treatment and research were available for group showings. She mentioned one film specifically, which would do for men's groups, entitled "Who? Me?" This is a 14-minute film. Another, on research, is a 28 - minute film. Showings may be arranged for groups by calling Mrs. Greer at 392-5260.

J. B. Brien Committed For Trial

TORONTO (CP) — Joseph Benoit Brien, president of Prudential Finance Co., was committed Tuesday for trial on six charges of fraud and theft.

The charges against the 51-year-old Brien followed an investigation into his company's affairs and were laid by Richard Gillman, investigation accountant for the Ontario Securities Commission.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow allowed bail of $10,000 to stand.

Thomas S. Ripley, executive vice-president of Metropolitan Trust Co., testified earlier in the day at a preliminary hearing that his company, a trustee for Prudential Finance noteholders under an indenture agreement, had been trying to get a financial statement since March, 1966.

Mr. Ripley said he began experiencing difficulty in November when Prudential Finance defaulted on payments and it became apparent Nov. 9 that he was getting "the run around."

Brien is also charged with theft of 24,000 common shares of the capital stock of Dominion Glass Co. Ltd., the property of O'Brien Gold Mines.

The fraud counts include charges that he used improper balance sheets for Prudential Finance and O'Brien Gold Mines, where he was secretary-treasurer, and that he caused Wood, Gundy Securities and the Royal Bank of Canada to act on false statements.

Air Canada Foresees Big Loss Once CPA Expands Services

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Canada expects to lose between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 in potential revenue this year if Canadian Pacific Airlines expands its transcontinental service, Air Canada President Gordon McGregor said Tuesday.

However, he told the Commons transport committee it is not known yet when CPA will take advantage of the recent government decision to allow it four transcontinental flights daily in place of the present two. Aircraft might not be available for some time.

Mr. McGregor said that the revenue loss would not necessarily place Air Canada in a deficit position. It had a net income last year of $2,909,878.

CPA competition might mean a reduction of $1,500,000 in Air Canada's profit on the transcontinental route, which runs between Vancouver and Montreal.

Although it was Air Canada's first appearance before the committee in almost three years, no major issues developed in the opening round of questioning by the MPs.

Most of the complaints raised were about changes in Air Canada regional schedules. Mr. McGregor said planned improvements in regional service were being held up by delayed deliveries of the DC-9 jet, a short-range aircraft which is to replace the Viscount and Vanguard fleet.

The Air Canada president said that the airline is showing a profit on its total North American operation and a "good profit" on international operations.

He advised David Orlikow (NDP — Winnipeg North) that most of the regional air routes within Canada have been losing money and estimated the total at $15,000,000 a year.

Included among the losers were services from Toronto to the Lakehead and Northern Ontario.

Mr. McGregor agreed with David Orlikow (NDP — Winnipeg North) that the operation of unprofitable routes, carried on in the public interest, makes it impossible to compare Air Canada and CPA from the standpoint of efficiency.

He said the U.S. airlines strike last year diverted $3,500,000 worth of business to Air Canada and the Canadian railway strike brought in an estimated $900,000.

However, the strike of Air Canada machinists last fall cost $3,700,000 in lost business.

He said passengers who book at flight time continue to be a worrisome problem. "No shows" cost Air Canada six per cent of available seats last year.

Ann Landers

Not All Boys Bait The Trap for Dates

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Where do you get off saying all 16-year-old boys are interested in sex? I am 16 and I am interested in lots of things, but sex is not one of them.

I am getting sick and tired of hearing you tell girls to be careful because every boy is out to get whatever he can. I'm not, and I am sure there must be other guys around just like me.

Female hate makes up about one half of the world's population and there must be some awfully nice people in this group. One of these days I'd like to get to know some of them people better, but I am in a hurry.

There are plenty of interesting things fellows my age can do besides chasing girls. So please stop telling people that every 16-year-old boy is trying to keep some innocent chick in the back seat of a car. As a matter of fact, some guys I know have had to fight off girls. Please set the record straight. And you can print my name and city if you want to. — KANSAS.

* * *

DEAR KANSAS: I wouldn't dare print your name and city. You'd be deluged by calls, fells. Not from girls, but from their mothers! You sound like the kind of guy every teen-age girl's mother is looking for.

It would be foolish to say all 16-year-old boys are interested in sex. What I said was, "Most teen-age boys are not thinking about love. The juices are flowing and they are becoming mighty curious." That statement still stands.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has taken a job with a fine organization. It means more money and an opportunity for advancement. The only problem is the plant is located in a small town which I hate. I have told my husband I am not moving.

The major factor in my decision not to pull up stakes is my parents. I am an only child and my folks are very dear to me. They are in good health and I want to enjoy them as long as I can.

I know many women whose husbands travel during the weekend and come home weekends. My husband could do this, too. But he is stubbornly opposed to my staying here. Who is wrong? — BLUE GRASS TROUBLE.

DEAR TROUBLE: If your parents were ill and you had to help care for them it would be a different matter, but refusing to move to the city where your husband makes his living because you want to enjoy mama's and papa's company is not only selfish, it is childish.

Wives like you are the first to scream—"The Louse" when a husband becomes involved with another woman. Hang onto my address. I think you may be writing again soon with another kind of problem.

* * *

Confidential to SCARED TO DEATH: No one can force you to marry the girl against your will. Furthermore, if I understand your letter correctly, you are still married to "Mona Lisa." From the description you give of "Mudcheek" Esther you would be lucky if the parole officer got to you first. You need a lawyer.

Wear Historic Costume.

Make this graceful, old-fashioned gown and bonnet to wear in all Centennial celebrations. Be gay and romantic at parties.

Printed Pattern 4641: Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 dress takes 7¼ yards 35-inch fabric.

Sixty - five cents (65c) in coins (no stamps, please) for each pattern. Ontario residents add 3c sales tax. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send order to Anne Adams, care of the Intelligencer Pattern Dept., 60 Front St. West, Toronto 1, Ontario.

Successful Living

Mother Becomes Aware of Rejecting Child But Does Not Know Reason

Dear Doris: Would it be possible that one of the reasons a mother rejects one of her children is because a close relative strongly rejected him first? The mother is now aware that she rejects him but does not understand why.

Someone suggested to her that this may be the reason. What do you think? — Someone Interested in Both Child and Mother.

Dear Someone: That's about like saying how long is a piece of string.

If the close relative is in a position as influential as a grandmother or grandfather, and the rejecting mother has submitted to judgments of said person over the years, it is conceivable that his or her attitude might carry over.

If the mother does not understand why, this could be because the attitude is now completely incorporated and operating from a subconscious level.

If this does sound like a reasonable facsimile of what has happened, urge the mother to see a professional help. Things must be untangled before the child grows into the unhappy inferior personality which he is being persuaded to be.

Dear Doris: I met this guy Don and we went steady. Then we began fighting more and having a good time. He always wanted his way and often we were just about to break up. We've talked about this and he said he wouldn't change because I have to. He is the only one in his family.

Now I was laid off from my job there so I came to Blank City. Here I am having twice as much fun, and I have been going out with this guy Tom. Tom knows I am going steady with Don, but he still asks me out. Sometimes I'm just worried sick about it and have a hard time failing asleep.

Don wants me to come back home, but I feel I am missing out on a lot K I go back and all the kids here want me to stay very much.

Do you think I'm just a dumb, flirty girl? — Should I Go?

Dear Should I: Not dumb and flirty — just too blessed timid. Naturally you want fun. Call off the Going Steady and clear your conscience. You have a right to decide this — and I'll call you dumb if you go back.

Dear Doris: Has a man the right (legally) to tell his wife what she may, or may not, say to her friends? Has he the right to tell her what to write to her friends and relatives living far away?

Has he the right to dictate what she shall think about while he is away at work during the day? Is he within his rights when he stops her from doing such things as helping a friend or singing a song?

DORIS CLARK

Would this not all sticks under the title of mental cruelty? — An Interested Onlooker.

Dear Onlooker: I'd say it would. Aren't you glad you are just an onlooker?

Could you help her stand up to him? The future will be bleak if this gentle worm does not turn, soon.

* * *

When writing in, allow Doris 4 four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if a five-cent - stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Corned Beef, Horse Radish Is Zesty Dish

By MARY MOORE

You need two 12-oz. cans corned beef for today's idea. In some stores they are 67 cents apiece. Other packers can retail them at lower prices. But this recipe serves eight people and in addition there is a horseradish cream sauce topping that is captivating.

(Aside: When Shirely was testing this, John wandered into the kitchen and to his horror saw her adding horseradish to whipped cream. "What in heaven's name are you doing?" "Just wait and see". At the table he ate gobs.)

ZESTY GUESTY CORNED BEEF LOAF WITH HORSERADISH CREAM (serves 8)

Loaf: Two 12-oz. cans corned beef, room temperature

½ cup fine cracker crumbs

2 eggs

½ cup hot milk

½ cup spiced peach syrup (see below)

1 tsp. lemon juice.

Horseradish Cream:

1 cup 32 percent cream

2 tbsps. prepared drained, horseradish

2 tsps. sugar

1 tsp. lemon juice.

Make Horseradish Cream first: Whip cream until stiff, fold in horseradish, sugar and lemon juice. Chill until serving time.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Lamb Curry; Fluffy Rice; Frenched Green Beans; Individual Bowl Salads: Overlapping Crescents of Grapefruit, Tomato and Avocado on Lettuce with Lemony French Dressing; Danish Pastry Jam Twirls (see Monday and Tuesday); Tea.

Buy a 20-oz. can of whole peaches. Tip into a saucepan, add 1 stick cinnamon and 6 whole cloves and simmer 5 min., remove from heat, cover and let stand while you prepare meat mixture.

In a large bowl flake the corned beef and add crumbs, eggs and milk. Butter a standard loaf pan and line bottom and ends with one long buttered strip of foil (to facilitate removal). Press meat mixture into pan. Measure ¼ cup peach syrup and drizzle over the top of the loaf, coaxing it gently with a fork to make it seep down into the mixture. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 - 30 min. or until set. Carefully loosen sides and ends with one long buttered strip of foil (to facilitate removal). Press meat mixture into pan. Measure ¼ cup peach syrup and drizzle over the top of the loaf, coaxing it gently with a fork to make it seep down into the mixture. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 - 30 min. or until set. Carefully loosen sides and ends with one long buttered strip of foil (to facilitate removal). Press meat mixture into pan. Measure ¼ cup peach syrup and drizzle over the top of the loaf, coaxing it gently with a fork to make it seep down into the mixture. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 - 30 min. or until set. Carefully loosen sides and ends with one long buttered strip of foil (to facilitate removal). Press meat mixture into pan. Measure ¼ cup peach syrup and drizzle over the top of the loaf, coaxing it gently with a fork to make it seep down into the mixture. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 - 30 min. or until set. Carefully loosen sides and ends and turn out on preheated platter. Frost all foil. Serve hot, with Horseradish Cream (above) piled in attractive puffs. Keep top of loaf, to serve separately in shallow dish. Drain and stud peaches with whole cloves and arrange around loaf as a garnish if desired.

Home and School News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

King George Home and School Association held its monthly meeting Monday evening in the school auditorium.

Principal L. McQuaid introduced Murray Workman, vice-principal, who was in charge of the program. Under his supervision the pupils of grades 1 to 6 gave a dancing display and a senior grade pupils demonstrated gymnastics.

The next meeting will be held in May, when the choir will participate and officers will be installed.

STUDY IN FAMILY

EDMONTON (CP) — Father, mother and daughter of the Neville Calvert family are all university students. Karen, 18, enrolled last fall in education, her mother took a sabbatical year from teaching to complete her master's degree in education and her father went back after 37 years to finish his BA.

Girl Guide, Brownie News

BELLEVILLE DIVISION COMMITTEE

The Belleville Division Committee met recently at the home of Mrs. J. Kuntze, 79 MacDonald Gardens. The Division Commissioner, Mrs. T. R. Colden, presided.

Mrs. F. G. Belsey, convener, reported the tea held in February to be the most successful held to date.

A Guide Rally will be held at the Ontario School for the Deaf May 6 and a Brownie Revel will be held at the same place May 13. Both rallies have been planned in keeping with centennial year.

Mrs. C. E. Bateman, the new international representative, announced that Jill Roulet has been chosen as one of eight girls from Canada to attend an international camp in Sweden. Sue Caniff and Katherine Ford were selected to attend a camp at Rock Crest, Ohio and Pam Hutchinson was selected to attend the international camp at Doe Lake, Ont. For the not-so-fortunate girls, an area camp will be held in July in Waupoos, near Picton.

The next Girl Guide cookie day will be held April 29.

The training chairman, Mrs. G. Rice, announced that a pack holiday training will be held May 27 at Waupoos. Applications are now available.

Mrs. A. Steenburg, camp advisor, stated that a Pioneer and Camper Rally the weekend would be held in the fall. She also stated that the Provincial camp at Doe Lake was in need of girls 16-18 years of age as waterfront - and - councillors - in-training.

Mrs. Colden reported that there were still centennial badges available from the Division committee.

Points for Parents—

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I'll have to spend my days off this week washing my antique china collection and ironing the curtains. I'm determined to keep things just as nice as they were before I started working at the office."

Mother: "I'm putting my china collection in this cabinet so it won't have to be washed so often. I'll hang cafe curtains at the window. It takes too long to keep the ruffled curtains crisp and clean."

A working mother cannot hope to keep house in the same way she did when she had all day to dust and clean. Simplify your housework as much as possible and cut corners where you can.

BAYSIDE HI-C CLUB

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Bayside Hi-C Club met at the home of Miss Wendy Jones Thursday evening. Instead of the usual meeting a party had been arranged. The next meeting will be held April 20 at the home of Miss Wendy Tidd.

The members of the Bayside Hi-C Club assisted in the White's Church service Sunday. Miss Carol Penley opened the service, Miss Jo-Ann Webster led the responsive reading and Miss Kathy Jones read the Scripture. Miss Wendy Jones led in prayer and announced the offering with David Penley and Kenneth Snowdon taking up the offering. Lanny Dean read a story and the guest speaker was William Campbell of Holoway Street United Church, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Batchelor Mark 50 Years of Wedded Life

Congratulatory messges from people in all walks of life were received this week by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Batchelor, 25 Crestview Ave. as they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

The couple were "At Home" Tuesday to friends and relatives at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 44 Plain Square.

Among the congratulatory messages received were good will messages from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, opposition leader John G. Diefenbaker, Ontario Premier John Robarts, Hastings South M.P. Lee Grills, Hastings West M.P.P. W. E. "Sandy" Sandercock and Robert Temple.

The couple also received an anniversary scroll from the provincial secretary and close to 100 cards from friends.

Mr. Batchelor and his bride of half a century, the former Edith Preston of Lindsay, were married at the Presbyterian manse in that centre and later lived in Toronto before coming to Belleville.

A railroader in thig country for 42 years, Mr. Batchelor already had five years on the railway when he came to Canada from Wales in 1910. He retired as locomotive engineer 13 years ago.

Both still active and "on the go all the time" Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor are members of St. Margaret's on the Hill Anglican Church. He is a 50-year member of the Odd Fellows and a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mrs. Batchelor belongs to the B. of L. E. Grand Auxiliary.

Until recently an ardent bowler, both alley and lawn, Mr. Batchelor has been forced to ease up a bit because of a heart condition.

They have two sons, John of Los Angeles, who was home for his parents' anniversary, and Jerry of Belleville. There are two daughters, Mrs. Ray Peets and Mrs. William Brown, both of this city.

Combustible Discards Can Cause Serious Fires

TORONTO (CP)—From the fire department's point of view, those old cans of paint, the worn-out chesterfield, the rack of old clothes you keep because you might use them again one day are a stockpile of fuel waiting to feed an accidental fire.

R. H. Brown, director of the fire prevention bureau of the Toronto fire department, says careless smoking and the misuse of electricity are major causes of home fires. Coupled with an accumulation of combustible discards, they can cause serious fires.

A simple fire prevention measure Chief Brown suggests is to be sure you have enough ash trays and that they are substantial — big enough and hard to spill. And never smoke in bed.

Chief Brown says someone should make it a duty to check the furniture after a party, turning cushions and looking underneath, to be certain there are no burning cigarettes.

"People say they can't do all the things we want them to do. If they only did some of them, there would be a lot fewer people involved in fires. But, of course, they say, 'it can't happen to me.'"

A 15-amp fuse is the one suitable for normal small appliances. When you use a heavier fuse or put a penny in it, you overheat the wires, which dries out both wire and insulation and eventually can cause a fire.

"Wiring installed by a qualified man doesn't usually cause trouble. Both wiring and insulation are made to last a lifetime in proper conditions. It is usually the obvious electrical hazards that cause the problems."

Chief Brown says you should have your heating equipment checked at this time of year, when you first turn it off. You shouldn't just let it sit and get it a thought again until fall.

If you have oil or gas heating, you should turn it on for a few minutes occasionally to dry out any condensation that may be accumulating.

Chief Brown says constant vigilance is the best way to prevent fires.

Don't get too far from the stove when you are cooking. If you are using fat, don't go away at all. Spilled fat and overheated fat can burst into flame quickly.

A few other ordinary hazards to check:

Buy flammable liquids such as paint thinner in cans, not breakable bottles.

If you store waxy or oily rags or mops, keep them in closed metal containers.

Keep matches out of the hands of children and in metal containers.

SOCIAL and PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Tatnam, of Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Elizabeth, to Mr. Douglas William Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davidson, Ottawa, Ontario. The marriage will take place, May 13, 1967, at 11 noon in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, Ontario.

* * *

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

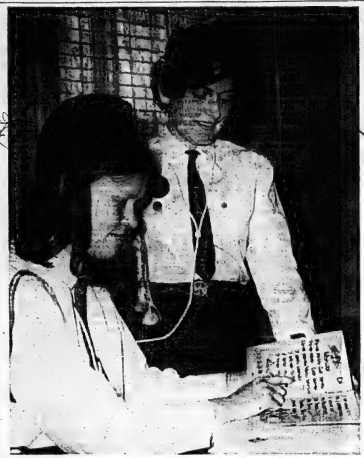
The engagement is announced of Grace Isabelle, daughter of Mrs. Edmund A. Carleton of Stirling and the late Dr. Carleton to Dr. Donald Edward Wood, son of Mrs. James H. Wood of Toronto and the late Dr. Wood. The marriage will take place Saturday, May 6, 1967, in St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Hazard of Montreal spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dickey, Belleville and Mrs. S. Hazard, Plainfield.



* * *

Mrs. A. Gilroy's group of the Evening Branch WA of Christ Church sponsored a social evening on Monday night in the parish hall.

Eight tables of cards were in play and the games were much enjoyed by the members.

Winners of attractive prizes were: Mrs. F. Goodfellow, Mrs. L. Mason, Mrs. I. Reid, Mrs. R. Sandford, Mrs. E. Green and Mrs. A. Smith.

Members of this group served refreshments.

Ranger Reads Russian

Aline Skurat explains the Russian language to Jill Roulet, who has been selected, with ten other Canadian Guides to attend the Swedish Jubilee camp. Recently awarded a Gold Cord, Aline had spoken to her Ranger Company on Byelorussia as a part of her Gold Cord challenge.

Exciting Summer Ahead For Two City Rangers

The international aspect of Guiding was emphasized in Belleville Girl Guide circles recently with the announcement that one girl will camp in Sweden this year and another, born in Europe, has received Guiding's highest award.

What she thought was an April fool's day gag turned out to be no kidding matter for Jillian Roulet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Roulet, 1 Reynolds Cr. When told April 1 that she had been chosen as one of 10 Canadian girls to spend eight weeks in Europe this summer, Miss Roulet refused to believe her good fortune. But the report was true enough and she is now preparing to leave by boat July 4 for England. The Canadian Guides will tour London and Edinburgh and then fly to Oslo and Stockholm, Sweden. They will attend the Swedish Jubilee Girl Guide Camp at Tylobach for one week and spend a second week seeing the country.

Miss Roulet, a grade 12 student at Quinte Secondary School, member of its student council executive and one of its better known artists, has been active in Guiding for the past nine years. She was the only Belleville Guide to receive a Gold Cord last year and attended Heritage Camp in British Columbia.

Aline Skurat, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skurat, 104 Wallbridge Cr., recently received her Gold Cord from Commissioner Mrs. D. Stewart. Born in France of White Russian parents, she prepared a talk on White Russia and explained the language as part of her Gold Cord challenge. She is a grade 11 student at Quinte Secondary School, helps Wallbridge Pack 13 Brownies and last summer attended the Bruce Trail Camp. This year she has been chosen to attend the Heritage Camp on Morrison and Nairn Islands near Morrisburg.

Both girls belong to Company 1, Belleville Land Rangers.

Jury Finds Man Took Charts

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Bower Edward Featherstone, 28, Tuesday became the first person convicted under the Official Secrets Act since the Gouzenko spy trials 20 years ago.

The resources department press operator showed little emotion as a jury returned a guilty verdict on a charge that he obtained two copies of a confidential navy chart that he printed a year ago.

The father of four was acquitted of a second charge that he retained the charts "for a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the state."

Carleton County Judge Peter MacDonald remanded Featherstone in custody until April 24 for sentencing. The Official Secrets Act, passed after the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939 to deter espionage, provides for a maximum penalty of 14 years in penitentiary.

Judge Macdonald thanked the 11 men and one woman on the jury.

"I think the conclusion you have reached is a proper conclusion," he told the jurors.

Featherstone was not accused of supplying secret information to Soviet agents and there was no evidence that he did.

The mother, wife and sister (left to right) of Bower Edward Featherstone leave the Ottawa courtroom where the 28-year-old government lithographer was found guilty Tuesday of a charge of obtaining two copies of a confidential navy chart that might be useful to Soviet submarines. (CP Photo)

Extortion Attempt Charged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gary Stephen Ross, 18, of Vancouver Tuesday was remanded to today without plea on a charge of attempting to extort $5,000 from a B.C. member of Parliament. No bail was set.

Ross was arrested Sunday by the RCMP after an alleged payoff package was picked up at a general delivery wicket at the Vancouver post office.

Police said Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) received a letter in Ottawa threatening to disclose certain information unless he paid the money.

LSD Ban Seen No Help

TORONTO (CP) — A leading authority on the hallucinatory drug LSD Tuesday night told Dr. Morton Shulman, Ontario chief coroner for Metropolitan Toronto, that he sees little point in prohibiting persons from possessing LSD.

Dr. Abram Hoffer, psychiatric director of the Saskatchewan department of public health, said "prohibition would be something like the prohibition of alcohol, and I think it would do more harm than good because of impure substances which would be manufactured and bootlegged."

Dr. Hoffer, who has been experimenting with LSD since 1952 with the approval of the federal department of health, said he approves of legislation which outlaws public sale of the drug.

He described LSD as a boon to mankind but a dangerous toy in the hands of persons unqualified to use it.

Dr. Hoffer, who was scheduled to be a witness at the inquest into the death of N. John Stern of Toronto, was discussing LSD with Dr. Shulman in a Toronto hotel.

Dr. Shulman planned to conduct the inquest into the Stern death but was fired as chief Metropolitan Toronto coroner last Friday. The inquest opened Tuesday night under coroner Dr. Fred Cruickshank and was adjourned to April 19 after hearing some evidence.

Stern died when he jumped or fell from the Bloor Street viaduct in Toronto. He was said to have taken LSD hours before his death.

Dr. Hoffer said he has not been asked to appear at the inquest under Dr. Cruickshank.

Dr. Shulman said the loss of Dr. Hoffer's testimony destroyed at least half the value of the inquest.

Dr. Hoffer said a massive educational campaign should be undertaken among members of the public and among doctors and centres should be set up where LSD could be taken under supervision.

He said that even if legislation could prevent persons from possessing LSD, there are other hallucinatory drugs available in Canada.

QUESTION: In May we are taking a trailer camping trip to South Carolina. Could you tell us any good campgrounds close to Charleston where we might stay a few days?

ANSWER: We might suggest two campgrounds which are in that area. Both are open all year and are on the ocean.

The Hunting Island State Park south of Charleston and 18 miles southeast of Beaufort at the end of U.S. 21, is a 5,000 acre park with 20 tent and trailer sites. Flush toilets and cold showers, no wood, snackbar. The fee is $1.50 a day, 7 day limit. P. O. Frogmore, S.C.

The Sand Dollar Camping Resort, at the Isle of Palms, 13 miles east of Charleston by Grace Memorial Bridge, U.S. 17 and state 703, is a privately owned seashore campground, of 20 acres with tables, flush toilets and hot showers, no wood. It has 76 tent sites and 18 trailer sites. The gates close at 10.30 p.m., open at 7 a.m., fee $3 daily for 6, each extra person 50 cents. Two week limit. P.O. Box 638, Isle of Palms, S.C.

QUESTION: I am accompanying my husband on a business trip to Natchez, Miss., and as I will have quite a bit of time on my hands while he is at conferences, I was wondering if you could tell me of some of the points of interest I might visit.

ANSWER: You will have no trouble finding interesting things to see in Natchez and if you are fortunate enough to be there during the annual spring pilgrimage you will be in for a treat. We would suggest that you contact the tour headquarters in the Gay 90's Building on Station Hall grounds, High Street, between Pearl and Commerce Sts. as soon as you arrive or write the Natchez Pilgrimage, P. O. Box 347, Natchez, Miss., for information.

Even if you are not there when the pilgrimage is on you will have a fascinating time in this old city. Twenty of the antebellum homes are open all year, admission for each $1. These include Arlington (1816), Cherokee (1796-1818) Connelly's Tavern (before 1795) Elgin Plantation (1790-94) The Elms (1782) Linden (before 1790) and Stanton Hall (1851).

Other buildings that might be worthwhile to visit are St. Mary's Cathedral, Main and S. Union Sts., built between 1841 and 1851, the first Cathedral in Mississippi. Auburn in Duncan Memorial Park at Auburn and Duncan Streets was built in 1812 of brick fired by slaves. Notable features are the columns, fanshaped lights and spiral staircase. Open daily 9 to 4, free.

Officials of the Ontario Motor League caution motorists to mark the direction of rotation and wheel location on their studded tires before removing them in the spring.

Reversing the direction of studded tires, unbeknownst next fall could cause the studs to become loose and fly out of the tire with possible dangerous results. At the very least this would cause a premature wearing of the tires.

The use of studded tires in Ontario during the winter months has been legalized but they must be removed in the spring.

Softens The Tone

NEWTOWNABBEY, Northern Ireland (CP)—Residents of a new street in this County Antrim town were embarrassed Dan Read. After Rev. Frith Little said most of his Methodist congregation thought his address "most unsuitable for a clergyman," municipal authorities agreed to change it to Hawthorne Road.

Navy Weds Helicopter to Destroyer, Producing Potent Anti-sub Weapon

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (CP) — The Canadian navy has married a helicopter to a destroyer to produce a potent anti-submarine weapon.

Naval officials say the mating has given them the lead over the United States and Britain in the field. At least one European country has expressed interest in adopting the Canadian-engineered system.

It has taken 10 years of testing to work out the bugs in the operation. The combination now has passed rigorous testing and has been declared operational.

Commodore R. H. Leir, senior naval officer afloat, said in an interview while on manoeuvres off Puerto Rico that the combination is "the best thing in anti-submarine warfare."

A major problem facing planners was a method by which a large helicopter could land safely on the deck of a destroyer in rough seas at any time of day.

The problem was overcome with development of a small, square piece of equipment known as a bear trap. It sits in the centre of the destroyer's landing platform and is used to haul down the helicopter by means of a cable dropped to the hovering craft.

The system enables the pilot to bring down his helicopter on a destroyer rolling up to 31 degrees in heavy seas and in winds of 45 knots.

The need for modern methods of anti - sub warfare, which Commodore Leir describes as "one of the most difficult tasks ever faced by man," confronted all nations at the end of the Second World War.

Canada, Britain and the U.S. all developed the concept of combining air and sea power but tackled it differently. The U.S. began development of a small, unmanned helicopter operated by remote control. Britain chose to develop a small one-man helicopter with sub-killing weapons but no detection apparatus.

"Canada went for the Rolls-Royce approach with the least money—a manned destroyer-based helicopter carrying weapons and a detection system," Leir says.

The helicopter being used by the Canadian navy is the Sikorsky Sea King, a four-man chopper with a speed of up to 120 knots. It can remain aloft four hours and carries a sonar - ranging set and self-contained navigation system as well as homing torpedoes and depth bombs. With anti-sub equipment removed it can carry up to 25 troops.

"The advantage of a ship mixed with an aircraft is immense," says Leir. "Your active detection and kill capability has moved out 150 miles. Ships can stay at sea forever, so add air capability and you've really combined the best of two systems."

The combination will be established in half the navy's operational destroyers. Others will carry devices that deliver an anti - submarine homing torpedo automatically.

The newest class of destroyers, which aren't expected to reach service until 1971, will carry the works: helicopters, homing torpedoes, variable - depth sonar and anti-aircraft missiles.

"It's putting all your eggs in one basket," the commodore says, "but I'm all for it. It will be a very versatile ship."

"I was a skeptic," says Commodore R. J. Pickford, chief of operations of Maritime Command. "I just didn't see how you could have helicopters working off destroyers in those rough North Atlantic seas. But I was proved wrong, and it was the bear trap that did it."

Copter Approaches Bear Trap

An RCN helicopter approaches the Canadian destroyer Assiniboine to be attached to the "bear trap," a device shown in the centre of the destroyer's landing deck which hauls the chopper down while the vessel is at sea. The helicopter was returning from an anti-submarine hunt during exercises in waters off Puerto Rico.

Jamaican Premier Dies at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—The body of Prime Minister Sir Donald Sangster of Jamaica will lie in state for five hours today in Christ Church Cathedral here before being flown home to his island country.

The 55-year-old prime minister died of a brain hemorrhage Tuesday afternoon after a tenacious but losing three-week battle against the effects of massive bleeding within his cerebral tissue.

Viscount McFarlane, Jamaican high commissioner to Canada, announced early today that Sir Donald's body will be removed at 6 p.m. from the funeral home, where it now rests, to the Anglican cathedral. Persons wishing to pay their respects may visit until 11:15 p.m.

After that, it will be taken to Montreal International Airport and will begin the long flight to Montego Bay, Jamaica, at 1 a.m.

Within five hours of the announcement of the prime minister's death, Governor-General Sir Clifford Campbell of Jamaica asked External Affairs Minister Hugh Shearer to become the new prime minister.

Mr. Shearer, 43, is a former journalist and trade union official who had been named to succeed Sir Donald when doctors at the Montreal Neurological Institute announced last week that the prime minister had no chance for survival.

Sir Donald, acting prime minister during the long illness of Sir Alexander Bustamante in 1963 and 1966, had a record of 34 years in public service.

He became his island's youngest leader after helping the Jamaican Labor party to a general election victory earlier this year.

Tax Churches If Not In Use

TORONTO (CP) — Churches should be taxed if they cater only to Sunday morning congregations, a United Church official said Tuesday.

Rev. J. R. Hord, secretary of the board of evangelism and social services, said at the annual board meeting churches should be eligible for taxation if they are not in use seven days a week.

"There has been a shameful lack of fellowship in the church, especially for those who need it most—the lonely, mentally ill, morally-defeated and the poor."

Heat Sends Signal

MOSCOW (AP) — Scientists in Vladivostok on the Pacific Ocean are planning to attach tiny radio transmitters to whales to help chart their travels. The radios would be powered by heat energy from the whales' flesh and the signals would be mapped by research ships.

Can't Quit--Smoke Lettuce

TORONTO (CP) — Cigarettes made from lettuce leaves will be available by the end of the month to Ontario smokers who want to give up tobacco.

The "100 per cent nicotine-free" smoking will be distributed by Toronto-based Cohen's Wholesale Ltd. They'll cost 49 cents for a 20-cigarette pack.

"We don't expect to revolutionize the smoking habits of Ontario, but smokers who are having trouble quitting can use the lettuce cigarettes to ease off tobacco," Sam Crystal, a spokesman for the firm, said Tuesday.

MUSSMOUTH REPORTS

Dear Boss: -

These are troublous times in the world of sport.

Cassius Clay thinks he's got trouble trying to duck that stint in the army and trying to figure out where all his dough has gone.

Mickey Mantle has trouble trying to dodge the injury jinx. He hurt himself again on opening day.

The Toronto Argonauts have trouble trying to locate a coach; one that will bring them at least one or two wins next season.

The New York Mets have trouble in that they've got a team that might pull them out of the cellar of the National League.

Jack Nicklaus has slipping trouble. He failed to make the qualifying field in the final of the Masters.

Likewise Arnold Palmer who slipped to second in the pro golf tour host list after Gay Brewer copped that twenty grand in winning the Masters.

The Los Angeles Dodgers have second trouble since Sandy Koufax swapped his pitching glove for a television-radio microphone.

Garry Alexander has "pick" trouble. He hasn't won a hockey pool this winter. Usually cops off the pace.

The Kingston senior "A" hockey champions have letting trouble. They went into the "red" some $18,000, they say, and are devising ways and means to make up the deficit.

And, boss, I hear you're having troubles-Comedy-wise, that is. Else why did some joker send you that jar of "Spyl-Creem."

Yeah, boss, all these guys and people have their trouble, but got a load of this.

The story is true, swelp me. It actually happened to one of your composing room compadres.

He wrapped up a compact package of troubles that came in sequence over a period of ten days or so.

First off he spent four days in the hospital.

Whistling happily he left the anasthesia emporium. The world looked good. There was nothing wrong with it at the moment even if the "lack was not in the heaven."

But something else was — and he didn't know what was in store for him.

Arriving home he turned on the family television set. Nothing happened. Investigation revealed four tubes had given up the ghost.

So he turned to the Hi-Fi, put on his favorite batch of records. Nothing happened. The styins had broken.

The next night he went to the refrigerator for a Dagwood midnight snack and the crisper fell out in a shower of glass.

Driving to work the next morning he muttered to himself that's enough trouble for a while. He spoke too soon. On the way downtown a rear tire blew out.

He fixed the blowout himself and went into a nearby building to wash his hands. When he returned a kindly cop had plastered a ticket on the windshield.

Replacing his tire tools and whatnot, he slammed down the trunk cover. He forgot he had left the car keys inside.

Returning home a day or so later, he entered his house and whistled for the family pet dog. No answer. It had been taken to the city pound.

Milder than the proverbial wet hen, he went out to his car to investigate the loss of the pooch. While he was inside some tramp had relieved him of two pairs of eyeglasses, one a prescription set.

A day or so later he parked his car on a busy street and sat in silence ruminating over what life was handing him.

Suddenly he felt himself flung forward. The car lurched ahead. Looking back he saw a body stretched across the trunk of the vehicle. Nearby lay a motorcycle in a badly wrecked condition. His car suffered considerable damage.

He called the police then went home and locked himself in the cellar for the rest of the day.

And, boss you think YOU'VE got troubles.

Kingston Wins 6-2

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston Aces scored twice in each period Tuesday night to down Morrisburg Combines 6-2 and take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven eastern Allan Cup semi-final.

The fourth game between Kingston, OHA Senior A representatives, and Morrisburg, of the St. Lawrence Senior League, will be played here tonight.

Dave McComb led the Aces with two goals. Their other marksmen were Bob Olajos, Bob Collins, Wayne Brown and Ron Earl.

Jim Forest and Mel Tomlaty scored for the Combines.

Kingston had 36 shots at Morrisburg goalies Don Grant and Wayne Thomas and Morrisburg had 20 at Tommy Mercer.

The Combines scored one of their goals in the first period and one in the third.

Leafs Topple Hawks For Series Lead

TORONTO (CP)—Billy Reay didn't mince his words Tuesday night—he screamed foul.

The fiery little Chicago Black Hawk coach objected to a cross-checking penalty in the second period to Ken Hodge. Frank Mahovlich scored on the Toronto Maple Leafs power - play and the Leafs went on to win the game 3-1 to take a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

"The referee called Doug Jarrett for cross-checking in the first period and Hodge for the same thing in the second," Reay said.

"But just before Hodge's penalty, Larry Jeffrey cross-checked a guy right in front of the referee and it wasn't even called."

The next game is scheduled Thursday in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

In the Leafs' dressing room, Punch Imlach, Toronto coach and general manager, was also complaining — about Chicago scoring ace Bobby Hull.

"That boy was charging all night and he never even got a penalty. He's like a bull when he charges. He charged George Armstrong Sunday night in Chicago and put him out of action for the game.

"I don't want to lose a couple of players to that guy."

But both coaches had praise for Toronto goaltender Terry Sawchuk, who turned away 33 shots and frustrated the Hawks continually early in the first period.

"He kept us in the game for the first five minutes or so, while we were still a bit shaky," Imlach said. "He played well throughout the game."

Reay said the Black Hawks had all the chances in the first half of the period, but "Sawchuk played well. You can't take anything away from him."

But the Hawks could not take advantage of the Toronto lapse and when Ron Ellis scored near the 10-minute mark it was Toronto from then on.

Mahovlich and Jim Pappin scored in the second period and the veteran Sawchuk appeared to have his 12th playoff shutout until Hull scored on a Black Hawk power - play late in the final period.

Both coaches said all the Toronto goals were picture-plays and Reay refused to blame Chicago goaltender Glenn Hall.

"I thought Ellis' goal was a beauty," he said. "He had about a six-inch circle to put the puck in and he put it in there.

"On Pappin's goal, I don't know how many stops a guy should have to make. Hall made two and had no chance when the puck finally went in."

Most of the Hawks said after the game Leafs have been much tougher in the playoffs than during the regular National Hockey League schedule.

"They're getting the breaks," said defenceman Pierre Pilote when reminded the Leafs didn't get a win on Chicago ice all season. "We make one mistake and the puck's in the net. It goes that way sometimes."

Doug Mohns, of the Hawks Scooter line of Stan Mikita and Ken Wharram, did not play Tuesday night because of a hip injury.

And the Hawks missed him. Dennis Hull took the left wing spot while in the first period and Red Hay played it briefly in the second.

On the other side of the injury ledger, George Armstrong was out for the Leafs with a knee injury sustained in Sunday night's game. Brian Conacher moved from left wing to Armstrong's spot on right wing and nearly scored in the first period.

"I missed a few good chances out there," Conacher said, "but I put that down to inexperience."

Imlach scheduled an early Leaf practice today but Reay said "we won't work. A few guys will skate at an afternoon practice."

Hull Shot 'Scores' On Wrong Leaf

TORONTO CP — Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd., today may be regretting his choice of photo seats for Tuesday night's Stanley Cup semi-final between Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sitting high above the ice in his executive box reading his program, Ballard suffered the fate of Joe Fan when he had his glasses and his nose broken by a drifting shot off the stick of Chicago scoring ace Bobby Hull.

The accident occurred during the pre-game warm-up when Hull's shot got away from him and scooted over the protective glass around the boards.

Ballard was not available for comment, but Hull said after, while expressing his regrets: "It wasn't a real rattler, but I guess it proves you can break a pane of glass from 70 feet."

Rochester Ties Series On 2-0 Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Goalie Bobby Perreault kicked out 25 shots for a shutout Tuesday night as Rochester Americans defeated Cleveland Barons 2-0, tying the best-of-five quarter-finals series in the American Hockey League 2-2.

Ed Joyal and Stan Smrke were the Rochester scorers.

Joyal raised a shot over Ernie Wakely's left shoulder from 30 feet at 5:28 of the second period. Smrke pushed one in from in front of the Barons' goal during a traffic jam with five minutes left in the game.

Joyal stole the puck at centre ice, crossed the blue line and cut loose with a hard shot that sailed past Wakely. He also picked up an assist on Smrke's goal at 18:20 of the third.

Cleveland had a chance to go ahead in the first period when defenceman Bill Needham took a hard shot from 25 feet away, but Perreault stopped it.

The Barons won the first two games in Rochester last week. The final game is tonight in Rochester.

Joe Primeau

'Leafs Are At Peak'

Joe Primeau played on the famous Toronto Kid Line of the 1930s. He was on hand Tuesday night as Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 in the third game of the Stanley Cup semi-finals. Here's how he saw it:

Written for The Canadian Press
By JOE PRIMEAU

TORONTO (CP)—I think the whole secret of the Leafs' success had to be in the way their wings controlled the play and allowed the defence to stay at the blueline and get the Hawks coming in.

I did think the Hawks looked absolutely formidable early in the game. It was the Toronto penalty-killing team of Brian Conacher and Dave Keon and the great netminding of Terry Sawchuk that kept the team in the game.

The Hawk's didn't impress me behind their own blueline. They didn't play like I'd expect a great team like this to play. They gave the puck away on numerous occasions.

I think, perhaps the Leafs have hit their peak right now. I haven't seen them play better at any time during this season.

You have to remember that they're getting confidence now and confidence is great. If they play like this for two more games, the Hawks can pack up their gear for another season.

Chicago, of course, has a tough row to hoe as it is. They have to win three of the remaining four games and that's a tough break for any club, no matter how great it is.

I was particularly impressed with the Leafs passing, particularly in the last two periods. Passes set up all three goals and they were all picture plays.

But all-in-all, it was a good all-around effort by the forwards, goaltender and defence that defence was fantastic.

I wasn't at all impressed with Bobby Hull in the first two periods. He played quite well in the final 20 minutes, but even then I expected more from him.

And Stan Mikita couldn't seem to get going. He took a couple of good solid checks and never seemed to break loose.

I have to pick the Leafs to win this series, because I noticed the Hawks seemed to get down in the mouth once they got behind and you can't do that if you're going for a Stanley Cup.

'Fast Goal Hurt Blues'

Tom Johnson, former defence star with Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, was in New York Tuesday night when Montreal defeated New York Rangers 3-2 in the third game of their Stanley Cup semi-final. Johnson, a former Norris Trophy winner as best NHL defenceman in 1958-59, now is assistant to Weston Adams, president of the Boston club.

Written for The Canadian Press
By TOM JOHNSON

NEW YORK (CP)—The Rangers came out as though they intended to push the Canadiens right off the ice.

But that first fast goal by Claude Larose forced them to change their style.

In Saturday's game in Montreal I thought that whoever got the second goal would win it and gain momentum in the game and in the series.

Then John Ferguson scored for Montreal in the third period and Ralph Backstrom added one more.

Tonight Rangers found themselves at a distinct disadvantage when Canadiens got the jump in 13 seconds.

You couldn't fault Ed Giacomin on that goal because the puck was bouncing in the crease and when it jumps around like that sometimes you just can't grab it.

They could call Jean Beliveau's goal a soft goal too, but don't forget Beliveau hit the corner of the net just right.

I thought Giacomin came up with a terrific stop on Gilles Tremblay in the second period when New York got caught without one defenceman back and Bellveau, Bobby Rousseau and Gilles Tremblay got a three-man break.

This crowd here lifts the Rangers right up. They haven't been in the playoffs, but I don't think the fans here are any different than in Boston or Chicago for a key game like this one.

Or Saturday Night

Finals 'Never On Sunday'

TORONTO (CP) — Ron Andrews of Montreal, publicity director of the National Hockey League, said Tuesday an NHL contract with CBS means there will be no Saturday night or Sunday games in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final this year.

"Any weekend games will be played Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:35 p.m., eastern time," Andrews said. He was in Toronto for the third game of the best-of-seven semi-final series between Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Andrews said games during the week will be played as usual on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

CBS had a contract to televise four playoff games this year on Saturday afternoons. A strike by members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists cancelled the first scheduled telecast last week, a game between New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens.

Pro Hockey Sacrifice Says Carl

MONTREAL (CP)—A hockey player sacrifices a great deal of his time to the sport when he turns professional, says Carl Brewer, star defenceman with the national hockey team which represented Canada in the world championships at Vienna this summer.

"That's one of the main reasons I quit the NHL," Brewer said in an interview Tuesday. "I wanted to get a good education and get fed up with taking summer and evening courses so I left the National Hockey League and attended the University of Toronto where I received my Bachelor of Arts degree."

But in 1966, drawn back to hockey once again, Carl Brewer fought for reinstatement as an amateur and joined the national team.

The 28-year-old Torontonian was the only member of Canada's national team to make the all-star team picked by 123 sports writers at the conclusion of the 1967 world hockey tournament.

In Montreal as a goodwill ambassador for the Tea Council of Canada, the ex-Maple Leaf player commented on European competition.

"On the whole, I would say Europeans have a more disciplined attitude towards the game than North Americans. Our approach is a little different.

"Although we work for perfection, we regard hockey as a sport which is a good deal of fun. Actually, that's the way any sport should be regarded. It's important to be contented, but it's equally important to enjoy the game.

"Many people say today's hockey playing is rough. Well, they should have seen it 15 years ago. Hockey is tame today."

Aqueduct Open But Fans Scarce

NEW YORK (AP)—It almost seemed as though the bettors had lost the habit of going to the races.

Just 17,136 turned out Tuesday to welcome the thoroughbreds back to Aqueduct after the end of a boycott by members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association that had closed the track for five consecutive racing days.

A total of $2,382,123 was wagered on the nine race card. This compared to the crowd of 26,751 and a mutuel handle of $2,830,648 a week ago Tuesday, the last day of racing before the horsemen's boycott for higher purses.

New York Racing Association agreed Monday to increase minimum purses from $3,500 to $4,000 and the state promised to reduce its take next year to 9% per cent from 10 per cent.

The failure of the legislature to do that this year irked the horsemen and led to the boycott.

A total of 108 horses were entered for today's nine races as compared with 103 for Tuesday.

Before the boycott, the usual entry list for weekdays ran between 70 and 80.

Up Three Games

Coaches Won't Concede Habs 'In'

NEW YORK (CP)—The Blakes and Emile Francis, bitter adversaries in their semi - final round of Stanley Cup jostling, agree on one thing—there is some rough going ahead before a series winner is declared.

Coach Blake's Montreal Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, took a stranglehold on the best - of - seven round Tuesday night with a 3-2 win for their third straight victory.

Canadiens had previously won 6-4 and 3-1 decisions on home ice.

Francis told reporters after the loss that his team is "not a bit demoralized" but is precarious position.

"You think you saw action in the game," Francis said of the hard-fought contest. "Wait until you see Thursday's game."

Blake refused to concede his club as a shoo-in to advance to the finals.

"They're not giving up and they could still be dangerous," Blake said.

Canadiens showed signs of running the home club out of the rink in the first period as Claude Larose scored his first series goal with just 13 seconds elapsed. Then Jean Beliveau, a tower of strength for the winners all night on both offence and defence, gave Montreal a 2-0 lead at the 3:08 mark.

Beliveau's hard shot from the left side and just inside the blue line came while Montreal's Terry Harper and New York's Reggie Fleming were serving minor penalties for exchanging shoves along the boards.

However, Montreal's Bobby Rousseau was caught slashing at 15:48 and 61 seconds later defenceman Jim Neilson put Rangers back in the game as he beat rookie goalie Rogatien Vachon with a screened drive from the point.

Rousseau scored near the two-minute mark of the second period when he deflected Henri Richard's goal behind Rangers' goalie Giacomin. New York's Wayne Hillman was serving a penalty for interfering with Montreal's Ralph Backstrom at the time.

Two minutes later, Earl Ingarfield moved the Rangers to within one goal of the Canadiens again with a backhand shot.

The teams battled through a scoreless third period with Canadiens pouring the puck into the New York end and forechecking the Rangers before they could organize an attack.

Larose said his early goal had been the result of a bouncier puck than clocked Giacomin.

Despite the unsettling effect of Larose's goal, the Rangers rallied to outshoot the Canadiens by 15-11 margin in the opening period. However the winners outshot the New York ones by 13-8 and 14-6 margins in the remaining two periods.

Blake said his club's forechecking — especially in the third period—was the prime factor in the win.

"We played well defensively through and when we were protecting that one - goal lead we allowed them only six shots on goal."

"You can't make mistakes against Montreal," said Francis "and when you spot them two quick goals you're going to have an uphill climb all the way."

Francis and Giacomin agreed that Rousseau's winning goal was "weird."

"I don't know what happened on that one," Giacomin said.

"It just hit a stick and somehow went in. I didn't see it."

Beliveau missed his second test - minute, empty-net goal in two games. Ranger defender crossed his path before he could get his shot away in the final minute of play after Giacomin had been yanked in favor of a sixth attacker. He hit the goal post on a similar situation in Saturday's game in Montreal.

Referee John Ashley called seven minor penalties during the rugged contest - four to Rangers.

The early goal by Larose fell short by four seconds of setting an NHL playoff record. The fastest goal in Stanley Cup play was scored by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in nine seconds April 1, 1954, against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Richard, the Canadiens' centre, became embroiled with an avid New York fan during the third period. Richard and Harry Howell locked themselves in a shoving match along the boards. As Ash reached over and grasped Richard's stick and when he refused to let go the Montreal player smashed it along the glass partition.

Both teams have workouts scheduled today at Icelands, a small skating rink on top of Madison Square Garden. The Garden has been taken over by the circus until Thursday's fourth game.

Mathews Raps Former Mates; Jenkins Wins

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

In his many years with Boston —Milwaukee — Atlanta Braves, Eddie Mathews used to specialize in great opening-day performances. But it is his debut in a Houston uniform that the slugging third baseman may remember the longest.

A mighty triple against the centerfield wall in the seventh inning Tuesday night gave Mathews' new club a 1-1 tie against his old one and soon afterwards the Astros had a 6-1 opening-day victory over the Braves.

"Are you kidding," Mathews said later when asked if he'd particularly enjoyed playing a decisive part in beating his ex-team-mates. "I'm playing the team I was with for 15 years."

When the Braves traded Mathews Dec. 31, 1965, the thing that rankled him most was that the club told the press before it told him.

"I'll remember this opener," Mathews said. "I've had some good opening days. I hit a couple of home runs two or three times in the past in the opener, but I'll settle for this one."

In other National League games Tuesday, all season openers, Pittsburgh Pirates beat New York Mets 6-3, Chicago Cubs took Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and St. Louis Cardinals blanked San Francisco Giants 6-0, Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers had an open date.

The big blow in the Astros' six-run inning was Aaron Pointer's two-run double. Before the inning Denny Lemaster was pitching a one-hitter, but when he left after tiring the roof of the Astrodome fell in on the Braves.

Maury Wills showed the change from a Los Angeles to a Pittsburgh uniform hadn't affected his style as he singled twice and stole a base against the Mets. The Mets appeared not to have changed much either, committing five errors in cold Shea Stadium.

A double steal and a pop single by Lee Thomas accounted for two runs in the sixth inning that gave Chicago its triumph.

Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., went the distance for the Cubs, giving up six hits, while Jim Bunning took the loss for Philadelphia.

Bob Gibson struck out the first five men he faced, tying a National League record, and fanned 13 Giants over-all. Lou Brock's three-run homer was the big blast for the Cards, who pounded Juan Marichal for 11 hits, the most he has given up in one game.

Mom Sheds Tears

Parents Share Fergie's Glory

CHICAGO (AP)—Tears trickled from the almost sightless eyes of a woman seated near Chicago Cubs' dugout at the National League season opener in Wrigley Field Tuesday.

They were shed by the mother of Cub pitcher Ferguson Jenkins Jr., who overcame a shaky start to quell Philadelphia, 4-2, with a spunky six-hit performance.

It was the first time Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson Jenkins Sr., of Chatham, Ont., had attended a major league game pitched by their son, acquired by the Cubs as a rookie from the Phils early last season.

"Mother has about four per cent vision in one eye and six per cent in the other," said young Jenkins after his first opening day start in five baseball seasons.

"I know she couldn't see beyond the third-base coach, but just the atmosphere of the crowd thrilled her."

There was more to it than that, explained Ernie Miller, sports editor of the London Ont., Free Press, who brought Ferguson's parents to Chicago.

"We drove down in Fergie's car and brought a lot of his clothes, but we didn't know if we would see him pitch," said Miller.

When we got to the ball park, we found out Fergie was pitching. Mrs. Jenkins sat quietly when Philadelphia got a big lead on three straight singles in the second inning.

"But after he weathered a lead-off double and a walk starting the third, then striking out Dick Groat and Richie Allen, Fergie's mother turned on her little radio.

"Inning after inning, as the crowd cheered Fergie's shutout pitching, tears flowed from his mother's eyes."

For the Canadian pitcher—it also was a special day.

"I was shook up when manager Leo Durocher told me Sunday I would pitch opening day," said Jenkins. "Boy, I sat up watching TV Monday night until 1 a.m., to keep my mind off pitching."

The Cubs trailed until the sixth when a double steal and Don Thomas' single knocked the Phil's Jim Bunning for two runs and a 3-2 lead.

"Right then, I got thinking if somebody thinks I'm a starting pitcher, I better start proving it," said Jenkins, who scattered three hits over the last seven innings.

His mother and dad, a Chatham motel chef and former semi-pro outfielder, got thinking it was a memorable occasion.

"We won't see many days like this one," said Mrs. Jenkins.

Mantle Out For 10 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mickey Mantle will be out of the lineup for 10 days with an injured hamstring muscle in his left leg but will be available for pinch-hitting duty, manager Ralph Houk of New York Yankees said Tuesday.

Mantle was hurt in the opening game here Monday, rounding second base in the third inning. He had suffered a similar injury in 1965 and was kidded about it for eight days. Ray Barker will remain at first base Houk said.

The Handguns

Frank Allin turned in the high score, 261, at the Quinte Merchants' regular shoot last night.

Howard Dyck was second with 258, followed by S. Helm, bach 248, Don Parks 242 and Cliff Smith 241.

Blanks Realty 4-0

SACO Wins Championship

Shutouts were Grant Realty's success secret in the Quinte Hockey League semi - finals but it was a different story in the championship series against SACO.

SACO blanked Grant's 4-0 to wrap up the championship last night, capturing the three-tar series four games to two.

The shutout was SACO goalie John Prentice's second of the six - game series in which he gave up only 11 goals to the pennant - winning Realty crew. The winner beat Grant goalie Claude Carr 21 times.

The teams battled through a scoreless first beat last night before SACO potted one in the middle frame. Grant's run out of legs in the final ten minutes of the game when the champs pumped home three more goals.

Monday night, the clubs went into the third overtime period before Grant's stayed alive with a 4-3 win but they mounted little attack last night.

Doug Hallam fired the opening goal, assisted by D. Bradshaw and Ray Allen, at 5.30 of the second period.

French protested the 1-0 lead until Billy "The Kid" McGuire sparked the third - period scoring explosion. McGuire scored off Don Forsythe's pass at 11.10 and assisted when Doug Lucas made it 3-0 at 15.33. McGuire also scored the final goal, with Don Forsythe helping, at 19.20 but the decision was already in wraps.

Each club drew three penalties with five of the total coming in the third period. Included were fighting majors to the losers' Mike Fuzzen and SACO's Rob Burrows and roughing minors to Ken Forsythe and Ron Archer.

The league will officially wind up another successful season with a presentation banquet and dance, at Club Cesars, on April 21.

Frazier Gets Easy Victory Over Davis

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Undefeated Joe Frazier of Philadelphia let loose a barrage of vicious left hooks and stopped Jeff Davis of Houston in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout Tuesday night.

Frazier, ranked third by the World Boxing Association and fourth by Ring magazine, gave Davis little chance to strike back, keeping the Houston boxer on the ropes much of the time.

Big Names Favored At Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, who have dominated the last five Tournament of Champions, figure to continue the role when the $100,000 golfing event gets under way for its 72-hole run Thursday.

Palmer bagged the winning loot in 1962, 1963 and 1964 and Nicklaus was the big man in 1963 and 1964.

The field of professionals numbers 25, each having qualified to compete here by winning one or more tournaments sanctioned by the Professional Golfers Association during the last year.

Included in the newly crowned Masters champion, Gay Brewer, who tied for the lead with Palmer here a year ago and lost in a playoff.

This year's cast is contrasted with a different course for the first time since the tournament was inaugurated in 1953 at the Desert Inn Country Club.

With the Desert Inn under new ownership the event was shifted to the Dunes Country Club.

The Stardust course measures 6,625 yards and par is 36-35—71, and is regarded as not quite as difficult as the Desert Inn's 7,200 yards and par 36-36—72.

Palmer, Nicklaus and Art Wall Jr., who won the tournament in 1954, are the only former victors back this year.

Tribe Kicks On Fashionable Athletics

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fashionable Kansas City Athletics have countered the mini-skirt rebellion with a new style of their own, and it was enough to touch off another Charles O. Finley colorful controversy.

The American League doormats of the past have foresaken their former drab existence and stepped into first place Tuesday night wearing white shoes that left Cleveland Indians blinking.

The A's opened their 1967 season by beating the Indians 4-3 on Fred Whitfield's error with the bases loaded in the seventh inning in Kansas City, and joined Baltimore Orioles, California Angels and New York Yankees in first place.

The Orioles, world champions last season, clubbed Minnesota Twins 4-3 on Vic Davalillo's dropped Detroit Tigers 4-2 to grab their share. The Yankees beat Washington Senators 5-0 Monday.

BROOKS ROBINSON

The only other AL game, Chicago White Sox at Boston, was postponed because of cold weather.

Joe Adcock, making his debut as Cleveland manager, claimed the white shoes worn by Kansas City pitcher Jim Nash distracted his hitters and protested the game after the first pitch.

However American League president Joe Cronin and Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires, already had given the Athletics permission to start the season with their classy and colorful footwear.

"White shoes aren't going to bother a hitter," said Kansas City manager Alvin Dark. "A pitcher has both feet on the ground when he released the ball. A hitter is going to be following the ball, not the shoes."

Nash stopped the Indians on five hits and threw nine runs for seven innings before giving way to a pinch-hitter.

The Orioles rapped out 15 hits as winner Jim Kaat of the Twins for four first-inning runs in a game old story of 1966 as Frank Robinson singled home one run and Brooks Robinson homered for two.

George Brunet turned back Detroit with a three-hitter in Anaheim as the California Angels opened with a 4-2 victory. Don Mincher and Rick Reichardt supplied the punch for the Angels.

Blazers Enter Central Finals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oklahoma City Blazers, regular-season champions in the Central Hockey League, moved into the league finals by defeating Houston Apollos 3-1 Tuesday night. The Blazers won the best-of-seven semi-final series 4-2.

In another semi-final game, Memphis Wings defeated Omaha Knights 4-3 to square their series 3-3.

FIVE PINS

Bill Robertson climbed and Jim McKenzie stumbled last week in the city average "Big 7" race into a three - way battle again. Robinson bowled his average from 383.5 to 384.3 for a gain of three points. McKenzie lost from 377.5 to 375.9 while Robertson's average went from 372 even to 374.3 but the former used to third because of Robertson's big loss. Robinson and Shirley Mercer "A" have only this week to change their average positions. Bernie Claude has two nights of bowling left to try and raise his 373.1 to the top. Lou Labelle is 373.4, Jack Canning 373.3, Jim Beckett 372.4 and Bob Saylor 368.5. Round out the list.

It's still a four - team race in Quinte Commercial "A" League as Bowlerettes Pro Shop keep on gaining and Hill Rollers close behind with 42. High scores for men were turned in by Vern Hall (272), Ken Belcher 262 (975) and D. Spearing (971) while for ladies Peggy Spearing rolled 260 (944) and Vera Hall 257 (944).

The Men's Commercial "B" League opened its playoffs this week. Ind P. Boxer turned in a big score of 833 (348). Other good strings went to L. Bowers 326, D. Hall 321, Ken Belcher 319, Murray Thorne 311, (347), C. McKenna 310, Zachery Vid and H. Kelley 306.

Best scores from the Rahekah Wednesday Ladies League last week went to Lucy Wannamaker of the Coasters 343 (325), Ethel Garson of Lucky Five 313 (331) and Ruth Coleman of Coasters 311 (316).

Bill Morrison had a new high score in the Quinte Men's League last week, a big 886 which included singles of 344 and 315, to help Keep Fit Bakes to first place, with Bowlerettes Pro Shop in second and Bert Newman 704.

Thunderbirds wound up with 749 points atop the Ladies Business League. Tigers had 736, Jets 730, Hootowls 705, Hard-workers 702, Bowlerettes 701, Rockets 700, Brown Bombers 698, Hurricanes 696 and Sweetie 690. Sweetie was high average bowler with 223. K. Wilson's high single with 333 and M. Paul high triple with 815. Best scores last week went to E. Mason 724 (296), M. Wilson 722 (315), M. Paul 721 (315), E. Wilson 721 (317), E. Wilson 720 (317), Verty 674 (261), F. Dafoe 634 (258).

With The Trotters

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Irish Valley won the featured sixth race at Mohawk Raceway Tuesday, one length ahead of second-place Clever Sal, to pay $7.8, and to set up an exactor payoff of $16.80.

It was the bay's fourth victory this season on six darts and brought his earnings to $3,220.

Armbro Huck, a three-year-old pacer, won his third consecutive victory in the first race to pay $3.70.

Armbro Huck combined with Dawk, who paid $9.80 in the second race, for a daily double return of $17.00.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — A pair of Canadian-owned horses battled for the winner's share of the $1,100 claiming pace at Batavia Downs Tuesday night, with Ben Carey rallying for a head victory over Adios Mike and paying $4.80.

Lloyd Gilmour drove Ben Carey, an eight-year-old owned by Bruce Woodward of Toronto, to his first win in two outings.

The winner and Adios Mike, also an eight - year - old and owned by the A. B. C. and G. Stable of St. Lambert, Que., exchanged the lead before Ben Carey came on late for the win. Dave Macomber drove Adios Mike.

Race Driver Enters Not Guilty Plea

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—William (Buddy) Gilmour, one of the leading harness race drivers in North America, pleaded not guilty Tuesday at his arraignment on charges of first degree perjury.

Shortly after he was arraigned before Nassau County Judge Douglas Young, the 34-year-old horseman who was born in Lucan, Ont., was released without bail for a further hearing.

Gilmour was indicted by a grand jury Monday, the sixth indictment by the jury since it began an investigation of harness racing early last year. Gilmour was accused of lying before a grand jury about who beat him up after he won a race at Roosevelt Raceway.

Legislature Members Debate Housing Problem

TORONTO (CP) — Members of all three parties in the provincial legislature Tuesday gave advice to Stanley Randall, minister of economics and development, on how to relieve the housing shortage in Ontario.

Out government red tape and institute planning, said Eddie Sargeat (L—Gray North), adding that it took four years to complete a housing project for senior citizens in Owen Sound.

Abolish provincial and federal sales taxes on building materials to reduce the cost of homes, added Bernard, Newman (L — Windsor ; Walkerville).

Why couldn't the provincial sales tax be rebated to the builder or purchaser after the home was completed asked George Kerr (PC—Halton East).

In reply, Mr. Randall said the government was interested in any pre-fabricated buildings that could meet National Building Code specifications.

He said he would like to see provincial sales taxes on building material removed but that he wouldn't recommend it because similar demands would be made by other industries.

Where would you draw the line, he asked.

In other business:

1. Highways Minister George Gomme said the department plans to modify safety guard rails and bury the ends of them to eliminate accidents in which cars are "impaled" by the end of the rails. He said all guard rails would have buried ends eventually.

2. Attorney - General Arthur Wishart said he wants the unquest into the death of a man in the Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital in North Toronto to go ahead as soon as possible. However, he said, before it could be proceeded with he would have to consult with an inquiry commissioner to be appointed into the dismissal of Toronto's chief coroner, Dr. Morton Shulman.

Corporation Law Forces Disclosure

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial Secretary Robert Welch said Tuesday the cabinet has approved regulations under corporation laws passed last year which will require "an exceedingly high standard of disclosure" by public companies incorporated in Ontario.

Mr. Welch told the legislature the regulations, now being published, are virtually identical to new regulations under the Securities Act which require disclosure by companies incorporated outside Ontario which do business in the province or are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

He said the corporation law plus the regulations will set a standard of disclosure "higher than that required by any other jurisdiction in Canada and, I understand, the world."

They require that all public companies make an annual solicitation for proxies which will include the provision of detailed financial statements and an outline of matters that will be voted upon at the annual meeting.

Shareholders are also to be given extensive information on the stewardship of the companies' officers and directors.

Mr. Welch said the regulations "provide the forms in which insiders of companies incorporated in Ontario shall report any trading in the securities of their company."

The first returns are to be made by June 10.

Canada Appoints Mme. Georges Vanier First Female Member of Privy Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Mme. Georges Vanier was sworn in Tuesday as a member of the Privy Council of Canada on the eve of her departure from the capital.

Chief Justice Robert Taschereau, administrator of Canada until Roland Michener becomes the new Governor-General next Monday, administered the oath in a Government House ceremony.

Prime Minister Pearson and other members of the cabinet attended the ceremony, the final one before Mme. Vanier leaves Government House where she has spent more than seven years.

Today, she leaves for Montreal by train to take up permanent residence there.

The prime minister announced the appointment in the Commons earlier Tuesday and described Mme. Vanier as "one-half of a perfect partnership in service to Canada."

Mr. Pearson said that the wife of the late Governor-General Georges P. Vanier steered a place in the hearts of all Canadians that was equalled only by her distinguished husband.

Mr. Pearson said that the appointment, which entitles Mme. Vanier to the designation of "honorable" for life, makes her the first woman so honored except for women members of the cabinet.

Old Frigate Endangers Sewer Line

KINGSTON (CP) — Mayor Robert Fray asked the department of transport Tuesday to secure the drifting frigate Inch Arran and said the former Royal Canadian Navy vessel threatens a main sewer line.

In a registered letter, the mayor demanded that the department do something about the ship, Monday, the ship dragged its anchor 100 feet closer to the harbor causing basin.

Businessmen Frigid

UK's Safety-first Budget Maintains Austerity Squeeze

LONDON (CP)—The British government's no-change budget got a frigid reception today from almost everyone but the international money market and Britain's motorcyclists.

James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, in the blueprint he unveiled Tuesday, chose a safety-first policy for the pound sterling and ruled out any relief from the austerity of freeze and squeeze.

It was, as the experts predicted, a neutral budget, with little or no relief for the average taxpayer.

The Conservative Daily Mail said the budget expressed Prime Minister Wilson's determination that the country would never again have a sterling crisis.

The independent left-wing Sun said Callaghan was right not to be generous, "but did he have to be quite so uninspired and uninspiring?"

Members of Parliament, businessmen and union leaders reacted with disappointment and disillusion. Twenty Labor MPs signed a House of Commons motion demanding more state aid for poor families.

Hopes for tax cuts or measures to boost investment and reduce unemployment were dashed by Callaghan.

The cautious course he charted for economic recovery was better appreciated abroad. International money dealers expressed confidence by raising the pound's dollar rate to just a fraction below the parity level of $2.80.

Callaghan did cut instalment plan deposits on purchase of motorcycles and extended the maximum allowable repayment time to 27 months from 24.

Asked in a television interview why motorcycles were the only sector of the economy to get relief from the nine-month-long credit squeeze, he replied: "Motorcycles are always thought of in terms of the young man in a black-jacket at 100 miles an hour along a bypass.

"In fact, 85 per cent of motorcycles are low-powered and are used by people for getting to work. I want to help this cheap means of getting to work."

Businessmen agreed with Conservative Leader Edward Heath that Callaghan had produced a "lost opportunities" program by not cutting taxes to encourage investment.

Labor unions were galled by Callaghan's warning that no big wage increases will be tolerated after the compulsory freeze ends in July.

Callaghan told Parliament the government's squeeze was worthwhile—Britain repaid massive short-term debts following last summer's sterling crisis; reserves and exports were up; and sterling was strong.

Newsboy Attacked by Dog While Picking Up Bundle

NAPANEE — Napanee definitely has a dog problem. Last Thursday morning a large brown dog attacked ten - year - old Joey Huard at 6.00 a.m. as he was picking up his bundle of newspapers in front of Silk's Drug Store on Dundas St. He jumped up on the boy, tearing his jacket sleeve and frightening him both. Tom Harrison who was passing by got out of his truck and drove the dog off with his cattle cane.

A few moments later Joey saw the dog in the yard of a home in the next block and was afraid to go in. He called the police from a neighboring house, but before they arrived the dog had made his escape.

When asked about his policy with respect to dogs, Police Chief Boyce said that when the police are called in such a case as that of Joey Huard, they will respond but that, definately, the members of the police force are not mere dog catchers to round up stray animals.

Hellyer May Get Chance to Sue Nugent

OTTAWA (CP)—The debate on armed forces unification hit another rough phase in the Commons Tuesday, precipitated with the words "deception" and "lie" and even a threat of legal action by Defence Minister Hellyer.

Mr. Hellyer said he will take Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton-Strathcona) to court if Mr. Nugent repeats outside the Commons a charge he made in the House Tuesday night.

Mr. Nugent had expressed admiration for what he called Mr. Hellyer's skill in using "the big lie" technique developed by Adolf Hitler. The defence minister said if the same thing were said outside the Commons where there is no immunity from legal action, "I'll have him prove it in a court of law."

Mr. Nugent said he would repeat the statement in a speech tonight at St. Anne, Man., just outside Winnipeg.

Other remarks Tuesday had almost the same bite. It was the seventh day of clause-by-clause debate on a government bill to transform the armed forces into a one-uniform, common-rank single service. The Commons remains stuck on the first of 61 clauses.

At one point in an hour-long, wide-ranging attack, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said of Mr. Hellyer:

"The minister withheld information, he did not give a true picture, and he tampered with the evidence of witnesses before it was given to the Commons defence committee."

Mr. Hellyer hit back, saying Mr. Diefenbaker had not given a single example of the alleged deception of Parliament.

"Where is his sense of British justice" asked Mr. Hellyer.

"Where is his regard for the Bill of Rights"

Mr. Hellyer said both he and External Affairs Minister Martin have denied that government policy is to restrict Canada's armed forces to a United Nations peacekeeping role.

Mr. Hellyer had a reply ready for Conservative MPs who have read into Hansard scores of anti - unification quotes from testimony of retired officers before the Commons defence committee.

He said these officers, as chiefs of staff, had to protect the vested interests of their service—guarding its traditions and rank structure and making sure of a fair share of appointments and military expenditures.

"I believe if you were to select anyone in the whole world you could not find anyone who would be more biased in respect of military unification," he said.

No Decision Reached on Landreville

OTTAWA (CP)— The government has made no decision about seeking the removal of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville from the Ontario Supreme Court, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday.

Nor has the government decided its position on the judge's request to appear personally before the bar of the Commons to defend himself.

Mr. Pearson was replying to questions from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker about Mr. Justice Landreville, who was declared by a royal commission last year as unfit to hold office. A joint Senate-Commons committee recently upheld that decision.

House-building Record Forecast

OTTAWA (CP)— Labor Minister Nicholson said in the Commons Tuesday that Canada will set a record this year in spring house-building activity.

But his statement, as minister in charge of housing, drew protests from opposition MPs that the over-all house-construction activity of the country is slack and prices are rising.

The government announced earlier that it is undertaking a program of direct mortgage lending during April and May to inject additional funds into house construction.

Reid Scott (NDP — Toronto Danforth) said the housing crisis is worsening, and 70 to 75 per cent of families needing houses can't afford them at current prices and interest rates under the National Housing Act.

Mr. Nicholson said he would agree there is a housing crisis, but denied that it is worsening.

Webb Told Dairy Aid Not Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—Subsidies to fluid milk producers is a matter of provincial government jurisdiction, Agriculture Minister Greene said Tuesday in reply to pleas that dairy subsidies be extended to them.

He said in a Commons reply to Rod Webb (PC—Hastings-Frontenac) that federal responsibility for dairy subsidies involves only producers of manufacturing milk. Fluid milk producers were under provincial quotas and supports for them were up to the provinces.

Mr. Webb, urging extension of the federal support program, said many telegrams are coming in from producers saying there will be unemployment unless drastic action is taken soon.

CHECK & COMPARE

Quality for Quality... Brand for Brand!

We've Said It All Along! Right?

For years, Dominion customers have been smart enough to know good food values when they see them! It's one of the many reasons more Canadians shop at Dominion than at any other store. Week in and week out, Dominion's everyday low prices have measured up! Add the dozens of weekend specials which Dominion regularly features and you're bound to come to this conclusion: Dominion offers you the greatest variety of items at low prices . . . not just this week and maybe next week . . . but every week in the year! At Dominion you know where you stand, because our policy on pricing is clear, concise and competitive! If you've been a 'regular' at Dominion, isn't it comforting to know you have been getting (and will continue to get) maximum value for your food dollar! If you shop elsewhere . . . check and compare! Chances are you'll switch to Dominion for keeps!

Our Gift To You Has Always Been LOWER PRICES!

Boris Karloff Given Party For Long Time in Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last said in reflection. "Here I am in my 80th year, and I am still getting my breath and bed bat at my profession.

"I am one of the very small family of the human race who happens to thoroughly enjoy his work. If I didn't enjoy it, I wouldn't go on."

Despite a leg brace to aid an arthritic knee, he maintains an active schedule. He and his wife now live in a London flat and a cottage in Hampshire, but he comes here twice a year for films. During the last year he also made a film of Spy in Spain and worked with Raquel Welch in The Screamers in London.

His fondness for acting goes back to 1910, when he made his stage debut in Kamloops, B.C., as a villain, and toured Western Canada. He came to Hollywood in 1919 and knew early that success until he lurched on to the screen as Dr. Frankenstein's handiwork.

AT THE BELLE — The Lord High Executioner John Reed has a few words for the wedding chances of "Wahl-Poo" and "Yum Yum," played by Philip Potter and Valerie Masterson in The Mecado now playing at the Belle Theatre.

Mikado at Belle For Only Two Days

Warner Bros. presents a new widescreen Technicolor motion picture production of the world famed D'Oyly Carte Opera Company in the Gilbert-and-Sullivan favorite, The Mikado, at the Belle Theatre here for four performances today and Thursday.

The performances include matinees and evening show. Tickets for each performance will not exceed the capacity of the theatre, thus guaranteeing a seat to each ticket holder.

The D'Oyly Carte Mikado has been hailed throughout the world. A recent stage performance in New York was greeted with acclaim. The New York Times reviewer wrote: "The Mikado has been flashing its fine bric-a-brac for 81 years. But the point is, if you haven't seen the D'Oyly Carte production, you really haven't seen the show. Similarly, the World Journal Tribune reviewer declared: The Mikado remains as perfect as ever.

Among the many tuneful favorites in the Mikado are A Wandering Minstrel, Three Little Maids from School, The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring, Here's a How-de-do and He's Gone and Married Yum-Yum.

DATE OF GRAVES

Primitive man first started to bury his own dead 50,000 years ago.

Dick Van Dyke's Special Amusing, Lovable All Ways

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Van Dyke did just about everything in his first special television program Tuesday night.

It was an impressive demonstration of versatility. He moved from a Mack Sennett style comedy to magic tricks to playing Bach on a harpsichord with complete ease. The star was both amusing and lovable all the way.

The hour opened with a copy of old silent film comedy—speeded up action and all—showing Van Dyke, stuck in Los Angeles traffic.

Then there was a sketch with Van Dyke playing the Great Ludwig, a 97-year-old magician, tottering through a series of magic mishaps.

Highlights of the hour were a reprise of a Record Act with his first show business partner, Pitt Erikson, and a final, elaborate production number derived from Mary Poppins.

Van Dyke's pantomime is not, however, as clean and legible as that of Red Skelton. His dancing is not as incredibly light-footed as that of Danny Kaye. His comedy lines are funnier, as he has observed, when they are written for him by Carl Reiner. But the fact that he can do so many different things so well makes him an interesting and impressive performer.

Ursula Andress Having Love Affair With Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Ursula Andress, whose body is a norm, is having a love affair with life.

"I would like to be perfect," she said. "I would like to see the whole world . . . to know everything . . . to take full advantage of the beauty of the earth."

Ursula — her name means "little bear" — is the Swiss-born, miss who stepped to stardom in a tiny bikini as the romantic buddy of James Bond in Dr. No.

In her latest film, Casino Royale, based on another Ian Fleming spy fable, Ursula is cast as "the richest woman in the world," a role which permits her her Swiss sense of thrift and which she would just as soon play in real life.

"I love beautiful things," she said frankly. "If I had a million dollars, I wouldn't be bored in my life. I would buy houses and paintings — and invest the rest, and make it a little more."

The honey-blonde actress, who has the kind of shape that makes the dreams of hermits doesn't particularly care to be regarded as a sex symbol. According to her studio fact sheet, her mathematical measurements are 37-22-35, and in her case figures certainly don't lie.

"I really don't know my dimensions," said Miss Andress. "Only my dressmaker knows them, I suppose. The rest is visual."

Yes, Ma'am. Yes, indeed.

Although she now has made 13 pictures, Ursula has no intention to wind up the days of the film industry.

"The movies are a business. There is so much money involved that people are under stress and tension, tension, tension. Sometimes it tires me.

"But if in your work you can give pleasure to someone else, you can be very proud. And if I do well in the stock market also, I feel very proud about that, too."

Ursula, like most Swiss, is multilingual. She speaks Italian, French, Spanish, German and English.

"But when I think to myself, I don't think in any one language," she said. "I think in pictures, colored pictures. I am that the way everyone's mind really works!"

Ursula is divorced from actor John Derek and has been escorted recently by Jean Paul Belmondo, who also stars in Casino Royale.

"But I am not engaged," she said. "It is not involved. I am simply me. But I can never tell you whether I want to stay that way.

"I just want to live as much as I can. I feel I am born too late already. If it were possible, I would like to have done everything and known everybody. Time goes so fast."

To Your Good Health

Post-menopause Bone Thinning Painful

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send your booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." (Self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin enclosed.) Would you comment on postmenopausal bone thinning? how you know you have it and whether arthritis could become involved with this? — M. S. C.

You'll find this included in the menopause booklet. Arthritis there is not a great deal to say about it — unless you got into the chemistry of it, which then becomes very complicated.

The term for this condition is osteoporosis. Our bodies are constantly being replaced, cell by cell, and this includes the bones.

When calcium is being withdrawn from the bones more rapidly than it is replaced, that is osteoporosis. X-rays shows it. But the patient naturally has no way of knowing it unless symptoms appear which call for investigation.

It usually is painful. Bones of the spine lose some of their density, and some rather slight shifting of the vertebrae can put pressure on nerves. In severe cases, the bones get brittle and fractures can result, but treatment ordinarily prevents the condition from becoming that severe.

Basically, treatment consists of giving hormones and making sure that the diet includes plenty of calcium. Sometimes calcium is given in tablet form.

Calling it post-menopausal bone thinning is somewhat inaccurate. It is true that it is more likely to occur after menopause, but that does not mean that it is a routine part of menopause. Some women are affected by it; others are not.

And osteoporosis can affect men, too, although not as often. Some brittleness of the bones is not unusual in either sex as folks grow older.

In brief, women should be aware of the possibility of this trouble which, if it is to develop, is more likely to occur after menopause. Genuine treatment is not required or helpful. The slow, simple process of making sure that the system has adequate calcium, and administration of suitable hormones to encourage the uptake of calcium in the bones is the wise course. No sudden or spectacular improvement is to be expected, but gradual improvement is.

Arthritis is not directly involved in osteoporosis, but it has not to say that arthritis may not develop concurrently, or that the change in bone texture might not, in some cases, accentuate arthritis if it already exists, but osteoporosis is not arthritis. Keep the two ailments in mind as separate entities, not parts of the same thing.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 18-month-old son seems to have an eye that turns inward slightly once in a while. I have never been able to see it, but others have commented on it, especially in pictures of him. Could an eye specialist help him or is this something he will grow out of? — C. D.S.

It must be slight if you can't see it. Strabismus (turning in of the eye) at the age of 18 months can correct itself, so I see no harm in waiting. If the condition becomes more pronounced, then see a specialist. Eye exercises may help then. If not, surgery on the eye muscles could be considered.

Note to L.E.R.: It is not quite true that nothing will help psoriasis. First, medication can be applied to reduce the scaling and itching. Sometimes one treatment or another will clear up a case — although we never can tell in advance. What works for one ok, especially in pictures of him. Could an eye specialist help him or is this something contagious.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe for yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help reveal slender more graceful curves, reducible pounds and inches of ugly flesh (as don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried the plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly loose, ugly fat starts—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

New Brunswick School Costs Absorbed Without Tax Boost

FREDERICTON (CP) — Finance Minister L. G. DesBrisay said Tuesday New Brunswick will spend more in 1967-68 than in any fiscal year in its history —but there will be no tax increases.

At the same time, Mr. DesBrisay told the legislature in his eighth budget speech in six years that the Progressive Conservative Opposition was wrong in saying the province would hit bankruptcy under the Liberal government's controversial municipal reform legislation.

"They were wrong . . . The new program is a reality. . . . The province's financial position is sound. And we have grasped those programs which provide the forward thrust to our economy on which future progress depends."

The estimates, termed New Brunswick's "largest and by far most important centennial project," predict over-all spending of $215,874,000 on both ordinary and capital accounts during the fiscal year started April 1. The figure represents an increase of about $20,000,000 over two budgets brought down during the fiscal year ended March 31.

Total revenues and recoveries will reach $200,788,000, leaving $12,786,000 in capital expenditures to be financed by borrowing.

"This is a magnificent achievement for our province," Mr. DesBrisay said. "Of total capital expenditure of almost $79,000,000, all but about $13,000,000 will be financed from current revenues and recoveries. The overall effect of this budget will be to increase our net debt by $9,738,588.

However, Opposition Leader G. C. Van Horne termed the budget a "smoke screen and said it will widen the gap between semi-depression in New Brunswick and increasing prosperity in Canada.

"On education alone, he said outside the house, "it falls far short not only in what is needed but as the figures clearly indicate the budget ignores the need to catch up with the rest of Canada. We are still going to be 20 years behind.

Education, one of several major services transferred from municipalities to the provincial administration under its reform legislation, will receive a total of more than $73,000,000. Included in this amount is $31,000,000 for local school operation and $17,500,000 for new school construction, renovation and equipment.

As recommended in the Deutsch committee report released last week, university operating grants will rise to nearly $8,000,000 from $3,300,000 last year. A post-secondary education commission will be established with the power to borrow funds for capital assistance to universities.

The budget set aside $250,000 to provide $300 scholarships to all students entering universities with at least a 75-per-cent average on departmental examinations and provided funds for a program of bursaries for needy first-year college students.

Among spending programs outlined in the budget were: A $24,000,000 public building program with emphasis on public school and hospital construction. . .

Nearly $5,000,000 will go toward new hospital construction and renovations which will add 1,000 beds to the provinces hospital facilities. Moncton and the University of New Brunswick here will receive a total of $1,000,000 for nursing school facilities. . .

New Brunswick Housing Corp. will be set up at a cost of $35,000.

The massive reform legislation, which gave Premier Louis J. Robichaude government control of health, welfare, justice, education, assessment and taxation went into effect Jan. 1.

Wine Dispute Founders On Diplomatic Immunity

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice W. R. Jackett ruled Tuesday that Chateau Gai Wines Ltd. of Toronto and the government of France should pay their own costs in the dispute over the champagne.

The argument arose over whether the Exchequer Court could force the French government to send a representative to the hearings involving the name champagne as a trade-mark in Canada.

The French lay claim to the word under the Trade Marks Act of 1933 and have the word registered in the Trade Marks Register in Ottawa.

Chateau Gai, which makes two varieties of the wine and sells it under the title of Canadian champagne, wants the word struck out as a trade-mark.

The French ambassador refused to accept the service of notice of motion regarding the case, claiming diplomatic immunity.

Mr. Justice Jackett said his action put the court in the embarrassing position of having to rule against a foreign power.

Harold Fox of Toronto, Chateau-Gai counsel, quoted Canadian, U.S. and all-England law in an attempt to obtain a court ruling that the French government be made to appear.

Mr. Justice Jackett said it would be contrary to international and domestic law.

He allowed 30 days so that the French government through the deputy-attorney general and the external affairs department in Ottawa can be notified of the proceeding as a courtesy.

Manning Declines To Call Election

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature prorogued Tuesday without the widely-predicted election call.

Premier E. C. Manning has given no hint of a possible election date, although it had been speculated that he would dissolve the house at the same time it was prorogued. He need not call an election until June, 1968, although an election as early as June is still possible.

Since coming to office in 1935, the Social Credit government has established a pattern of elections every four years.

Standing in the 63-seat house is Social Credit 58, Liberal three, Coalition one and NDP one. Redistribution will add one seat each in Edmonton and Calgary for the next election.

The most spectacular debates of session revolved around Garth Turcott (NDP — Pincher Creek - Crowsnest) and his charges that Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman used or attempted to use their cabinet posts for personal gain.

Johnson Promises Latin America Help

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (Reuters) — President Johnson today told the Western Hemisphere summit conference that he would recommend to the U.S. Congress a "substantial contribution" to a fund to help ease the transition into the projected Latin American common market.

The first task, the president said, was to forge a great new common market, and, if Latin America decided to create such a market, he said, "I shall recommend to the Congress a substantial contribution to a fund that will help ease the transition into an integrated, regional economy."

Johnson did not mention any specific aid figures, but in a message to Congress March 13 he proposed $1,500,000,000 in additional aid during the next five years.

Johnson told Latin American presidents at a private session before the public inauguration of the summit Wednesday that he would consider allowing U.S. aid loans to Latin America to be used to purchase Latin American goods. Most aid is currently tied exclusively to dollar purchases.

Johnson also said the U.S. would explore with other governments the possibility of giving temporary tariff advantages to Latin America and other developing countries.

In pre-summit bargaining, the Latin Americans pressed the U.S. to make trade and aid concessions as a basic step toward agreement in forming a regional common market.

Observers said the Latin Americans appeared excited by Johnson's statement.

U.S. officials explained that any partial lifting of the dollar-tied policy would apply only to the purchase of capital goods. It would be permitted only if it did not hurt the U.S. balance of payments situation, they said.

In a text issued by U.S. delegation headquarters of Johnson's speech to the informal session, the American president said he would "undertake consultations" on the dollar-tied loans.

"We shall try to establish whether we can agree that air funds for capital projects and related technical assistance can be used in Alliance — for — Progress countries in ways which will protect the U.S. balance of payments," he said.

Adenauer Weaker

RHOENDORF, West Germany (Reuters)—Former chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported weakening today in his fight against influenza and bronchitis.

A medical bulletin on the 91-year-old statesman said his resistance is declining. "The function of the heart and circulation has weakened," it said.

"The resistance of the organism is declining," the medical bulletin added.

Doctors at the Bonn University clinic under Dr. Adolf Heymer were continuing their efforts at Adenauer's Rhineside home at Rhoendorf.

Two-hour Border Clash Shatters Korean Truce

SEOUL (AP) — About 100 North and South Korean soldiers exchanged fire for two hours before dawn today in the biggest border clash since the 1953 Korean armistice. At least three North Koreans and one South Korean were killed.

It was the third clash in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea in two weeks. At least 12 Koreans have been killed, 11 of them from the North.

The United Nations command said the gunfight today started when a 12-man South Korean patrol spotted three North Korean intruders about 425 yards south of the armistice line dividing the demilitarized zone.

It said that when the patrol attacked the intruders, it was fired on by a reinforced North Korean platoon of 40 to 60 men.

Two South Korean officers and 34 men moved up to help the outnumbered patrol, the command said, and the South Koreans began firing artillery —the first reported use of artillery since the armistice.

Soon 'Pill' May Work If Taken Morning After

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Testing of a "morning-after" contraceptive pill is well advanced, the world conference of the International Planned Parenthood Federation was told today.

Doctors said the pill, known formally as the post-coitus oral contraceptive, has many advantages, including the obvious one of allowing a couple or an individual to decide in favor of birth control after as well as before sexual intercourse.

One scientist suggested that it may be a major weapon in the fight against abortion, allowing women to "change their mind" through use of a simple pill rather than having to resort to an abortion.

The doctors emphasize their belief that the contraceptive is not a form of abortion. It works by keeping the identified egg from taking residence in the womb, they explain, and the medical view is that conception is considered to have taken place only after the egg has implanted itself in the wall of the uterus.

It takes six days for the egg to move into the womb and implant itself after it has been fertilized by the male sperm, and the "morning-after pill" works during this period, Dr. John McLean Morris of the Yale University medical school explained.

Wilson Proves Quick on Figures

LONDON (CP)—The Speaker had to call for order after Hollywood's Jayne Mansfield, in the words of one observer, "thrust herself delicately" into the gallery at the House of Commons.

According to the Daily Mail cartoonist, Prime Minister Wilson muttered out of the side of his mouth to Foreign Secretary George Brown: "44-26-38, and I'm not referring to the balance of payments figures."

Con Men Get Total of $7,200 At Banks Here

Smooth working embezzlers, believed members of a well-organized gang active in Peterborough and Kingston at the same time, have victimized four Belleville banks of a total of $7,200.

Similar attempts at two other city banks were said by police to have failed when bank personnel became suspicious.

Police Inspector Harold Reid at Belleville said the modus operandi of the gang was to open small accounts at each of the banks, then after building up the accounts, present certified cheques for large amounts, and take sizable amounts out in cash.

They are part of a well organized gang," Inspector Reid said. "Banks in Peterborough and Kingston were hit at the same time with exactly the same procedure."

Inspector Reid said the accounts at six local banks were opened about a month ago.

Then on Friday afternoon phoney certified cheques on outside banks were presented for deposit.

Then again, on Monday of this week before the cheques deposited on Friday were processed, the men attempted to deposit phoney certified cheques for $4,800 and in each case asked for $1,800 in cash.

At four of the six local banks the embezzlers were successful, but they were scared away from the other two banks when bank employees became suspicious and asked for further credentials.

Inspector Reid said there was no question that the men involved were part of an organized gang.

The amounts of the certified cheques deposited were the same at six four Belleville banks and also at Peterborough and Kingston.

The Friday and Monday bank appearances of the men were at the same time in all three centres.

"They couldn't possibly have been the same men, but the method of operation and the exact amount of the cheques indicates they are part of a gang," said Inspector Reid.

"One teamster special and easy on the caviar."

Viet Cong Wrecks Bridges

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces below the demilitarized zone wrecked two bridges today that carried heavy supply traffic for U.S. marines in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces.

The two bridges that the Communists brought down were on the main highway, No. 1, from the marine base at Da Nang to Quang Tri.

The biggest was a quarter-mile-long railway and highway bridge over the river above Da Nang. Communist swimmers before dawn apparently floated explosives into place against one of the support towers, and the explosion brought down two of the five spans.

Gibraltar Parley Postponed

LONDON (AP)—Britain today postponed next week's conference with Spain on the disputed future of Gibraltar following an order by Spain banning air traffic near the British colony.

Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden told the House of Commons the postponement of the talks due to open Tuesday—is a direct result of the Spanish overflying ban.

In sombre tones, he served notice to the government of Generalissimo Franco:

"We intend to uphold to the full our rights to use the airfield at Gibraltar."

Bowden, reflecting a cabinet decision earlier today to adopt a tough posture, said Britain means to go on flying her planes in the fortress colony.

It was obvious, he said, Spain's real aim is to end all air traffic to Gibraltar.

Truckers Stay Idle At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the U.S. truck fleet rolled across the highway today after the end of a three-day lockout, but 50,000 Chicago drivers and dock workers remained off the job and turned back trucks from other points.

As a result of the coast-to-wide lockout, tons of merchandise remained stacked up at loading docks and warehouses. Spokesmen estimated thousands of plant workers would remain idle the rest of the week before operations return to normal and depleted supplies are replenished.

A Live Wire!

Robert Reid of Belleville Collegiate is among lucky few chosen across Canada for summer science program. It's a reward for lively interest in maths and science for 16-year-old student shown here conducting plant-electricity experiment.

BCI Student Selected To Take Study Program

Most people prefer to pass their summer vacations doing what they please — nothing.

For Robert Reid this summer will be doing what pleases him best — and the achievement means plenty.

With summer closing, the 16-year-old Belleville Collegiate science and maths student normally would be locked out of the laboratory facilities that fascinate him.

This year fortune — and academic accomplishment — has come to the rescue.

Yesterday the Royal Canadian Institute announced it had selected Robert along with 24 others from a national roster of top science students for a six-week study program.

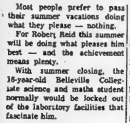
The program, which will see the select group working with specialists on scientific projects, will be held at Lakefield.

It will be topped off by a week's visit to Expo in mid-August.

Robert, in grade 12 and son of Quinte Secondary School principal, Leslie Reid, has a long case history of involvement in science and maths.

Some of his own experiments have been seen at the annual Hobby Show in Belleville.

His interest dates from grade school and likely will continue the rest of his life.



He intends to pursue it after collegiate graduation and someday — hopes to be either a teacher or, possibly, doctor.

Time to Start Planning on Vacation

Now that spring is finally here it is time to start planning for the summer vacation. The Belleville Chamber of Commerce has the necessary planning information that the tourist or vacationer needs.

The chamber offers various kinds of folders and maps to help the confused visitor to find what he's looking for. The hotels and motels in the area help the chamber to distribute these booklets.

There is an official 1967 road map of Ontario. There is a booklet telling where to stay in Ontario which contains a list of the hotels and motels in Ontario and their capacity, their rates, their facilities and their services.

Ontario campsites are listed in yet another booklet with their facilities and size and location.

The map of Northern Ontario consists of roads, boundaries, area animals, fishing waters and other bits of useful information.

Along with a map of the MacKenzie - Cartier Freeway there is a map of Ontario's Provincial Parks, Picnic Areas and Conservation parks. Guaranteed to keep the tourist and vacationer unconfused.

Trenton Businessman Dies in Hospital at 74

TRENTON — A leading member of the Quinte district business community, E. Morton Parker died in hospital on Wednesday.

President of Morton Parker Ltd., a leading Ontario silverware manufacturer, Mr. Parker died in Trenton Memorial Hospital following a brief illness. He was in his 75th year.

He was predeceased last year by his wife, Katherine Parker.

His association with the craft in which he concentrated his enterprise began early in life in his native England. It started in 1911 when he joined the silverware company of Pringle and Sons.

As a young man he came to Canada and joined the Trenton operation of Bonnefoi Procter Manufacturing Co. Ltd., serving as its general manager for 23 years.

In 1945 he launched the business operations of Morton Parker Ltd., with which he was to establish his prominence in district commerce.

In community affairs he was known as a generous donor when called upon to support worthy causes.

Mr. Parker was a member of the Trenton Rotary Club and the Belleville Club.

He is survived by his son, E. M. (Ted) Parker, Jr., and three grandchildren: James, Katherine and John.

Funeral service will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in St. George's Anglican Church, prior to cremation at Necropolis Crematorium in Toronto.

Honorary bearers will be Dr. Gerald A. Morton, Kenneth J. Couch, William House, Sr., Frederick C. Rogers, Jack Yanover, Courtland Millar and Willfred Laporte.

Bearers will be Myles Morton, J. D. Templeman, Wayne Simmons, John Saylor, Norman Armstrong and Andrew (Bud) Little.

Union Shows Appreciation Of Concert Orchestra Efforts

Although it couldn't be heard out front, something new in responsive chords was struck by Belleville musicians at the Arts Festival '67 opening here last night.

Raising the curtain for the four - day gala of local talent at Centennial Secondary School was the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra — a versatile group of musicians who play strictly for the sheer sound of music.

During intermission, while the musicians briefly rested, their conductor Steve Choma was joined backstage by Doug Aselstine, president of the Belleville Federation of Musicians — guardian of local musicians' professional status.

Object of the meeting was money — but not to split it.

Mr. Aselstine instead produced a pen, wrote out a $200 check and presented it to the orchestra on behalf of the federation.

Mr. Aselstine said the gesture was to acknowledge appreciation of one group of musicians for another's task.

"Primarily this (concert) orchestra is keeping an area of culture alive in this district. We want to show the community we know how hard they work," said the federation president.

Any such organization needs money these days whether it's amateur or professional. Maybe this will help the orchestra in some way."

The orchestra already has nine federation members — all of whom play free of charge with the blessing of their organization.

Mr. Choma had just enough time to receive the $200 on behalf of his musicians. Then he quickly returned to the podium to make the festival's opening night richer with music.

Trailer Park Being Considered

The Belleville Parks Board is considering establishing a trailer park for the accommodation of overnight visitors.

Parks Board chairman Alderman Donald Williams said today that the board is now considering purchase of a suitable parcel of land but there was no expectation of establishing the trailer park this year.

"We have too many other irons in the fire to get it underway this year," he said.

Alderman Williams said the parks board had been conscious for some time of the need for a trailer park in the city and said he would like people to know that something was being done.

Plans are for a trailer park of up to about five acres for the accommodation of overnight or short term visitors.

Alderman Williams said there have been suggestions that the land fill area east of highway 14 opposite the Zwick's Island Park be used as a trailer park but felt that this area would not be suitable.

"There is no sewer service to the area and installation would be costly," he said.

Belleville has not had a trailer park for many years and certainly not since trailers become the "in" thing for summer holiday travellers.

Minister Requests Creative Approach to Education

PICTON — A creative approach to teaching was asked by Education Minister William Davis last night.

"We must build flexibility into our program. We cannot be too restrictive," he told the annual meeting of Quinte's Life Tourist Association.

"Teachers should not just impart knowledge but awaken some sense of interest and discovery and develop the thinking processes of a youngster."

He noted nearly 25 per cent of Ontario's population is directly involved in education — either as students or teachers.

The average investment in education through municipal taxation in Ontario amounts to less than a dollar a day per family considering education municipality's total budget, half a municipality's total budget.

Facing a question - answer period, he told his audience of 100:

"In this investment in education necessary? I say without qualification, yes."

He affirmed that education costs can be directly related to economic and industrial growth of a community.

Mr. Davis agreed education costs impose a burden on municipalities and that costs of education represent about 45 per cent of the total Ontario budget.

"No matter what redistribution may be made we are still talking about the same tax dollars and the same people will have to pay for it one way or another."

The minister also touched on school consolidation — still a controversial issue in many parts of the province.

He said over the past two years following consolidation of about 1,500 school boards, the Ontario government had found "all - round improvement" in most areas.

Workers Re-instated

Charge of Intimidation Laid Against Snack-foods Firm

Union officials have charged that a Belleville snack-food firm intimidated one of its own employees who testified at an Ontario Labor Relations Board hearing.

The complaint, now being processed by board lawyers, is the latest brush between W. T. Hawkins Ltd. and the International Molders and Allied Workers Union.

The complaint was revealed hot on the heels of an OLRB decision that Hawkins must reinstate eight women employees the union claimed had been wrongfully dismissed for seeking union membership.

George Dalnard, president of the Belleville and District Labor Council, said the board's finding also ordered the company to pay wage arrears to the women dating back to their dismissal in mid-January.

The back pay totals $3,100, estimated Mr. Dalnard.

The intimidation complaint is an off-spring of the same situation.

The OLRB sat in Belleville March 30-31, hearing testimony from both sides on the union's charge that Hawkins had engaged in unfair practice when it dismissed employees following attempts to sign them for union membership.

Some days after the hearing, claimed Mr. Dalnard, the alleged incident occurred which triggered the new complaint.

"We've laid another charge against this company in regard to intimidation and the union's lawyers in Toronto have taken it up," said Mr. Dalnard.

He believed the complaint now had been filed with the OLRB.

A copy of the board's decision for re - hiring of the employees was received by the labor council yesterday.

In all, the union had represented nine employees at the March hearing.

But the order only called for the re-instatement of eight workers — all women. The ninth, a man, was "let out for other than union activities" the board felt, said Mr. Dalnard.

"Union activity started at the South Pinnacle Street plant in November and the dismissals took place about January 15," said Mr. Dalnard.

He claimed a total between 15 - 20 employees were let out but the rest did not wish the union to represent them at the hearing.

"The union now will renew its activities to sign up members," said Mr. Dalnard.

If it secures a majority of plant workers it will then apply for union certification.

"We're quite confident that this will become a union plant," said the labor council president.

Meantime, union officials were expected to confer with plant management today.

The board order only covers pay arrears to March 31 and the discussions will deal with wages due the re-instated employees since that date to the present time.

The company, which manufactures potato chips and other snack products has been operating in Belleville about 13 years following the sale of its plant at Tweed by fire.

Negotiations Open Over Weekend

TRENTON — A spokesman for I.U.E. Local 537 representing 80 striking production and maintenance workers at the Trenton Pyrotenax of Canada plant said today that the Canadian division president of the union will attend a meeting Sunday in an effort to end the now two weeks old dispute.

Cyril White, Trenton local president, said he has been informed that I.U.E. International President Paul Jennings of Washington, D.C. would appoint Canadian president George Hutchens, Toronto, to enquire into the Trenton dispute.

Mr. Hutchens took part this week in negotiations which led to settlement between Canadian General Electric and Quebec I.U.E. locals.

Mr. White said "Local 537 is well aware it is going to get a satisfactory agreement with Pyrotenax somehow and somewhere."

He claimed the present stalemate in talks was the result of company refusal to bargain on union proposals. Attempts to produce a contract settlement broke down last week at a meeting convened by Ontario labor conciliator W. J. McGuire.

Y's Activities

The Friday evening swim period for "Y" members has become so popular that the period is to be divided into two periods of one hour each — 7.00 p.m. to 8.00 and 8.00 to 9.00 p.m. For the past several weeks more members have wanted to take part than can be accommodated in the numbers permitted for the size of the pool. Starting this Friday, April 14th the pool will be cleared at 8.00 and a second period started at that time for those who could not be accommodated in the first period. Members should arrive at 7.00 p.m. or 8.00 p.m. in order to have their full hour's swim.

"Y" SUNDAY SWIMS

We goofed! Evidently the "Y" public swim period which started last Sunday is not permitted under the city by-law which permits some types of Sunday entertainment. Legal opinion suggests, however, that swims for "Y" members can be held. Those who wish to attend the swim period from 3.10 to 4.30 p.m. on Sundays will be enrolled as introductory members for a very small fee and can pay a weekly installment on membership as they attend. Last week's participants enjoyed themselves very much and complimented "Y" staff members on getting the program started.

The family swim period (1.30 to 2.30 p.m.) for "Y" members and members of their families was well and enthusiastically attended. Many more were present than had been anticipated. A wholesome period of healthy family fun was enjoyed by all. More participants are expected this week as last week's swimmers spread the word.

Boat Owners Begin Clearing Decks for Coming Summer

The Bay of Quinte is flowing free — and the first signs of fever are beginning to flicker through its boatyards.

Yesterday, with crisp spring weather keeping the skies clear, a trickle of boat owners began clearing their decks for another summer of sport.

And a busy year is promised to be on Quinte waters.

Belleville harbormaster Don Barrett figures traffic on, and through, the Bay may be much heavier this year if the rush for dock space is any indication.

While the number of docks is the same as last year, the vacancies were filled much earlier with a rush for privileges in the harbor area.

New docks in operation last year raised the space to provide docking for 50 boats.

Other improvements are in the offing in the future as demands indicate more and more enthusiasts taking to boating as a recreation.

"But we've only supplying facilities for a demand," he emphasized. "We're not in competition with private enterprise."

Private enterprise also appears satisfied with demand.

At Belleville Marine Yards the production lines still are turning out their latest successful market entry.

It's a trim 21 - foot auxiliary - powered sloop, made of reinforced fibre glass, accommodating four.

Owner Ian Morch says his company is meeting market demand in Canada and the U.S. and has been producing three of the sloops each month since last summer.

Missing Girl Returns

TRENTON — Donna Thompson, one of two 16 year old Trenton girls missing "from their homes since March 25, returned home yesterday.

Donna had been the object of a police search throughout Ontario. Police are still looking for Sherry Berry. While the girls are reported to have left home together, they split up later and Donna went off to Sault Ste. Marie to visit relatives. She phoned her grandmother from there Monday to say she would be home.

WILL HEAR SPECIALIST

Around 100 Rotarians from Trenton, Belleville, Picton and Colborne are expected to attend next Monday night's zone rally at the Dutch Mill Inn in Trenton.

Guest speaker will be Joseph Razmara of the specialist team of the Bata Shoe organization.

Mr. Starr's Plan

With the recent Ottawa announcement that the cost of living has risen further — if only fractionally — renewed warnings are being sounded on the dangers of inflation.

The Montreal Gazette has this to say: "The way in which inflation is eating its way into every aspect of economic life, and falsifying everything, becomes more and more apparent.

The Federal Government, which has the main responsibility for the control of inflation is being penalized for its failure. In the last four years the overhead costs of the Federal administration have increased by 30 per cent."

And by far the most startling remedy for inflation proposed in recent days is that of Conservative leadership candidate Michael Starr. Taking an oddly socialist line of thought, in a Toronto panel discussion, Mr. Starr called for a Government-enforced freeze on prices and wages.

It is scarcely surprising this drew from Ontario legislature member George Peck the remark: "I can't understand how a candidate for a party that stands for free enterprise can say he advocates a wage and price freeze because that is pure socialist dogma."

But what is the alternative? More inflation until ultimately the economy, its productive and sales capacity unable to keep pace any more, collapses into the pit of recession. On the other hand, so long as Canadians keep working — and maintaining production, with a minimum of stoppages through strike action, and so long as the country continues to export its products in increasing amounts, so long will Canada be able to stand a reasonable degree of inflation.

Have we reached the danger point? Even Bank of Canada Governor Louis Rasminsky felt impelled recently to draw attention to the huge increases that have occurred in the realm of Federal Government spending.

But here we have Mr. Starr, the Conservative House Leader, sounding a more drastic — perhaps even politically-damaging — warning. And while advocating a Government-enforced freeze on prices and wages to halt inflation he went one further and proposed abolition of income tax.

In its place he proposes a trading tax which would apply to everything bought or sold except essentials like food and clothing. It would apply to services as well as goods. And since the basic principles of sound economics invariably inspire divergent views among its professional advocates, Mr. Starr admitted he knew of no precedent for such a plan. However, he felt a group of experts could sit down and work out the details.

Mr. Starr suggested such a tax would put $1 billion into the economy straight away, while effecting savings through elimination of the internal revenue staff in Ottawa. He said nothing of compensation or alternative employment for these employees, but that is something that would have to be considered.

He may have been speaking against the party grain, but Mr. Starr's suggestion at least has the merit of originality — and that is something Canadians should experience more often, even within the bounds of party policy.

Outlet Park

Prince Edward County is thinking of changing the name of Outlet Park to Quinte's Isle Provincial Park.

William West, President of the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Council suggests that "the name Outlet is not very suitable, and may even seem distasteful to some people unfamiliar with the beach. Well, we had never thought of the name Outlet as one that in any way would cause offence. Rather, the dead fish to be seen on the beach have been more a source of irritation than anything else, if one wants to be all critical about the name.

As for the suggested new name, Quinte's Isle Provincial Park does not have much ring to it, or quality that might attract visitors from afar.

Why not simply Prince Edward Provincial Park? And for further identification purposes highway signs could add the name of Picton and indicate the Highway number, as on Highway 401.

Hard Life

It can be a hard life even for a President's nephew in the United States. Philip Bobbitt, 18, a son of President's Johnson's youngest sister, is a poverty program volunteer in Venice, California. On his second day there Bobbitt was beaten up by a gang of youths who stopped him and two friends and asked for cigarettes. This sort of thing is occurring more and more often in the States. It is a symptom of the general breakdown of law and order there.

'B and B' Commission's New Math Makes One Equal Nine

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — That long, low "whoosh" you just might be hearing out there isn't the Spring out there.

No indeed.

'Tis the sighing — with relief — by the Federal Government that we're all going to be able to get socially through our big bilingual bash before the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism lets go with its final report.

All suggestions or even suspicions that the government has put the old pressure on the Commission to hold its fire are being brushed off with a lofty air of ridiculous nonsense.

It is just that the government's lucky — and after all these four accident-prone years when it lurched uncertainly from one crisis to the next, never quite sure that it wasn't falling over its feet and fist onto its face for the final and fatal time.

It is also that the taxpayers are unlucky — with the government's decision to spend them the seeds of extra dollars a week, maybe even a day — as the "B" in B and B, as they are known in these political parts, keep putting off the time they'll Tell All.

All, that is, about how Canada is an "Equal Partnership Between the Two Founding Races" as it is phrased, and how Quebec must be equated with all th rest.

SLOW WORKERS

Actually, the problem in a sense, could be regarded as one of mathematics.

Nine equals one — or, to put it the other way — one equals nine.

Provinces, that is.

Or, as the Royal commission seems to understand it, from its working-reference, equal equals equal.

Even if it takes $8,000,000 to prove it.

The government's vast relief that the equation now won't be worked out until next Fall can be readily understood when you remember that first Interim Report, as it was called, which the Royal Commission let fly some two years ago.

At that time the Royal Commissioners reported that bilingualism and biculturalism was a crisis — the greatest in the nation's history — and that if the equation of equality wasn't worked out, it could be the end of Confederation.

Then the Royal Commission went back to work on its $100-a-day-per-member assignment, said it would have the first of its five-part volumes of its working-reference, equal equals equal.

Then it was to be December. Then this very month of April.

Now the word is "later."

Would you believe late September?

By which time the Centennial Fiasco on Parliament Hill will have petered out, and with luck — the government's luck — Expo will have folded its $85,000,000 tents.

PROBLEM WITHIN PROBLEM

Meanwhile, the bill, as of latest report just this past week, now runs $7,250,000 — by far the most costly Royal Commission in Canada's long history of special research studies and papers, dealing with as many social, economic, administrative problems involved in running a two-language nation on the bases of equal partnership.

But there is another reason. The Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism, it turns out, perhaps not surprisingly, has a built-in bilingual and bicultural problem of its own.

All these special studies and reports, and there must be thousands of pages of them, have to be produced in both English and French — and there simply are not enough translators handy to do the job and meet the business professional deadline.

You might think this could prove something to the Commission.

But don't bet on it.

Sex Education"
The Value of Parental Guidance

Letter in Brantford Expositor.

In response to Parent's letter regarding Sex Education in the schools there is a very definite need for education of this kind for our young people. It is all well and good for the children who are fortunate enough to be learning these important facts at home with loving parents, but what of the ones who are not that fortunate? Are we to sit back and say it doesn't matter? After all we are our brother's keeper.

We can no longer be an island unto ourselves. We have to consider the overall effect of our actions on all of society and not as it affects us as individuals. It is these youngsters that we have to educate for their protection and the protection of the rest of society. While a classroom is not the best place to receive this knowledge it is the best we can do at this time for the children who do not have the benefits of family willing to teach them these basic truths.

Secondly, it is unfair to blame Home and School for this bill being passed. This subject has been under discussion for some time in H and S circles. Where was "Parent" with a dissenting voice when it was discussed? By Parent's own admission it was not at H and S meeting. As long as parents continue to think these meetings are too much trouble and fail to give a vote, even a dissenting one, H and S will continue to be the voice of the minority. Maybe a little more interest could be obtained for these organizations if a few of the dissenters got out and gave their opinions. It would at least make for a lively discussion and who knows, maybe the dissenters will become interested in the aims and ambitions of the organization.

A great deal of good can be accomplished through such organizations as the H and S and CPTA's but only parents attending can make our authority in the home instead of giving it to the school and provide a united front for the good of our children. This can best be accomplished through the united efforts of parents who are concerned and anxious about the education their child is receiving. Home and School and CPTA can provide the united front if parents are willing to give them a chance.

Building a New Generation

Peterborough Examiner

Youth, clearly stands in need of close supervision in the minds of Ontario's legislative committee on youth if it is to be fashioned into a healthy, wholesome adult generation. And indeed, if one takes the present adult population as evidence of what happens when youth is permitted to make its own way, there may be good argument for seeing that it does not happen again. Indeed, every industrialized nation from Nazi Germay to the Soviet Union has concluded, sooner or later, that youth should be harnessed to the public weal. The Hitler Youth, and the Young Communists — albeit with different ends in mind — have been devoted to carrying the ideals of one generation into the next, though with mixed success.

How valid is this approach to youth? If we regard youth as that period from entering high school to voting age, we are dealing with about seven years. In this time children are supposed to have completed their formal education and to have either gone on to university or into some kind of promising employment. It is a precarious mental age which is accompanied by the onset of puberty and the emergence from adolescence into adulthood. In wartime this experience is truncated, and our male youth at 18 years and over is sent to the battlefield and entrusted with arms and aircraft and the working-part of the defence of the homeland. In peace-time there is no such outlet for such ferocious energies and these are turned in other things — some of which are inconvenient and distasteful to the community.

Much of this energy has been soaked up in school in Ontario where, towards the latter part of the experience, harassed teachers supervise the cultivation of young minds bound in frames that reach six feet in height and more. By and large, in Ontario, this is all done with astonishing success and some of it, without question, is the result of a parental contribution to the rearing of children. And some of it is accomplished in spite of several months holiday a year when the youth of the Province appears to roam the face of the nation, mostly working, some playing, and some idling and loungring.

Such uncoordinated activity is clearly a challenge to the organized mind. Moreover, a proportion of the youth of the Province finds itself in trouble with adult authorities — particularly those who live in large cities where, for economic reasons and, because of overcrowding and present social neglect, boredom and in and mischief becomes a diversion. To eradicate these conditions is clearly impossible, since the adult population considers them to be permissible, and so youth must be made wholesome despite society's pot.

We wish our legislators every success with its Department of Youth (and with another county Yorkville). With any luck youth will be organized a little before every major urban disturbance has become a slum clogged with automobiles, streets and air become polluted and unusable, and every jail is full of misfits.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 13, 1867 . . .

The Junkers monoplane Bremen crash - landed on Greenley Island, Labrador, 39 years and one month to the day — completing the first westward transatlantic flight. Aboard were the pilot, Hermann Koehl and Baron Ehrantried von Huenefeld, both Germans, and Col. James J. Fitzmaurice, commander of the Irish air corps, replacing a crew member who backed out of the expedition. The wind blows eastward across the North Atlantic and the Bremen, originally bound for New York, was off course when she reached Labrador.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the British attacked on a 50-mile front from Lens to Cambrai and occupied the villages of Vimy and Givenchy. Canadians were evacuated from Lens.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—30 more were killed and 60 wounded when a British fighter accidentally fired its guns on the ground; Russia warned Tokyo to live up to the terms of the Japanese - Soviet neutrality pact; Lord Louis Mountbatten was announced chief of British commando units.

Letter to the Editor

History of Bay Bridge

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In your editorial of March 20 and in a previous article the impression is given that the present bridge linking Belleville with Prince Edward County was built in 1891. This is the date of completion for the first bridge which was of steel superstructure with a plank floor and set on piers from Deseronto to Bayley Island, with a causeway to the mainland of Hastings.

The present bridge was completed in the winter of 1927-28, and cars and horses could use the ice of the bay while the causeway between the swing on the boat channel and the single span at the north end was put in place. Some work has been done on the steel parts since to increase its strength.

Was it ever made to carry trucks, especially cement trucks at 50 miles per hour?

Man's Quest
Learning What the Spirit Ought to Be

Excerpts from a convocation address at the University of Chicago by Robert Maynard Hutchins, former chancellor of the university.

Since the most important fact about the next century is that it will be different from this one. Since there is no such thing as instant education, the search must be for the means of coping with problems as they arise. Phenomena now totally unforseen. The search must be for what is permanently valuable.

The concentration of education on meeting the immediate needs of society, as the most powerful pressure groups interpret them, by training, information and service is the direct opposite of what the times require.

Nor do we know whether progress in piety and power are legitimate ends for a human society, and under present conditions we have no way of finding out. When all the social institutions that might sit in judgment on the spirit of the age, the church, the press, and the university, are out shouting one another in the flattering chorus that is chance have we of learning what the spirit ought to be?

We have no critical apparatus that can be continuously brought to bear upon the aims and conduct of our society and the understanding from education, to infuse education with training and the treatment of information, and to conceive of the university as the instrument by which we become intelligent and powerful is to guarantee, insofar as education system can affect the outcome, the collapse of a civilization . . .

When you try to meet miscellaneous, diverse, local needs in a university, you get the multiversity, because these things require little intellectual effort. The ease and popularity of these activities mean they will overwhelm the essential purpose of the university, which is search for understanding. An undertaking neither easy nor popular.

The multiversity is not merely a non-university, a pseudo-university; it is an anti-university. It will extend and destroy the college of liberal arts within its walls.

Nothing can make the multiversity what the university has to be, an intellectual coqmmunity . . .

The multiversity can do something for graduate and professional students. It can at least teach them the tricks of their trade. It can do very little for juniors and seniors, and nothing for freshmen and sophomores.

The university, as distinguished from the multiuniversity, is an intellectual community, all the members of which, students and faculty, are engaged in a common enterprise. Both students and faculty must be qualified to engage in it. The university must assume that the period of learning of school ing, is past, that the student is prepared for independent study, that he has the ability and willingness to think, and think for himself. I propose the university undertake to see that we have the interest and capacity to join in its work.

Power and prosperity are good things to have if you know what is do with them. At the moment, the United States is the most powerful, the most prosperous and the most dangerous country in the world.

As the rich countries are getting richer, the poor are sinking deeper into destitution, and this, the most explosive situation in the world will revenge itself upon us in far less than 15 years.

Sevigny Book Takes a Dive

The Toronto Telegram

There is no greater equalizer than the book clearance sale.

What must the proud author think, whether he be novelist, political pundit or biographer, when he glances into a bookstore bargain basement and finds his cherished work labelled: "39 cents, published at $7.50."

Pierre Sevigny, former associate minister of defence and alleged aspirant to succeed Conservative leader John Diefenbaker, has been strolling in Toronto, he could see his book. The Game of Politics, receiving just that treatment.

Destined to clear. Before it becomes a political epitaph, Mr. Sevigny's friends should buy up the rest.

Employment Shows Big Gain in March

OTTAWA (CP)—Employment took a larger-than-usual spurt between February and March, adding 180,000 jobs to the economy, but unemployment rose slightly to 380,000 from 366,000. A year ago March unemployment was 341,000.

The monthly employment report, issued jointly today by the manpower department and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, put mid-March unemployment at 5.3 per cent of the fast-rising labor force.

This compared to a jobless rate of 5.4 per cent in February and 4.8 per cent in March of last year.

It was the first time since January of 1963 that monthly unemployment reached the 400,000 mark.

The job picture in brief, estimates in thousands:

| | Mar. Feb. Mar. | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 1967 | 1967 | 1966 |
| Labor force | 7,169 | 7,179 | 7,162 |
| Employed | 7,089 | 6,980 | 6,821 |
| Unemployed | 400 | 396 | 341 |

The labor force of 7,169,000 was 113,000 higher than in February and 127,000, or 4.6 per cent, above March of 1966. During the year new jobs were up by 268,000 or 3.9 per cent.

The report said the job gain between February and March occurred mostly among part-time workers. On the year-to-year basis, employment was higher in almost every sector of industry with the exception of construction which was down by 42,000.

Employment was higher than a year earlier in all regions, notably British Columbia which showed a rise of 8.7 per cent.

After adjustments to discount seasonal variations, the national unemployment rate for March stood at 3.9 per cent compared to 3.8 in February and 3.4 in March of 1966.

Regional unemployment rates, not seasonably adjusted, showed mixed trends, dropping significantly on the Prairies and in British Columbia but rising in the three eastern regions.

The Atlantic provinces had 10.6 per cent of their workers unemployed in March compared to 10.4 in February and 10.5 in March of last year.

Quebec's rate rose to 7.2 per cent from seven in the month and 6.5 on the year-to-year basis. Ontario went to 3.9 per cent from 3.7 in February and 2.9 a year ago.

Of the 400,000 unemployed, 72 per cent had been seeking work for periods of less than four months.

Computer "Studies" Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—A one-year program of research using a computer, into the economics of construction accident prevention and the factors involved has been launched by the Construction Safety Association of Ontario.

The project consists of a series of studies in which interviews will be conducted with top management of selected construction firms. At present, 200 contractors are participating.

The first study will provide a statistical description of the construction industry in Ontario. A second will try to determine the relation of profitability to accident frequency. A later study will investigate "accident proneness," to see whether such a condition exists.

Bell Plans Data Centre

TORONTO (CP)—Bell Telephone Co. of Canada Wednesday announced plans for data processing centres to be built in Toronto and Dorval, Que.

Work on the Toronto centre, in suburban Don Mills, is to start this year and be completed in the summer of 1968.

Vice-president W. M. Rankin said in a statement the centre will permit the company to expand its use of information systems and advanced computer techniques in the management of business.

German Bank Lowers Rate

FRANKFURT (Reuters)—For the second time in almost two months the West German federal bank today lowered the bank rate by one half of one per cent.

The bank rate was lowered to 3½ per cent from four per cent. The bank's central council cut one half of one per cent off the rate in reducing it to four per cent Feb. 16.

Bank sources said the cut was a logical move after Canada and the United States recently lowered their bank rates.

Ottawa at a Glance

WEDNESDAY, April 12, 1967

Prime Minister Pearson, answering Commons questions about French representation at Sunday's Vimy ceremony, said the government made clear in advance it would welcome President de Gaulle's attendance.

He told the Commons all arrangements for 50th anniversary commemoration of the battle were worked out with the French government.

Mr. Pearson said he would consider Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's call for an urgent federal - provincial conference on pollution control.

The Commons debated armed forces leaves for the eighth day with no indication when the debate will conclude.

Jack Richaison (PC—Swift Current - Maple Creek) said his party is determined to go through with its efforts to kill the unification bill.

THURSDAY, April 13

The Commons meets at 2.30 p.m. to resume the unification debate. The Senate stands adjourned until April 18.

BRITISH THIN OUT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prof. Joseph C. Lawrence of the University of British Columbia says Victoria's "tweed curtain" is wearing thin. The influx of Britons into the city has increased since the early 1950s and "the city is losing its Britishness."

CN, CP Reveal Plans For Complex Over Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways have commissioned detailed plans for development on 170 acres in downtown Toronto that would be currently referred to as a billion-dollar project.

Stewart M. Andrews, president of Community Development Consultants Ltd. of Toronto, will direct planners in proposing a development of a block of railway land extending from Yonge Street to Bathurst and between Front Street on the north and the Gardiner Expressway at the city's waterfront.

The plan is expected to be completed early in 1968, with construction on the first stages possible in 1969.

The railways said Wednesday total cost cannot yet be estimated, but that it could be more than $1,000,000,000 over a 25-year period.

Rail lines would be preserved, with a development of buildings over them to include a transportation and communications centre, hotel and convention facilities, office towers, a post office and other government buildings, a high - rise residential tower and commercial and cultural facilities.

The planners will consider the development a terminal for rail, bus, subway and airport transportation services.

Easy to like.
That is if you like an easy whisky. If so, you should have no difficulty liking 5 Star.
Where things get difficult is in making a whisky this good. It means selecting whiskies from our five distilleries across Canada (only Seagram's has 5, by the way). Then blending and re-blending them to get 5 Star's easy taste.
Is it worth all the trouble? Easy for you to find out.

Neighbor May Be Doing A Favor By Commenting on Child's Eye Defect

Dear Doris: What is a squint? My nosey neighbor said my little daughter of two has one and that a doctor should see her. What is she talking about? — Riled Up

Dear Riled Up: Old Nosey may be doing your little girl a great favor. Your dictionary will tell you that a (medical) squint is "not having optic axes coincident". In other words, your daughter is slightly cross-eyed.

She could be right. If one eye is a little off-centre, a parent can miss it. Yet it may be only a broad base of nose in infancy, or an asymmetrical bony development, which gives this appearance, while the eyes may be parallel all the time.

Don't try to decide this yourself. Eyes are far too important to fool around with. Get to an eye doctor quickly. Early treatment often means excellent results after age five, it's not nearly so easy to correct, and could mean several operations.

I'm sending you a leaflet by an ophthalmologist explaining all this.

Dear Doris: I've worked at home to help my mother with our family of 11 since I left school at 14. I am shy in company but at 19 am fairly active in our Young People's Society.

When I see other girls touch each other in any kind of friendly gesture it makes me feel embarrassed. Why would I feel like that? I never touch other girls even though I sometimes feel like doing it.

I would greatly appreciate your help and with God's help will try and carry out your advice. — Jill

Dear Jill: Did Mom kiss all 11 of you goodnight — or was she the press type? Did you ever see your Mother and Dad have a hug? Habits are strong and if you aren't used to giving affection it comes hard. Yet we all need the friendly touch of a hand. The babe who isn't cuddled doesn't thrive; and a cheery inquisitive hug when you greet a pal can release tension—to be technical about it.

For my money, Anglo-Saxons have much to learn from the ... more demonstrative races. For a start try reaching out a hand in greeting, when you go where your friends are.

Dear Doris: I have just broken my engagement. We were to be married in May, until I realized that I was making a mistake.

We have given each other some lovely gifts, such as sterling silver earrings; cuff links and tie clips; gravadour; electrical gadgets; jewellery..

Now that we have broken up, do we give the gifts back or do we keep them?—Broken Up.

Dear Broken Up: The engagement ring goes back: also any expensive, lasting gifts. Nothing else. Clothing and gadgets would probably be pretty well worn or used up.

Ann Landers

Friendship Is More Than Open Door

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I felt sorry for the young woman whose house was a mess and company dropped in unexpectedly just as she was trying to get a new baby ready for bed. Her husband mumbled something to the guests about how awful the place looked and ended up saying, "My wife hasn't cleaned the house since the baby came."

I agree that the husband should not have said this, but it seems to me too much emphasis is placed on the looks of the house these days and not enough is said about warm-hearted hospitality.

ANN LANDERS

I, for one, feel pretty flattered when unexpected company drops in. I couldn't care less about the hour or the looks of the house. I love people and I figure they are real friends if they feel they can come by without a formal invitation. Do you agree with me, Ann? — OPEN DOOR, OPEN HEART.

DEAR OPEN: No, I do not. But I'll get back to you later. For now here is a letter from a woman who does agree with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was upset with your reply to the husband who apologized for the looks of their apartment when unexpected guests dropped in. You said the guests should apologize, since they were the ones who barged in.

Our home is open to anyone and everyone who wishes to enter. I make no pretense of being the world's greatest housekeeper. I happen to like people better than I like cleaning house.

Several years ago we had a sign printed, I placed this sign in our entrance way. It reads: "Although you will find the house a mess, please come in and enjoy yourself. The place doesn't always look like this. Some days it's worse." — EDITH C.

DEAR EDITH: Thanks for letting us know how it is at your house. And now I will respond to both of you and the writer of the first letter.

If you believe an open door means an open heart, you must also believe a closed door means a closed heart. This I feel is unjust. More often than not a closed door simply means "I am busy."

Since you shared your sign with me, I would like to share mine with you. A writer who lives in Michigan told me about it several years ago. It was nailed to the door of his home and read: "If you are uninvited and unexpected and you are also unwelcome. Please go away and let me do my work."

I agree with the wit who said, "The most difficult thing about leisure time is to keep people from using yours."

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Remember the letter from the girl whose Navy boy friend got himself transferred to another part of the world when he learned she was pregnant? She advised all girls whose steadies want to play house to ask them to sign a paper saying the two will live together on such and such a night. This, she said, would do wonders to diminish (if not kill) the sex drive.

When our daughter turned 16 her father gave her this advice: "If a boy asks you to go the limit to prove your love, tell him he'll have to speak to your father because your father is responsible for you as long as you live under his roof."

Our daughter followed his instructions and said it produced the most shocked expressions she had ever seen. — MRS. J.

DEAR MRS.: I'm not surprised. If there's anything a guy doesn't want to be reminded of at a time like that it's a girl's father.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Makes Batch of Little Popinas

By MARY MOORE

"Popinas" are little toasted sandwich quarters you pop into your mouth.

Early in March we attended the opening of the new La Pocatos restaurant in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal. We were invited to tour the stainless steel kitchen open to the view of the diners in the dining area. The chefs were making these little Popinas for us to sample. I quizzed one of the Italian chefs asking what kind of cheese was in the. He said, "Pizza! Pizza!" That meant Mozzarella.

This morning I made a batch and I want you to too.

Dinner Menu

THURSDAY

Zesty Corned Beef Loaf (see Wed.); Horseradish Cream (see Wed.); Spiced Peach Garnish (see Wed.); Baked Potatoes; Spinach; Iced Celery Curls; Lemon Snow with Custard Sauce; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Roast Stuffed Chicken; Cream Gravy; Mashed Potatoes; Mixed Kernel Corn and Diced Carrots; Shredded Cole Slaw with Pineapple; Danish Pastry Jelly Rowboats (are Monday and Tuesday); Tea.

POPINAS (16 hot sandwich quarters)

Arrange 8 slices of bread on your counter in 2 rows. Cover half of them with 4 slices of Mozzarella cheese (or Cheddar or process). Place half of an anchovy fillet (4) from each corner. I used Portugese ees anchovies. (These are to be centred when you cut the sandwiches into quarters later.) Cover each with remaining slice of bread. Now cut off the crusts narrowly. Butter the top of each sandwich. Place buttered side down on broiler pan (without rack) or on electric grill or electric frying pan. Butter top side. Cut sandwiches into quarters. Toast one side and turn over and toast other side until golden. Serve hot. At La Popinas restaurant these were served on plates covered with fringed red - and - white - checkered napkins.

PORTUGUESE PIZZAS (Easy)

6 slices white bread, crusts on
6 slices process cheese
½ cup catsup
¼ tsp. oregano
1 tsp. finely chopped onion, (or ½ tsp. dried onion flakes)
One 4-oz. can skinless, boneless Portuguese sardines cheese (in shaker)
Grated Parmesan - Romano
Cover bread slices with cheese slices. Mix together catsup, oregano and onion and sardine over all. Flake the sardines coarsely with a fork and distribute evenly over each sandwich. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Place on broiler pan or cookie sheet and broil until bubbly and rich gold — 4" below burner — about 10 min. Serve hot.

NOTE: If you are having a main course soup supper here are a dandy accompaniment cut into triangles.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Jim: "You broke my bike. I told you not to ride it."

Joey: "It wasn't my fault." I hit a rock."

Jim: "You should pay for it anyway."

Mother: "Jim, you know Joey didn't mean to break your bike. Quit arguing about it. It's terrible to hear brothers quarrel."

Interfere in your children's quarrels only if a child is taking advantage of a weaker, younger one.

It's in the nature of brothers to quarrel. Ask them to go indoors where everybody doesn't have to listen to them, and let them settle the argument in their own way. They're likely to work out a fair solution and will be ready to be friends again.

District Church Group

WOOLER HI-C

WOOLER — Wooler Hi-C, open group met in the church hall Sunday evening. Michael Smith opened the meeting by reading in worship. Jane Pul- and Boyd Nelson assisted.

African Fashions Sweep Through Stores in Paris

PARIS (Reuters) — Safari and African fashions are turning cosmopolitan Parisians into cosmetic casts of the white hunter.

The new fashion which has swept through Paris from the haute couture down to inexpensive mass production is symbolized by a ferocious - looking orange-and-black - striped tiger stalking through a jungle of green velvet leaves in Christian Dior's boutique window.

Following the haute couture showings, leading Paris department stores are staging special promotions of African-inspired clothes, accessories and jewelry, variously labelled Africa at the Galeries Lafayette, Safari at the Printemps, Timbuktoo at the Magasin du Louvre and Exotisexe at the Bon Marche.

Khaki shorts and trouser suits, bush helmets, totem-pole striped stockings, boubou dresses, and jungle prints inspired by primitive Negro art are selling briskly in all stores and boutiques.

Long double-breasted jackets with big patch pockets and gold buttons go with matching wide-legged shorts made of shantung, poplin, sail cloth or khaki.

The ankle - length boubou dress for leisure wear at home or on the beach comes in giant floral and vertical printed cottons, with thigh-high slits at the sides — an effect which many Frenchmen consider more seductive than any mini-skirt.

Latin Quarter shops such as Drugstand and Laura claim they cannot supply the current demand for boubous, which range in price from 149 to 345 francs — about $29 to $69.

The inside African look concentrates on infinite variations of pants, ranging from shorts and bermudas to divided skirts and hipster trousers.

Shorts and trousers are generally cuffed, and worn low on the hips, with wide leather belts or copies of the Dior and St. Laurent metal chain belts.

The shirt - coat launched by Dior, and now on sale in every price range, is inspired by a man's shirt with narrow tab buttoned down the front to mid-beeline.

African - inspired accessories include the most fanciful of all stockings, stylized millinery, and the return of belts and bustles, often made of such offbeat media as cork, wood or glazed nuts.

Dior's novelty stockings with totem-pole patterns and Latvia's fishnet styles covered with cross - stitch embroidery are pace-setters in the popular-priced hosiery lines.

Millinery is back in the knee-light with a veritable epidemic of Greta Garbo and sunshade cloches, broad-brimmed bush hats with chin straps, and colorful silk scarf turbans draped on the back of the head and worn with enormous square-framed sun-glasses.

NEIGHBORS' AID

2ND THURLOW — Approximately 36 members and a number of children were present for the April meeting of the 2nd Thurlow Neighbors' Aid held last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Chumbley opened the meeting in the usual manner, after which she introduced the two guest speakers Mrs. Ted Fulwell and Mrs. Marsh. Both spoke on films shown, dealing with cancer. They described the symptoms of this disease and stressed the importance of check-ups with any sign of abnormal condition.

At the conclusion of the informative illustrated talks, Mrs. Arnold Mitchell moved a vote of thanks and on behalf of the Neighbors of Fort presented the guests with a donation to the cancer fund.

During business a centennial project was discussed and other matters of business were dealt with.

The hostesses Mrs. A. Greatrix, Mrs. C. Keene, Mrs. W. Lazarluk and Mrs. Kirk served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

At the close euchres for April and May were arranged.

45 'Retired' Nurses Back In Training

KINGSTON (CP) — Forty-five "retired" registered nurses are back in training here this week as a result of a survey conducted by the Kingston chapter of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario.

The survey wanted to know how many of the chapter's 1,000 members were non - practising nurses interested in returning to and returning to the nursing field.

A refresher course set up by Sister Mary Elizabeth, director of in-service education at the Hotel Dieu hospital, received so many applications that the original enrolment was expanded to 45 from 30.

Hospital officials are already planning another course and hope the course will help ease the chronic shortage of nurses in the province.

The nurses will train two nights a week for six weeks before returning to hospital duties as summer replacements of full-time workers.

MR. AND MRS. K. J. McGHEE

McGhee – Juby

St. Joseph's Catholic Church was the setting recently, when Mary Bernadine Juby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Juby, Willowdale was united in marriage to Kenneth James McGhee, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McGhee of Belleville.

Rev. Father C. Gazley officiated at the ceremony and traditional wedding music was rendered by Sister Mary Avila who also accompanied the soloist Mr. William Mann.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length peau de soie bridal gown with the bodice featuring an overlay of lace with scalloped neckline and long filly - point lace sleeves. The full skirt was enhanced with two street tiers of matching lace. A shoulder length bouffant veil of silk tulle flowed from a floral headdress adorned with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses interspersed with green ivy.

Her only attendant was a sister Miss Marie Juby who wore a floor length A-line bandeau peau de soie dress accented with a flowing train at back. Her headdress was a bow of matching material with small veil and she carried a nosegay of white mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Andrew McGhee of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom was best man, while the ushers were Mr. Colin Wardley, Belleville and Mr. Jim Mortimore of Shannonville.

For the reception in St. Joseph's Church hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a sheath of burnt orange linen with an overlay of lace, beige accessories and a corsage of white roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a beige and white two - piece boucle suit with tan accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip for points east the bride chose a two - piece pink wool suit with matching pink hat, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

Upon return Mr. and Mrs. McGhee will reside at 338 Sidney Street, Apt. 1.

Three Will Head Staff On Research

OTTAWA (CP)—Two married men and a woman have been appointed to head the research staff of the royal commission on the status of women, Chairman Anne Francis announced Monday.

They are Monique Bagle, 31, of Montreal, executive secretary to the commission; Dr. David Kirk, 40, of Waterloo, Ont., director of research; and Mark McClung, 36, of Ottawa, special assistant to the chairman.

Miss Begle has an MA in sociology from the University of Montreal, with post - graduate study in Paris and at McGill University.

Dr. Kirk, born in Dusseldorf, Germany, received his doctorate in social sciences from Cornell University, Since 1964 he has been a sociology professor at Waterloo University.

He has directed research projects in Canada and the United States on questions of family, race and mental health.

Married with four children, he will be a consulting psychologist with the Waterloo County Children's Aid and also has private practice.

Mr. McClung, a native of Winnipeg, is a former Rhodes scholar. He was a research assistant with the royal commission on government organization in 1960-62, and has worked for the federal government's treasury board since then.

Club Activities

MARMORA IODE

MARMORA — Mrs. W. Regan, Deseronto, was hostess Tuesday night for Marmora Chapter IODE. The newly installed Regent, Mrs. Leith Stetson, opened the meeting.

The projects in the near future are a card party in the former Glover store on April 17, a rummage sale April 21 and 22, a doll show and tea and a parade of local centennial fashions in the Town Hall May 10.

A letter was read from the March of Dimes acknowledging $219.50 from the Marmora canvas.

Donations were made for a coffee urn for town hall and flood lights at ball park.

Mrs. Stetson was named as delegate to the annual meeting of IODE to be held in Hamilton April 13-15. Interesting meeting ideas on centennial topics were given by Mrs. Jack Jones and Mrs. G. A. Wentworth. Mrs. Sexton conducted a quiz on Canada which had been submitted by Mrs. Sid Denhorest.

'Mature Women' Able To Fashion New Career

WINNIPEG (CP)—The head of a long one but the University of Manitoba is offering a place in the social worker elite to "mature women" who have the urge to go back to school and fashion a new career.

Under the plan, women university graduates who had put family-raising ahead of further academic training may enrol in the university's master of social work program on a two-day-a-week study schedule.

And, they may take as long as five years to complete the two-year program.

A university announcement said:

"Support for the action comes not only because of the opportunity this decision will give married graduates whose families are growing up and demanding less of their time, but also for the help it will give social work agencies with their staff problems."

Prof. Helen Mann, director of the university's school of social work, said women registering for the program will have to qualify the same way as do regular students.

They must have a BA or its equivalent with good standing, they must have completed four full undergraduate courses in the social sciences, and they must show personal suitability for the kind of work they propose to do and the intention of practising after graduation.

"However many women undertake this program, positions are assured for all on graduation," the university said.

Consumers' Housewives Union to Be Formed

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Jack Shepherd will talk to anyone when she thinks her cause is just.

She says that when the mice in the family's last apartment got too much for her, she learned you have to holler to get help. Now she's forming the Consumers' Housewives Union to help holler for other people.

The attractive 34-year-old woman and her truck-driver husband have five children and, like other families with children, they have had trouble finding a decent apartment. Two years ago they were paying $150 a month to share an apartment with roaches and mice. Mrs. Shepherd says she complained to the health department and city officials but nothing happened.

An appointment was made for her with Toronto Alderman Hugh Bruce, and eventually the family moved to an Ontario Housing Corporation house and her truck-driver husband pays $118 a month and Mrs. Shepherd says the neighborhood is a good place for the children to grow.

Mrs. Shepherd's involvement in organized protest started last fall when she joined the Women Against Soaring Prices. She attracted immediate attention by telling a meeting that if women would picket warehouses, teamsters would refuse to cross the picket lines. Challenged, she wired teamster president Jimmy Hoffa but never got a reply. She did get her pickets, at both Loblaws and Steinbergs.

She says she isn't sure what the membership will be. She hopes it will total about 400 and include several established groups that have indicated interest. She expects the first meeting will be held by the end of April.

Mrs. Shepherd wants the union to give housewives a place to turn for help with consumer problems. She hopes to have people ready to handle phone calls and investigate problems. She wants to work for legislative changes where necessary and to make sure politicians and civil servants hear about individual cases.

Even in its present amorphous state, the union is clamoring for improvements in the housing situation. They run a small ad asking people who had been refused housing because they have children to get in touch with Mrs. Shepherd. She says they get 1,500 calls and letters immediately, some of them describing hair-raising circumstances, and the response has continued.

She organized a mothers' march on the Ontario legislature that mustered 34 adults on an unpleasant February day. She and other union executives had an interview with Labor Minister Dalton Bales. They gave him a brief asking that the Ontario Human Rights Code be amended so families with children could not be denied occupancy of an apartment. Afterwards, Mrs. Shepherd summed up the meeting as just a lot of talk. Mr. Bales said the brief would be studied.

Mrs. Shepherd has had a meeting with the Toronto board of control which told her it would investigate the situation and let her know the results. While she was there she showed them pictures of slum housing taken after the health department had ordered the premises cleaned up. She says the pictures showed nothing happened.

Her next approach may be half of the union may be to Mr. Pearson, or back to the Ontario legislature to try to draw attention to consumer problems. Mrs. Shepherd has five children . . . Joey, 6; Jill, 8; Kim, 10; Dick, 8, and Michael, 12.

The things he did to some juniper berries are unspeakable.

To make gin, you need a number of rather exotic ingredients. Including Italian juniper berries.

So in 1769 Alexander Gordon bought sackfulls of the best Italian juniper berries money could buy. Experimented and experimented. And one day discovered that if you took the berries and ...well, something exciting happened.

You could make the best tasting gin ever. So naturally, he did.

200 years later we still do. And Gordon's is now the largest selling gin in the world.

Still made everywhere to the same secret formula.

And, so that it always remains a secret, what Alexander Gordon did to those berries must always remain unspeakable.

You always could buy a bottle of Gordon's though. And let it speak for itself.

HILLIER HOEING HEIDI'S

HILLIER — The first meeting of the Hillier Girls Club was held at the home of the leader, Mrs. Kenneth Wright, Wednesday. Officers for the home beautification project were: president, Orlinda Best; vice - president, Rosemary Hall; secretary - treasurer, Betty Wannamaker; press reporter, Arlene Alves.

The Club name is Hillier Hoeing Heidi's. The discussion included requirements of gardeners. Why plant a garden? planning the garden, where to plant a garden, why plant flowers? and where to plant flowers.

A well planned, well-cared-for vegetable garden has an important place in providing beautiful and enjoyable meals. Members of 4-H home garden clubs, by producing vegetables in variety and adequate quantity, and by learning to cook and serve them in attractive and nutritious ways, make a practical contribution to the family's health and happiness.

Jeweller Says Luxury Buying Shows Increase

HALIFAX (CP)—A master jeweller says the luxury buying habits of Canadians in recent years indicate the country is striving to find its identity.

"The past 10 years look to me like the renaissance of Canada from a cultural and educational aspect," says George Roberts. "People are looking for finer things . . . individuality and identity."

The 45-year-old native of Poland has been operating a jewelry business for 13 years on the second floor of a modest Barrington Street building. He designs and creates his own rings, brooches and pins, repairs jewelry and also does a brisk trade in antiques.

Mr. Roberts says the buying habits of customers show a tremendous upswing of interest in art.

When he established his business it was difficult even to give away a piece of hand-made jewelry. But improved economic conditions and more emphasis on art had changed that.

Canadians now were spending more money on jewelry and there is an excessive demand for original creations."

Mr. Roberts added that the "antique craze" has also caught on—any items of the Victorian period especially changed hands with no difficulty.

He said there is a tremendous shortage of jewellers in Canada. Few young men were interested in the trade and no schools offered specialized jewelry instruction.

Most jewelry stores were stocked by national manufacturers, who use largely standard designs.

The unusual and interesting effects of jewelry could be developed by the individual craftsman.

Mr. Roberts left his native Poland after the Second World War, moved to England where he obtained his master jeweller certificate, and then came to Canada to settle in Halifax.

Church Says New Apartments Should Include All Classes

TORONTO (CP)—Swank new housing developments and apartment buildings should include space for people of all income levels, the United Church's board of evangelism and social service suggested Wednesday at its annual meeting.

The board criticized high rents, short-sighted housing policies, lazy politicians and the ethics of suburban homeowners who complain about poor families moving into nearby public housing projects.

The board said city congregations should consider building high rise, low rental apartments on church property and converting old church buildings into combined housing-worship centres.

The board of evangelism and social services Wednesday called in a resolution for the establishment and maintenance of an office in Ottawa and the appointment of an officer through whom communication between the federal government and the church could be maintained."

Another resolution asks the government to provide a Canadian hospital ship or transport aircraft to assist wounded civilian victims of the Vietnam war without regard to place, origin or political alliance.

The board also voted to ask the provincial government to "establish and enforce" the use of breath and blood alcohol tests for suspected impaired drivers.

A split between conservative and liberal factions of the United Church was predicted Wednesday by Rev. Ray Hord, secretary of the church's board of evangelism and social service.

Rev. W. Lorne Brown of Pointe Claire, Que., said the split was not just coming, "I think it is here now."

Potential Mass Murderers

A single-engined seaplane prepares to take off from a small Canadian lake, stirring up a large flock of birds that create a hazard to the safety of the plane. Put a huge jet airliner in the picture and the birds become potential mass murderers.

Scientists throughout the world have been trying to eliminate the hazards of bird-aircraft collisions and most recently tests have centred on watching the birds on radar and predicting periods of heavy bird flight around airports.

Camp Declines to Deny Rumor He Will Seek Party Leadership

OTTAWA (CP)—Dalton Camp edged closer to entering the Progressive Conservative leadership race Wednesday night.

The Conservative party's national president returned from a European trip and took pains to note of speculation that he will run to succeed John Diefenbaker.

Speaking to the Ottawa Board of Trade, Mr. Camp was unprepared to decry the reports, claiming the right to make his decision and announce it in his own good time.

He has already said he would not turn down a draft but that was after the party sustained his bid last November for a national leadership review. Later, the leadership convention was set for Toronto Sept. 6-9.

Since then, a number of MPs have said privately they hope to draft him in a race that already has a half dozen declared candidates and others waiting in the wings.

This may have been on Mr. Camp's mind when he told the Board of Trade that anyone thinking about the leadership for himself "will realize that others have their view about his capacities and qualifications as well, and these are as vital at least as his own; sometimes they are more so."

"When the convention gathers in Toronto, in the general interest of the country, it ought to be confronted with as broadly representative a choice as possible.

"This suggests, to many, I believe, candidacies present both from within and without the caucus of Conservative MPs.

"I have never made any secret of the fact that I had hoped that one of the present Conservative provincial premiers would be a candidate. But, of course, that is their decision, as also theirs, if they decide as to when they decide.

"Having said that, one need only add that these same options apply to everyone else as well."

Mr. Camp spoke in the past tense of his hopes of the premiers — Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia, John Robarts of Ontario and Duff Roblin of Manitoba—entering the leadership race.

Premiers Stanfield and Robarts have said they are not available. Premier Roblin has not yet publicly made his position clear, although he is known to have been urged by some Conservatives to run.

Mr. Camp said that until this is settled "there are other precincts to be heard from."

With a possible hint that as leader he would try to offset any internal enmity over the leadership issue with an appeal to voters outside the party, Mr. Camp said:

"In the deliberative process of a national party moving towards a convention, its delegates must consider not only their own opinions but those of the broad mass of the Canadian electorate including the growing numbers of political independents and indeed a number of those who ordinarily support other parties.

"No party can hope to form a government in this country without some of their support."

Mr. Camp made it plain in his speech that as far as policy goes the major parties must find "fresh and more relevant policies."

"There is an urgent need for party reconversion, for party realignment."

If the major parties continued to be distinguished by the personalities of the leaders, a "handful of platitudes" posing as policies or a "bathful of prejudices," the attrition of the major parties would grow and Parliament's inability to function would become chronic.

Questioned by reporters about his intentions, Mr. Camp denied ever saying he would not be a leadership candidate. He had said after the November annual meeting he did not consider himself one at that time.

He said he had not contended that he would not play as large a role as possible in the leadership convention.

Did he expect to be a candidate?

He replied that he does not know, the convention was a long way off. But he suggested that a decision will be forthcoming before the summer months.

Whether or not his plans include running, Mr. Camp will be behaving like many of the other declared and undeclared candidates. He'll make a speaking tour shortly covering points in Ontario, Quebec and Western Canada.

The list of declared candidates now includes MPs David Fulton, George Hees, Michael Starr and Dr. Hugh Horner, Senator Wallace McCutcheon and Brockville lawyer John McLean.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haskett and family of Toronto spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haskett.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stiles have taken up residence at the Thomson farm, 12th concession, Rawdon.

Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy, has returned home from Ottawa.

Carl Ray was involved in a car accident and was hospitalized for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranch and family have moved to their farm at Boaarlaw.

Misses Diane McKeown and Joan McFaul, student nurses at Civic Hospital, Peterborough, are spending a month's holidays at their respective homes here before going to Toronto for further training.

Ladies from Bylstone United Church, St. Thomas' Anglican Church and St. Mark's Anglican, met in Springbrook United Church on Thursday evening and held a panel discussion on church unity. The panel consisted of Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Agar, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. J. Frear and Mrs. D. Fleming.

Unwilling Stowaway Arrives at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—A Glasgow grandmother, who crossed the Atlantic in a luxury liner by mistake, slipped ashore quietly in Montreal Wednesday, eluding reporters and photographers.

Rose Houston, 57, was caught aboard the Empress of England without luggage or passport while saying goodbye to her daughter. She did not hear the call for all visitors to go ashore.

Mrs. Houston's daughter, Margaret McDonald, came to Canada with her seven-months-old baby to join her husband in suburban Beloeil.

A spokesman for Canadian Pacific Steamships, owners of the ship, said Mrs. Houston's fare will be paid by a benefactor who wishes to remain anonymous.

When the liner reached Quebec City Tuesday, Mrs. Houston told a reporter in an interview that her trip as an unwilling stowaway was "all like a nightmare to me."

"I didn't hear the ship's bell nor the calls being made over the loudspeaker system for visitors to leave the ship.

"By the time I managed to go up on deck, there was a lot of sea between the ship and the dockside. The last I saw of my husband was him staring at the ship in disbelief. There was nothing I could do."

Her husband, Thomas, is a chauffeur in Glasgow.

The ship's crew did all it could to make her comfortable.

"I had an empty bunk in my cabin," said her daughter Margaret, "So mother was able to travel with me.

"She was terribly upset over what had happened. I tried to tell her it was just an accident and that everything would be all right."

"I worry about my husband," confessed Mrs. Houston. "I shouldn't be here. He needs looking after."

Immigration authorities said she would get tourist status to enable her to make the best of her unexpected trip. The cost of the voyage, however, probably would have to be paid.

Mrs. Houston said: "I can't stay here more than a couple of weeks. I've got to get back. What a way to spend a holiday with one's family."

Approve Music Of 'O Canada' For Anthem

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons unanimously approved Wednesday a report by a Senate - Commons committee recommending that the present music for O Canada be adopted by the government as the national anthem.

Also approved was a second recommendation that the traditional music for God Save the Queen be adopted as the royal anthem in Canada.

Still before the joint committee is the more controversial question of the words for O Canada.

Despite Commons approval, the recommendations, before becoming law, must be approved by the government through a proclamation, an order-in-council, or by introducing a statute in Parliament.

The music for O Canada recommended by the committee is that composed by Calixa Lavallee in 1880. The sole change recommended by the committee is that the short music carry the notation: "With dignity, not too slowly."

Other recommendations by the anthem committee: that the government obtain the copyright to the music for O Canada so that "it shall belong to Her Majesty in right of Canada for all time."

The copyright now belongs to the Toronto music publishing firm of George V. Thompson Ltd., which also has the copyright for the English words.

The committee asked that its terms of reference concerning lyrics of the anthem be broadened. The present reference "is far too restrictive to permit the detailed study which this question deserves."

It wants authority to call for persons, papers and records; to examine witnesses; and to retain experts.

If the government concurs, the committee could hear from people who want to suggest new words for the anthem.

Perry Ryan (L — Toronto-Spadina), committee co-chairman, said in an interview his 18 - member committee will only have to be reconstituted when the session of Parliament ends — expected within a few weeks. Then, with broader terms of reference, it could come to grip with the words of the anthem.

Justice 'Sold Out' In Bankrupt Cases

MONTREAL (CP)—Yvon Dupuis, Montreal district bankruptcy registrar, said Wednesday "justice was sold out regarding both proceedings and rulings" in the handling of Quebec's bankruptcy cases before 1965.

Testifying before a royal commission inquiry into the administration of justice in Quebec, Mr. Dupuis said a business established with respect to the handling of bankruptcies in which favorable proceedings and rulings could be brought about.

Lawyers dealing with bankruptcies had become discouraged because "irregularities were ignored and registrars who received starvation salaries had to resort to certain practices . . . to increase their income."

He said the situation improved following a February, 1961, meeting of lawyers and official receivers.

The bankruptcy registrar criticized the provincial secretary's office for not requiring business firms to submit the names of their actual directors within 30 days of incorporation or the name of the notary or lawyer who incorporated the firm. These reports were required by law.

Mr. Dupuis suggested additional personnel be employed in the provincial department to combat a situation whereby the province was losing nearly $15,000,000 annually in taxes that should have been paid by companies.

Fraudulent bankruptcies would be more effectively combatted if a central depository for all bankruptcy reports were established. At least two lawyers and one experienced accountant should be added to the office of the clerk to the bankruptcy court, he said.

UN Backs Lake Ontario Study

TORONTO (CP)—Lake Ontario is to be the target of an intensive 18-month investigation by the International Association for Great Lakes Research, founded this week at the conference on Great Lakes research.

Part of the UN-sponsored International Hydrological Decade, the program will be carried out in 1970 after two years of preparation.

It will co-ordinate scientific research by Canadian and U.S. universities and government bodies on a far broader basis than joint studies already begun on water level regulation and pollution.

Dr. D. C. Chandler, director of Great Lakes research at the University of Michigan, was elected president of the new international body and Dr. A. D. Mitsner, head of the Great Lakes Institute at the University of Toronto, was elected vice-president.

Papers read on the last of three days of meetings attended by 348 scientists ranged in topic from the winter appetite of minnows — almost nil, — to the chemistry of soil washed into the lakes.

Canadian and American economists disagreed over the recent Canadian decision to impose lockage fees on the Welland Canal in the St. Lawrence Seaway, starting at $100 this year and increasing to $800 in five years.

This followed an interecutional decision not to increase the basic seaway toll by 10 per cent until at least 1970.

Prof. Eric Schenker of the University of Wisconsin said this is prejudicial to shipment of manufactured goods from U.S. ports.

The toll increase was being advocated on the basis that revenue must be increased to end the operational deficit existing since the seaway's opening, but it was not at all unlikely that the bonded debt could be retired within the 50-year limit without raising tolls.

Madame Vanier's Ottawa Friends Gather to Bid Farewell

OTTAWA (CP) — Friends of the late governor - general and his wife gathered Wednesday afternoon to say goodbye to Mme Georges Vanier, leaving the capital to make her home in Montreal.

The informal charm Mme. Vanier brought to her role as first lady was evident in the brief ceremony at Ottawa station.

As she was about to board the vice-regal car, part of the regular 5 o'clock train, she stopped to chat with a blue-overalled workman, Rene Provost, a car inspector.

Mr. Provost took off his oil-stained glove to take Mme. Vanier's offered hand.

"I've met her before — she'll shake hands with anybody. She's friendly with people," said Mr. Provost.

Prime Minister Pearson, cabinet members, diplomats and representatives of churches and armed services had gathered on the platform when the vicegeral car pulled up.

Mme. Vanier inspected the guard of honor, 30 scarlet-coated, bearskin - hatted men from the 2nd Battalion the Canadian Guards.

Mme. Vanier had a special goodbye for Capt. David Hyman, aide - de - camp during the funeral ceremonies for the late governor-general. She took the young officer's hand, then leaned forward to kiss his cheek.

Her youngest son Michel accompanied her on the journey in the same cars that took the family to the funeral in Quebec City.

As the train pulled out of the station, Mme. Vanier appeared on the back platform to wave and blow kisses.

The guard of honor presented arms, and Mme. Vanier dropped them a curtsy, then turned and entered the car.

In Montreal, she will live in a newly purchased house on Redpath Place near the centre of the city.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Often, the fear of losing a property pressures one into buying when he is not quite sure whether the property is the exact one he desires. There is a rather simple way wherein the objective of getting use of the property and holding it without making an immediate commitment can be accomplished.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Our family has just been uprooted because the company for which my husband works has transferred him to a new location. For the past two weeks we have seen many houses, but we can't make up our minds as to what to buy. The main reason is because we don't know this town.

We've made up our minds to rent for awhile. The house we have chosen looks like the type in which we could be very happy. If that turns out to be the case, we would hate to lose it.

Is there any way that we can hold this house while making up our minds whether we should buy? — Strangers in Town

Dear Strangers: This dilemma is rather common and you can make sure you have the house tied up while you are making up your mind—in other words, you can have your cake and eat it too.

This can be accomplished by having the lease include an "option to purchase." It has been my experience that often it isn't difficult to obtain this clause at the time of initial negotiations for the lease. The option clause should spell out in detail the purchase price, the time in which the option can be exercised, the financing (if any) accompanying the sale, and all other pertinent details necessary to complete a purchase.

The reason I stressed a detailed option clause is because my experience has been that many are too skimpy with resulting arguments and lawsuits.

Then, if one likes a property, the option is exercised. If one does not, then at the expiration of the lease, the tenant is at liberty to look for another property.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I'm burned up and I'm sure after you hear my story, you'll tell me to lower the boom on my brother-in-law. This character doesn't pay real estate taxes. We had a party at my house the other night, and after consuming a bottle of my liquor, he bragged that he was the only person in the county who doesn't pay taxes and is getting away with it.

I was astonished on the next morning I ran down to the tax office — and sure enough, there is no record of my brother-in-law's property.

Five years ago he bought an old school house and converted it into his home. As a school building, it was not on the tax roles, and the township officials simply forgot to enter it. They haven't caught up with him yet.

If you were in my shoes, would you turn in this deadbeat? — Mr. H. C.

ANSWER: Any answer I give will put me on the spot. Many would like to be in your brother-in-law's shoes, and will give three cheers for the little man who's winning the battle against bureaucracy. On the other hand, moral principles insist that your brother-in-law get his just deserts — especially when the rest of us recall the tax bills we've had to pay.

Ten years ago, I would have given the answer to this problem without hesitation. But having been knocked around considerably in that time from all sides, I will run for cover this time. I invite readers to tell me how they would vote in this situation. After the ballots are in, I'll give you the results.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I was standing on my porch the other day, when a disreputable looking character drove up, got out of the car, and took a picture of my house. I figured he was up to no good, so I immediately called the police.

The patrolman stopped him, then let him go as soon as the man said he was an appraiser working for a bank.

Why would a bank's appraiser be taking pictures of my house? — Mr. D. A.

ANSWER: The bank holding your mortgage apparently is very thorough, but the appraiser working for them is evidently goofing-off.

Some well-run banks periodically check the condition of properties on which they hold mortgages. The appraiser is required to make an interior inspection, write a report and attach a photograph as evidence of the property's condition.

The appraiser in your case apparently cut out all the intermediate steps and called it a day's work just by taking pictures.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My house is surrounded on all sides by tall trees. It makes for a very attractive setting, but the leaves and debris constantly clog the gutter. When the rains come, water just pours off all sides of the house.

Don't tell me to clean out the gutters and spouting. I am doing this continuously, but it is impossible to keep up with the falling junk. Is there another way? — Virgil B.

ANSWER: There is a way of overcoming the problem of clogged gutters once and for all. Cover the entire length of the gutter with a strip of ¼ inch wire mesh (coarse screening). One edge of the screening is pushed under the bottom row of shingles, the other is fastened to the outside rim of the gutter with screws. You can also buy ready-made gutter guards, consisting of strips of coarse screening (as described above) with specially designed clips to bend into position at both edges.

You now have a strainer over the entire length of the gutter that will keep out all leaves and debris.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The instructions on the can of paint said, "So simple to apply that even a 12-year-old can do a good job with our product." Being somewhat older, I bought two cans and painted the kitchen. I ended up with wrinkled walls that look like the skin of an 80-year-old person after several face lifting jobs. Is it me or the paint? — T. T. T.

ANSWER: Either the paint in the can was too thick or you applied too thick a coat. In either case, wrinkled walls will result.

If the paint is too thick, obviously it must be thinned out with a suitable solvent. The application part can be overcome by brushing or rolling out the paint thoroughly.

Nugent Repeats 'Big Lie' Charge

STE. ANNE, Man. (CP)—Conservative MP Terry Nugent Wednesday night re-read a statement he made in the House of Commons which drew a threat of legal action from Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

The defence minister had dared the member for Edmonton-Strathcona to repeat the statement, which accused him of a "big lie" technique in the Stalin-Hitler Adolf Hitler, outside the immunity of the Commons chamber.

In an address to the Provencher Constituency Conservative Association at this community 20 miles east of Winnipeg, Mr. Nugent re-read his statement from a text. He did not specifically identify the text but the words coincided with Hansard, the official report of Commons debates.

The allegation in the Commons came during debate on armed forces unification.

Mr. Nugent told his audience Wednesday night he had been mildly rebuking the defence minister after another member had sharply criticized Mr. Hellyer.

The minister, he said, intervened at the first opportunity and suggested Mr. Nugent would not repeat outside the House what he had said in the chamber where members are immune from legal action.

The Conservative member told the meeting he believed his statement was quite accurate and, as he had promised the minister he would repeat the statement, "I am going to say the same words again." As he completed the quotation, the 140 persons attending the gathering broke into loud applause.

The statement read:

"Since the minister has relied throughout this debate on the tried and true system developed by Adolf Hitler of the big lie, and since he is so adept at the practice of this system, I developed a sort of grudging admiration for the amount of skill he brought to bear on using the system."

Quebec Police Ready For All Expo Problems

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Whatever the problems raised by Expo 67, the police will be ready, says Quebec's justice minister.

Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand said in the legislature Wednesday that the police will be able to handle problems ranging from traffic tie-ups to organized crime.

He rejected a suggestion that special legislation is necessary to integrate provincial police with municipal police in the restricted area for the duration of the fair.

The suggestion was made by Yves Provost, head of a five-man commission on the administration of justice, and cited in the legislature by former justice minister Claude Wagner.

The Quebec legislature was one of six sitting. The others are in Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

In other legislatures:

Winnipeg— The Manitoba legislature almost completed clause-by-clause approval of a bill providing for a five-per-cent sales tax in the province. Only one clause to be approved remains before the bill is submitted for third reading.

Fredericton— The New Brunswick legislature was told that provincial sales in the year reached a record high of $34,408,534 during 1966, giving a net profit of $12,224,225—an increase of $505,215 over the previous year.

Charlottetown— A number of amendments to the Prince Edward Island Liquor Control Act included a provision to abolish the system of individual permits for island residents. The amendments were given second reading in the legislature Tuesday.

St. John's— Opposition Leader Gerald Ottenheimer told the legislature that Newfoundland risks having people lose faith in the industrial development of the province by allowing development to be closely associated with John C. Doyle. Mr. Ottenheimer said Mr. Doyle has been convicted in the United States of sending unregistered stocks through the mail, has jumped bail in the U.S., faces a three-year prison term there and has had his assets in Canada frozen by the internal revenue department.

The Opposition leader's remarks came during debate on a bill under which Canadian Javelin, controlled by Mr. Doyle, its chairman, would be the major partner in a Newfoundland pulp and linerboard plant.

People of Canada Expect This, PCs Claim as Debate Continues

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservatives marched back into the unification debate Wednesday without missing a stride.

Jack McIntosh (PC — Swift Current-Maple Creek), speaking within a few hours of new strategy decisions taken at a party caucus meeting, said the fight will go against legislation making the armed forces a single service.

Conservatives were the only speakers during the three hours and 45 minutes available in Wednesday's short Commons sitting.

It was the eighth day of debate on the unification bill and the House had not moved beyond general arguments on the first of 45 clauses in the legislation.

"We feel that this is what the people of Canada expect of us," Mr. McIntosh said.

Prime Minister Pearson, Defence Minister Hellyer and the entire cabinet should recognize the position taken by his party and withdraw the bill, he said.

Dr. F. B. Nyrard (PC—Simcoe East) said that with union of the infantry, air force and navy "you may find yourself with a force without tradition or loyalties."

"That might well mean the difference between defeat and victory in combat."

Michael Forrestall (PC—Halifax) said his area is already feeling the impact of base consolidation under unification, although the legislation has not yet been passed.

He called on Mr. Hellyer to reveal base amalgamation plans so that other plans can be laid for relocation and retraining of civilian defence employees left without jobs.

Angus MacLean (PC—Queens) said the government is acting the part of a "dictator" by ignoring the will of a majority, which opposes unification.

The unification hassle resumed after echoes of a 50-year-old First World War Battle during the daily Commons question period.

NDP Leader Douglas referred to the absence of President de Gaulle from the commemoration ceremonies in France Sunday of the Battle of Vimy Ridge and asked whether the president had been invited.

Prime Minister Pearson said all arrangements for the ceremony had been worked out in advance with French authorities and Canada made clear that Gen. de Gaulle's participation would be "most welcome."

Progress In Trenton

Planners Keep Fingers Crossed

TRENTON — Town residents here sincerely hope the old adage about "the best laid plans of mice and men" proves to be the exception, rather than the rule.

As it has turned out, 1967 should be the year of the planner for Trenton, with the culmination of several major steps in town face-lifting coming into the public eye this year.

A new civic square, a second Trent River bridge, and a new fire hall — all are well on the way to becoming realized, mainly due to the imagination and persistence of town council.

As if these projects did not provide an ambitious enough agenda for any community — let alone one of 14,000 population — there are a number of other irons in the Trenton planning fires.

From time to time, hopes are voiced concerning a museum, updated municipal office facilities, new police station and court location among others.

When and if these proposals make their way to council chambers, they will have to pass the same exacting scrutiny that has been given others before them.

And like countless plans before them, they will meet protests — from tolerant to vehement, both public and from within council's midst — that arise in any issue of general concern.

New Fire Hall Would Be at Downtown Location

River Bridge Help on Way

Long a bottleneck in traffic movement in Trenton, the river bridge will not have to handle through traffic when its modern counterpart opens.

Bridge Costly Project

The most costly of Trenton's major undertakings, the new D. J. MacDonald Bridge, is the one which is nearest completion.

The long-awaited traffic alternative to the existing Trent River span, the new structure should involve an expenditure upwards of $1.2 million. The town's share of the cost is expected to be in the neighborhood of $300,000, with the bulk of the tab being picked up by the provincial government.

The bridge, named after Trenton's mayor of the past eight years, will hopefully alleviate to some degree the town's perennial rush-hour traffic syndrome.

The existing bridge was opened in 1917, and its swing section to allow larger marine traffic passage at times transforms the span into a monstrous bottleneck.

Clock Tower Will Remain in Civic Square

The clock tower will be all that remains of the old post office building when Trenton completes its project of turning the downtown site into a civic square.

Civic Square On Way

Scarcely two weeks ago, town council succeeded in an eleventh-hour bid to acquire the former post office property to make way for a proposed civic square, a project advocated strongly by Mayor James MacDonald in council chambers for the past several years.

After the Ontario Municipal Board initially rebuffed Trenton's plan as premature, town fathers took a new tack, and gained OMB approval of purchase by re-applying under a section of the Municipal Act dealing with the creation of war memorials, parks, and similar projects.

The final stamp of approval was given the town proposal March 28 — two days before the property would have been put up for sale to the highest public bidders. This would have been two former aldermen who had been on the council committee which initially recommended purchase of the property for public use.

The total cost? — some $67,000 — including estimates for demolition (of all but the post office clock tower) and development of the site.

Council has indicated it expects to sell a rear portion of the land to private commercial developers, in order to regain some of the town's outlay for the project.

A little more than $13,000 has already been forwarded to Crown Assets Disposal Corporation of Ottawa as down payment for the 79-year-old structure and its prime downtown site. The remainder will be paid over a five-year period, during which time it is expected Trenton may find itself with an attractive town square area.

Meanwhile, postal services operate from the modern Front St. building opened in 1965.

$60,000 Outlay

Fire Hall Plans Are Prepared

Trenton councillors were of the same mind a week ago when they agreed on a site for a proposed new fire hall, and authorized retaining of a local firm of consulting engineers to prepare plans and specifications for the project.

To be situated on Front St., in what has been described as the ideal central location, the fire hall will cost an estimated $60,000. The Front St. property was purchased as a site by the town for $40,000.

It is expected the fire department will have immediate road access to alarms turned in from any section of town, located as it will be at the west end of the new D. J. MacDonald Bridge.

Trenton's parking authority is to contribute half the construction cost of the project as purchase price for the existing fire station, which has serviced the town from the market square since 1878.

The authority will, in turn, render the present fire hall's site into a modern downtown parking area.

The town will debenture for the $30,000 remainder of the estimated cost of the building.

Lake the present hall, the new station will be constructed with a tower, designed to facilitate proper drying of hose equipment.

No definite dates have been mentioned in connection with the plans as yet, but local firemen may be operating from their new home within a couple of years.

Commons Hears Complaint

Removal of Support Price Discrimination Says Grills

Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South, has charged in the House of Commons that the fluid milk producers were being discriminated against through the federal governments removal of support price for surplus milk shipped to city dairies.

Mr. Grills asked why the support price for surplus fluid milk had been removed and was told by Bruce S. Beer, parliamentary secretary for the minister of agriculture, that fluid milk as supplied to dairies was produced according to provincial requirements and regulations. And therefore was a provincial responsibility.

Mr. Grills said that while he did not want to detract from the efforts of other milk producers, it was the dairy producers who have had to produce the highest quality of milk and maintain supply throughout 12 months of the year.

He said this meant additional expense, extra investment and additional equipment.

He went on to say that no producer can produce an equal quantity of milk throughout the year without having surplus milk at some periods. The result was that he found himself with different quantities on hand, considerable of which goes to a manufacturing plant as surplus milk.

"It is with respect to this portion of his production that the support be received last year has been withdrawn," Mr. Grills said. "I maintain that the fluid milk producer is being discriminated against. . ."

Mr. Grills admitted it was true that the fluid milk producer gets a premium price for milk sold on the fluid market.

"But if 50 per cent of his production goes to the surplus market without benefit of a support price he finds himself in the unenviable position of having to produce milk during a 12 months period without adequate compensation, in the final analysis getting no more than the other person."

The Hastings South member said he was not intending to be critical but said the Minister did not understand the situation. He hoped that some action could be taken before it was too late.

In his reply to Mr. Grills, Mr. Beer said the government was quite conscious of the fact that there are additional costs attached to the production of fluid milk and that there was difficulty in maintaining continuity of supply.

He pointed out, however, that the provincial government had accepted the responsibility, for fluid milk.

Through its dairy policy the Federal government had appropriated $120 million to assist in the establishment of a satisfactory price for manufacturing milk, said based on a buying price of 63 cents per pound for butter and 20 cents for milk powder.

Mr. Beer said this meant approximately $4.75 f.o.b. factory to the farmers.

(The complaint of fluid milk producers is, however, that they do not now receive any support price for their surplus milk and thus do not get the full $4.75 for milk sent to manufacturing plants.)

Mr. Beer said further support for fluid milk prices was clearly the responsibility of the provincial governments.

Mr. Grills said that Mr. Beer's explanationdid not answer the question.

New College Will Meet Demands of New World

TRENTON — The board of governors of the new applied arts and technology college in this area have entered upon arts and technology college in "spirit of adventure," the chairman of the board, Rev. H. J. Maloney of Bancroft told an audience of night school students and their friends in Trenton last night.

The occasion was "achievement night" for the students, who displayed their acquired talents through a fashion show and a showing of art and ceramic work.

"In this day when all the 'good old values' of religion and education are being challenged, the board is delighted to be a part of bringing this 'unique' type of education to those who need training a university is not prepared to offer. Education is in a real state of crisis. We need something to fill the 'gap' between those who stop their education at high school level and those who go on to university. (Only 20 per cent of those who enter high school go on to complete their Grade 13 and to university.)

What Price Glory!

The Kingston Aces, Ontario senior "A" hockey champions are finding the path to the Allan Cup is a golden one — in reverse.

According to a story in a Kingston newspaper, the Aces need cash — and they need it now. $18,000 is needed to meet "mounting operating costs."

According to the story Aces manager Gordon Leach said, "We have no alternative but to go to the public if we wish to continue our quest for the Allan Cup."

"Thus far," he is quoted as saying, "we are over $8,000 in the red on the season's operations. We have had good teams and excellent coach and manager problems. It is not fair for the players if they have to worry about where the money is coming from for the next game. It definitely hurts morale."

"During 20 league games and nine playoffs games this year we realized $34,644 as our share of the $42,788 gate receipts. Our operating costs were $39,789 leaving us a $4,145 deficit. We also spent another $4,000 on equipment and incidentals making the total deficit over $8,000."

The newspaper story carries the breakdown of the operating costs of the club:

"Insurance $500; meals, $1,447; payment for players' lost work time, bonuses and gas, $32,496; travel by bus, $3,360; Ontario Hockey Association fines $348."

According to Mr. Leach, "Our coach is not paid, no one at the management level is paid and players get only expenses and minor gratuities."

During the Allan Cup playoffs the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association takes all gate money and splits it at the end of the season."

Bylaw 121, page 31 of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Handbook states — "After deducting 15 per cent of the gate receipts for Association purposes, the expenses of the clubs shall be paid and the surplus remaining shall be divided equally between clubs participating in the playoffs. All losses incurred in Junior "A" and Senior "A" divisions shall be paid from the Association's share of the receipts."

"The funds received from the playoffs in each series shall be kept separate and distinct for the purpose of this bylaw and the surplus resulting from each series shall be divided on an equal only among the clubs participating in the playdowns."

Again we quote Mr. Leach. "But there is no pot of gold at the end of the year. The last time the Aces were in the Allan Cup (two years ago) we had good gates at Sherbrooke and at1 home. Our share from the CAHA was $500.

In helping the appeal for funds Aces coach Danny Mcleod says "this is a Kingston team with Kingston players. These players came up through the Church Athletic League and the Rotary-Nivanis Minor Hockey Association. We have an importa unless you consider Davey Jones of Belleville an import but he came to us both years and asked to play. We didn't go to him."

"On paper," goes on McLeod, "we were the most inexperienced team in the league We were also the best drawing team in the league. (Other opinions state the Belleville Mo-Hawks had the best attendance record in the schedule and playoffs). This is Kingston's best chance to give the Allen Cup a real shot. I know we are going to be hurt next year with players leaving the city. Several have offers for professional trials."

Blazers, Knights In Finals

OMAHA (AP) — Omaha Knights moved into the Central Hockey League finals Wednesday night when they defeated Memphis Wings 7-4 to win their best-of-seven semi-final series 4-3.

Omaha now meets Oklahoma City Blazers in the final with the first game here Friday night.

Pappin May Be Out ★★★★★

Leafs; Win A Game, Lose A Player

★★★★★ Mohns To Play

TORONTO (CP)—At the rate Toronto Maple Leafs are going, they could run out of right wingers before they finish their Stanley Cup semi-final series against Chicago Black Hawks.

So far, the Leafs battle plan seems to be win a game, lose a player. Tuesday night was no exception.

The Leafs defeated Chicago 3-1 to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series, but the victory may have cost them right winger Jim Pappin for tonight's fourth game.

"He probably won't play, although he's hard to say right now," said coach Punch Imlach.

Pappin, who leads the Leafs in the playoffs with two goals and two assists, suffered a bone bruise on his right ankle when struck by a puck in the first period Tuesday night.

He finished the game and scored in the second period, but the ankle started to bother him when he removed his skate after the game.

Sunday night, the Leafs notched their first win against the Hawks but George Armstrong took a heavy check from Bobby Hull and could not play in Tuesday's game.

Armstrong, who injured his right knee, is another doubtful starter tonight.

"Sometimes the knee feels all right," said Armstrong, the Leaf captain who scored a goal and two assists before his injury. "But I wouldn't want to take a heavy check on it—at least not a check like I took Sunday night."

Imlach, moaning in the dressing room after the Leafs went through a rough 60-minute drill of three-on-one combos, didn't expect to play Armstrong.

All the Leafs were at Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday for a team picture and most practised afterward. The only Leaf, with the exception of Pappin and Armstrong, who didn't work out was goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

He was struck on the left calf by a Hull shot Tuesday night and had his leg wrapped in an elastic bandage.

But Imlach said Sawchuk will definitely be in goal tonight with veterans goalie Johnny Bower standing by.

Other problems bother the Toronto coach though, and he is faced with juggling three lines to fill the gaps.

"We'll send in Eddie Shack at the start on the Pappin line and if he doesn't produce in the early rounds, I'll just have to yank him. Of course I could always put Kelly on right wing if Shack doesn't get the job done."

Kelly, former member of Punchmenent and all-star defenceman, is at centre this season after playing left wing last year. He is centring a line with Ron Ellis and Larry Jeffrey on the wings.

"I won't double shift Kelly," said Imlach. "If we were using four lines I could, but I'm not going to go with four lines. We'll just have to play it by ear."

In the Chicago camp, Billy Reay had his Hawks at the Gardens Wednesday but only a few of them put on the skates for a light workout.

All the big guns—Pierre Pilote, Bobby and Dennis Hull, Stan Mikita, Ken Wharram and Pat Stapleton—did not skate.

GEORGE ARMSTRONG

Doug Mohns, the 35-goal scorer on the Scooter Line with Mikita and Wharram, skated lightly after missing Tuesday's game. He is hampered by weak and painful muscles in his back.

"I feel a lot better today, a lot better than I did on Monday," said Mohns. "I'll play tomorrow."

But Reay would not confirm Mohns' return.

Both Reay and Imlach feel tonight's game is the big one in the series. It will be televised by the CBC's national network.

"We're in a tough spot," said Reay. "We're in the same position as the Leafs when they lost the first game. We have to win Thursday's game or we're in real trouble. That would force us to win the last three straight."

Imlach saw it this way:

"This is the big one. This series is a million miles from being over. The next game is the important one. If we don't win that one, then our whole edge will be wiped out tomorrow."

Seattle Shades Seals 3-2

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Centre Larry Lund scored two goals Wednesday night as Seattle Totems beat California Seals 3-2 in their best-of-seven Western Hockey League semi-final.

The victory before 3,291 fans gave Seattle a 3-1 lead in the series and a chance to win a finals berth in Friday's game here.

Vancouver Canucks swept a semi-final series with Portland Buckaroos 4-0. California's Stan Gilbertson opened the scoring at 8:43 in the first period. Lund tied it three minutes later. Bob Lemieux then scored on a Seattle power play just before the first period ended.

Lund scored the second period's only goal.

Forbes Kennedy tipped in a shot for the Seals final tally at 12:24 in the third period.

HONOR SPORTSMAN

TORONTO (CP) — C. Max Bell, Calgary publisher and sportsman, will be honored by Sportsmen Lodge Wed. 27th at the annual dinner here May 4, the organization announced Wednesday. The lodge promotes the dinner each year to give recognition to a citizen it feels has made a major contribution to an improved relationship among all Canadians.

Pen In Hand

Professor Clancy Explains How

TORONTO (CP) — King Clancy, affable assistant coach of Toronto Maple Leafs, eased himself into a chair and turned over a paper plate.

"I'm going to tell you fellows how we beat the Hawks," he said. Taking out a pen, the 65-year-old former National Hockey League player, coach, manager and referee, drew a rough diagram of a hockey rink on the back of the plate.

Then he divided the diagram into three zones, "running the length of the ice.

"It's basic hockey, fundamental stuff—positional play," he said.

"But it's the only way to beat the Hawks. They're all big shooters, not great skaters like the Canadiens.

"You can't play the Canadiens that way because they're basically better players than they are shooters. With the Hawks, you can't allow them a good shot on the goal."

Clancy explained that each forward on the Toronto team is responsible for his one-third of the ice while playing. It's a bit more involved than that, however.

"For instance," said Clancy, "when a Toronto right winger goes after the puck in the Chicago end and realizes the Hawk player is going to beat him to it, he just turns and skates back toward his own zone."

"When the Hawks are coming into the Toronto zone the Toronto wingers come right in ahead of the play, past their own defence.

"The Toronto defencemen stay on the blueline, trying to stop the play."

Marcel Pronovost, veteran defenceman with the Leafs said:

"This gives us a chance to play the man rather than the puck. The idea is that we get some piece of the puck carrier, knocking him loose from the puck and the forwards — now deep in the Toronto zone—pick it up.

"You can't play that kind of hockey all season. You have to play a lot more open, but actually it's the easiest game to play. It's kid stuff—basics."

Veteran centre Red Kelly said the Leafs played the same type of game during their 3-1 victories in the second and third games of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

The Leafs lost the first game in Chicago Thursday before winning the second game Sunday in Chicago and the third here Tuesday.

"But Tuesday night's game was the most successful," Kelly said.

"We all played it perfectly."

Whip Morriburg 8-3

Aces Take 3-1 Lead

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston Aces moved to within one victory of winning the Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-final series by dumping Morriburg Combines 8-3 Wednesday night.

Kingston leads the best-of-seven series three games to one with the fifth game scheduled for Brockville Friday night. The sixth game, if necessary, will be played in Kingston Sunday. Morriburg moved its home games to Brockville because of a small seating capacity in its own rink.

Tom Carty scored three goals for Kingston, Jack Price added two more and single goals went to Ron Earl, Jim Sprott and Dave McComb.

McComb was picked from Collingwood Georgians following their elimination in the Ontario Hockey Association senior semi-final series. Price came to the club from Oakville Oaks.

Doug Casselman, Derek Holmes and Bob Aube scored for Morriburg.

Canoeists Reach Revelstoke

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Four Expo-bound canoeists who set out from New Westminster two weeks ago have reached this Rocky Mountain community after suffering one duckling.

The four adventurers, making the 2,000-mile trip by canoe and on foot on their centennial project to Expo, have travelled the Fraser and Thomson rivers, Shuswap Lake and the Sicamous River.

Francis; Will Juggle Top Strings

NEW YORK (CP)—The Rangers haven't made the Stanley Cup playoffs often since their last cup championship in 1940 but when they have, they've always managed to win at least one game.

Now even this modest record is threatened, as the reeling Rangers prepare for the game they must win here tonight against Montreal Canadiens to stave off elimination from hockey's most glamorous competition.

The Canadiens finished the National Hockey League schedule winning their last six games, and they have clung to their victory habit by taking the first three games of their best-of-seven semi-final round against the Rangers. They overcame a 4-1 deficit in the third period to win the first game 6-4, added a second victory in Montreal, 3-1, and then came here Tuesday night to take the fastest, tightest game of the series 3-2.

Montreal coach Toe Blake, never an outspoken optimist, appeared well satisfied with his team's performance, especially with the work of centres Jean Beliveau, Henri Richard and Ralph Backstrom.

Precisely the opposite condition, lack of strength at centre is perhaps the most crucial problem facing Rangers coach Emile Francis. Phil Goyette, New York's top point-getter during the regular season, was hurt in the first game and has been having a poor series.

Another centre, Orland Kurtenbach, was hurt in the second game, dressed but didn't play in the third here Tuesday night, and is unlikely to be in the lineup tonight.

Thus, faced with the necessity of juggling his top lines, Francis had Jean Ratelle and Red Berenson practising faceoffs against each other during most of Wednesday's workout. One or the other is expected to get the call for a regular shift at centre tonight.

RED BERENSON

The Canadiens are at full strength and appear to be confident of wrapping up the series in four straight games and entering the finals in quest of a third consecutive Stanley Cup.

They will return to Montreal tonight by train immediately after the game. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be held there Saturday night.

Blake said if the Canadiens eliminate New York tonight or Saturday, and Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs go the limit in the other series, this will present a problem.

"If you're healthy, you have to skate and work out harder in your practices while you're waiting for the other series to end."

Francis acknowledged that Montreal has been playing its best hockey of the season in the last couple of weeks but "they're due to lose."

He would not make any predictions beyond tonight's game but "if we beat them in this next game, they're liable to lose their momentum."

Francis said the Canadiens have been playing hard in front of 21-year-old goalie Rogatien Vachon to cover up for the rookie's inexperience.

Blake said: "We've won three tough games, but we've got the toughest one to win yet."

BASEL WINS

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Basel defeated Lugano, 5-1 in a Swiss Soccer Cup semi-final replay Wednesday and will meet Lausanne Sports in the final.

Shuffleboard League Champions

The Belleville and District Shuffleboard League, preparing for its annual presentation banquet Saturday night, completed playoffs this week.

The ANAF won the "A" division playoffs by defeating Wayside Inn 10-6 on a home-and-home series. ANAF will receive the Molson's Trophy.

Arlington Hotel of Deseronto defeated Nepanee's Richelieau Hotel 10-4 to capture the "B" division honors and the Hotel Quinte Trophy.

Crystal Hotel won the league championship and the Dew Trophy and will represent the league against Trenton and also in the Ontario championships to be held in Kitchener.

The league banquet will be held at the ANAF Hall this Saturday night when all trophies will be presented.

Minor Sports Bodies Ready For Season

The city's minor sports bodies are busy planning their summer activities.

The Belleville Minor Softball Association, still in need of coaches and managers, is holding it's player registration day this Saturday, April 15, at the Recreation Centre from 9.00 a.m. to 12.00 noon.

And the following Saturday, April 22, is registration day for the Belleville Minor Baseball Association. It will also be held at the Recreation Centre, from 9.00 a.m. to noon.

Apparently a mistake was made on the forms sent out to the schools re: the age limit for peewee and bantam baseball players. Take note, boys, peewee players are under 13 as of January 1 and bantam players are under 15 as of January 1.

And fellows, be it baseball or softball, if you want to play, don't forget to register.

Sports Calendar

Astros Hand Braves 2nd Loss In Row

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Dierker was almost perfect at the end of last season and lost.

He wasn't that good Wednesday night, but won.

Dierker was rapped for three hits and a pair of runs in the first inning against Atlanta Braves but hung on and wound up with a 4-2 victory as Houston Astros beat the Braves for the second straight night.

It was a far cry from the young right-hander's final appearance last year when he pitched eight innings of perfect ball against New York Mets, only to lose his perfect game, no-hitter, shutout and finally, the ball game in the ninth.

The only thing Dierker lost in the ninth this time was his edge. After the shaky first inning, he set the Braves down on two singles until there were two out in the ninth.

Then singles by Joe Torre and Rico Carty put him in a jam but catcher John Bateman bailed him out by picking Carty off first base for the game's final out.

In the only other National League game played, Bill Hands' wild pitch with two out in the 11th inning allowed Tony Taylor to score with the winning run as Philadelphia Phillies shaded Chicago Cubs 3-4.

The Braves, who beat Houston straight times at the end of last season, jumped off to a 2-0 lead against Dierker in the first inning on singles by Denis Menke and Torre sandwiched around Hank Aaron's triple.

But Houston bounced right back on a walk to Joe Morgan, a single by Jim Wynn, Ed Mathews' sacrifice fly and Rusty Staub's double.

Staub walked with one out in the sixth, moved up on an infield out and scored on Bob Aspromonte's single for the tie-breaking run. Jim Laodis' eighth - inning single following a walk and a steal produced the Astro's final run.

Hands' wild pitch with the bases loaded in the 11th allowed the Phillies to snap a tie which had existed from the seventh inning when Rich Allen cracked a two-run homer for Philadelphia.

Cookie Rojas also smashed a two-run shot for the Phillies and Ernie Banks connected for the Cubs. Brooks' homer was the 420th of his career.

Muslim Charges Prejudice

Clay Told "Forget About It"

CHICAGO (AP)—Herbert Muhammad, Cassius Clay's Black Muslim adviser, has ruled out any title bout as any decision between the heavyweight champion and Floyd Patterson.

Muhammad criticized the order Wednesday of Governor Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania directing that state's athletic commission to eliminate Pittsburgh as a site of the bout scheduled April 25.

Shafer's order came after a ruling Tuesday by the Nevada State Athletic Commission rejecting a proposal to hold the bout in Las Vegas.

Muhammad charged officials of the two states with religious and racial prejudice and said:

"If Mohammed Ali (Clay) was a white Christian champion I don't think the fight would have been stopped."

He said he had told trainers to break up Clay's training camp in Las Vegas, come home and "forget about the whole thing."

Clay promptly boarded a plane and left the state. On his way through the air terminal at Las Vegas, he told reporters he would definitely go into the army April 28 as his draft board has ordered because "it would break my mother's heart if I didn't."

Clay's attorney in Cincinnati took another legal step to stop the army from drafting Clay.

In a motion filed with the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, the attorney, Hayden Covington, asked for an injunction to halt Clay's scheduled induction in Houston pending an appeal from a decision by U.S. District Judge James Gordon of Owensboro, Ky.

Muhammad said Clay would not fight Patterson in any location and said there were no plans for a title defence with any other challenger.

This appeared to rule out a bid by Irv Ungerman, manager of George Chuvalo of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight champion, to get a title fight between Chuvalo and Clay later this summer.

NAMED TOP ROOKIE

SEATTLE (AP)—Ron Boehm, 23, scrappy right winger for Vancouver Canucks, has been named top rookie of the Western Hockey League for the 1966-67 season, league headquarters announced Wednesday. Boehm, a native of Allan, Sask., received 376 of a possible 510 votes in the balloting by WHL players. The award carries a trophy and $300 in cash. Boehm scored 42 points on 18 goals and 24 assists in 71 games.

Marlies Win 6-2

Wings' Collapse Costly

TORONTO (CP) — If Hamilton Red Wings can match Toronto Marlboros in coming from behind, they could still win the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series.

But they'll never do it by collapsing as they did Wednesday night, blowing a 2-1 lead in the third period and letting the Marlboros win 6-2.

All season, Hamilton coach Eddie Bush has been bewailing the fact that the Red Wings blow opportunities. They showed 4,825 fans just how they do it as they dominated the first 50 minutes of the first game in the best-of-seven league final and still had only a slim one-goal edge going into the third.

Five of the Toronto goals came after the halfway mark of the third.

Tom Martin and Mike Byers each scored two goals for Toronto and Brian Glennie and Terry Caffery added the others. Defenseman Rick Smith and Kevin Pettit scored for Hamilton.

Downtown Merchant coach and player Bob Blaind (second from left) cries "foul" as he points to Fireman Bob "Shut Out" Andrus' oversized goaltick prior to last night's game in aid of Retarded Children. Referees. Fiori Goegan (L) and Bob Taylor check the complaint while the third official, Floyd Crawford, has gone for a rule book.

Eastern Semi-Final To Eagles

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Drummondville Eagles struck for two fast goals in the third period and defeated Moncton Hawks 6-4 here Wednesday night to win the best-of-five Eastern Allan Cup semi-final in 3 straight games.

The victory earns Drummondville the right to advance to the eastern final against either Morrisburg Combines or Kingston Aces, now battling for the Ontario senior hockey championship.

Six Eagles shared the Drummondville scoring —Roger Picard, Ronnie Racette, Bob Eastman, Ron Roberts, Gord Heworth and Guy Rinck. Hartley Estebrooks, scored twice for Moncton. Doug Howatt and Phil MacDonald scored the others.

Indy 500 Cars Race In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Thirty-five entries are expected to compete in a 200-mile race for Indianapolis - type cars to be held Aug. 6 at Le Circuit Mont Tremblant at 1. Jovite, Que., about 80 miles north. of Montreal.

The announcement Wednesday said it would be the first time Indianapolis - type cars would race in Canada.

Prize money for the event will be $80,000.

The open - wheeled, single seat cars will be basically the same as those contesting the Indy 500 in Indianapolis May 31, the biggest race in the United tates.

Says Ad. Firm Decides On Cup Telecasts

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Lewis Brand (Saskatoon) told the Commons Wednesday that an advertising firm is apparently making the decisions on which Stanley Cup playoff games will be telecast.

He demanded government action to prevent "further usurping of the rights of Parliament and Canadian taxpayers."

Dr. Brand referred to a report that an official of the CBC television station in Ottawa had said MacLaren Advertising Co. Ltd. makes all decisions on television airing of National Hockey League games.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh said she would investigate, but she presumed it was simply a case of purchase of the telecasting rights by MacLaren and sale to the highest bidder.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker added a shot of his own, asking whether so important a part of culture should be left in the hands of an organization with "such close relations with the government"—an apparent reference to past Liberal party advertising handled by MacLaren.

APPROVES SKI MEET

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Coutau, president of the World Water Ski Union, Wednesday gave his approval to the plans under way for the 10th world water ski championships to be held at Sherbrooke, Que. Aug. 27-Sept. 3. Mr. Coutau said he would like to see waterskiing become recognized as an Olympic sport.

Merchants Over Firemen Retarded Kiddies Win

Belleville's retarded children were the big winners of last night's charity hockey game at Memorial Arena without having to lace on a skate.

A good sized crowd watched the Downtown Merchants stage a third-period rally to defeat the Fire Department 11-5 .The Firemen led 2-1 after one period, 3-2 after two and 5-3 early in the third period before the Merchants scored eight in succession.

Phil "Rocket" Bennett led up to his nickname by firing three Merchant goals. Billy "The Kid" McGuire and Tom "Hard Rock" Woodley contributed two each while Mike "Clutch" Flesch, Dave "Grub" Hurst, Norm "Leader" Richards and Doug "No Pass" Grant added singletons.

Wally "Hydrant Wrench" Istead was the big scoring gun for the Firemen. He scored three times with Rocque "Rocky" Davis and Reg "Ghost" Christopher netting the others.

The game was lots of fun for all concerned and penalties were scarce. Each side drew a pair of minors.

Pro Soccer Debuts In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Athletico of Bilbao, Spain, defeated Red Star of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, 3-1 Wednesday night before 9,786 rain-dampened fans who came to see the debut of big-time soccer here.

Barons Bow To Amerks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kent Douglas moved a step closer Wednesday night to returning to Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

Named Rookie of the Year as a defenceman with the Leafs in 1962-63, Douglas scored two goals as a centre Wednesday to lead Rochester Americans to a 3-1 victory over Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League best-of-five playoff quarter-finals.

The Americans now must wait for the winner of the Baltimore Clippers-Quebec Aces quarter-final. The Clippers shaded the Aces 4-3 Wednesday to tie the series 2-2 with the final game set for Friday in Baltimore.

In the league semi-final, Hershey Bears fought back from the brink of elimination by beating Pittsburgh Hornets 3-1 to leave the Hornets leading their best-of-seven semi-final series 3-1 with the next game scheduled Saturday.

8-Enders Yeah !, But Better On Sundays

TORONTO (CP)—Vern Kershaw of Toronto says the best time to record an eight-ender in curling is on a Sunday late in the season.

Kershaw knows—he's had four eight-enders in five years of competition curling.

"You take a lot of kidding around the club. It gets expensive buying drinks. The best time to do it is on a Sunday."

Kershaw's last eight-ender came in a mixed bonspiel at the Granite Club in Toronto during a game which his rink won 9-5.

Kershaw, a native of Winnipeg, scored all four eight-enders in Granite Club competition. He said he knows of only one other curler, Winnipeg ex Hersh Lerner, with as many as three.

Senators Whip Yankees

Score Nine Runs In Second

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Young Joe Coleman, a minor league flop with a major league future, is looking forward to stay in Washington this year.

So far, the 20-year-old right-hander has received all the support he's needed—from the New York Yankees.

The Senators poured across nine unearned runs—the last four on Ken McMullen's grand-slam homer—in the second inning Wednesday night and whipped New York 10-4 as Coleman breezed to his fourth victory in as many big league appearances.

Rio Petrocelli drove in four runs, leading Boston Red Sox past Chicago White Sox 5-4 in their season opener, and Detroit Tigers trimmed California Angels 6-3 behind Mickey Lolich's six - hitter in the only other American League games. Cleveland was rained out at Kansas City.

Coleman, whose father Joe, Sr., pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics 20 years ago, was a 19-game loser at York, Pa., in the Eastern League last season. He came to the Senators' training camp this spring, with an overall minor league mark of 9-29.

But he had burled completegame victories in three late-season starts for Washington over the past two years—a four-hitter five-hitter and six-hitter.

The six-foot-three rookie from Natick, Mass., did not finish Wednesday night, giving way to reliever Dick Lines with two out in the ninth after yielding eight hits.

Coleman can't account for the major league - minor league dilemma. But he thinks part of his success in the majors has been due to the Senators' defensive support.

The Yankees' failure to make the plays cost them the game in the big second inning Wednesday night. Washington managed only four hits during the uprising, but three New York errors and four walks kept the rally alive before McMullen capped it with his bases-loaded blast.

Letter to the Sports Editor

As a parent of one of the Belleville Kinsmen Bantam Hockey A.1 Stars I would like to express publicly my sincere thanks to coach Tom Meeker and manager Gerry Graham for their time and effort devoted to the boys throughout the year.

Their record for the year is very good considering the difference in maturity for this division — these boys range from grade seven to grade eleven in school — indicating a distinction in development. They emerged Group Champions in O.M.H.A. playdowns and earned the Group "B" championship in a recent Trenton Bantam Hockey Tournament. Regardless of ability, each and every boy felt his importance. This was a great accomplishment.

Men like these are an asset to minor sports.

Harold Ackerman

P.S. Thanks also to the Belleville Kinsmen Club.

Cornwall In Eastern Semi-Final

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Cornwall Royals advanced into the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-finals Wednesday by defeating Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 2-1 before a record season crowd of 5,726.

Cornwall won the best - of - seven quarter-final series four games to three and now meets Thetford Mines Canadiens at Cornwall Friday and Sunday in the first two games of the best-of-seven series.

It was a third-period goal by Dick Plamondon while Cornwall was shorthanded which gave the Royals the win.

Plamondon broke loose from centre ice after breaking up a Sault Ste. Marie power play and pushed the puck past goalender Billy White.

Plamondon, who assisted on Cornwall's first goal by Bill Markell, was Central Junior A league scoring champion during the regular season with 107 points.

Drop in and we'll give you a rubber check for your tires.

During Canada's Centennial year, you and your car will probably be on the move more than ever. Seeing Canada.

And we want you to see it through safely.

That means driving your car safely. And driving a safe car.

Since it's time to change your snow tires anyway, why not drop in and have one of our Uniroyal tire experts give you a complete tire safety check. It's free.

And he'll let you know whether or not the tires that brought you through the ice and snow of winter are in good enough shape for the wet weather of spring.

If they check out safely, that's fine. But if they're not quite up to driving you safely through an April r or (or any other shower), we'll show you the Rain Tire.

The Rain Tire is designed to stop you 30% shorter on a rainy road. And give you 20% more accelerating traction on wet pavement. As well as 50% better cornering on rain-slicked highways.

When you can get this kind of performance in a driving rain, think of the additional safety you can expect when the weather's fine. After all, just because it's called the Rain Tire doesn't mean you have to save it for a rainy day. (But it could save you on some rainy day.)

So let's get together for safety's sake and have a look at your tires. You'll feel a lot better for it.

And so will we.

Noted Chinese Violinist Flees In Tugboat

NEW YORK (AP)—Chinese sources say that Ma Sau-tsung, a cultured leader and violinist, fled his Communist Chinese homeland last January in a small tug boat later found abandoned near Hong Kong.

The musician, whose escape was revealed Wednesday after he and his family were granted asylum in the United States, refused to comment on the report from his refuge at his brother's apartment here.

The Hong Kong sources with Nationalist Chinese contacts said today Ma was one of 12 express aboard the Communist tug and added they believe his 20-year-old son, Julon, is with his father.

Ma's wife and their daughter Celia, 23, were understood to have taken a different route to freedom, according to the sources which refused to be quoted by name or nationality.

Ma took reporters he fled after spending "123 days in a dreadful hideout for devils and demons" and undergoing "what is too painful to describe" at the hands of young Red Guards.

"There is no hope for people like me in China," said the 54-year-old musician.

He refused to talk about how he escaped, saying the safety of too many persons in China would be jeopardized. The Chinese sources said Ma and his son walked in hiding in Hong Kong until the wife and daughter got out.

The sources were deliberately vague about the women's escape and refused to say whether they sought U.S. asylum through U.S. consulate officials in Hong Kong or made their way to Taipei, Formosa, and asked for asylum there.

The tug, painted with Communist Chinese slogans, was towed into Hong Kong harbor last Jan. 19 after it was found abandoned off Lee Tao Island.

First word of Ma's defection came from Washington Wednesday where Carl Bartch, state department press officer, announced the escape and the granting of Ma's request for asylum.

He referred reporters to Ma himself for further details. The family received reporters in the Ma room upper Manhattan apartment of his brother, Ma Si-hon, who came to the United States in 1948.

Ma told of concentration camps where he underwent "thought reform" and of the indignities which the Red Guard attacked art and revolutionary teachers inflicted on mind and body.

"I was treated very badly and abused," he said. "I feared for my life and worse than that. Right now I am unable to perform because my health has been ruined by several months of hard labor."

Ma was president of Peking's Central Conservatory of Music and vice-chairman of the Association of Chinese Musicians. He said that last June he was rounded up with some 500 other persons and "kept in a sort of concentration camp to undergo thought reform."

Chemist Reports Drug Found in Woman's Body

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — The chemist who examined the embalmed body of Carmela Coppolino for traces of succinylcholine chloride has testified, "it was there."

Dr. Charles Joseph Umberger, chief toxicologist for the New York City medical examiner, said the discovery surprised him.

Umberger testified Wednesday as a prosecution witness in the murder trial of Carmela's former husband and accused killer, Dr. Carl Coppolino.

The state claims that Coppolino injected his wife with a lethal dose of the paralytic drug.

Umberger said he made no effort, in analyzing organs removed from the exhumed body, to isolate succinylcholine as a compound since it was known to break down in a body.

He said, however, that his tests showed the presence of about 12 milligrams of succinic acid in 1,000 kilograms of tissue.

"There was considerably less in the liver than in the brain," said Umberger, "but nevertheless it was there."

Defence counsel F. Lee Bailey says he expects to show that Umberger's findings are meaningless.

The defence holds that there was no murder, that Carmela died of natural causes.

Milton Helpern, New York medical examiner and authority on legal medicine, who testified before Umberger, said this is his opinion Carmela did not die of natural causes.

Helpern said he performed an autopsy on the dead woman and said it showed that prior to her death Aug. 28, 1965, she had been healthy.

Carmela's death was officially listed as due to coronary occlusion.

May 29 Probable Date For Five Byelections

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson will announce today that byelections in five constituencies will be held Monday, May 29, a reliable Liberal party source said Wednesday.

The source also said no byelections will be held other than those necessary to fill the five vacancies in the Commons.

Maurice Sauve, minister of forestry and rural development, is reported to have requested permission from the Liberal party to resign as MP for Ile-de-la-Madeleine to run in the byelection in Outremont-St. Jean, vacated by Maurice Lamontagne's elevation to the Senate.

If Mr. Sauve had resigned, a sixth byelection would have been necessary in Ile-de-la-Madeleine. It is stated to disappear in redistribution.

Informed sources said Mr. Sauve did not protest his party's decision.

The Liberal caucus is reported to have been behind the decision not to hold a byelection in Ile-de-la-Madeleine.

Liberal MPs are said to have been almost completely opposed in Mr. Sauve's switching seats by means of a byelection.

The MP, Marcel Prud'homme of Montreal St. Denis, said he would run in the byelection in Montreal Papineau, vacated by Guy Favreau's appointment to the bench of Quebec Superior Court, if Mr. Favreau were permitted to run in Outremont-St. Jean.

Meanwhile, a dispute has arisen out of Prime Minister Pearson's choice of Paul Lafond, 48, administrative secretary of the Liberal Federation of Canada, to carry the Liberal colors in the Hull byelection.

The post was made vacant by the death last summer of Alexis Caron.

Marcel Bourgel, a Hull lawyer, and Pierre Caron, son of the late Mr. Caron, have called for a riding convention to nominate the party's candidate in the constituency across the Ottawa River from the capital.

Mr. Lafond has said that the party "may decide not to hold a convention."

Present Commons standings: Liberals 127; Conservatives 96; NDP 21; Creditistes 9; Social Credit 5; Independents 2; vacant 5. Total: 265.

Russell's Tribunal on Vietnam Is Seeking New 'Courthouse'

LONDON (Reuters) — There will not be anybody there to defend the United States position when Bertrand Russell's on-again, off-again Vietnam tribunal finally gets around to meeting—if it ever does.

A watered-down version of the so-called tribunal was to have met at the Continental Hotel in Paris later this month, but the manager cancelled the reservation "because I am pro-American."

Manager Lambert van Sterkenburg said he did not know when the reservation was made exactly what was to take place there.

A spokesman for the tribunal's organizers says it will be held somewhere else if necessary, starting on schedule April 26.

Strictly speaking, there will be no defendants before the tribunal, although it has often been described as a trial of President Johnson, Defence Secretary Robert McNamara and other U.S. leaders.

The 19 - member tribunal, headed by Lord Russell and French philosopher Jean - Paul Sartre, plans to hold a series of separate meetings, each concerned with specific aspects of U.S. and South Vietnamese action.

Only afterwards, according to the organizers, will there be a decision as to who should be held responsible. But there is no doubt that the tribunal will be pointing an accusing finger at President Johnson.

Russell, 94, invited Johnson to Paris to defend himself, or to send a representative to do it for him. No one was surprised the U.S. president did not accept.

No American of any rank or name has volunteered to appear as a "defence witness," a spokesman for the tribunal said.

At its first hearing, the Russell group will consider two questions:

1 Have the United States, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea committed acts of aggression according to international law; and

2 Has there been bombardment of targets of a purely civilian character — hospitals, schools—and on what scale has this occurred?

Before the tribunal will be a report by one of five teams of investigators who went to Vietnam in recent months.

Other questions to be dealt with later, on the basis of reports by the other teams, are: Have Viet Cong prisoners been tortured and killed and have there been reprisals against the civilian population such as the shooting of hostages; has the U.K used or experimented with new or forbidden weapons; have "acts of genocide" been committed against the South Vietnamese population.

The tribunal is the climax of Lord Russell's vociferous crusade against American involvement in Vietnam, which he began before the Americans entered the war on a massive scale in February, 1963.

It also is one of the major enterprises of his life-long career as a pacifist and social reformer, during which he fought for women's suffrage, against colonialism and nuclear armament and kept up a steady correspondence with world leaders urging them toward peace.

The British press occasionally has suggested that with increasing age Lord Russell is falling more and more under radical, left-wing influence.

Ralph Schoeman, Russell's American secretary, has been described as his "left - hand man."

Schoeman, 31, who describes himself as a Socialist and anarchist and professes sympathies for Trotskyism, also is one of two directors of the Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation and is responsible for the technical arrangements for the tribunal. But, although he made several trips to North Vietnam, he said he had nothing to do with the investigations.

He also said that the idea to hold the tribunal was Lord Russell's alone.

The public will be excluded from the tribunal's sessions. This decision was taken apparently because of the French government objections to a public hearing.

But scores of journalists are expected to attend—and if their reports influence world opinion against the United States, one of Lord Russell's aims will have been fulfilled.

A 15-man pyramid on five motorcycles is only one of many stunts with which the 51 riders of the Canadian Army's motorcycle team will thrill Canadians during country-wide performances between May and October. # Conservatives Expect To Win London Voting

LONDON (CP) — Londoners voted in one of the world's biggest local elections today with the opposition Conservatives favored to end the Labor party's 32 straight years of rule over the British capital.

A victory for the Conservatives—while having no effect on Labor's massive majority in Parliament—would boost Conservative morale and dent the prestige of Prime Minister Wilson's ruling party.

Public opinion polls indicated that the Conservatives were only slight favorites among London's 5,500,000 voters. A hefty swing to the right would be needed to oust Labor from control of the Greater London council, which administers the capital and its environs.

So far in the week-long county elections in England and Wales, the Conservatives have inflicted severe losses on Labor candidates and won control of four county councils. But in many areas local issues are dominant.

London, on the other hand, is regarded as a barometer of national opinion.

The Greater London council, with a population of nearly 8,000,000 to administer, has a current annual budget of £400,000,000 ($1,200,000,000).

The elections are being held to replace councilmen who have served three years in office. In 1964, Labor won 64 of the GLC's 10 seats and Conservatives took the other 36.

Cancer Delayed In Mice

EDMONTON (CP)—A delay of as much as 16 days in arresting the spread of cancer cells in mice has been achieved by Dr. Olle G. Thurston, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Alberta, it was announced Wednesday.

The process involved inoculating the calf muscles of mice with an anti-clotting drug.

Dr. Thurston's work is concentrated on lymphatic metastatis, one of the most vital areas of cancer research.

Metastasis is the term applied to the movement of cancer cells from their place of origin to other areas of the body by means of the lymph glands and vessels.

Pollution Parley Possible

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government will consider calling an urgent federal-provincial conference on pollution control, Prime Minister Pearson said Wednesday in the Commons.

He was replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who noted that the conference of the International Association for Great Lakes Research has found a growing and serious problem with pollution at intolerable levels in the Toronto and other areas.

Mr. Diefenbaker urged Mr. Pearson to call a federal-provincial conference, or at least consider such a step, to co-ordinate immediately federal and provincial action before health is seriously affected.

Mr. Pearson said that in view of the urgency of the matter he will consider Mr. Diefenbaker's suggestion. The pollution problem had been under consideration by the government.

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) asked that pollution control on a continental basis be placed on the agenda of a meeting this spring between Canadian and United States cabinet ministers.

Mr. Pearson replied that the problem is receiving joint study by the two countries through the International Joint Commission, which he called the "most effective agency" for such efforts.

Drug Expert Now Invited

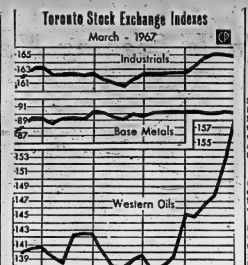
TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart told the Ontario legislature Wednesday a Saskatchewan expert on hallucinatory drugs has now been invited to testify at an inquest into the death of Toronto student John Stern, killed in a fall after apparently taking the drug LSD.

Mr. Wishart said Dr. Abraham Hoffer, psychiatric director for the Saskatchewan department of public health, would have been invited to appear at the inquest Tuesday when it opened if the coroner had known he was in the city. The inquest was adjourned.

Mr. Hoffer told a news conference Tuesday he had not then been invited to appear at the inquest when it resumes April 28.

The adjournment came about after the dismissal of Dr. Morton Shulman as chief coroner for Metropolitan Toronto. Dr. Shulman was to have conducted the inquest and Dr. F. E. Cruickshank was named as a replacement Monday.



Dr. Shulman complained Tuesday that the value of the Stern inquest would be lessened if Dr. Hoffer were unable to testify and objected to indications that the inquest wouldn't extend to an investigation of the illegal sources of marijuana and LSD.

Mr. Wishart said Wednesday the illegal sources of drugs can best be investigated by the RCMP and local police.

The Shulman dismissal came up for discussion several times in the legislature's question period.

James Renwick (NDP—Toronto Riverdale) asked by what authority the attorney-general had presumed to suggest that continuation of an inquest into a fatal fire at the Workmen's Compensation Board hospital here "should await the pleasure" of a commissioner to be appointed to head an inquiry into the dismissal.

Mr. Wishart said he had never suggested the inquest should await the commissioner's pleasure. He had only proposed to discuss the matter with the commissioner as a matter of courtesy, so the inquest and inquiry would not prejudice one another.

Every Death Investigated Openly Shulman Says in Final Report

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman says that every death in Metropolitan Toronto in the last four years has been investigated "openly and completely, with all the facts brought to the attention of the public, in contrast to experience previously and elsewhere."

The final report of Dr. Shulman, free-wheeling chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto before he was fired last week, was released Wednesday night.

It gives a number of instances in which he clashed with Ontario's attorney - general, Arthur Wishart, during four years in which the coroner was credited with stiffening safety regulations and prodding highway officials into eliminating driving hazards disclosed at inquests.

Dr. Shulman was fired by Mr. Wishart last Friday after he went ahead with an inquest, contrary to orders from Dr. H. B. Cohnen, supervising coroner for the province.

"Far more important than anything else," said the report, "has been the work done by this department in the field of research over the objections of the attorney - general's department.

"New discoveries have been made in the fields of human reproduction and the pituitary gland which will be of significance in treating breast cancer, Graves disease and diabetic blindness. The department of psychiatry at the University of Toronto was assisted in its work in the pineal gland and its involvement in some mental illnesses."

The report included mention of help in studies at Toronto General Hospital on arthritis of the spine, of supplying Banting Institute with heart valves for research into storage and ultimate transfer into calves. ("This has been so successful that they are now being used for transfer into living humans."), of supplying material to the Sick Children's Hospital to study causes of heart disease and of aiding Toronto Western Hospital in obtaining kidneys from accident victims for human transplant.

Dr. Shulman's report said his office had modernized the coroner's office and brought about "the removal of patronage in the appointment of coroners."

Other accomplishments claimed, after keynote demonstrated the need:

1. Modernization of operating procedure, so that across Canada surgical instruments are counted before and after operations.

2. Removal of outright quackery in the Practice of medicine in Toronto.

3. A vast improvement in the dangers involved in construction, with virtual elimination of the trench cave-in deaths, Deaths in industry fell from 44 to 31 in 1966.

Centennial Gift Is Received

TRENTON — Trenton's public school children received a Centennial gift from the Brighton area urban and rural trustees' association last night. Mr. Wes Downs came before the Trenton school board to make the presentation of a five book Canadian history book series edited by Canadian author Thomas S. Costain.

Mrs. Sherry Hotchkiss said the books would be placed in Queen Street Senior Public School and loaned out to the other school libraries.

OFFICER RESIGNS

H. B. Smith, attendance officer for public schools, has resigned, owing to heavy business and his successor, Fred C. Rogers, was named to the post by school board members last night. Mr. Rogers will serve both high school and public schools.

Trenton's school board members created a new post last night, "superintendent of secondary schools," and named the present high school principal, John Garrett, to the post.

The appointment does not establish a precedent. Future appointments will be made on their own merit and the mantle of authority will not necessarily fall on the shoulders of the high school principal.

Could Help Federation With Bylaw

AMELIASBURG — Council meeting last night instructed Clerk William Hopkins to prepare a bylaw for the purpose of providing the Federation of Agriculture with the tax revenue from one quarter of one mill of the township's farm assessment. Township assistance to the Federation could amount to approximately $500 if all the residents affected by farm assessment agree to pay.

While Reeve George Cunningham explained to a three man delegation from the Federation, council had authority to levy up to a half of 1 mill under provisions of the Municipal Act he pointed out the municipality was not responsible for defaulters and the refusals would be turned over to the Federation and become its responsibility for collection. He also pointed out farmers could not be made to pay the tax unless they wanted to and council had no authority to impose penalty for non-payment.

Asked whether the Farmer's Union would be in its rights to apply to council for similar financial assistance Reeve Cunningham said he understood the union had no legislation in its code to seek such support.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

DISTRICT COUNCIL SCOUTING

The "OUT" in Sc OUT-ing was very much in evidence in the regular meeting of Belleville District Council Monday evening. First the number out for the meeting was encouraging to the executive. Secondly proposed activities for the spring and summer including water activities, camparee at Presqu'ile (May 19-22), Church Parade (May 28th), a proposed "Bun Feed" (June 21) and participation in the Zwick Island Centennial Project were indicative that all young people will be "out" and, it is to be hoped, in quantity. A new "gale" for Camp Ingamells will be an added "out" attraction.

Then to get the public "out" for scouting an afternoon and evening "Tea" is being held at St. Thomas Parish House, Bridge St. E. on April 19th. All Ladies' Auxiliaries are participating. A centennial project of one of the auxiliaries is meeting with interest. It is a "Centennial Song Book" and Mr. R. Ellis is donating a trophy to the winner of a "Cover Competition" (the window of Walker's Store). "The History of Scouting in Belleville" will be the theme of the tea.

Mr. L. Andrews reported from the Provincial Conference that stress was being put on "Recruiting" not only of boys, but also leaders, group committee men, ladies auxiliaries and district council executive. It is estimated that at the present rate there will be one million boys of cub and scout age in Canada by 1980. In addressing the Provincial Conference Mr. "Sgt" Apps well known ex-hockey star and Member of Parliament stated that the government could not provide a program for boys comparable to that now provided by voluntary leadership in the scout movement. Let us use and all receive to get "out" and help our bit. The rewards are priceless.

Bethel Zion

BETHEL-ZION — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moore of New Brunswick visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ketchabaw.

The community club sponsored a successful euchre party with Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman as hosts. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Don Harris, Mrs. Ray Sullivan, George Ridley and Bill Rollins. Mrs. Ted Ray won the lone hand prize.

Ray Sills and Mrs. W. Carter have returned home from Belleville General Hospital.

At the April meeting of the UCW in the community hall plans were made for a centennial tea.

Grant Chambers is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

DAVID N. FORT

Is Awarded Graduate Fellowship

It has been announced by Education Minister William Davis that David N. Fort, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Fort, 12 Strathcona Drive, Belleville has been awarded a $1500 Ontario Graduate Fellowship. This year these fellowships have been also awarded to students in pure science and mathematics.

David is a former Ontario Scholar graduating from Moira Secondary School in 1963. He is in his first year of the Engineering Science Branch of the Faculty of Applied Science at the University of Toronto and has won numerous scholarships and prizes during his scholastic career to date.

For the past two summers David has been with the radio astronomy project of the National Research Council at the Algonquin Radio Observatory on Lake Traverse. The radio telescope at this installation is the largest in the world.

600 Already Signed for Concert Season

TRENTON — The Trenton Community Concerts' Association doesn't intend to establish a precedent, but, as a Centennial gesture, will bring four concerts as town next season instead of the usual three. Another "extra" will be the sponsorship of a national Centennial children's show, for which a small charge will be made.

R. H. Smithein, chairman of last week's association membership drive, said today 600 persons had been signed up. With an autumn sale of season's tickets in the offing, Mr. Smithein said he thought this year's sales would surpass last year's at $70.

GO AFTER TREES

Mrs. Harry Hutchison, a school board member, told the board Monday night that since the Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed had failed to make good their promise of supplying evergreen trees for public school students to plant for Centennial, she would emulate Mahonhond and "go to the mountain," in effect, go to Tweed for the trees.

And speaking of trees . . . finance chairman Douglas Whaley told the board that trees planted by the parks' board at the high school bed been broken down by vandals to the point where they look more like "sprays" than trees. The school board will bring this to the parks' board attention and suggest trees be planned inside the school fence in future.

Film Highlights

The following films are available at Belleville Public Library during April.

Power to Fly, 20 minutes, color. This cartoon reveals man's determination to fly, from the time of Leonardo da Vinci to the present.

Instant French, 21 minutes, black and white. The amusing results of a group of business men attempting to learn French.

Mosaic, 3 minutes, color. Norman McLaren's is at his best with "op" art on film. Mosaic will add pleasure to any program.

Trans-Canada Journey, 29 minutes, color. Memorable impressions of a vast and beautiful land, people of many ethnic origins, of a resourceful and industrious nation.

A Lake For The Prairie, 29 minutes, color. A section of the South Saskatchewan River is made into a lake 140 miles long to irrigate thousands of acres and provide electricity.

Pangnirtung, 31 minutes, color. Life in an Arctic community on Baffin Island in all its aspects.

Haida Carvers, 12 minutes, color. The effort a young Indian artist displays to preserve the ancient lore of the Haida Indians.

High Steel, 34 minutes, color. This film contrasts the two worlds of the Mohawk steel men, the ever-changing city of Manhattan and they work cloud-high and the unchanging world of the reserve on the St. Lawrence River.

Tides of Fundy, 15 minutes, color. The phenomenal tides in the Bay of Fundy and how they affect the life of the region.

Four Religions, 60 minutes, black and white. Photographed in India, Japan, Morocco, and Canada, this film examines Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, and Christianity.

Mental Health Week Set By Council

City council yesterday voted to proclaim May 1 to May 7 as Mental Health Week in the city.

Representatives of the Mental Health Association organization appeared at council with Mr. Bert Mesmour as spokesman asking for the proclamation.

Mr. Mesmour referred to mental disease as the great silent disaster of the times and stressed that it could not be ignored.

He said that much more money was needed for research to determine the cause of the disease.

Accountants Hold Monthly Dinner Meet

On Monday, April 10, the Bay of Quinte Chapter of the S.I.C.A. held its monthly dinner meeting at the Tope Motel.

After the dinner, the chairman, Mrs. Mary Boulak, R.I.A., of Eldon Footwear (Stirling) Ltd., asked the program director, Mr. Ken Higginson, R.I.A., of Miller Bros., Glen Miller, to introduce his speaker, Mr. Ralph Hotson, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Trenton.

Mr. Hotson's topic was "The Hobby of Lapidary (Rock Hounding)". He described the art of cutting and polishing selected rocks.

Mr. Murray Brown, C.A., Student Affairs Director, advised the meeting that Mr. Grant Maidment of Ontario Hydro, has become a Registered Industrial Accountant (R.I.A.). He also introduced a new member to the Chapter, Mr. James Nuttall, R.I.A., who has recently joined Northern Electric (Belleville) and came from (Port Arthur) Lakehead Chapter.

Mr. Brown extended the best wishes from the Chapter to those students writing their examinations in May.

George Hees Recommends Policy-making Mechanism

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP) — George Hees, a contender for the national Conservative leadership, proposed Wednesday night that the Conservative party establish a permanent policy-making mechanism as an advisory body to the party caucus.

In a speech to the centennial banquet of the Conservative Association in Napanee, he suggested that a permanent body be formed — with membership from the party caucus, non - parliamentary Conservatives and recognized leaders "who have indicated their willingness to serve their country in this way"—to consider party policies.

"Such a policy - making mechanism would report to the caucus, which would make the final decision on party policy," Mr. Hees said.

Students To Visit Plants

NAPANEE — Next Thursday, April 20, three teachers and 24 students from the North Addington Secondary School at Cloyne will visit the Napanee area to become acquainted with various types of employment open to them after they leave high school. Arrangements have been made by the Canada Manpower Centre in Napanee to have them visit the Canada Optical Co. works in Deseronto, the Gibbard Furniture Shops in Napanee, and the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital. They will also visit the Highland Restaurant on Highway 401 to learn how a restaurant is run.

Local manager of the Canada Manpower Centre T. W. Cox stated that he received wonderful co-operation from all the firms he approached when organizing the day's program. These four were chosen because they offered four distinct types of prospective employment.

Mr. Cox continues to praise the success of the night school set up in Cloyne in January for up-grading people in their academic standing under program five. Only one of the 24 students has dropped out, and then it was because of sickness. Weather accounts for every day of absenteeism and every instance of a student not reaching the classes on time. Graduation exercises will be held in May, but details are not yet complete.

Deseronto News

HOLD PRESENTATION

DESERONTO — Members of the community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bell of R. R. 1, Selby, Saturday evening in honor of their daughter, Barbara Jane, and husband, Ronald Akey, now living in Belleville, who were married a few weeks ago.

An address was read by Mrs. Jack Stafford, and Mr. Stafford and Norman Kinmonth had the honor of carrying in the chair which was presented to them for their new home on behalf of the community.

A variety program was given and time was passed later in playing cards. A bountiful lunch brought a pleasant evening to a close for the more than 60 guests and the young couple they were honoring.

CENTENNIAL SYMBOL

The lighted Centennial symbol which George Lyons has made and is displaying in front of his grocery, is creating minor excitement. The comments are gratifying. Mr. Lyons states, especially the fact that so many people seem inspired to do likewise. The store front usually displays flags, also, but he has found that he has to take them in when the wind is high. So he is trying to think up some other device so that they can stay outside during the day.

CARD PARTY

The 1st Tyendinaga Girl Girl Guides held a card party at the Council House not long ago, and plan a second one next week.

Proceeds from the one held recently were swelled by the sale of tickets on a cake made and donated by Mrs. Bud Green.

Miss Frances Spence carried off two prizes for ladies' high, and for lone hand. Mrs. Reva Spence, her mother, won the ladies' second prize, and Mrs. Ada Marzolo, ladies' low.

Bill Connolly took home the men's high prize, Bud Green the second prize, and Hubert Maracle the low.

At their second card party, April 18, the girls plan to serve corn soup in addition to the regular type of refreshments served at their first venture.

School Bus Safety Patrol Is Established

NAPANEE — The area covered by the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police now has its second school bus safety patrol, with the prospect of the establishment of a third in the near future.

Last Friday the Safety officer visited Sandhurst public school in South Fredericksburgh township, and the patrol members were instructed regarding their duties for the school safety patrol. The school saw a film on the subject, and the pupils were told how they were expected to conduct themselves on school buses.

The previous Wednesday, the Home and School Association for the Centreville school was visited by the Safety officer and viewed the same film in the Sandhurst school. It is expected that this association will sponsor the establishment of a School Bus Safety Patrol in that school. Safety officer is Constable J. E. Elliott.

Last week this area saw seven motor vehicle accidents, four with property damage only, and three with personal injuries. Three persons were injured in one car and one in each of two others.

Should a "non-swinger" visit swinging Britain?

Yes. Very definitely! Because Britain is just as lively or leisurely as you care to make it. It's simply a matter of choice. Some of our passengers fly to Britain for a swinging vacation. Others prefer the things which are uniquely British—the friendly pubs, the gentle countryside. The pomp. The pageantry.

Only BOAC with Air Canada flies direct to Britain, and this summer we offer you the choice of up to 12 jet services a day from Toronto and Montreal. And there are several flights a week from western Canada; including direct Western Arrow services to London.

Plan your trip now. See your BOAC travel agent and he'll get swinging with all the necessary arrangements.

Rousing Start for Festival '67 Given By Concert Orchestra

By EUGENE LANG

The four-day Arts Festival '67 got off to a rousing start as the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra under the direction of Stephen Chenoa presented a very entertaining and varied program in the beautiful auditorium of Belleville's new Centennial School. A capacity crowd was in attendance for the annual concert of this hard-working group of amateur musicians, both young and old, who under Mr. Chenoa's guiding hands demonstrate their increasing abilities as a musical ensemble.

Prior to the concert four speakers were heard in words of greeting to all those who had turned out. Mrs. Marian M. Wilson, arts committee and festival co-chairman, after welcoming the crowd, introduced Mayor Jack Ellis who stressed the importance of Arts Festival week to Belleville and its citizens, adding "there is a great deal of good talent right here in this district which needs to be heard from more and witnessed by the orchestra on stage."

The public relations director for the performing and visual arts division of the Centennial Commission, David A. Fields, man spoke of the needs of cultural exhibits such as Belleville was producing this week for the furtherance of enhancing Canada's artistic heritage.

Mrs. George Hume, Regent of the sponsoring organization, the St. Julien Chapter of the IODE traced the history of both the orchestra and the IODE, with the latter's aims and projects briefly touched upon.

The program ranged over many areas and eras of musical styles. Gluck's austere Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis was the opener which gave the full orchestra opportunity to attest to its prowess in all departments, although the brass did seem to cut too heavily at times into the thematic fabric woven by the hard working strings.

Flecisl's Overture to the opera Diden was given a robust treatment that enlivened this forgotten Gaelic relic which is peppered throughout with Franco-Italian cliches that so delighted late 18th century Parisian partakers of operatic fare.

The Mozart Andante and Allegro was given a rendition of singing tone in the slow section and lively jollitity in the finale although cues were a little foreging in being attained, this hindering the flourish that otherwise would have given this piece push.

In the popular vein we had Autumn Leaves by Johnny Mercer, a medley from The Sound of Music and a concluding group of four favorites. All of these were handled brilliantly by the orchestra with flair and bounce tossed in for good measure.

The Avalon Overture by Canadian composer Frank Haworth was new to these ears, reported to be a compendium former styles from the Mozart-Beethoven-Schubert years, well dressed up in some modern garb that let the seams of rococoism show at times. Very well played, but let's hear it again soon so we can better discern its innuendos.

Lara's theme from Dr. Zhivago allowed the string section full sway in their depiction of this so sizeable tune. Balance was very good, even though a paucity of fiddles other than violins. Tempo tickerings seemed to detract though.

The Academic Occasion was performed with stately steps in Mr. Choma's reading and the drawn-out middle section of Elgarian simulations was evenly and persuasively done.

Harmonica player Reid perennial favorites in the vocal scene locally, sang into the hearts of their listeners in both solo and duet offerings. A group of Broadway production excerpts was endearingly done by the Reids, who in their second appearance highlighted their program with three excellent samples of Canadiana in music. Gene Brazeconbe's lovely Song That Have Shadowed Us was a deeply instilled offering that shone in their interpretation. The Scandinavian carried its lilting and piquant tune admirably by our two vocalists, and a flag of Canada in its measured pacing was a fitting conclusion to their splendid artistry. Ronald Robertson was the piano accompanist.

Trumpeter Joseph Burchill accompanied through the difficult parts of the first movement of Haydn's Trumpet Concert with apparent ease and with a feeling that he enjoys playing this so much as his bearers relish his virtuoso trumpet trapsings. Orchestral accompaniment here was fine with nice balance to the soloist.

Two encores were given by the orchestra, both to the continued applause of the audience. Proudhomme prevails here, in that Mr. Choma is as proud of his charges to the same degree as the residents of this part of the province hold him in the esteem he deserves for the marvelous way that he has guided his half hundred musical personnel.

Now that Arts Festival '67 has spiralled into such a grand start, we know that this will continue in the remaining three nights that all are looking forward to. Congratulations to all — you deserve it.

A Musical Rest

Following the beat for a whole evening may not leave a musician beat. But a rest is always refreshing — as this saxaphonist found during dressing room intermission last night.

Bemersyde IODE Holds Fashion Show

CAMPBELLFORD — Bemersyde Chapter IODE held a fashion show in the auditorium of St. John's United Church Tuesday evening. A capacity crowd filled the auditorium.

An innovation this year was small children modelling swim suits and summer clothes.

First Vice Regent, Mrs. F. M. Rotherfor... welcomed the guests. Commentator was Mrs. Murray Locke and pianist for the evening was Mrs. D. Bennett.

Shown were pretty chiffon peignoir sets of coats and dresses, Paul Smith western style and safari pattern, complete with safari hat and desert shoes were modelled along with brightly patterned linen woven coats and pants.

Co-ordinates of cotton canvas pants with printed overblouse or turtle neck sweater completed an outfit for sea or shore. Wide belts appear to be fashion news.

The feature models were suits and dresses vibrant in color and styling. Unusual color combinations resulted in a touch of feminity with great variety. All models were members of Bemersyde Chapter IODE and the teen-age models were daughters of members.

The group that sponsored this fashion show was under the convenorship of Mrs. M. Tuner assisted by Mrs. Smith. Proceeds will be used by the chapter for educational purposes. Prizes drawn were donated by local citizens and homemade candy was sold during intermission.

Danny Thomas' NBC Variety Special Had Tuneful Numbers

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Thomas' NBC variety special Wednesday night was built around a theme that has become a sort of television cliche —a lot of rich performers with diamond rings and suede shoes mourning the good old days when they were poor and hungry.

One probably should not knock the device since it provides a jumping off place for all sorts of jolly production numbers that would be hard to achieve if Danny could only recall a middle-class upbringing.

Memories of youthful hard times in what's now called an integrated neighborhood make comfortable springboards for Thomas to tell jokes in a variety of accents—an area in which he is expert.

The theme Wednesday night was the block party. First it was a musical looked to be square in an Italian town, then a Spanish town, a German town and finally New York town. This opened the way to some dances in colorful costumes, some singing by Vic Damone, Italian, Ricardo Montalban, Mexican, a polka by Lawrence Welk, the Dakotas, and a tap dance by Sammy Davis Jr., Harlem. And it led to a stirring windup with differences.

Dean, who had an ABC variety hour for a couple of seasons, specializes in drawling humor that apparently has its greatest appeal outside of urban centers—at least that was what his Nielsen ratings at ABC indicated.

Newhart, recently signed to an NBC contract, is considered to be the No. 1 candidate to replace Carson on a permanent basis of Johnny and the network fail to resolve their contractual differences.

Dean's seat for a week.

To Your Good Health

Taking Calcium Cannot Affect Joints

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a man of 83, have had a complete examination and X-rays and the doctor says my back pain is from degeneration of the bone so he ordered me to take calcium tablets three times a day. I also wear a sacral belt.

I want to be sure too much calcium won't cause me trouble in other joints. The doctor says if I get too much it will pass out of my body, but how can we so many people have calcium in their joints?—R.O.

Your doctor leveled with you, as he should.

Calcium is a vital necessity. It contributes hardness to our bones and our teeth, but it also serves in other ways, particularly in healing damage to the body.

If a bone breaks, calcium accumulates at the fracture to mend it, and afterward we can see it with X-ray, like a soldered repair.

The same thing occurs after bone infection and inflammation. The inflamed area heals in much the same way, with calcium as an important part of the repaired tissues.

The reason so many folks have calcium in joints is that over the years injuries, ordinary wear and tear, or information from joint diseases (including arthritis) have become scattered by the body. Hence the calcium accumulates.

Sometimes the healed place may be a nuisance or be painful as a by-product. The best example may be a broken heel. The bruise gradually gets better as the injury heals, but then there's a small accumulation of calcium — and, like a pebble in your shoe, it can be painful to walk on.

At 83, you surely remember how we used to treat tires, whether for a car or a bicycle. We often created quite a bumpy spot when we patched a puncture. It could make the ride over that place bumpy, bump, but it was still preferable to having a flat tire.

That's why so many people have calcium in joints and elsewhere. They are mended bumps.

That is why your doctor wants you to take supplemental calcium in tablet form, to be sure that you have sufficient calcium to combat the degeneration of bone in your back.

Calcium does not deposit itself for no reason. It will not bother your joints just because you consume it. Only if some injury or disease process is involved, will deposits occur.

If you get more calcium than you need, the body will discard it, but if you don't get enough in food or medicinal form, there is no way for your body to get any, except by robbing your bones of calcium.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there such a thing as ever getting rid of ringworm? I have doctored off and on for more than 10 years, but when I seem to be rid of it, it comes back anywhere from my knees to my chest. — Mrs. C.

Admittedly ringworm, being a fungus infection, can be stubborn but there is no reason why a dermatologist cannot cure it. Part of your difficulty may be in the "off and on" treatment. A fungus can be subdued until it seems to be gone. A little of it, buried in the skin, then can spread and start a new infection. Continuing treatment for a period after it apparently has been cured may at last finish this off permanently for you.

Note to Mrs. H.: Your thought of venereal disease has become an obsession with you. The three doctors are entirely right: If you had the disease, it would have shown in the blood tests you had at the time of your operations, and seeing you again would be a waste of time and money.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE — LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to construct, as a local improvement, the following sanitary sewer, complete with pumping station, septic tank and tile disposal field; and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting the work and the balance against the Corporation at large as follows:

| Street | From | To | Estimated Cost | Corporation's Share | Owner's Share | Estimated Cost Per Foot Frontage | Estimated Annual Cost Per Foot Frontage |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| University Avenue | East End of Street | Lot 19, Reg. Plan 253 | $82,000.00 | $55,763.00 | $26,237.00 | $7.00 | $0.72 |
| Easement | University Avenue | Centre Street | | | | | |
| Centre Street | 25' South of North End | Adam Street | | | | | |

EXAMPLE: Lot with 50' frontage would be assessed as follows:
50' x $7.00 — $350.00.
If paid over a period of 15 years at 5½% per annum, the cost would be:
50 x $0.72 — $36.00.

2. The special assessment is to be paid in 15 equal annual instalments.
3. Application will be made by the Corporation to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval of the undertaking of the said work, and any owner may within twenty-one (21) days after the first publication of this Notice file with the Clerk of the Municipality his objection to the said work being undertaken.
4. The Board may approve of the work being undertaken, but before doing so it may appoint a time and place when any objections to the work will be considered.

Four Hundred in Death Rows Of Prisons in United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 400 men walk today in the death rows of prisons in the United States, condemned to die for a crime. Some have been there for years.

The number of executions in the U.S. has declined steadily. There was only one last year, in Oklahoma. The execution of Aaron Mitchell in California Wednesday for killing a police-man was the first this year.

The majority of states have carried out no executions for years.

Many condemned men got new chances because of recent court decisions prescribing new rules on the rights of criminals. Some governors have com-muted sentences to life impri-sonment, and some have fol-lowed an undeclared moratori-um on death by execution.

More state legislatures were discussing abolishing the death penalty this year than in pre-vious years.

An Associated Press survey showed that bills to abolish capital punishment were intro-duced in at least 18 state legis-latures.

They have failed in eight of these states and are given little chance of approval in five more.

Bills still considered alive are in Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Ten-nessee and Connecticut.

A California Senate commit-tee killed a bill that would have abolished the death penalty in California, acting about two weeks after Mitchell was exe-cuted.

Still awaiting legislative ac-tion in California is a proposal to submit repeal of the death penalty to a vote of the people.

In Georgia, Governor Lester Maddox has said he is thinking about calling for a state refer-endum on abolition of the death penalty. In a referendum last November, Colorado voters ap-proved continuing the state's gas chamber.

Thirteen states have abol-ished capital punishment, be-ginning with Rhode Island in 1852. The last were New York, Vermont, West Virginia and Iowa, in 1965. Alaska and Hawaii abolished it in 1957 shortly before becoming states. Others are Oregon, Michigan, North Dakota, Minnesota, Maine and Wisconsin.

Records of the U.S. bureau of prisons show that at the end of 1966, some 405 persons were un-der the sentence of death, compared with 331 a year ear-lier.

1867 1967

it started 90 years ago...

90 years ago this fall, Canada's first com-mercial telephones were installed in Ottawa. Canada's second Prime Minister, The Hon. Alexander Mackenzie (who was also Minis-ter of Public Works) had one set installed in the Public Works Department; the other was at Rideau Hall, residence of the Earl of Dufferin, the Governor General. These phones were used for government business and for musical concerts to demonstrate the miracle of the telephone to guests at Rideau Hall'.

And from that beginning grew Bell Canada! Today, there is probably not a single person in Quebec or Ontario who does not, in one way or another, 'use' the services we provide.

Radio and TV programs are relayed through our microwave network; businesses com-municate by voice or teletype, or transmit data through our facilities; so do news-papers and the government, police and fire departments; there are 4½ million Bell Canada phones in homes and offices, and thousands of public phones. Like Canada, we of Bell Canada have come a long way. And one more point: we're proud that nearly 95% of our shares are owned by Canadian residents.

Common Market Planned by 1985

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (Reuters) — President Johnson and 18 Latin American leaders today signed an agreement setting up a common market in South America by 1985.

One by one the presidents put their signature of approval on the 26-page document—a blueprint for the economic development of Latin America aimed at easing poverty and misery.

President Juan Carlos Onganea of Argentina had the honor of signing first.

But one note of discord marred the impressive, emotional ceremony when Ecuador's President Otto Arosemena said he would not sign the document.

The Ecuadorian leader, who earlier threatened to boycott the three-day summit, said in a brief statement the document would not meet the "aspirations of our people."

Arosemena, who Thursday delivered a stashing attack on U.S. policy in the presence of Johnson, refused to sign because of his opposition to aid and trade terms.

Ecuador wanted "more practical procedures" to achieve rapid integration and development, he told the gathering of 20 heads of states from the Americas.

Canada, which is not a member of the Organization of American States, sent two "special invitees" to the conference —Jean Bruchesi, Canadian ambassador to Argentina, and John Dougan, charge d'affaires of the Canadian embassy in Montevideo.

Arosemena made clear his opposition to the United States was not directed, personally at President Johnson, whom he described as having a "nobility of spirit."

Johnson, rapping a match box on the table, looked stonily ahead as the Ecuadorean announced "with sorrow" that he could not sign the black leather-bound document.

A Declaration of the Presidents of America was the fruit of long debate among hemisphere foreign ministers and top days of discussion by their chiefs.

These were the basic points of the declaration:

—Latin America expresses determination to create a Common Market and complete the process by 1985;

—The foundation will be laid for economic integration through multi-national programs;

—The American nations will co-operate in efforts to increase substantially the foreign trade earnings of Latin America.

—Latin American will attempt to raise living standards of impoverished farm populations . . . and increase food production. . . .

—Latin America will promote education for development.

—Latin America will try to harness science and technology to serve its people.

—Latin America will expand programs to improve public health.

—Latin America will eliminate unnecessary military expenditures.

U.S. Firm Coming Here To Make Containers

An American based firm in the container manufacturing business which would employ up to 20 workers is planning on locating in Belleville.

George Hume, chairman of the Belleville Industrial Commission, told newsmen following a meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon that the still unnamed company had taken options on about nine acres of land in the Hillcrest area.

Representatives of the company were in the city yesterday and have returned to the United States with final documents in preparation for signing.

The exact nature of the container product which the firm will manufacture was not disclosed but Industrial Commissioner Ernst Keelsel said it would supply firms already located in the Belleville area.

The intention of the firm is to construct a building with approximately 24,000 square feet of floor space.

Chinese Official Defects

HONG KONG (AP)—An anti-Communist Hong Kong newspaper said today that a high-ranking Communist Chinese propaganda official has defected to the United States with "important documents about China's political power struggle."

The Chinese - language newspaper Fai Pao said the official, identified only as a top aide to former propaganda chief Tao Chu, escaped to Hong Kong with violinist Ma Szu - tsung and went to the United States on the same plane as Ma.

The defection of Ma, his wife, and two children was announced by the U.S. state department Wednesday. The Washington announcement made no mention of any other defector.

The paper said Ma and the Communist official reached Hong Kong at January with 10 others in a motor boat plastered with quotations from Mao Tse-tung.

Hong Kong police later found the abandoned tug near Hong Kong's offshore island of Lan Lao. The ship was handed over to Chinese Communist authorities.

Neither the Hong Kong government nor the American consulate - general would comment on Fai Pao's report.

Viet Cong Trapped

SAIGON (CP)—South Vietnamese troops Thursday killed 173 Viet Cong guerrillas in a battle in Mekong Delta ricefields after they caught the guerrillas between two helicopter - borne forces, a government military spokesman said today.

He described South Vietnamese losses as light.

A U.S. military spokesman said an American helicopter was shot down and its three crew members injured in the area of the battle, 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

The delta fighting was by far the heaviest reported in the country. Several sharp actions were reported elsewhere.

Atomic Rays Help Make New Fabric

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Controlled versions of a type of atomic ray loosed by nuclear weapons explosions have helped Canadian scientists create a new, highly durable wrinkle-resistant reinforced-cotton fabric for wearing apparel.

The process involved, described as being potentially "of great commercial importance," was developed by a team of chemists in Canada.

The still-experimental fabric involves a chemical webbing of natural cotton and man-made plastic fibres brought about with the help of atomic radiation.

The development was reported Thursday at the meeting of the American Chemical Society by Dr. Sharda Dasgupta, a native of India who since 1960 has been working for the Canadian government's atomic energy project.

She said the new fabric — called "grafted cotton" had been fabricated into experimental clothing materials which, in rigorous tests, showed these advantages over natural cotton fabric and also over some conventionally reinforced cotton fabrics:

Increased durability to wash and wear; improved dyeability; high "crease-recovery" and high resistance to abrasion, heat, weathering, rotting and chemical and biological action.

Two Farm Bodies Plan To Protest

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Federation of Agriculture members approved their executive's recommendation Thursday for a march on Ottawa to protest the federal dairy policy.

The Ontario Farmers Union made plans Wednesday for a similar march and Charles Mauro, president of OFA, said leaders from both groups would meet to plan a joint protest.

The OFA invited the Ontario Farmers Union, Quebec farm groups and other members of the Canadian Federation to take part in the action.

Scout Leader Uses Own Experience To Warn Against Taking LSD 'Trips'

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—A boy scout leader and father of three children told an audience of scouts and their parents Thursday about his experience with the hallucinatory drug LSD and warned against its use.

Graham Norman, 28, of Oakville, said he took LSD under supervision at a Saskatchewan hospital five years ago in an attempt to cure severe migraine headaches.

He said the drug failed to help his condition and he would never take it again.

"I have had three recurrences of my trip, one just last spring," he said. "It lasted for 25 minutes and I had no warning it was coming."

"Your brain feels every impulse, even your heartbeat. You worry about it stopping because it seems hours between beats. Sometimes it feels there is a hole in your heart and you worry that you'll drown in a flood of your own blood."

Mr. Norman said that when he took the drug he relived 15 years of his life. "I saw the accident in which my father was killed when I was three as if it was happening in front of me."

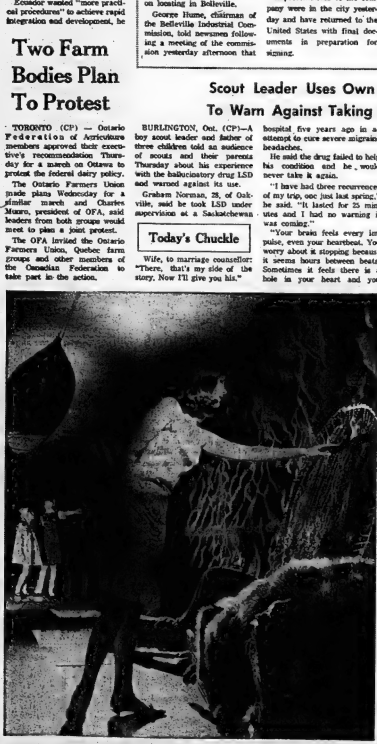
Parker to Head Probe Of Shulman's Charges

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice W. D. Parker of the Supreme Court of Ontario has been named to head a royal commission investigation into accusations made against the government and senior civil servants by Dr. Morton Shulman, recently fired as chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto.

In announcing the appointment in the legislature today, Premier Roberts said:

"The allegations which have been made are most serious. . . They have no other effect than to create apprehensions and doubts among our people as to the probity of those charged with the responsibility of administering the affairs of those same people.

"Such apprehension and doubt cannot be allowed to exist, nor can such serious accusations go uninvestigated and unproven."



Premier Roberts said he hoped the matter would be dealt with "as quickly as possible.".

An order-in-council setting up the royal commission was approved by Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe Thursday.

It said the commission would inquire into allegations by Dr. Shulman that the government and "certain senior civil servants of the department of the attorney general for Ontario, or any of them:

"Unlawfully or improperly suppressed investigations or inquests; interfered with investigations or inquests; suppressed evidence relating to investigations or inquests conducted in the office of the chief coroner."

The commissioner shall have the power to summon any person and require him to give testimony under oath.

Lone Male Wishes He Was Younger

BURTON THOMPSON

TWEED (Special) — Only one man now sits on the municipal council of this village.

Today Mrs. George Sinclair said she finally had made up her mind to accept appointment to the council seat left vacant by the resignation this week of one of two male councillors.

Rev. D. W. Sinclair, Anglican pastor, bowed out of municipal affairs Tuesday night because of mounting parish and diocesan affairs. The young clergyman was re-elected to his second term last December.

Mrs. Sinclair, a housewife — and no relation to the retired councillor — was defeated in the same election but assumes the office by virtue of votes cast.

Lone man on the five-member council is Burton Thompson, who led the December election.

Tongue-in-cheek, Councillor Thompson told his local-government colleagues he was nervous and apprehensive — but would have enjoyed the prospects of his office if he were 20 years younger!

Salary Increases Boost School Cost

Increased instructional salaries, together with increased debenture and other charges in connection with the opening of the new Centennial Secondary School will result in a hefty boost in costs for the Bay of Quinte District High Schools Board this year.

Board members at a special meeting last night finalized the year's budget estimates and will ask city council for approval of $2,725,483 in current expenditures and another $320,136 for debenture payments.

This means that total high school costs for the district for this year will top three million dollars — the estimated amount being a whopping $3,005,631.

The above figures compare with $2,289,880 in current expenditure for last year, and $234,710 for debenture costs. Current expenditures estimates are up $456,612 and debenture charges about $86,000.

Estimated revenue (provincial grants, 1966 surplus of $41,000, rentals and outside student charges) is given as $1,786,783 as compared with $1,589,880 for last year.

This will leave an amount of $938,700 to be raised through local levy for current expenditures as compared with $830,000 in 1966.

The city's share of current plus debenture charges is 64.34 per cent of the total or $815,888.

Member municipalities in the Bay of Quinte District High School District are Belleville, the townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg, and the village of Frankford.

The recent board of arbitration award which sets the cost percentages paid by the member municipalities is being appealed by Tyendinaga which feels its share should be lower.

Mr. Roy Dulmage, board secretary said the main reason for the increased high school costs this year is an estimated increase of $240,000 for teachers' salaries and also increased debenture and other costs in connection with the new Centennial Secondary School.

Teachers' salary costs get an added boost this year as result of staff increases. In September there will be 212 teachers at the four high schools — up 14 from last year.

Interest Shown

Industrial Buildings May Be Erected

Lack of readily available manufacturing space was for many years minimized the efforts of the local industrial commission in selling Belleville as a location for industrial expansion but this could change if present prospects materialize.

Commission officials said yesterday, following a special meeting, that at least two local firms or individuals were interested in speculative building and were prepared to proceed with construction.

The idea would be to construct building shells of from 12,000 to 15,000 square feet with provisions for expansion and then complete the structures later to tenant's requirements.

A. D. Revill, of Electronic Controls Ltd., and member of the local industrial commission, said the commission for some years had been trying to stir up private interest in speculative building.

Up until now, however, little interest in the venture has been shown by private interests.

At one time the industrial commission was actively considering doing speculative building on its own although there was some question as to the advisability of it getting into the real estate business.

Now with the recent show of interest by private speculators the commission has postponed its own idea.

We've no desire to put the city into the real estate business unless it is necessary," said Mr. Revill.

Currently private interests are prepared to go ahead with the building on city - owned land. First, however, the city is offering the land for sale by tender.

Commission members attending yesterday's general meeting were: J. R. Ellis, R. Irely, W. Gatt, A. Revill, Stan Albert, F. Deacon, E. Konteel, J. Irelandy, A. Orr, J. C. Hoomes, W. Cook, J. Belanger, F. Murray, G. Hume, J. McFarlane, and Mrs. Dorothy Howell.

Speaker Critical Of Parents

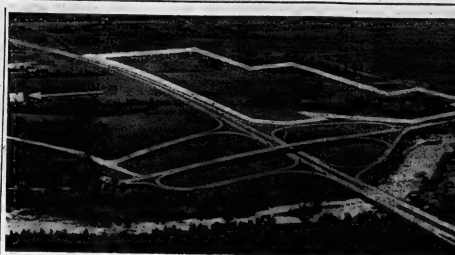
TRENTON — Mrs. W. A. Adams, the wife of a Wooler minister and a woman who has studied juvenile delinquency in all its facets, told the members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club last night that some parents are "too lazy and self - centered" to give their children the sense of strength and security that goes with disciplines, which she termed "the need of every child."



Parents should see to the growth of conscience in their children, Mrs. Adams said, and teach them to have a capacity for obedience to discipline.

Children should be warned against deceit or cruelty in any form, and the home should have spiritual values.

All of the world religions, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism and Christianity . . . taught respect to one's parents, and that the parents of today should not deny their offsprings the good example of constancy of effort to live a Godly life.

Electric Firm Plans Start Of Plant Construction in May

Superior Electric of Bristol, Conn., plan a May construction start on the manufacturing plant to be proposed for construction in the Hillcrest area in Belleville.

The announcement that the American manufacturers of precision type electric motors, would locate in Belleville was made by the city Industrial Commission last fall.

The company has purchased a 94-acre site south of 401 highway running east from Cannifton Road, and plan construction of a 30,000 square foot plant with provisions for expansion. The company has a planned investment of half a million dollars at the Belleville site within a few years.

In its annual report for 1966, Superior Electric devotes two pages of a color brochure to its expansion plans in Canada.

The report said the company's need to keep pace with rapidly increasing Canadian business, to strengthen its competitive advantage and to establish another source of supply for precision motors were the three motivating reasons for their planned plant at Belleville.

Up until this time the firm has had only a Canadian sales office in Toronto.

Funeral

MRS. GEORGINA HOLTON (Hamilton)

The funeral for Mrs. Georgina Holton of Hamilton was held in Hamilton Thursday morning with burial in Belleville Cemetery Thursday afternoon. Rev. H. M. Smith of Bridge Street Church conducted the committal rites at the cemetery. The funeral was under the direction of the Thompson Funeral Chapel.

Illegal Gambling Charged

Well-known Belleville merchant Donald Arthur Thomas, 52, yesterday was arrested on two counts involving illegal gambling after police broke into his Front Street cigar store.

Mr. Thomas will appear tuesday before Magistrate T. Y. Wills charged with keeping a gaming house and unlawfully engaging in gambling.

Members of the provincial police and gambling squad and city detectives took part in the raid and took Mr. Thomas into custody in his apartment above the store.

Police say the squad had been watching the premises earlier in the week and seized a number of documents during the raid.

Mr. Thomas later was released on bail.

Tenders Called For Widening Of Front Street

TRENTON — Tenders are called today in the Commercial for the reconstruction and widening of a part of Front Street, from Elgin Street to Division Street. Tenders must be in by May 1. The town receives a one-third subsidy from the Ontario government for this work.

Once the Department of Highways has approved the project, tenders will be called for the widening and reconstruction of Front Street from Metcalfe Street to Bandhead Street. These should be called shortly after the first of May. Since this part of Front Street constitutes a part of Highway 33 and is also a direct link to Highway 401, the government pays a 75 per cent subsidy under the "connecting link" agreement with the municipality.

The Cedardale Tree Surgeons, who tendered the lowest bid, will have completed upon a month's job of cutting down and trimming Trenton's tree population. The annual job will cost the town $2,300 this

Parents Claim Police Played Down Incident

TRENTON — Parents of a girl who was stabbed after a schoolmate pulled a knife during a ball game today charged police with playing down the incident and have called a parents' protest meeting.

The meeting will be held tonight in Hart's Corners school on the Wooler road just north where some of the stabbing incident Tuesday.

No names have been revealed by police since the youngsters involved were minors.

The injured girl was hospitalized briefly with a rib cage wound received in the melee when a 13-year-old school mate pulled the knife during the afternoon - recess game.

Parents of the wounded girl are protesting the return to the school of the teenager who drew the knife and have called on all parents of other students to attend.

Former Rector Will Be Special Speaker

On Sunday, April 16th St. Margaret's on-the-Hill Anglican Church will celebrate its 10th anniversary. The special preacher at the 9.30 a.m. and 11.00 a.m. services will be the former Rector, the Rev. L. Arthur Page S.Th., Rector of All Saints Anglican Church, Niagara Falls.

At the 11.00 a.m. service its Junior choir and choirs will present special music accompanied by the organist Mr Scott Bradford and a trumpet trio consisting of Miss Sherrill Taylor, Messrs. Robert Reid and David Cass. A reception will be held in the Parish Hall following the 11.00 a.m. service.

Originally this parish was known as St. John's Mission and services were conducted in the Minden House on Herchimer Avenue which was built in 1931.

It became the parish of St. Margaret's-on-the-hill when the basement was built in 1950 and services were conducted in the basement until 1957 when the present church was completed and dedicated by the Bishop of Ontario.

The Rev. L. Arthur Page was rector from October 1, 1952 to August 15, 1962, and helped plan and build this beautiful church in East Belleville. The present rector is the Rev. J. Arnold Dunlop.

Man Picked Up in Kingston Believed Member of Gang

Police in Kingston have arrested a man in that city, who is believed associated with the gang of confidence men who this week embezzled four Belleville banks out of a total of $20,000.

The man arrested at Kingston was said picked up on Monday as he attempted to carry out a similar embezzlement scheme to the one worked at the Belleville banks.

Inspector Harold Reid who is conducting the Belleville end of the investigation said that nine banks in Kingston had been set up for the embezzlement scheme, which worked at four out of six banks in Belleville. He did not know how many Kingston banks were victimized.

He said the Kingston arrest was made about the time of the bank appearance by the embezzlers at Belleville.

Yesterday it was reported that the embezzlement scheme had been tried at Peterborough and Kingston as well as at Belleville.

The method of operation saw the gang open open small accounts at the banks with cash deposits.

Later Friday these accounts were added to by deposits of phony certified cheques said to be good in Toronto area shopping plaza bank. On Monday of this week further deposits of phony certified cheques for $4,800 were made with re-

Public Responds to Efforts Of Amateur Arts in City

Amateur arts seems finally to have proved its point as a significant community endeavor in Belleville.

And the point was sharply nailed down by almost 900 persons last night.

That's the estimated total of interested citizens who responded to the attractions of the second night of Arts Festival '67 — high spot of the city's Centennial culture program.

In festival focus last night as the four - day program gathered momentum at Centennial Secondary School was the art inspiration total of the citizenry committed to visual arts.

Scattered in the new school's bustle — bright gymnasium, the event placed on display the quality results of local artistic pursuits for the sheer reward of the search.

The results of their creative inspiration was framed in everything from rug-hooking to color slides.

But the end result of the whole evening was best demonstrated by public response.

From shortly after 7 p.m. the public began coming through the doors to view the contrasting displays blending together around the floor.

They stayed not only to look, but apparently to react critically for the show continued to build. Midway through the evening, the floor more resembled a theater lobby, at intermission as the viewers took their time discovering whether they liked or disapproved the ideas prompting each artistic product.

For the contributors, it was a stimulating acknowledgment of month-long preparations for a one-night artistic stand.

Individually, the exhibits ranged into the hundreds — from pocket-size ceramics to entire groups of paintings.

Collectively, they were the presentations of three main groups — the Belleville Art Association, the Belleville Camera Club and the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club.

Their selections were ranged round settings designed by young Corbyville sculptor Ronald Vanderveide.

For his backgrounds, Mr. Vanderveide drew on Canadiana themes, dominated by a soaring centerpiece in a teepee motif.

Emphazing the community flavor, Mr. Vanderveide used local materials throughout his settings — even drawing on the lumber from discarded barn doors.

The designs added subtle emphasis to the point of the whole evening: The presence of art as an active, living part of the community spirit.

That presence has been around a long time. Festival '67, by collecting it together as a body proves it is no mere shadow — but a substantial social activity.

A Place for Pottery

Where to find a place for your creation when the place already is filled with exhibits might be a serious problem. However, artist Mrs. Audrey Davies (right) and city recreation department secretary Theresa Collins don't seem too baffled by situation.

The Old and the Now!

Making a then-and-now contrast at exhibition, eye-catching Susan Brickwood, rehearsing for tonight's festival Theatre Guild production, dropped in to the arts display where antique telephone caught her eye.

Predict Bumper Year For Land O' Lakes

TWEED — The highlights of the Land O' Lakes executive committee held recently at Kaladar was the announcement by the secretary manager, Mrs. Jeanetta Whitfield, about the large number of inquiries being received, and the prospect of a bumper tourist year for Land O' Lakes in 1967.

To commemorate centennial year, the association is having a Land O' Lakes centennial medallion cast, and it will be made available to all tourists coming to the Land O' Lakes area this summer. It will be sold for $1. These mementos will be on sale about May 15. The proceeds from the medallions will go towards the furthering of the tourist industry in Land O' Lakes area.

E. J. (Ted) Courneyea was named Land O' Lakes representative to the advisory committee of ARDA for the counties of Frontenac and Lennox and Addington.

All members of Land O' Lakes have now been mailed a copy of the 1967 brochure — such arrangements have been made to send the brochure to all Ontario government tourist reception and information centres.

The Land O' Lakes information booth now situated on Highway 41 north of Napanee will be moved to the market square at Centre St., Napanee, and will be open from June 15 to September 15.

Mrs. A. Ross Given New School Post

PICTON (Staff) —Mrs A. Ross, presently head of the English department of Prince Edward Collegiate, has been appointed assistant vice-principal.

The board is presently selecting a new vice-principal following the recent resignation of G. Elson and it is anticipated this new vice-principal may be found in the next few weeks.

J. H. McNeil was only recently hired as the school's new principal replacing J. Syrett who also recently tendered his resignation.

Mrs. Ross will fill a newly-created position, with special duties designed to assist the newly-appointed principal and vice-principal during a transition year. Mrs. Ross, for several summers has acted as critic-teacher at the O.C.E. summer school at Kingston. She is presently acting as an advisor in the development of educational television at Trenton in the field of English and this summer will attend the Department of Education's Vice-Principal's course at Queen's University.

Prince Edward Considers Plan To Amalgamate CAS, Welfare

PICTON (Staff) — The four county-appointed members to the Prince Edward Children's Aid Society board are among members of a special committee appointed by County Warden Robert Boyce to investigate the feasibility of amalgamating services of the CAS and county welfare department.

The four are Reeve Bernard Hepburn of Picton, Deputy-reeve George Foster of Sophiasburgh, Deputy-reeve George Vincent of Hallowell and Hallowell Reeve Bruce Hyatt.

Another member of the committee is George Cunningham, chairman of the county home and welfare committee.

County councillors voted to launch the investigation through the committee because they felt both organizations had similar duties which frequently overlap.' Reeve Hepburn, who moved the motion, said, that such an amalgamation, if it proves possible, would avoid the necessity of the Children's Aid amalgamating with Hastings County and would keep the services organized on a local basis in Prince Edward. It would have suggested the health unit be included if I had thought of it sooner," he said.

One Year Older Than Canada George Potts Marks Birthday

CAMPBELLFORD — One of the oldest residents in the Campbellford area, George Potts of Seymour township, celebrated his 101st birthday on Sunday.

Affectionately known as Uncle George, he lives with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stephens, R. R. 5, Campbellford.

Born on Potts' Island in Bradley Bay in 1866 he has lived his entire life in the area, in his early years Mr. Potts worked in the woods and was one who participated in and well remembers the log drives in the spring on the Trent River.

He has lived close to nature, hunting and fishing, and can still reveal the best place on the river to catch muskinonge and pickerel.

Retaining his faculties clear by Mr. Potts is still interested in politics, sports and current affairs.

Mr. Potts, a staunch Conservative, recalls with pleasure meeting Hon. John Diefenbaker and also receiving a telephone call from Mr. Diefenbaker on his 100th birthday last year. This year he received a centennial year plaque from George Hees, M.P., presented in Mr. Hees' absence by Mayor Tanner.

Letters were also received from Prime Minister Pearson, Hon. John Diefenbaker and Russell Rowe, M.P.P.

As Mr. Potts at present enjoys good physical health he is looking forward to his next birthday when he will be 102. Celebrating with him is his brother, Charles Potts, 94, whom he calls his "kid brother". His wife, the late Caroline Adams, has been deceased a number of years.

Ald. Dr. Scott Will Speak At Conference

The Conservation Council of Ontario is holding a conference at the King Edward Hotel on Monday and Tuesday of next week and the subject of the conference will be "Outdoor Recreation, Parks and Wilderness."

Ald. Dr. J. Russell Scott, who operates a large campsite and recreational area near Coe Hill, will be one of the chief speakers at the conference. He will address the delegates on private parks and also take part in a panel discussion on other addresses to be given.

Folk Mass To Be Repeated

PICTON (STAFF) — On Sunday evening at 7.30 the American folk song mass will be used as music of the holy communion service at St. Mary Magdalene Church in Picton.

Unlike this service was presented some weeks ago, it received such an enthusiastic response that the guitarists and chorus have been asked to present this service of worship again.

Before the service begins, there will be a period of hymn singing to folk tunes followed by celebration of the holy communion. Members of all denominations are invited to be present and participants in the service.

Tradition

Despite the noises heard from time to time from those who would banish the Monarchy and establish a republican form of Government, Canada in some ways is more traditionalist than British.

More than ever Britain is breaking with tradition. From technology on the one hand to the world of entertainment on the other the so-called "Old Country" sets the pace. If only it could harness the productive power of its entire work force and improve deliveries of exports overseas its overall economic position would improve enormously.

Significantly, a heading on a Globe and Mail feature contributed by Professor N. S. Sutherland of Essex University in England reads: "The day computers inherit the earth." He says that a computer has already been programmed in elementary logic and in an experiment the steps it took to solve a problem could not be distinguished from those taken by a human.

But we were speaking of parallels with Canada. In the sphere of technology Canada has made its contribution, but in many instances its methods and equipment stem from ideas that have originated in Britain, Europe or the United States.

It is at the social level that the feeling for the traditional we spoke of earlier is observed most readily. Britain for instance has long since given up the custom of having debutantes presented to the Queen, and the Queen Charlotte's Ball, held annually in years past, and a big occasion for young women being introduced formally to society, is no longer held.

Yet in Canada the debutantes still have their day, as witness the charming young ladies who were presented to Ontario Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe at the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's Centennial ball in Belleville last week.

At the same time Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies in Canada wear the same type of uniforms as their counterparts in Britain. And we mention them by way of an example of the links that still exist between Canada and the United Kingdom.

The Kitchener-Waterloo Record has published a series of pictures of Guides in uniform from 1910 to the present. A 1920 brownie's uniform is long and styling appears very similar to a conservatively-dressed teenage girl of today, in sweater and skirt.

And lest anyone think miniskirts are all that revolutionary a Belleville resident says he recalls his sister wearing a "short-short" uniform when she was in the Guides in Britain about 1935.

In things technical or fashionable, in the lives of men and women, life seems to present a constant variation on a theme. It is said there is no new thing under the sun. The laws of God are constant, and those of man ought to be, but man's inventive genius is always at work, so that each succeeding generation follows its own star and contributes its own genius to the overall progress of humanity.

Gun Play

Governor Ronald Reagan of California is one who believes that capital punishment is a deterrent to crime. He refused to intervene after a clemency hearing on behalf of Aaron Mitchell, a 37-year-old Negro who four years ago killed a policeman while trying to shoot his way out of a tavern holdup.

Reagan's stand of course is a controversial one which has had its parallel in similar debates on capital punishment in Canada. But is has particular significance at this time as those who advocate stronger controls over possession of firearms battle the powerful gun lobby led by such bodies as the National Rifle Association.

Statistics reflect the extent of the problem. In the United States there are 13,500,000 registered amateur hunters, and every year more than 17,000 Americans die from gunshots. That is more than three times the number of Canadians killed on the highways annually.

Crimes of violence are on the increase in the United States. So many occur daily that one wonders how the situation could ever be brought under control. Meanwhile, the ease with which guns are obtained suggests the problem is virtually insoluble.

UK Example

"Manipulation" Is Now the Key Word in Budgeting

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The stay-put British budget brings into sharp focus a Western trend against reliance on the traditional, one-shot budget in favor of more flexible manipulation of the economy on virtually a week-to-week basis.

James Callaghan went through the time-honoured motions expected of a chancellor of the exchequer on budget day. He allowed himself to be photographed holding the battered treasury dispatch case and let it be known that beverage he had chosen to lubricate his speech—bitter lemon.

He spoke in a dutifully crowded Commons for 90 minutes, but he summed up the essence in four words near the end of the speech—"Steady as she goes."

Nevertheless, few Britons believe it was his last word—let alone his last action—on the economy during the 1967-68 financial year.

The chancellor scattered hints of possible revision in the coming weeks to meet predicted or unexpected shifts in the trend of economic life.

Among those could be a change in the money-lending interest rate of the central bank, tax relief for depressed regions, tax changes either to stimulate consumer demand or deflate demand as needed.

The annual spring budget has become just one among innumerable methods governments use to manipulate the economy. Similar trends are evident in Canada and the United States.

Autumn budgets, mini-budgets, emergency measures and administrative decision in economic and fiscal affairs have become as important as the constrict systems that accompany the spring budgeting of revenue and expenditures.

Prime Minister Wilson's "July measures" of last year carried more weight than the formal budget two months earlier.

UK Viewpoint

Positive Use of Leisure

Sunday Times, London

One man's leisure is another man's aimlessness. Some like Bach in the park, some prefer whelks by the seaside, each would hate the other, and some would choose total inertia. None is superior. But only the idle are fully secure. The trouble with holidays is that the choice is diminishing to one between sheer immobility and varying degrees of frustration. It is impossible to reach the whelks in comfort, or to drive to the park and stop there. For those in search of isolation, a country house or a ticket to the Western Isles are becoming vital and exclusive commodities. For the mass of people possessing neither, holidays are unsatisfying affairs. Well-heeled romantics imagine that other people relish congestion. That is no reason for providing no choice in the matter.

The solution, obviously, is elusive. But if a fraction of the thought devoted to work and to how to increase it were spent on leisure and how to improve it, holidays would be more civilized occasions. Planning for leisure is a neglected discipline. Social scientists, and a sense of the quality of life, do not preoccupy us until we find ourselves picketing on a well-oiled beach. In particular, amenities do not attract the highest priority in the work of city and country planners, or of Government financiers. This is unlikely to change until real social pressure for a public awareness of the needs of leisure is seen to be pressed.

One measure of an advanced society is its recognition that leisure is a positive element in life, not the residuary legatee of housing developments, new towns, bad roads and the needs of industry. It should be something more than druggery transferred from the workshop to the car-park. There will, after all, be more of it when the machines take over. By the year 2000, life will be for many more people one long weekend. Is their only choice of excursion to be between the present desert which was Hampstead Heath and the television stadium which was Leicester Square?

For Christians, Easter is supposed to be a time of spiritual renewal. But, as he echoes his way round a stately home, any man, with God or without, might be asking questions. We are taught to broaden our horizons, but where do they lead? We can travel farther, but to what ruined destination? Society's wealth mounts up, but what are the priorities for its use? When did any city last create a park instead of more houses for more people to cover more ground with existing ones? When did it last prefer an enriching arts centre to a profitable office block? How much coherent thought, as opposed to piecemeal agitation, is provided by the fact that we all want a place in the sun, but when we get there we ensure by our simple presence that it will be in the sun no longer? For ha'p the year it is convenient to ignore such thoughts. On this verge of summer we might reflect that we are still living off the leisure capital left by the workaday Victorians.

Truth Was His Goal

Manchester Guardian

Most glowing tribute to Henry Luce, founder of Time, who died recently: "H.R.L. was no press lord in the tradition of Britain's Lord Beaverbrook or America's William Randolph Hearst. Power was not his passion — what burned in him was the search for truth and the desire to communicate it. And the way he went about it was to hire the best men he could and then engage them in what amounted to a continuous dialogue. The degree of autonomy he gave his editors and the interplay of ideas he encouraged was a constant source of amazement to any outsider who encountered it." What would anyone, outsider or not, is the source of this eulogy. Time magazine itself, carefully eschewing Time style for the 9gration.

Support for Medical Research

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Announcement over the weekend of a $1,250,000 grant by the Medical Research Council for a three-year study by a medical team on one aspect of the nervous system is of significance. The team from University of Montreal will explore problems concerning the organization of the nervous system.

The announcement is significant because it is in line with a general trend in Canada to provide more funds for vital medical research. Over the years it has been the lack of such funds that forced many of Canada's foremost medical men and women to go to the United States and other countries possessing vastly more research facilities.

The situation regarding medical research grants has been changing for the better, and there still is a long way to go if Canada is to succeed in keeping our top medical men, scientists and other scientcsts at home.

Mrs. Charlotte Whitton, a sociologist on the staff of the Association of Canadian Medical Colleges, has just returned after spending a year in the United States contacting scientists to determine why they left Canada and what they wanted to bring them back.

Such highly-trained experts are needed urgently to staff our medical schools, if Canada is ever to train a sufficient number of doctors to meet future requirements. Mrs. de Hesse is confident Canada can arrange to have some of these expatriots return to their native land. Her conclusion was that many Canadians would like to come back and would do so if the research climate improves. She pointed out that most of them are not motivated by high personal earnings, but they must have funds for their work.

There is an indication that Canada's medical research situation is improving, perhaps not as rapidly as scientists would like. However, it is going better and more efficient. This year the federal government budget forecast allotted a record total of $20,500,000 for medical research. Medical faculties in various universities are expanding, assisted by federal and provincial governments and, during the next 18 years, the Health Resources Fund makes provision for $200,000,000 for capital costs to establish and expand medical school buildings.

However, great sums of money have to be allocated for research, if Canada is to bring back some of its top medical experts and retain those who are to graduate in the years ahead.

Dr. Shulman Gets the Axe

Windsor Star

Courage, Doctor Shulman, you've got most of the province behind you!

And what ordinary citizen, as opposed to those in authority, doesn't sympathize with Dr. Morton Shulman, whose future as Chief Coroner for Metropolitan Toronto was cut short by a dismissal notice from the Attorney - General of Ontario.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart probably holds most of the cards in the dispute, but Dr. Shulman is making the spirited stand that his record foretells. He has been an outspoken advocate of throwing light upon many things that many people would sooner see forgotten. He is not amenable to direction from above, but does his job as he sees it. He has proven himself right in a surprising number of instances.

Mr. Thompson Goes to Senate

St. Catharines Standard

When Andrew Thompson resigned last November as Ontario Liberal leader, he did so on the advice of his doctors who had warned him that he would be risking serious health hazards if he continued to serve as party leader. A few days ago, Mr. Thompson announced that he would not seek re-election to the legislature because his continuing poor health would not allow him to properly carry out his duties.

So what happens now?

Why— Mr. Thompson is appointed to the Senate!

It might seem strange on the surface that Mr. Thompson's health which does not allow him to sit in the legislature in his own home town, would prove perfectly adequate to allow him to take his seat in the Senate in Ottawa.

It might seem strange — but it isn't.

Mr. Thompson's appointment is further proof, if further proof were needed, that Canada's Senate continues to serve as a convenient pasture for those who have pulled the party wagon. It's also proof that Prime Minister Pearson's talk about Senate reform has been just that—talk.

Trinidad-Tobago First From Commonwealth to Join OAS

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Organization of American States will likely look increasingly more attractive to outsiders as well as to its own members if it continues to emphasize economic advantages and go easy on the political development.

Opening its summit meeting in Uruguay Wednesday, the OAS welcomed for the first time a Commonwealth member — Trinidad-Tobago — to a chair that could have been filled by Canada years ago.

British opinion appears to be that Dr. Eric Williams, Trinidad prime minister, joined the 20-member organization politically because he saw economic benefits for his country.

The Punta del Este conference also is expected to approve the admission of Barbados, and applications from Jamaica and Guyana will not be far behind.

Although Trinidad-Tobago is one of the better-off countries in the area, it has been battling an export crisis involving its sugar and oil industries. In long-range terms, Williams is on record as saying that the Commonwealth preferential system now is of more benefit to Britain than to Trinidad.

Williams, in presenting to Parliament the case for joining the OAS, made much of the loans that Latin American countries had obtained. His final country now can qualify for aid from the Alliance for Progress and the Inter - American Development Bank.

Out of the Punta del Este discussions is expected to emerge a Latin American common market which President Johnson and other national leaders hope will give new life to the U.S.-sponsored alliance.

Observers reason that Caribbean integration with the continent could open up new markets, while British overtures to the European Common Market may eventually close old ones.

Canada has remained aloof from membership in the OAS, formed in 1948.

Some British observers hold the somewhat paradoxical opinion that Canada's efforts to remain economically independent of the U.S. might be served by joining the OAS. The theory is that membership of an economically-biased OAS would enable Canada to fend off the U.S. embrace.

Whatever the validity of these ideas, they would not be finding expression now but for the apparent new drive the OAS has picked up recently. Almost wrecked as a creature of the U.S. by the American intervention in the Dominican Republic in 1965, the OAS was saved by the emergence of a more friendly established by president Kennedy.

When OAS foreign ministers met in February to prepare for the present summit meeting, they turned down all politico-military proposals, including an inter-American peace force and a Cuban government-in-exile.

E. W. Peck has been appointed a clerk in the local post office in the place of the late M. F. Hagerman.

The Irony Of Fate

MacLeod Gazette

An American Marine Sergeant who returned from Vietnam on March 12 with a chest full of decorations, including the purple heart, was driving along a street in the Greenwich Village area of New York City early last Monday morning.

He spotted a sailor being assaulted by two youths. He went to his aid. During the scuffle, one of the youths pulled a gun. The Marine died before the ambulance reached hospital.

How strange a commentary on our times that a man is safer in some countries of the foreign jungle than in the heart of a great city in his own country.

Competition for Engineers Stifling Canadian Industry

MONTREAL (CP)—Although the so-called brain drain from Canada to the United States appears to have been plugged slightly, industry's hunt for talent is becoming more and more costly and the results often are disappointing.

The companies that depend on a large number of creative engineers are hardest hit.

What engineering talent is available in Canada is swiftly snapped up. But many Canadian companies say they are dismayed that many of the best man seem to prefer academic life to careers in industry.

"Somehow, we're just not getting across to the young engineer of today," says John Sutherland, vice - president, technical products at RCA Victor.

Universities have boosted their pay scales and have been making a big pitch to win back talent from the U.S. and Europe.

Canadian companies, now fully involved in an era of research and development, are making the same bid, but the competition coming from all quarters, is described as "fantastic."

Virtually every U.S. company is scouring the same fields while the United Kingdom and some other European countries are acting to counter the pressure from North America.

Mr. Sutherland said in an interview RCA could use 50 more engineers immediately in its technical products division. It now has 250 and it needs to expand this figure to 500 by 1970.

One of the greatest obstacles in the talent hunt is that many young engineers from the U.S. and Europe still think of Canadian industry as a 'group of branch-plant subsidiaries producing foreign-designed products for the domestic market.

He was "amazed" at the lack of knowledge.

"We have become world leaders in some products, showing conclusively that Canadian engineers can compete on world markets."

Canadian electronics firms have more than doubled output in the last six years to about $750,000,000 a year. The figure is expected to treble by the end of the next 10 years.

Exports of Canadian electronic equipment have grown from practically nothing in 1960 to $155,000,000 last year. Specialized exports included airborne doppler navigation equipment, flight simulators and wideband microwave systems.

"Our industries generally will require more systemization, computerization and automation if they are to hold their place in world markets," Mr. Sutherland said. Engineers will be needed to work hand-in-hand with accountants and administrators."

Companies also have created the position of "specialist engineer" for those with superior engineering talents who want to continue their careers on purely technical lines and avoid supervisory or management responsibilities.

They say traditional boundary lines of departments are being redefined. The information linkages between departments have increased dramatically. Industries are becoming more integrated . . . and this must be so to achieve growth."

Church Groups

ST. MICHAEL'S CWL

The Catholic Women's League of St. Michael's Parish attended a special Mass and discussion in the League room of the Junior School Monday night. The Mass was celebrated by Msgr. J. P. Sullivan assisted by the organist, Miss Dorothy Grant.

After a potluck supper, the members remained at their tables for the annual meeting with the president, Mrs. G. F. O'Brien, presiding.

Reports from the executives showed the extent of the work during the past year. Membership is 576. Msgr. Sullivan was presented with a cheque for $1000. The Civic Action Group has pledged financial assistance up to $200 for Meals-on-Wheels. A bursary of $150, is to be given to a deserving girl student from Nicholson College, with the choice left to the discretion of Sister Mary Teresa.

The Sunday morning nursery, which has looked after 1279 children during the year has proved to be a worthwhile project, but is in need of volunteers.

All newcomers to St. Michael's Parish are asked to write their names, addresses and phone numbers in the welcome book, which will be left at the religious goods' counter at the back of the church.

Several members volunteered for service at the hospital, cancer clinic and school for retarded children. Used stamps and clothing were sent to the missions.

The work accomplished by the welfare community has been most gratifying with 119 visits made to the underprivileged and new clothes provided 28 children. Eye tests and glasses given two children, medical supplies provided for three children, furnishings, food, milk and Christmas baskets were provided. The homemaker service was supplied for a cancer patient once a week for a year. Bursaries were available for 57 families. Arrangements were made, through the firms to supply toys for 78 children. Used clothing was cleaned and mended for 64 children and ten adults. Fuel was provided for eight families. Uniforms were supplied for two high school boys. Advice was given to three families, dental work was provided, two children were dressed for first communion and four pupils from the OSD were provided with clothes. Three baby layettes were supplied.

Proceeds from the centennial doll display and coffee party, along with money from the treasury, to the amount of $350, will go towards furnishing a room, or buying a piece of equipment for Belleville General Hospital.

On behalf of the CWL Mrs. J. Gallagher presented Mrs. G.F. O'Brien, the retiring president, with the past president's pin and Mrs. J. R. Rashotte presented her with a gift.

Mrs. J. R. Rashotte, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the new officers. They are: director, Msgr. J. P. Sullivan; president, Mrs. J. Blake; 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. E. Barrett; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. J. Black; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. C. Hancock; recording secretary, Mrs. J. H. Morey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. J. Becker; treasurer, Mrs. E. D. Tomsett; councillors, Mrs. W. J. Lynch, Mrs. T. J. Lally, Mrs. J. J. Barrett, Mrs. R. Rouse, Mrs. J. B. Trudeau and Mrs. K. Kerr.

Mrs. G. F. O'Brien presented the new president, Mrs. J. Whalen, with the president's pin.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK D. BAILEY with Miss Catharine Harry and David Harry

Bailey Harry

Evelyn May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Harry, R.R. 5, Trenton and Frederick Douglas Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bailey, Eldorado, were married by Rev. Fred Love in Johnstown United Church, April 8, 1967 at 3 p.m. Mrs. Burrell Hamilton of Belleville played the wedding music and Kenneth Bronson of Tweed was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie with French lace bodice and sleeves, the neckline and wrists finished with a petalled effect. The bell-shaped skirt with detachable train was bordered with appliqued French lace. A rosette dotted her held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and hyacinth bells.

Miss Patricia Thompson of Belleville was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of cerulean blue chiffon and lace in Empire style with a flowing overskirt. Her headpiece was a matching bow and she carried a nosegay of blue and white mums. The bridesmaids, Miss Carol Bailey of Peterborough and Miss Beverley Clapp of Trenton were dressed identically to the maid of honor. Miss Catherine Harry of Trenton, sister of the bride and flower girl, wore a floor-length gown similar to those of the other attendants.

Allan Bailey of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and the ushers were Frank Harry of Belleville, brother of the bride and Gerald Bailey of Eldorado, brother of the bridegroom. The bride's nephew, David Harry of Sarnia, was ring-bearer.

The reception was held in Alldins United Church Hall. The bride's mother wore a dress of forget-me-not blue crepe and lace with matching three-quarter length lace coat, pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and hyacinth bells. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue French crepe dress with a hat in lighter blue tints, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and hyacinth bells.

For her wedding trip to the Maritimes the bride chose a salmon pink wool crepe suit with matching hat and a soft white wool coat, black accessories and a blue and white carnation corsage.

On their return, the couple will live in Eldorado.

SOCIAL and PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. John Willows, R.R. 2, St. Pauls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Evelyn of Hamilton to William John Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, Ivanhoe. The marriage will take place at Carlingford United Church, April 29, 1967, at 4.30 p.m.

* * *

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Wendy Lou Wagg of Roseneath, Ontario, to Mr. Richard Lewis Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terry of Toronto.

* * *

At the annual meeting of the Provincial Councillors for the Ontario Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held in Hamilton this week, Miss Rona Spry of Stirling was one of 19 councillors elected to the Provincial executive.

* * *

Before her recent marriage, Mrs. Frederick D. Bailey, the former Evelyn May Harry, was entertained at a shower in the home of Miss Patricia Thompson, Belleville, with Mrs. Carol Bailey as co-hostess. Mrs. Barbara Robinson of Eldorado gave a miscellaneous shower at her home and the community held a shower at the home of the bride's parents with Mrs. Alex Vanderveort and Beverley Clapp as hostesses.

Mr., Mrs. Percy Chase Mark 50 Wedded Years

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chase, Redeersville, quietly celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary April 11. They were married at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chase, R.R. 2, Consecon, by Rev. H. Mutton. The bride's brother, Bruce Chase, living now in Rochester, and the bridegroom's sister Edna, Mrs. Arthur Rogers, living now at R.R. 1, Frankford, were the attendants. Following a brief honeymoon, the couple lived with the bridegroom's parents for a year, then purchased a farm a mile away They remained on that farm until 1956 when they moved to Belleville. After leaving the farm, Mr. Chase did painting and carpenter work until last spring when ill health forced his retirement.

They attended Melville United Church where Mr. Chase served as Sunday School superintendent for many years. Mrs. Chase was a member of Melville W.A. and W.M.S. They are now members of Trinity Belleville United Church.

The couple has two daughters and a son: Mrs. Allen (Marie) Osterhout, Whitby; Mrs. Johnson (Vivian) Oram, Belleville and Arnold, R.R. 1, Frankford. They have seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Mr. Chase has two brothers, Sherman, R.R. 2, Consecon and Harry, R.R. 1, Codrington, and three sisters, Mrs. Arthur (Gladys) Hough, Peterborough; Mrs. Arthur (Edna) Rogers, Frankford and Miss Annie Chase, Toronto. Mrs. Chase has three brothers, Bruce, Rochester; Hubert, Oshawa, and Ernest, Paris.

On Sunday afternoon the family and relatives called to extend congratulations. Mrs. Chase received her guests wearing a blue lace dress with gold tiger-eye jewellery, the gift of the bridegroom, and a bronze and gold mum corsage. The family presented their parents with a bouquet of bronze, gold and yellow mums and other gifts.

During the afternoon their daughters and daughter-in-law served refreshments. The dining room table was covered with a decorated cake.

A framed plaque and a telegram from Premier J. Robarts, the compliments of Norris Whitney, letters from Prime Minister Lester Pearson, John Diefenbaker and Douglas Aikenbrack were received, in addition to several cards and gifts.

U.C.W. Meetings

MARSH HILL UCW

MARSH HILL — The April meeting of Marsh Hill UCW was held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Finkle. The president, Mrs. Ivan Clare opened the meeting.

Mrs. David Little gave the worship service and Mrs. Alex Tanner gave the mission study on Protestants in Upper Canada.

A letter telling of the conference for women which is being held at Kemptville was read by the secretary, Mrs. Clare. The Church in our Community was their present home in Redersville.

Club to Hold Career Opportunity Night

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club, in co-operation with the Department of Guidance at Quinte Secondary School, are presenting a "Career Opportunity Night" on Tuesday, April 18th, at 7.30 p.m. This is to be held at Quinte Secondary School. All students attending Secondary schools and Grade VII and VIII are invited to attend; also their parents. The purpose of this is mainly for students that have doubts as to what the future holds for them; or if they know what they want to do and would like some advice to prepare them for this.

The evening will commence with a short meeting at which Mr. Arthur Dureau of Bata Shoes of Belleville will be the speaker. Leading industries will set up displays to show what is accomplished in their organization and their representatives will be present to discuss careers that are available in their companies. Also members of Belleville's Professional groups will be present to answer questions about their chosen roles in life.

It is hoped that at least some of the students will be stimulated to reach for higher goals. Some may also acquire that spark that is necessary to reach their potential.

GREEN FOR 1967

LEDUC, Alta. (CP)—A grove of trees, representing every province in Canada, is being planted this spring in the form of the centennial emblem in Leduc, 20 miles south of Edmonton. Seven other provinces have already promised to send trees.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

THE CALICO CATS

The seventh meeting of the Walbridge 3 4-H Club was held at the home of Mrs. Omar Chisholm Tuesday.

Joan Chisholm reported the record books for achievement day.

The book covers and the exhibit for achievement day were the topics of discussion. The hems of garments and the slip stitched hem were demonstrated by Mrs. Chisholm and Mrs. Knight.

Group work for the evening was doing a sample of a slip stitched hem.

Church Groups

ST. MARGARET'S WA

The April meeting of St. Margaret's WA was held recently in the church hall.

The president, Mrs. M. Collyer opened the meeting and gave the devotional from the Living Message.

A bale was packed and is ready to be sent to Western Canada this month.

The delegate to the WA annual in Kingston is Mrs. Alex Babcock.

The education secretary continued with the WA study book, The church grows in Canada. This chapter presented dealt with events leading up to church union in 1925, when the Methodists, Congregationalists and Presbyterians joined together.

HOLY ROSARY CWL

A combination annual meeting and communion supper was held by the CWL of Holy Rosary Council in the K. of C. hall on Monday evening.

The spiritual convener, Mrs. D. Windsor welcomed all and in turn Mrs. M. Walker welomed Mrs. Q. Kielly, Diocesan President and Rev. Father Reginald, the guest speaker.

Minutes of last annual meeting were read and reports were given by the various convenors.

It was decided that the group join with St. Michael's and St. George's Catholic to furnish a room in the Belleville General Hospital when requested. It was also decided that money be given to the delegates to the Diocesan convention in Kingston for expenses.

Mrs. Waller, the outgoing president thanked all for the co-operation she had received during her tenure of office. Mrs. E. Reed presented Mrs. Waller with the past president's pin and Mrs. J. Darlington presented her with a gift on behalf of the League.

Father Reginald installed the new officers as follows: past president, Mrs. Waller; president, Mrs. G. McEvoy; 1st vice, Mrs. J. Hogan; 2nd vice, Mrs. D. Windsor; 3rd vice, Mrs. L. Dalpee; corresponding sec., Mrs. J. Poberzi recording sec., Mrs. W. Smith; and treasurer, Mrs. D. Doeat.

Mrs. A. Eves was presented with a gift for her many years of untiring help in the league with the hope that she will one day be back in the parish.

The Diocesan president, Mrs. T. Kielly, expressed her pleasure at being present and advised that the Kingston Diocese had made the third largest donation to the Vanier Institute.

Father Reginald spoke on the changes brought by Vatican II and the new relationship between the laity and the clergy.

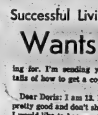
Select Clothes Which Suit Your Complexion

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill



Erase the word "can't" from your vocabulary when discussing colors you can and cannot wear. Today redheads are wearing red, brunettes are seen in brown, and blondes are appearing in yellow, and they all look smashing! The success secret is to select a color that has no "undertone" that complements your complexion. "As actress Elleen Wesson discovered, the skin has a "warm" or a "cool" hue that looks best in shades that blend with this tone. Hold a piece of white paper against the face, and learn your color clue. If skin has a pink or olive cast, you're a warm type and should select vibrant colors. If flesh has a blue tinge, you're "cool" and should wear softer pastels.

When choosing fabric, study the underlying tone. For instance, if it's a shade of blue, is it tinged with violet, green or grey? This will help you decide if it's in your color range. Also, consider the intensity of tone. A hue should never be so overpowering it dulls the hair, or be so bright it detracts from the eyes. Generally, a shade that matching the iris, or is only slightly darker, is the most flattering. However, when wearing contrasting shades, test their luminosity against the eyes, complexion and hair.

Another color correction is the myth that only tall, willowy silhouettes look good in patterns and prints. Even a petite figure can wear a properly proportioned design. The fashion cue is: Don't rule out a print or a color as not for you. There's usually a way a similar effect can be adapted, balanced, or scaled to your personal needs.

* * *

P.S.: A sure way to improve your fashion appearance is to have a streamlined figure. Our brand new booklet, "Exercise For Proportion," includes workouts designed to give body beauty and symmetry. For a copy of our 12-page guide, which is completely photo-illustrated, send 15c and enclose 30c and a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Youth Parade, Reba & Bonnie Churchill — Exercise for Proportion, c/o The Intelligencer, Room 1310, 80 King St. W., Toronto 1, Ont.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: At 68, I have retired from a successful photographic business. My hobby, as you might imagine, is taking pictures, and my wife and I spend many evenings regaling friends with our slides of places we have been.

I think I could write about taking pictures, as well as about how to run a good store and help other people enjoy photography. Would there be any market for articles like this, and how do I get started — Candid Camera

Dear Candid: There could be. Depends on whether you could put down what you know in a readable, easy style.

Your stories about running a store would perhaps be purchased by a business magazine which is read by others in the photo trade. The ones on the hobby would be designation which goes to consumers — that is, other people who like taking pictures for fun.

One prominent publisher of business paper articles has penned a booklet setting forth the sort of things editors are looking for. I'm sending you details of how to get a copy.

Dear Doris: I am 13. I dress pretty good and don't show off. I would like to become friends with kids my own age.

But they talk behind my back and laugh at the way I dance. Could you give me some hints on how to do this Lonely

Dear Lonely: The agony of loneliness at 13 can top anything that happens later. But has it occurred to you that your show-off, fun - making friends are also trying to cover up their own kinds of insecurity?

Not many Thirteens can dance well; it needs practice. Would Mom help you get hold of a learn-to-dance record and invite some of the chummier ones in for a practice session. Friendliness begets friends.

Dear Doris: I notice that most of your replies are to the female sex. However, I am going to break your trend and invade the "woman's world" with a problem of mine.

I am a man of 45, divorced and remarried. For the first few months we had a few spats. Recently we seem to have a full scale war over even the smallest disagreement.

I am accused of forcing her three eldest sons to leave, but they have told me long before they left that they could not take another much longer.

On one occasion she threatened to kill me. She became so violently angry that I had to forcibly restrain her. Without this violent flare-up of temper my wife would be the end of the rainbow for she does possess some very admirable and charming qualities.

I am a stepfather to six and presently not allowed to even be called "Daddy". The children get H- from mother for that too. — Heavy Hearted

Dear Heavy Hearted: Your wife's trouble is beyond one letter from me. She may still be suffering the effects of recent childbirth, or perhaps your out-of-town job leaves her too much on her own.

Or she may still be protecting over an unkind childhood which left her feeling hopelessly inferior. The bad temper was never curbed so it became her way of releasing tension. I'm sorry for you.

But I fear for the children — whom she won't even share with you. Whether or not she'll have any of it, you need a personal talk with a family caseworker. Seek one through the Family Counselling Service of Belleville and Hastings County, 63 Moira St. West.

Anonymous letters are bad manners and may be ignored. When writing in, give Doris your right name and address. It will be kept confidential.

Ann Landers

1967 High Style Hits Height of Bad Taste

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you said, "This is the Year of the Ear." You were responding to a reader who was questioning the wisdom of piercing her ears.

I would like to correct you, Madame. This is really "The Year of the Rear." I am an attorney who is normally mildmannered and slow to anger, but the revolting appearance of broad-beamed women in too tight and too short skirts has moved me to write my first letter to a newspaper.

It is bad enough to view these females coming, but to watch them gong is too great a burden on males who must observe the spectacle. If a woman is not aware of the grotesque picture she presents, why doesn't her best friend tell her? Please rush your answer. I am sinking fast. — GOGGLED EYED.

DEAR GOG: Because her best friend is probably wearing a skirt that is too tight and too short also and thinks she is a knockout.

I have said it before and I'll say it again. Mid-knee should be the limit for a woman over 30 — yes, even if she has a figure that would shatter a glue eye at forty paces. What some women consider high style is actually low taste. A skirt that is too tight and too short can make a woman appear ludicrous.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The high school is a 30-minute walk from our home. There are no buses out here. The problem is our 16-year-old son. I'm in a car pool with a neighbor who'se daughter is 14 (same age as our daughter). I drive the girls one week and the neighbor drives them the next. Our son is welcome to ride along but he refuses to ride with the girls. He insists that my husband drop him off on his way back to work.

This morning it was raining and my husband was behind schedule. The neighbor was out in front but our son refused her offer of a ride. He said he would wait for his father. I blew my top and said he was too demanding. My husband took the boy's side, said he was shy and I shouldn't force him.

This "shy" boy has been going to teen dances, doing the monkey and the jerk for almost two years. Please referee this battle, Ann. — FIGHT FIGHT FIGHT.

DEAR FIGHT: Unless your son is handicapped he should walk to school, and this goes for your 14-year-old daughter as well.

Chauffeur service for able-bodied children is part of the "Spoiled Kid Syndrome" which promotes laziness and a lack of initiative.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Whenever a letter that belittle women appears in your column, my husband hands it to me and says, "Ann Landrey is sure a smart dame."

I know I'm not perfect but you don't help any by printing all those letters that make women look foolish.

Don't tell me "if the shoe fits wear it." I've heard all your smart cracks at least twice. Who named you the Brain Queen of 1967? — SICK OF YOU.

DEAR SICK: So far, only your husband, but that's enough for now.

Kitchen Tested Recipes Gives Recipe for Chili Con Carne

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you give me your recipe for Chili Con Carne? I heard you had a good one. — Mrs. Mack.

ANSWER: This recipe appeared here in July, 1961 and January, 1964, but because there is a rush of letters right now asking for ways of using hamburg meat I am repeating it.

EMEM'S CHILI CON CARNE
(Serves 8)

NOTE: This is a revised recipe from July, 1961. I have included dried kidney beans (with canned as an alternative) because they reduce the total cost.

- 2 tbsps. butter, margarine, or salad oil
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1½lbs. ground beef
- One 28-oz. can tomatoes
- ½ cup water
- 1½ tsps. salt
- ½ to 2 tbsps. chili powder
- 1 lb. dried red kidney beans (see below) or two 20-oz. cans kidney beans

Soak dried red kidney beans in water to cover by 2" overnight. In morning add more water if needed to cover and cook until tender — about ½ hour. Do not drain. Melt butter or other fat in a large saucepan; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add ground beef; cook until browned, breaking up with a fork. Add tomatoes, water, salt and chili powder (amount depends on your — and your family's — taste for chili powder). Cover and simmer 45 min. Add cooked or canned kidney beans and liquid; simmer 5 or 10 min. longer. Serve with crusty French or Rye bread.

Dinner Menu

FRIDAY

Maritimes Clam Chowder; Portuguese Pizza (see Thurs.); Tomato Aspic with Cucumber Sour Cream Dressing; Hot Blueberry Roll with Lemon Butter Sauce; Tea.

QUESTION: Would you print a recipe for an orange bread that is made with a syrup that you cook the rind in — Mrs. L. B.

ANSWER: Yes. My secretary's mother makes such a loaf and sent me her recipe and a sample to taste before I gave it here.

MRS. BROCK'S ORANGE BREAD

Rind of 2 oranges thinly peeled and sliced — not grated
1 cup sugar
½ cup water
4 cups sifted all - purpose flour
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup butter (room temperature)
1 2-3 cups milk
2 large eggs
1 tsp. orange extract (optional)

Pare orange rind from 2 oranges and slice in fine strips. Add to 1 cup sugar and ½ cup water and boil together 5 min. Remove from heat. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar and rub in butter with fingertips or cut in with pastry blender. Beat eggs, add milk and stir into dry ingredients. Add orange rind and syrup and orange extract (if used). Turn into 2 medium paperlined buttered loaf pan or one large 10x5x3" loaf pan, bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 7 to 8 medium loaves require 50 to 60 min; one large loaf requires about 75 min.

London Lawyer Paid $104,832 As Atlantic Enquiry Counsel

TORONTO (CP)—The legislature's public accounts committee was told Thursday that London lawyer A. E. Shepherd received $104,832 as counsel for the royal commission inquiry into the collapse of Atlantic Acceptance Corp.

A. R. Dick, deputy attorney-general, told the committee Mr. Shepherd was paid $30 an hour for the 3,144.6 hours he worked as commission counsel between Aug. 12, 1965, and Jan. 31, 1967.

James Trotter (L — Toronto Parkdale) described the payment as "completely out of line with what we pay our lawyers in the government service."

He suggested the job should have been handled by a government lawyer, declaring that several now in the Ontario civil service are "just as capable."

Mr. Dick disagreed that government lawyers were necessarily the men for royal commissions. He said most recent inquiries have involved some government agency and might have left a government lawyer in a conflict of interest if he had to cross-examine government colleagues.

Mr. Dick also argued that it was questionable whether a government lawyer's work as a commission counsel would prejudice the department's ability to lay criminal charges as a result of the investigation.

Considering that top government lawyers now get $20,000 a year plus fringe benefits worth another $5,000, Mr. Dick said: "I might say that Mr. Shepherd's account is more modest than it might appear."

Mr. Trotter said that while $30 an hour for legal work was not too far out of line, the kill worked out to about $75,000 a year "and darn few lawyers make that much."

Accountants' and financial analysts fees totalled $363,617.50 and reporters fees amounted to a further $28,821.58, producing a total of $539,907.58 in professional fees. Special examiners' fees amounted to another $1,863.21.

Ontario Raises Pay for 10,000

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial treasurer Charles MacNaughton announced in the legislature Thursday that some 30,000 Ontario civil servants have been given salary raises averaging 10 per cent.

Under the new schedule, hospital aides will receive $2.10 to $2.38 an hour and hospital attendants $2.28 to $2.46. Correctional officers and training school supervisors will get $2.61 to $2.82 an hour and industrial officers $2.71 to $2.93.

The new rates are retroactive to Jan. 1.

Tourists spent $1,600,000,000 in Ontario, Tourism Minister James Auld said. The billion-dollar figure marks an increase of about eight per cent from 1965.

In introducing the $10,527,000 spending estimates of his department for 1967-68, Mr. Auld said U.S. visitors spent an estimated $400,000,000 and other foreign visitors $40,000,000.

Ted Freeman, (NDP — Fort William), said the Ontario government is only scratching the surface of Ontario's tourist potential.

He said the department should mark more than 10 per cent of its total budget of $10,300,000 for tourist development.

Donald Patterson, (L—Essex South), said Thursday night the provincial government should arrange with the major railways to initiate a "rapido" service between Toronto, Sudbury and Toronto and North Bay.

He suggested that a government subsidy could get the service started.

Ontario health minister Matthew Dymond denied that Detroit is giving him orders on the adoption of auto exhaust devices used to reduce air pollutants.

Dr. Dymond was defending his Air Pollution Control Act that received second reading—approval in principle—after a two-day debate.

He said the bill would allow him to investigate complaints and close any factory suspected of causing damage to health or property.

A bill to expand public health services in Ontario received second reading.

The bill requires all municipalities to provide full - time public health services or join an existing health unit, and permits indian bands to use local health units.

Premier John Robarts told the legislature he will make a statement today about the appointment of a commissioner to investigate charges by Dr. Morton Shulman, fired last week as chief coroner for Metropolitan Toronto.

The legislature approved the $35,152,000 spending estimates for 1967-68 of the economics and development department Thursday after criticisms of the department's public housing program.

Bryden Criticizes Province For Providing Canned News

TORONTO (CP) — Ken Bryden (NDP — Woodbine) said Thursday night the provincial government has "sown the seed of destruction of independent news gathering" by providing "canned news" for radio and television stations.

Some stations have the resources to staff the legislature, he told the house, while some others have banded together to get their information through Broadcast News Ltd.

Broadcast News, a subsidiary of The Canadian Press, is a nation-wide news gathering organization which supplies news to newspapers and radio and television stations.

But he said there are some television and radio "stations willing to become propaganda mouthpieces of the government.

He said the government service that provides voice tapes and television films to stations on request gives "one side of the story."

The three firms that provide the service — Pallette Productions, Dominion Broadcasting Co., and Videon Productions Ltd.—are "working under the guise of a fee-for-service operation."

The government pays them a total of $38,000 a year for their services, Mr. Bryden said during debate on tourist department estimates.

Newspapers did not escape Mr. Bryden's attention.

"The government has really done a job of denuding the press gallery," he said in an apparent reference to the number of reporters hired by the government in the last year or so.

"One really wonders how really independent the present press gallery is. There is no way of knowing how many have government jobs lined up."

"That's cheap and you know it," interjected J. H. White (PC —London South).

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said some of Mr. Bryden's observations have merit. The government should take steps to see that both sides are represented in radio and television news sent to stations.

But he said his party has found the Queen's Park press conference room, equipped with television cameras and outlets for tape recorders, "extremely useful."

SPORTS SLICE

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Back in the days when Paul Bunyan was holding trees out of the ground with a finger and thumb and Louis Cyr was holding a couple of freight trains together by the strength of two mighty arms, they called Quebec the "Cradle of Canada's Strong Men."

Cyr was a man of great strength. He stood five-feet-ten with upper arms of more than 20 inches and thighs of 33 inches around. Once he placed his back against the underside of a truck loaded to 4,300 pounds and lifted it by exerting the force of his leg and back muscles.

He is said to have raised 535 pounds from the floor with one finger using a ring attached to a sling. He was able to push a 300-pound barbell overhead by the strength of his arms and shoulders.

Cyr left some sort of a weightlifting heritage to the Quebecois. Today, according to Belleville's national "lifting" coach, Ken Carr-Brainl, the sister province to the east still breeds the cream of Canadian lifters followed closely by Ontario.

This province had its strong-men too, including Horace Barre who used to lift a Ford motor around on one shoulder just for exercise.

On Saturday evening (tomorrow), seven of the top lifters from each province will meet at Moira Secondary School in a warm-up to the Canadian championships and the Pan-American Games slated for Winnipeg this summer.

"Ontario and Quebec" Carr-Brainl says "have the best lifters in Canada. I predict that Quebec will send five of the seven to be selected with the other two coming from Ontario."

"On record and past performance the Quebec representatives should be Chun C. Chan, bantamweight; Marcel Gosselin, featherweight; Marcel Bedard, lightweight; Pierre St. Jean, gold medal winner at the British Empire Games in Jamaica; Yves Chobard, light-heavy; and Raoul White, mid-heavy with coach Lionel St. Jean."

Carr-Brainl likes his own Apollo Barbell Club protege, the national heavyweight champion Pete Morris along with Bob Santaby of Sarnia who holds all British Empire Junior titles and Allan Salter of Ottawa, the national featherweight champion.

Morris's record reveals he has a 970 total composed of 329 press; 275 snatch and 375 clean and jerk. He holds the Canadian jerk record of 375 pounds.

Doug Hepburn, Canada's famous weightlifter, held a jerk record of 383 points which stood for 12 years. Morris cleaned 385 pounds but missed on the jerk in the Sarnia trials.

Quebec boasts four national champions and these with the Ontario title-holders form the basis of Carr-Brainl's prediction.

Carr-Brainl is no stranger to national titles. Twice he has been selected as the coach of the Canadian team in overseas competition. He took one team to Sao Paulo, Brazil and coached national squads at Terheran, Iran in world competition, and last year he coached the Canada team in the British Empire games in Kingston, Jamaica, bringing home a gold and bronze medal.

He has been nominated again as coach of the national team for the centennial competitions and the Pan-American Games.

"I may or may not accept," he says. "I have had the honor twice now and I believe it is time somebody else had a chance."

The trials get under way at Moira S. S. at seven o'clock tomorrow evening lasting, it is expected, through eleven p.m. The public is cordially invited.

SHRINE MINOR HOCKEY

The Smith's Fuels, Ontario peewee "A" champions natural are favored in win the Shrine Minor Hockey Tournament starting tonight and lasting through Saturday. But they're going to have strong competition.

Tournaments come and tournaments go but this one should have a special appeal. Every cent of the net proceeds will go to the Shrine Crippled Children Fund under the chairmanship of Noble H. Birkenshaw.

For many years now the Shrine has done a magnificent job sponsoring various projects to aid the kiddies less fortunate than yours and mine.

They have provided medical care, surgery, artificial aids, etc., not to mention entertainment for their young proteges. Whether you attend the tournament or not, your ticket cost will be an investment in the health of the youngsters.

To repeat: - "A man is never so tall as when he stoops to help a child."

If you cannot attend, buy a ticket.

Argos Drop E. York

TORONTO (CP) — East York Argonauts, Canadian senior football champions in the last three years, may fold.

General manager Bob Sherwood, said Thursday he has received a letter from the Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference saying they have discontinued financial support of the team.

The letter, from Lee Hayman, managing director of the senior club, said his team would relinquish any rights to players from East York.

East York received a $2,500 annual grant from the Argos towards expenses which last year amounted to $13,000.

"It is financially not feasible for us to operate without pro support," Mr. Sherwood said.

Mr. Sherwood said the Argos had brought up eight players from the East York club in the last three years.

Hall, Horton Hurt

Hull, Pilote Spark Hawks' 4-3 Win

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks removed any doubts about his physical fitness Thursday night.

Hull, a doubtful starter almost until he stepped on the ice for the first game of the Stanley Cup semi-finals, played Thursday on his regular line, tilled penalties and worked on the power play as Chicago defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3.

His third goal of the series, which proved the winner and knotted the best-of-seven series 2-2, made him the top goal-getter on the two clubs.

Hull also added an assist to bring his series points total to five, one less than Toronto's Frank Mahovlich who has two goals and four assists.

Ken Wharram, Pierre Pilote and Eric Nesterenko scored the other Chicago goals, with Mike Walton, Tim Horton and Dave Keon scoring for the Leafs.

MIKITA PRESSES EARLY — Stan Mikita (21) of Chicago Black Hawks tests Toronto goalie Terry Sawchuck early in the first period of Thursday night's Stanley Cup semi-final action in Toronto. Ready to help Sawchuck out are Frank Mahovlich (27) and Allan Stanley (26) of Toronto.

Pilote Hits Stride

It was Pilote, the National Hockey League's mid-season all-star defenceman, who made the difference in the most important game of the series to date.

Pilote, who hadn't played up to expectations in the first three games, was the offensive spearhead in the Chicago attack, also setting up the goals by Nesterenko and Hull.

The hard-hitting game produced two casualties.

Horton was struck in the nose by Dennis Hull and was taken to hospital for x-rays. There was no immediate report on whether the nose was broken.

Chicago goaltender Glenn Hall was also injured when struck on the lower lip by a hard shot from Toronto's Jim Pappin late in the game. The injury required 25 stitches and he was replaced by Denis Dejordy, who allowed the final Toronto goal.

PIERRE PILOTE

Shake Injuries

Doug Mohns of Chicago, who missed the third game of the series here Tuesday night, and Pappin, who was injured in the third game, both played their regular shifts.

Despite the victory, coach Billy Reay barred the dressing room doors to reporters after the game. Reay did speak briefly to newspaper men, however, but refused to discuss the officiating.

Toronto coach Punch Imlach also refused to talk about the refereeing, although he did say Pilote's goal was scored on an offside play.

Wharram's goal, scored at the nine-second mark of the first period, tied Gordie Howe's record for the fastest goal scored in a playoff. Howe got his for Detroit Red Wings against the Leafs April 1, 1954.

Wharram's 15-foot drive was the result of a three-way passing play with Mohns and Stan Mikita, who centres the Hawks' Scooter line.

A live mouse that slithered across the ice just before the three-minute mark seemed to ignite the Leafs. Inside defender Ted Keon a pass just outside the Chicago blueline and the shifty centre blasted a 20-foot shot past Hall.

Pilote scored by circling behind the Toronto net unmolested, drifted in front again and fired the puck into the Toronto goal post netminder Terry Sawchuk just as Chicago's Dennis Hull stepped from the penalty box after serving a minor penalty.

Horton Breaks Defence

Horton tied the score, breaking in alone on Hall just after the mid-way mark of the period. Toronto played a man short and Chicago had two players in the penalty box at the time.

The teams battled through a scoreless second period before Nesterenko gave the Hawks a 3-2 lead early in the third period. Nesterenko got around Toronto defenceman Allan Stanley, swooped across the goalmouth and beat Sawchuk cleanly.

Hull's winning goal came at 8:48 when he beat Sawchuk with a blazing slap shot, while using Toronto's Larry Hillman as a screen.

The Leafs tilted Sawchuk in favor of a sixth attacker with 2:32 left in the game and Walton scored. Sawchuk went back in goal but as soon as play moved into the Chicago end Sawchuk came out again. This time Dejordy held out a determined bid by Leafs, who were swarming about the Chicago goal as the game ended.

Fifth game of the series is set for Chicago Saturday afternoon and will be carried by the CBC national television network in Canada and the CBS TV network in the U.S. The game is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Two Teeth, 25 Stitches

TORONTO (CP) — Goalie Glenn Hall was exceptional in the rough and tumble world of National Hockey Leaguers where broken and smashed dentures are common-day occurrences.

That is, he was exceptional until Thursday night when the veteran Chicago Black Hawk sparked his team's 4-3 win over Toronto Maple Leafs to even their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series at two games each.

The shattering end came late in the game when Toronto winger Jim Pappin's blazing shot eluded Hall's protective gloves and stick and struck him flush on the mouth.

The result—two missing teeth and a gash that required 25 stitches to mend.

The loss of the teeth were the first Hall has suffered as a result of his playing in the NHL.

It took Chicago club doctor Myron Tremaine 40 minutes to take a tuck in Hall's mouth.

Ironically, Hall is one of the few NHL goalies who does not wear a protective mask in the nets. It was not known if the injury would keep him out of action Saturday.

"I feel pretty good," he lisped through swollen, bandaged lips. "But I don't ever want to stop another like that—I mean not ever."

Hall was one of three Chicago players who retired after last season and, along with winger Red Hay, was one of two who finally returned. Defenceman Elmer Vasko stayed retired.

Hall said in the off-season he preferred to remain at the farm he bought near Stony Plain, Alta., and paint the barn.

Who a reporter remarked that Hall might have been better off staying home to paint the barn, the goalie returned.

"Yeah, but they don't pay much money for barn painting."

Asked about his reluctance to wear a mask during the games, Hall explained:

"I use one in practice, but don't feel comfortable enough in it to use in a game.

"Pappin's shot would have broken a mask anyway, but I might still own my own teeth."

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

The spring fishing season is just a couple of weeks away. Rainbow fishing at Shelter Valley opens April 29th. By that time the ice should be out of most of our northern lakes and this includes the good trout lakes in Algonquin Park. Pickerel and pike season in Prince Edward County and the Bay of Quinte area open on May 6th. The rest of the province start a week from then on May 13th.

Some of the Letter baits for Rainbows this year as in the past would be, No. 1 Meppa, EGB, Floyd Junior, Wee Kamlooper, Spinner and a worm.

Spring fishing for lake speckles you should use some of the all time limit catchers like No. 2 Meppe, DCB, RB Spinner, CP Swing, Williams Wabbler small, Rattle Spoon or a Worden Wavy.

For spring lake trout fishing you might be lucky to hit them on spinning tackle. But I would advise taking your trolling outfit with metal line.

Some sure fire lures might be, Banabee, Wordew Worry, Wonder Lure, Rattle Spoon, Dominion No. 771, Copper One Eye or a good Williams Wabbler.

If you have been ice fishing on some of these lakes, with success, you could have good luck still fishing in the same location as where you did your winter angling. Try some lively minnows.

The pickerel have hit the Moira River this week with a better run so far than I anticipated last year.

Also Friday night the smelt began their annual run up the Moira.

Even though we have been "discovered", by this I mean someone finally found out, we have bacterra worms in the bay, something that has been known for at least 10 years, the spring run of fish seems to be very good.

West Lake, East Lake, Consecon Lake areas are again booked solid by Americans and out of towners for the opening of pickerel and pike.

I still pick West Lake as the number one hot spot this year. Plenty of action should come up opening day in this fine body of water.

Best results will be had with Rapala or Rebel lures with Meppa, Shyster or Abu not far behind. The Lynch or Quinte Pickerel Spinner are other good ones for the opener.

Hay Bay should prove good Walleye fishing this year as well as the Salmon River Mohawk Beach area. Better give these old favorite spots a try with worm, Harness, Shyster, Meppa or Crocodile.

The Bass or Sunfish have also taken some good fish in these waters.

Off-Again Fight Now On-Again

CHICAGO (CP) — The on-again, off-again, world heavyweight championship bout would be given serious consideration by Gardens management.

Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of the Gardens, said his organization was indeed interested in having the fight held there, but that under no consideration would they promote the bout.

He said they were always interested in renting the building on a cash basis with no percentages.

Ballard said the Gardens management had been in touch with Main Bouts Inc. of New York two months before the fight was awarded to Las Vegas, but there had been no discussions with the promoters since the various states started banning the bout.

In the meantime, Clay was busy denying a report that he would enter the army to please his mother.

He said he had never said he would accept the draft because "it would break my mother's heart if I didn't" and claimed "somebody is trying to start something."

The champion said he would make his decision about accepting induction when the time came.

Gaylord Perry was frightened of one batter, but it looks as if National League hitters may be spending another season worrying about Gaylord Perry.

A 21-game winner last season, the San Francisco pitcher allowed Atlanta Braves just four hits in his 1967 debut Thursday night as the Giants rode homers by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey to a 2-0 triumph over the Braves.

Perry didn't pitch more than seven innings at a stretch during the exhibition season and when the ninth inning rolled around Thursday, the tall right-hander found himself with a man on base and the tying run at the plate in the person of Hank Aaron.

"I was scared to death when Hank came up," Perry related later in the dressing room. "He's the toughest out in the league."

But Aaron became Perry's fourth strikeout victim and two fly balls later the game was over.

Mays's home run, the 543rd of his career, came in the first inning off Tony Cloninger, who also gave up McCovey's shot in the third and took the defeat.

The game, Atlanta's home opener, was played before 33,225 fans.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati Reds edged Houston Astros 5-4 and New York Mets nipped Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2. Philadelphia Phillies at Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles Dodgers at St. Louis Cardinals were rained out.

Deron Johnson's three runs batted in two coming on a home run in the fifth inning, provided the Reds with their margin of victory. Milt Pappas, with relief help from Gerry Arrigo and Ted Abernathy, was the winning pitcher.

Tony Perez' homer in the fourth inning broke a 1-1 tie and set the stage for Johnson's big blast. Eddie Mathews and Bob Aspromonte drove in runs for Houston in the sixth and Jim Landis doubled in another score in the seventh.

Chuck Hiller's pinch double in the eighth drove in the winning run for the Mets.

Losing pitcher Vern Law had been the Mets seven straight times.

Maury Wills and Roberto Clemente drove in the Pirates' runs with singles off rookie Tom Seaver. Chuck Estrada relieved Seaver in the sixth with one out and two on, but got out of it by getting Clemente to hit into a double play with the bases loaded.

"Pancake" Palmer 4-Hits Twins

By MIKE RECHT

About the only thing left over from last season that has disappointed the world champion Baltimore Orioles this year is the syrup for Jim Palmer's pancakes.

The unbeaten Orioles won their second straight game this season by crushing Minnesota Twins 7-1 Thursday as Palmer hurled a four - hitter, but the superstitious right-hander probably would insist defeat was only a bottle of syrup away.

The syrup is a carry over from last season—that was the problem—when Palmer became a hit by eating pancakes before his eight victories from last June 13. His only loss in that span came when flapjacks were missing from his breakfast table that day.

The major periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

The following chart is for the period from Saturday, April 13th, to Sunday, April 23.

All times are Eastern Standard Time.

| Day | A.M. Minor | A.M. Major | P.M. Minor | P.M. Major |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Saturday | 8.20 | 2.45 | 10.30 | 5.08 |
| Sunday | 9.10 | 3.45 | 11.10 | 4.05 |
| Monday | 10.10 | 4.45 | 11.55 | 5.05 |
| Tuesday | 11.15 | 5.40 | ——— | 6.00 |
| Wednes. | 12.40 | 6.36 | 12.35 | 6.55 |
| Thursday | 1.20 | 7.20 | 1.35 | 7.30 |
| Friday | 2.00 | 8.05 | 2.45 | 8.40 |
| Saturday | 2.40 | 8.50 | 3.55 | 9.25 |
| Sunday | 3.25 | 9.40 | 5.15 | 10.10 |

"I only had four pancakes today," the 21-year-old pitcher said after Thursday's triumph. "I ruined four others when I poured some syrup which had been in the house since I left. It had fermented, and I had to throw the pancakes away."

California Angels and the Cleveland Indians also had an unusual problem, but neither could solve it. A power failure at Anaheim Stadium left them without lights and forced casualties—of their night contest.

In the only other scheduled American League game, Boston Red Sox made three errors in the ninth inning and Chicago White Sox capitalized for five runs and an 8-5 victory in Boston.

Along with Palmer, Frank and Brooks Robinson also took up where they left off in 1966.

Frank, the league's Most Valuable Player last season, slammed his first two home runs of 1967 in the first and third innings for a 2-0 lead off loser Dean Chance.

Brooks matched an opening day homer with a solo clout Thursday for Baltimore's final run.

Ron Hanson followed the three Boston errors with a double that put Chicago ahead 6-5. Jerry Adair's two-run single wrapped up the inning.

Don Buford drove in Chicago's first two runs, and Pete Ward homered for another.

Habs Sweep Series

Only Win For Blues, $1,500 Each

NEW YORK (CP) — It was similar to watching a moving picture in slow motion.

The puck lay loose at the feet of the goaltender and no one seemed ready to do anything with it.

However, John Bowie Ferguson most have remembered the words - not - want - not admonition from his Scottish forebears because he suddenly came to life.

The Montreal Canadiens left winger popped the puck behind Ed Giacomin, the New York Rangers netminder, at 8:28 of the first overtime period to give the defending Stanley Cup champions a 2-1 victory and a four-game sweep of the semi-final series.

The teams had been forced into extra time after defenceman J. C. Tremblay scored for Montreal at 10:46 of the opening period and New York's Phil Goyette tied the game at 11:38 of the middle period.

Coach Toe Blake, sweating profusely after the narrow victory, said the way the winning goal occurred left him shaken.

"I thought he never was going to put the puck in the net."

Ferguson explained his apparent reluctance this way.

"I couldn't believe the puck was there. That's why it took me so long . . ."

Ferguson said he missed the first swipe at it, "but I connected on the second chance."

Claude Larose had set up the winner when he fired a hard shot that squirted away from Giacomin and fell loose at Ferguson's feet.

"I thought the puck was in my glove," Giacomin said, "It hit the webbing and when I moved it was lying there and he knocked it in."

It was a rough contest and the winning goal came with Montreal's Ted Harris and New York's Vic Hadfield in the penalty box serving five - minute majors for fighting.

It was the second pair of fighting majors handed out by referee Vern Buffey. He had previously sent Terry Harper of Canadiens and New York's Reg Fleming off at the 5:10 mark of the first period.

Rangers played strongly and, before the majors to Harper and Fleming, had tested Rogatien Vachon in the Montreal nets on several occasions.

The Canadiens took over near the midway mark of the period.

J. C. Tremblay on a pass from Henri Richard sent the puck between Giacomin's pads. The New York netminder appeared to be screened on Tremblay's shot.

Ferguson was caught charging New York defenceman Barry Howell at 17:38 of the middle period and 18 seconds later, Phil Goyette had his first goal of the series.

New York held a slight edge in the remainder of the second period and early in the third.

New York's Bob Nevin just missed getting a goal with Harper's J. C. Tremblay draped over his back.

Vachon slid out to save on Fleming and Nevin and Goyette.

Canadiens had their opportunities as Backstrom hit Giacomin's pad and then watched the puck rebound off the goal post.

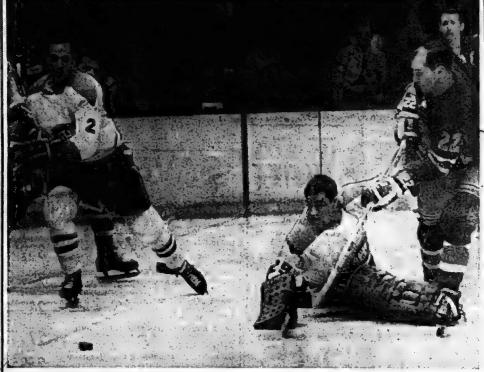
As overtime got under way, Backstrom had three successive shots at Giacomin in the first minute.

In addition to the majors for fighting, Buffey handed out 15 minors, including a double minor to Backstrom in the second period for slashing and roughing with Marshall. The sentence to Marshall brought his season penalty total to six minutes.

The Montrealers outshot the Rangers 7-6 in the opening period but Rangers had 12-8 and 11-8 margins in the second and third periods. In the overtime, Canadiens outshot the losers 4-3.

Blake said the Rangers deserved a lot of credit "because they fought right to the end."

Emile Francis, New York's general manager - coach, said the Montreal club will be tough to beat in the finals.



"They got strong and healthy just at the right time. We've got nothing to be ashamed of. We came a long way this year and we've got a little way to go before we can take all the marbles."

The Canadiens returned to Montreal by train immediately after the game. They will go to their Laurentian mountain hideout north of the city today.

Each of the Canadiens earned an extra $2,200 because of the team's victory in the series. The Rangers' losing shares were $1,500 each.

JOHN FERGUSON

OUT OF HIS NET BUT IT'S A SAVE — Montreal goalie Rogatien Vachon (29), way outside his net, none the less deflects puck for save in first period of Stanley Cup playoff game against the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden. That's Don Marshal (22) of the Rangers trying the shot. Coming up at left is Montreal defenceman Jacques Laperriere.

'Habs Had Bench'

Scotty Bowman, assistant general manager and coach of the new NHL St. Louis Blues for the 1967-68 expansion division, was a spectator as Montreal Canadiens defeated New York Rangers 3-1 in overtime Thursday night to sweep their semi-final round 4-0. Scotty is former coach of Montreal Junior Canadiens and worked in the NHL club for more than 18 years.

Written for The Canadian Press
By SCOTTY BOWMAN

NEW YORK (CP)—I think the two teams went into the series at different levels.

The season finished with the Rangers struggling and Canadiens going well.

After losing 6-4 in the first game it had to be an uphill battle for New York, but I thought the Rangers would get a spak in their own rink.

But first Phil Goyette was hurt in the opening game and then Orland Kurtenbach in the second. Goyette played all four games and got his first goal Thursday night, but Kurtenbach missed the third and wasn't up to par.

The Rangers and Emile Francis deserve credit. Don't forget they finished on the bottom of the league last season and finished fourth this year. So there's improvement there.

But Montreal has the bench strength. When you can use players like Dick Duff and Yvan Cournoyer on the power play only and use Jean Guy Talbot and Jim Roberts to kill penalties exclusively, it shows the strength of this club.

I thought Canadiens' defence was tremendous after a shaky start and their goaltending is holding up well with Rogatien Vachon in the nets.

They've now won 13 of 15 playoff games and have won eight of those consecutively against Detroit last year and New York this year.

I don't think there's a weak spot on the Montreal club and the team effort is tremendous.

The difference in winning or losing Thursday night was that Rangers just weren't able to capitalize on their chances.

Rangers played well but it was no score for them. Six of their eight goals of the series were ignored on power plays.

Indians' Future Not Shore

TORONTO (CP)—Players for Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League are not likely to return to the team next season if Eddie Shore still has the franchise, Toronto lawyer Alan Eagleson said Thursday.

"They are fed up enough to all out of pro hockey next winter and apply for reinstatement as amateurs," he said. "They just won't be back unless Shore sells the joint."

Mr. Eagleson represented the players in their bargins with Shore during the last season after players walked out because one of them was suspended. The walkout lasted about two weeks.

Mr. Eagleson said Jack Kent Cooke, proprietor of Los Angeles Kings in the expanded National Hockey League, is interested in obtaining Springfield as a farm team.

Shrine Tournament

For The Kiddies' Sake!

Belleville Smith Fuels hope to complete a terrific season of hockey on a winning note by capturing the annual Shrine Club peewee tournament here this weekend.

Smith's are one of ten clubs battling for the Harry Rollins Trophy and the Belleville Shrine Trophy in the 13-game tournament which opens tonight. The Rollins Trophy goes to the "A" champs and the Shrine Trophy to the "B" (or consolation) winners.

Two games on tap tonight pit Trenton against West Rouge at 7.30 and Smith Fuels against Bowmanville at 8.30.

Play resumes at 8.00 Saturday morning with Brooklin playing one of the two Peterborough entries. Oshawa and Oakville clash at 9.00 a.m. with Richmond Hill and the Peterborough Church League club tangling at 10.00 in the final game of the first round.

First - round winners continue in the "A" series and first - round losers drop into the "B" division. Play continues with "B" games at 11.00 a.m. 2.00, 4.00 and 6.00 p.m. while "A" games are slated for 1.00, 3.00, 500 and 7.00 p.m.

The presentation of the Tommy McIlvein Memorial Award for sportsmanship and education will be made during the tournament by director of recreation Lloyd "Red" Dorrn.

City and district fans are expected to turn out in good numbers during the tournament with all proceeds going to the Belleville Shriners Crippled Children's Fund.

Don't forget, play starts at 7.30 with the "B" final at 6.00 p.m. Saturday, followed by the "A" final at 7.00 p.m.

Minor Leagues Growing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The least publicized of baseball's recent changes has been the growth of the minor leagues.

In 1963 the minors comprised 18 leagues with 130 teams, and attendance was under 10,000,000. All the figures represented low-water marks at the end of a steady skid that began in 1950. In 1949 the minors' 59 leagues had 448 teams and attendance totalled 41,000,000.

But the lineup for the 1967 season—opening today in three leagues and already under way in the three leagues in Mexico—has 141 teams operating in 19 leagues. The minors are aiming for their fourth straight year over 10,000,000 in attendance.

Riley: 'Hawks Have The Edge'

Jack Riley is general-manager of Pittsburgh Penguins, a new team playing next season in the expanded National Hockey League. He was there Thursday night as Chicago Black Hawks defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3. This is how he saw it.

Written for The Canadian Press
By JACK RILEY

TORONTO (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks are in the driver's seat now—the win gives them the edge and home ice gives them the edge.

It's a three-game series now and I can't really pick a team. But the oddsmakers favor Chicago and you can't buck the odds.

Both teams played a terrific game. When Chicago scored at the nine-second mark, I thought it would put the Leafs off balance, but they tied it up and it was an even period.

The whole game was up for grabs in the second period, but both teams laid down. If anyone had scored a goal, the game would have been over.

I thought the Leafs lost their skate in the third period. They weren't skating and the Hawks had the advantage throughout the period. In fact the Leafs weren't skating anything like the way they were in the last two games.

But those last two wins took a lot out of the Leafs. They perked rest and X showed to night. After all, X was their third game in five nights.

Punch Imlach made a smart move yanking Sawchuk when he did. Walton scored and the Leafs nearly pulled it out of the bag. That's the only way to play it—with all the stops out.

If Hall's injury is serious enough to keep him out of the fifth game it could be a factor. DeJordy is good in nets, but Hall is loved and has the playoff experience.

It was a hard-hitting game, but the Leafs didn't check as well as they have in the past. I thought Pierre Pilote and Pat Stapleton were standouts for the Black Hawks on defence and of course, Bobby Hull was the big gun offensively.

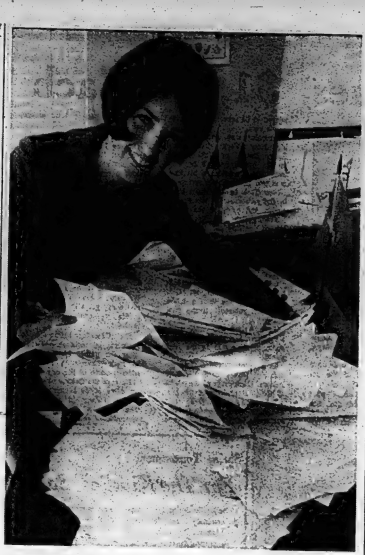
Supreme Court Likely to Ban All 'Bugging'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reaction of U.S. Supreme Court justices to arguments in a wire-tap case hearing suggests the death knell may sound soon for legalized eavesdropping as it exists today.

"Star chamber proceedings" was the description Chief Justice Earl Warren gave to the way New York judges authorized such bugging.



"Legalized burglary" was the description Justice William J. Brennan Jr. gave to the way official eavesdroppers gained access to two Manhattan offices in 1962 to plant microphones and collect evidence against a Chicago public relations man.

Hundreds of judges and thousands of policemen are involved in legalized eavesdropping, Warren said, "and not one of them is subjected to any supervision of the way he did it."

There was no indication at the two-hour hearing Thursday that a majority of the nine justices is likely to decide that New York's eavesdropping law can be squared with the U.S. constitution.

New York, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nevada and Oregon have laws permitting officials to eavesdrop if they obtain court permission.

The court is looking into the New York law — and by implication the others — in reviewing the 1964 conviction of Ralph Berger, a Chicago public relations man, for conspiring to bribe the chairman of the state liquor authority. Berger was sentenced to a year in prison.

Educational TV Plan Of LaMarsh Attacked

TORONTO (CP) — Alan Thomas, director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, Thursday criticized a statement by Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh Wednesday saying that the federal government was relegating educational television to frequencies on the ultra - high frequency band which ordinary sets cannot pick up.

At the opening of a three-day conference on ETV at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute where Mr. Thomas was speaking, a tape of Miss LaMarsh speaking in Sherbrooke, Que., Wednesday was played.

Miss LaMarsh said ETV should be confined to UHF channels because of the tremendous expansion of television in the past 15 years had made use of almost all very-high frequency channels 2 to 13. She said the government had to decide whether to reserve a few remaining VHF channels for education or to leave them for normal broadcasting.

T. R. Ide, director of the Ontario Department of Education's ETV branch, said he was puzzled by Miss LaMarsh's statement and hoped "there would be a chance to examine this further."

Reports Given At St. Mark's Ladies' Guild

DESERONTO — In the absence of the president, Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. A. F. Dowdell was in the chair for the meeting of St. Mark's Ladies' Guild in the Church hall Monday, April 10.

Routine business was disposed. The secretary - treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Sergeant gave both reports. She also suggested that since the doll display was the Centennial project of the organization, the proceeds should be used for a special project.

There was discussion both of the dessert bridge to be held that week, and of the rummage sale to be held in May in the White Elephant Store. Plans for the social function were completed.

After the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. Harold Toppings.

Students Starved Educationally

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of Ontario high school students are being starved educationally while their ill-prepared teachers gropе for survival in the classroom, a College of Education report released Thursday says.

The report, prepared by the college's faculty, urges the department of education and the University of Toronto to drop a controversial summer teacher-training course after the summer of 1968.

This would mean that prospective teachers entering the emergency course this summer would be the last to be enrolled. It requires two summers to complete.

"To put it bluntly the college faculty has long been of the opinion that continuance of the summer program for purposes of full teacher certification cannot be defended on respectable academic and professional grounds," the report states.

The summer course was originally launched as a stop-gap measure to meet Ontario's teacher shortage. However, two-thirds of the province's secondary school teachers now enter teaching by this route.

Complete Plans for Spring Flaw

NAPANEE — The Napanee Jaycees have practically completed their plans for Spring Flaw, the variety program which will be presented April 21 in the N.D.S.S. auditorium. Each member on the program is appearing by invitation, with about 15 organizations and groups now putting the finishing touches on their productions. President Jim Elliott will emcee the program.

Bill VanKoughnet, who is responsible for arrangements, brought a full report to a meeting of the Board of Directors Tuesday evening.

Revision of certain by-laws and articles of the constitution were approved by the meeting, and will come up at a general meeting for approval of the members as a whole.

A nominating committee was set up, with Wayne Perry as chairman. Other members are Jim Hawkins, Jim Bosley and Gordon Wait.

The annual fireworks display is again planned for May 24. Director Mike Kouri stated that he planned to seek financial assistance.

Tentative plans were also made for the president's ball and awards night some time in June.

Manpower Centre Reports Layoffs

NAPANEE — The labor situation in the Napanee district remains poor in the view of the Canada Manpower Centre. A large employer had to lay off a number of workers until re-tooling in the plant is completed. Another will be laying off a number permanently because of a reorganization caused by a reduced field of action. Mr. Dupont and C.I.L. are also laying off employees because of slackness in the textile industry.

There are no major construction projects in sight to absorb the semi-skilled and unskilled workers, although skilled workers should have no difficulty in finding employment.

The Canada Manpower Centre in Napanee has openings locally for good industrial workers, male and female, with a minimum of Grade XII education, a general office clerk, waitresses, farmhands, and two mature young men with junior matriculation and knowledge of drafting, welding, and machine shop practice.

The Napanee Canada Manpower Centre invites anyone interested or seeking work to contact the office at 174 Robinson St., Napanee; telephone 354-3367.

Quebec Approves External Relations Bill

QUEBEC (CP)—A provincial department of inter - governmental affairs charged with expanding Quebec's external relations was approved unanimously Thursday night by the legislature.

Premier Daniel Johnson and Opposition Leader Jean Lesage stressed in non - partisan speeches that legislation establishing the department does not give Quebec new constitutional powers.

Mr. Johnson told the legislature the new department is an administrative gesture, co-ordinating work currently done by several provincial government departments.

The new department is "principally an administrative gesture" co - ordinating the related work of the federal-provincial department, and cultural affairs, education, industry and commerce and tourism departments.

The bill, No. 23 on the Union Nationale government's agenda, was introduced in first reading Feb. 28 as an act amending the federal-Provincial Affairs Department Act, passed during Mr. Lesage's former Liberal administration in 1961.

Bill 23 received second and third reading Thursday night and the government plans to move it promptly through the upper house, the legislative council.

The premier said he "was not at all surprised by the opinion" of eminent outside Quebec arising from certain clauses of the bill, notably the agreement - making clause.

However, he stressed that the new legislation "does not aim to give Quebec rights it does not have." Its intention was to permit Quebec "to exercise more efficiently and more fully" rights it already has.

Mr. Lesage dismissed as "absolutely unjustified" comments that this legislation infringed on federal jurisdiction under the British North America Act.

"There is one thing certain and it's very simple," Mr. Lesage said. "The legislature may not delegate to the lieutenant-governor-in-council or to a minister more power than it, the legislature, has in virtue of the constitution."

The day after Bill 23 received first reading in the Quebec legislature, Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons that the federal government has exclusive jurisdiction over Canada's external relations.

The federal government's position was that all international conventions must be between sovereign governments.

The Canadian constitution permits Quebec and any other province to make agreements in fields of provincial jurisdiction, provided the provincial government concerned receives authority first from the federal government.

Questioned in the Commons March 1, Mr. Pearson cited the agreements Quebec signed in education and cultural fields with France in 1965. Those agreements had been signed by Quebec under the umbrella of a master agreement between Canada and France.

Coward Turns Fearless

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Coward turns hero! This citation belongs over the life story of one of history's greatest men. His name was Simon Peter, a rough-speaking fisherman who became a fearless advocate of a new faith. At the time of Jesus' arrest, Peter had cringed like a coward. But after Jesus' resurrection and the disciples' experience on the day of Pentecost, he became one of Christianity's boldest leaders. Thanks to him, we know today what the followers of Jesus first believed about their departed Leader.

Strange events had taken place. Jesus had been crucified, but His disciples declared they had seen Him alive again after His death. On the day of Pentecost, as they met together, the followers of Jesus were shaken by such a strange spiritual experience, they felt impelled to rush out and tell everyone what had happened to them.

Their excitement was so great it was misunderstood. They were accused of having drunk. Peter spoke out to defend them, but he did more. He gave the first interpretation of what the followers of Jesus believed about the events that had happened concerning the Person they had left all to follow.

The followers of Jesus, Peter explained, were not drunk from alcoholic spirits. They were intoxicated by the Spirit of God who had filled them with new power. This experience was in keeping with what the prophet Joel had said would happen. (Joel 2:28-29; Acts 2:16-18) He had predicted that God would pour out His power on His people. Not only on priests or leaders of prestige and power, but on ordinary people such as servants. In fact, leaders of Judea expressed surprise at the claims made by social nobodys from Galilee. (Acts 2:7)

APPEAL TO UNDER-DOG

Christianity has always had a special appeal for socially-disinherited people. A slave might be a nobody in the eyes of the world, but Christianity told him that in the eyes of God, he was as important as his master. He, too, was a person for whom Christ died. Paul could describe the churches of his day by saying, "Not many of you were wise according to worldly standards, not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth." (I Cor. 1:26 RSV) People who enjoyed worldly prestige and power were not apt to be attracted by a small, revolutionary movement.

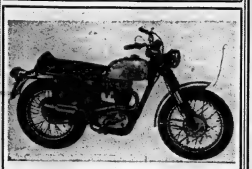
The Uniform Sunday School lesson for April 16: "Peter's Sermon at Pentecost," Acts 2:14-47.

The church soon tended to forget this appeal, and to cater to the cultured and wealthy. (James 2:1-4) Of course, these people also need to be freed from sin and doubt, but the church is at its best when it reflects its Master's concern for the outcast and the unloved; the ones who compared to the "publicans and sinners" of Jesus' day.

What triggered such a faith? Jesus' crucifition and resurrection. Wicked men had hung Jesus on a cross, but in the light of the resurrection, Jesus' followers were convinced that even the cross was a part of the "definite plan and foreknowledge of God." (Acts 2:23 RSV) God permitted, even wanted the cross to happen so He could glorify such out-poured love in the resurrection. David, said Peter, had predicted that such an event as the resurrection would happen. (Psalm 16:10) He could not have been predicting this for himself since his tomb is made evidence of his continuing death. (Acts 2:29) But death could not hold such a person as Jesus. God had raised Him up to be their divine Leader. (Acts 2:24)

Peter later pricked the consciences of his hearers by telling them their sins had killed the "Prince of life." (Acts 3:15 KJV) In Peter's day, and in the England of the King James' translation, a prince was a person of prestige and power. In our day, princes have lost much of their former glory. This phrase does not strike the modern ear with such force.

Recognizing this, Dr. James Moffatt translates this phrase, "the Pioneer of Life." This immediately catches a modern man's attention. Pioneers lead out. They blaze new trails. They do not wait until it's safe to try. They go on ahead, and beckon others to follow.



This is what gave Peter his courage. Jesus had gone on ahead. With unquestioning faith in God, He had faced even the cross. He had gone through death to new life. The power of this same spiritual resurrection could only mean that Jesus' Spirit was still with them. They were convinced that, like Jesus, they, too, would march through death to victory.

Peter spoke with such conviction, that great numbers were persuaded. Theirs to a coward turned fearless, the Christian church was on its way.

'Meals on Wheels' Godsend to Couple

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire is filled with illness. But the casual visitor would probably fail to notice this. A piano and television set in the living room suggest normal activity.

However, ironically across from the piano there is a grim reminder for Mr. McGuire of his three heart attacks. Jo that side of the room is a special bed that disallows hir sleeping flat. This guards against a build-up of fluid in the heart.

Mrs. McGuire is a diabetic and has multiple sclerosis. She has been in and out of hospital many times.

Still things are not as grim as they could be. The McGuires are assisted by housekeepers and "wonderful neighbors" and by the United Community Services' Meals on Wheels.

This service provides people who have difficulty getting meals with a full course dinner for only 50c. The meal is driven right to the door. This service began last November.

"It's a grand thing for us," says Mrs. McGuire. "They deliver meals that are piping hot, nicely cooked and nicely served."

"They offer to shop for you, to check on you, to write letters for you."

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire are on two separate diets. Meals on wheels delivers the proper foods that are essential to their diets.

"We look forward to Wednesdays. Everyday is different, a surprise," adds Mr. McGuire.

Mrs. McGuire used to worry about fixing her own meals. Now it is done for her od brought to the door.

Meals on wheels has actually kept their home together. Physicians were hesitant about sending them home to fend for themselves where there wouldn't be any assistance. The delivery of meals has provided some of this help.

Mrs. McGuire summarizes meals on wheels. "It's a Godsend."

Papers Said Distorting War

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's news media is giving a "distorted and misrepresented" picture of the war in Vietnam, Bud Sherman, Progressive Conservative MP for Winnipeg South, said Thursday.

Mr. Sherman, former news director of a Winnipeg television station, told a group of students at Viscount Massey collegiate that Canada's news media have played up the Communist side of the war and tended to turn public opinion against the United States.

A Dream Come True

The South Saskatchewan River dam, a dream of the dust-scourged prairie farmers in the 1930s, will come true when Prime Minister Pearson opens the Gardiner Dam, Canada's largest rolled-earth reservoir, on July 21. This artist's conception shows how the dam and its network of irrigation canals and bypasses will look when completed. Cost is estimated at $200,000,000. (CP Photo)

Michener Visits Queen

LONDON (CP)—The genial visitor with the curly grey hair, the cheroot and the quizzical eye was asked, in effect, whether the job of governor-general has a future in Canada.

"I certainly enter upon my my duties with that expectation" was the reply of Daniel Roland Michener, who will become Governor-General in Ottawa Monday, three days before his 67th birthday.

Michener gave a news conference at Claridge's after arriving with his wife from India and before they went to Windsor to be overnight guests of the Queen.

The Micheners fly to Canada today.

Unruffled by questions about republicanism in Canada and the idea of a United States takeover, Michener said he stopped in London on his journey from India because:

"I wanted to pay my respects to Her Majesty and also to enquire into the proper fashioment of a governor-general."

Michener told questioners he would not have accepted the viceregal position if he expected the establishment of a republic in Canada.

Relations between the people of Canada and the monarchy go extremely deep and a Governor-General "who does his job faithfully" can assist in developing a feeling of continuity.

"My objective will be two visits a year throughout the breadth of Canada," said Michener, although admitting it might be too ambitious a program.

When Michener was asked about his favorite sports, he said that as high commissioner in India he sometimes played tennis at 110 degrees and he will continue the game now "notwithstanding my august position."

Questioned about the "habiliment" he was looking into Michener said there is, indeed, a special uniform for governors-general—although he will not be wearing it at the Monday ceremony.

"I'm told I also should have a coat of arms," he said later.

Michener rejected a reporter's suggestion that talk of a republic has usually been attributed to Quebec province in the past but now was spreading across Canada.

It was a mistake to believe that the French "national resurgence of renaissance" in Canada threatened the continuity of the country.

Asked about the chances of the United States "adding another star to its flag," Michener said he knows of no annexation hopes by the Americans and, as far as Canadians were concerned, "we don't want to change the contours of their flag."

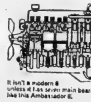
American Motors has the "out" you've been looking for.

Ambassador by American Motors is the one standard-size car that's built to last longer than the payments. A lot longer. When you own an Ambassador, the most common reasons for trading every couple of years just don't seem to materialize. Reasons like rattles, rust, leaks, muffler rot and mechanical temperament. But let's go into detail.

Those rattles, squeaks and "things that go bump in the night," never seem to happen with Ambassador. Its body is a single, solid, silver-sleek unit, Single-Unit Construction. We believe Single-Unit Construction is the strongest, safest and most durable way to build a car. Jaguar, Rolls Royce and Mercedes-Benz think so, too.



Single-Unit Construction also contributes to Ambassador's weathertight snugness. The door frames part of the welded body and precision tooled to guarantee a tight fit. Then, double door seals are installed to keep in the wind and weatherproofing of any other car on the market. On hardtop and convertible models, the windows have a broad, protective metal edge that seals out road noise, wind and weather.

Next, rust; and how we beat it. American Motors is the only car manufacturer that dunks cars in special rustproofing solutions right to the roofline. And we do it seven times. We call this Deep-Dip rustproofing. Mechanical attention with alarming regularity. Not Ambassador. Ambassador engines are the newest, most modern in the industry. They're designed and engineered for ruggedness. Ambassador's modern 6's have a seven main bearing crankshaft. Result: a smoother, quieter engine that works harder, cause every nook, every cranny of the entire body gets the treatment. Most manufacturers spray their cars. It's a lot less effective and it's also a lot less expensive. We spend more to rustproof Ambassador, but we don't ask you to pay more for it. Another great feature we'll mention right now, is the acrylic enamel paint that covers the rustproofing. It stays bright and shining—resists fading for years.

How long did your last muffler last?

One of the biggest problems your car will face is muffler and exhaust system rot brought on by a couple of slushy, rainy, snowy, salty Canadian winters. For defence, we give Ambassador ceramic-armoured muffler and exhaust system. It guards against corrosion more effectively than anything used by any other car manufacturer. Another sure sign of trade-in time is mechanical temperament. After a couple of years, many cars need longer. But the 6's aren't alone in new improvements—Ambassador's V-8's have new and larger bearings. As large as 3 inches in diameter. This guarantees a pretty rugged crankshaft! A very rugged engine! And along with all this dependability comes top performance. Choose one of 2 spirited 6's or 3 V-8's . . . the power range goes all the way to a 4-barrel 343 V-8.

It isn't a modern 8 unless it has seven main bearings, like this Ambassador 8.

Top off everything we've just said with Ambassador's 5 year, 50,000 mile/2 year, 24,000 mile warranty and you're set for years of trouble-free driving.

American Motors (Canada) Limited warrants the engine, transmission and rear axle assembly against defects in material and workmanship for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The warranty shall change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first. The warranty shall change the rear axle lubricant and clean the magnetic drain plug every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles and further warrants the rear axle assembly for 2 years or 24,000 miles. Dealer must be authorized American Motors dealer and the car's mileage recorded at the time of purchase. Further, American Motors (Canada) Limited warrants the remainder of the car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first. This is the American Motors Owner Protection Plan and is effective only as described and explained in accompanying literature. Some parts of the Warranty will not apply in certain provinces. Consult your American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for proper maintenance, minor adjustments and normal maintenance.

One more good thing to think about . . . When you finally do trade your Ambassador (and we're sure it'll be for another one), it will be because you want to, not because you have to. And you'll have a trade-in that's really worth something.

Visit an American Motors/Rambler dealer and talk it over with one of his salesmen.

He's on your side.

Two Face Perjury Charges

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A harness racing driver and trainer has been indicted for perjury for failure to explain $14,000 worth of his personal cheques cashed by members of the family of a convicted bookmaker, it was disclosed Thursday.

The indictment against Robert A. Shottleworth, booked on the Nassau County grand jury, was announced by Nassau District Attorney William Cahn.

The new indictment names several harness track figures involved in previous indictments, including a top winning driver, William D. (Buddy) Gilmour Jr., a native of Lorne, Ont.

NEW EXPERIMENTAL CAR HAS ELEVATOR SEATS — Chevrolet's newest idea car — Astro I — is termed a "new look in passenger packaging." The aerodynamic two-passenger coupe measures only 35.5 inches high (bottom picture) when closed. However, it has an electric swing-back roof and rear section that combines with power elevator seats that allow passengers to step upright into the car. Here, (top picture) Lynn Ross shows the closing sequence of the Astro I. Crimson-flame in color with a black interior, the rear engine powered show car has a variety of special styling, safety and convenience features. It is slightly longer and wider than a Corvette but 30 per cent lower.

Walter Matthau, Oscar Winner Is Accustomed to Calamity

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walter Matthau, who won the Oscar playing a loud, abusive shyster in The Fortune Cookie, sat quietly sipping his scotch at the academy ball.

He was a burt man. Every time a well-wisher patted him on the back, he winced in pain. Bruises were on his face, his chin was bandaged and his left arm dangled helplessly. His wife fed him bites of the chicken supper.

He had fallen from a bicycle two nights before.

Matthau is accustomed to calamity. In the midst of shooting The Fortune Cookie he suffered a heart attack. That suspended filming for months. When he returned, he was pounds lighter and perceptibly more mellow.

"Some of the fight has gone out of me with age," he admitted. "But I was plenty tough when I was younger.

"Did you know that I once beat up on Rocky Graziano? He was 11 at the time, and I was 10. He picked a fight with me and I licked him. The next day he sent his gang around to beat me up. No, I don't think he sent them: I think they just did it as a favor to Rocky."

Matthau continued his battles on the streets of New York City, then in the air force, and finally in the jungles of Broadway and Hollywood. He was generally cast as the bawling, rude extrovert, and some said he continued the role in his own life.

His professional life started to change two years ago. His castmate on the sloh of a sports writer in The Odd Couple on Broadway finally made producers see him as starring material. Billy Wilder wrote The Fortune Cookie for him. Matthau's new shyster role permitted him to outshine Jack Lemmon, just as he had bested Art Carney in The Odd Couple.

Was his part in The Fortune Cookie actually a supporting role?

"Not really," Matthau conceded.

"It was a starring role. But the nominating committee apparently put me in the supporting category because they figured I wouldn't have a chance in the star class and they figured me to win. I can't argue with that kind of reasoning."

Conservative United Front Is Camp's Aim

OTTAWA (CP) — Dalton Camp said Thursday he hopes to form a united front of conservative political forces at the national level, including alignment with Social Credit supporters.

The national president of the Progressive Conservative party confirmed in an interview that he extended a feeler for such an alignment in an address here Wednesday.

His remarks on the subject received relatively little attention from reporters seeking a clear picture on whether Mr. Camp will be a candidate next September for the leadership of his party. That question remained unanswered, although Mr. Camp left the door open for a later declaration of his candidacy.

Leukoplakia Should Not Be Ignored

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you write about leukoplakia and how it can be treated.—Mrs. B.P.

Leukoplakia is a sort of pearl colored thickening of a mucous membrane. We usually think of it in connection with the mouth, lip or tongue although, of course, it can occur on other similar membranes.

In itself, it doesn't as a rule cause any great problem. The great danger is that it can begin to change in cell structure, first becoming pre-cancerous and finally cancerous.

That is why we urge people to have their doctors (or dentists) keep watch so the spot can be removed if they begin to look threatening. There isn't any method of do-it-yourself removal.

People can, earlier than that stage, often do something to help the situation if they will just keep in mind one primary fact: leukoplakia is usually caused by irritation of the membrane.

It is common in smokers, whether they use cigars, pipes or cigarettes, although the location of the leukoplakia may vary somewhat. The heat of the smoke is regarded as the principal irritant, although pipe smokers sometimes develop such spots on the lip, perhaps a combination of friction from the pipe stem, the heat and possibly chemical irritation from tobacco.

A broken or jagged tooth can also cause leukoplakia, and folks have been warned about this often enough too: Have such a spot inspected periodically.

Whatever the cause, the first step is to remove the irritation. If it is a rough tooth, have it fixed. If the patient smokes — well, stop!

Large doses of vitamin A (10,000 to 25,000 units a day for a limited time) may help. Don't let leukoplakia give you a phobia, but don't ignore it, either. Tell your doctor and let him decide what needs to be done, and when.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: So often I see par-ets shaking pepper all over their small children's food. I was taught to use it sparingly. What is your opinion on this?—Mrs. H. P.

Some folks tolerate spices very well. Others, especially those with ulcers or other ailments making the stomach sensitive, have to avoid seasoning or take the consequences.

My thought, therefore, is that youngsters should not be brought up thinking that food has to be highly seasoned.

Spices, at times, to see some of them heavy users of salt and pepper complain about stomach irritation and reach for the bicarbonate instead of omitting the condiments. But, you see, they've been brought up to think that food doesn't taste right unless it is overspiced.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My wife has nine plants in our bedrooms, winter storage you know. I have been trying to convince her that plants are all right in the daytime but not at night, due to my belief that they expel carbon dioxide. Perhaps your answer will help me convince her. — L. M.

I doubt if it will, because there isn't enough carbon dioxide to make any difference. If plants produced it in dangerous amounts, think how hard it would be to breathe in a forest. But it isn't. Hospitals no longer require plants to be removed from the rooms at night.

* * *

Note to Mrs. V. M.: I think the best answer to your questions on sex would be found in a "Private and Personal," a book by Grace Naismith. The publisher is McKay.

Labor Suffers Bitter Rebuff In British Coun cil Elections

LONDON (CP) — The Labor party has suffered a bitter rebuff from local council elections, losing control of the London County government after 28 years of rule.

And the Opposition Conservatives were riding high in other county elections all across England and Wales as the British electorate showed a marked swing to the right.

The local setbacks had no effect on Prime Minister Wilson's large majority in the House of Commons. But observers were general agreement the landslide in the capital and anti-labor vote elsewhere resulted from discontent with Wilson's policies, particularly the wage freeze and credit squeeze to protect the pound sterling.

Conservative majorities were registered in Lancashire, Warwickshire and Cheshire. Even Wilson's own constituency of Huyton turned Tory in the Lancashire upset.

Conservatives were expected to wind up with about 80 of the 100 Greater London Council seats when vote - counting is completed today in Thursday's polls.

With 23 results still out in six districts, the Tories had won 58 of the 100 seats on the GLC which administers the capital of 9,000,000 people. Labor's total was down to 18, and poll experts predicted it would remain there.

In the last London election three years ago Labor won 64 seats to 36 for the Conservatives.

National issues were the prime influence on the triennial elections in Greater London and 58 counties.

Victorious Tories—jubilant as the first major swing their way since Conservative fortunes began to sag five years ago—proclaimed the result of a resounding vote of no confidence in the Wilson government.

The magnitude of the Conservative sweep in London was far greater than any shift foreseen by the most hopeful Tory.

Foreign Secretary George Brown, a veteran of the Labor administration, was near tears as the results came in Thursday.

"London has done itself badly. It has hurt itself," he told reporters. "I speak as a Cockney who loves the place. We will live to win again, but this is a sad night."

Even Labor losers agreed the government's stringent economic program, with its hold-down on wages, was probably the decisive factor.

"The average person is confused," said Sir William Pile, outgoing chairman of the London council, who was defeated in suburban Havering. "The voter does not understand why rents and some prices are rising while his income is frozen."

Outside the capital the Tories won control of four more counties in results declared during the night, making a total of nine county councils won.

The London and county results reinforce evidence of disenchantment, with Labor provided in three by-elections five weeks ago. Labor lost one seat and had reduced majorities in two others.

In London, the Conservatives not only rolled up Tory - leaning and marginally - labor suburban boroughs, but made devastating inroads into Labor's former London citadel.

The central nucleus—the former London County—had voted consistently Labor under the old London County council since 1934.

Capturing support in central London boroughs such as Camden and Hammersmith means the Conservatives gain control of the Inner London Education Authority in the midst of a bitter debate over the reorganization of secondary schooling.

For April 15

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Steer clear of public disputes. One who engages in friendly debate tonight . . . turns sour. Means hold off . . . be patient. Don't fool yourself regarding people who seem gullible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Not wise to mix business with pleasure. One who insists on shop talk may have ulterior motive. Be charming but firm. Communication delayed from relative. Respond promptly.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 21): Romantic conflict could occur. Spark of interest might turn into controversy. Keep tight hold on emotional reins. Lessons learned today that are of future value.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Cycle moves up. Social contact tonight could aid career. Cooperate in community projects. Express views. Persona l ity sparkles. Let others see, hear you. Come out of shell.

LEO (July 23—Aug. 22): Hold back some information — be discreet. You may want to be frank . . . but others appear supersensitive. Do more listening than talking. Fine for attending theatre, party.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Have a good time tonight without going to extremes. Money seems to burn hole in your pocket under present cycle. Good news received con cerning friends, aspirations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): If you don't know what to do . . . do nothing. Important not to permit temporary frustration to cloud judgment. Take time to iron out details. You're coming out ahead!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Be ready for surprises, changes. Have facts at hand. You can impress with sincerity, knowledge. Money question due to be favorably resolved. Accent now on balance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Individual who leaned on you in past may make genuine effort to pay back. Stress integrity. Be receptive. Express affection, encourage those who help themselves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Work to achieve understanding of basic goal. Include one close to you in serious discussion. Later you can relax, step out. But first clear away debris of confusion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Significant communication is accented. Analyze indications to find reason why. Reject superficial explanations. If thorough, you make progress. Respond accordingly.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Hope to finish, complete projects. Individual out of step will make reappearance. You could get result for investment if alert. Stress originality. Strive for true meanings.

If today is your birthday . . . you possess an abundance of charm . . . are capable of teaching, of helping others find their niche. You would also make fine interior decorating, artist.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Cancer, Leo. Special word to Aries: If patient you achieve desire.

Police Unions Hamper Reform

MONTREAL (CP)—Trade union organizations within police forces can hinder application of reforms aimed at improving law enforcement services, Director Jean-Paul Gilbert of the Montreal police told the Quebec royal inquiry commission on the administration of justice Thursday.

Earlier, Yvon Desloges, Montreal district registrar of bankruptcies, said shady deals had allowed fraudulent bankruptcies to go unpunished for years in Quebec.

Police union officials might have to bow to pressures exerted by membership and oppose reform steps which, if put into effect, would demand a personal effort on behalf of union members, Director Gilbert said.

He also produced statistics revealing that because of the modern emphasis on education the best-educated members of the Montreal police force tended to be younger men—the 2,788 constables.

Director Gilbert said high command posts on the force within two years will be open only to men with the equivalent of a half-year of university education.

Meanwhile, Jean B r u n e a u, chief Crown prosecutor for the Montreal district, denied an earlier statement by Director Gilbert before the commission that the police were unable to bring 18 specific cases involving fraudulent bankruptcies before the courts because they had been unable to find a Crown prosecutor to handle them.

Mr. Bruneau said that the Quebec department of justice usually does not assign such cases to prosecutors until criminal charges are laid by police.

Threat Made to Cut Off Unification Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has threatened—formally—to apply the so-called guillotine rule to cut off the Commons debate on armed forces unification.

George Hees, a candidate for the Conservative leadership, promptly warned the Liberals that they may be creating a "great issue" for the next election—as they had in 1956 by applying closure in the pipeline debate.

Works Minister McIlraith, government House leader, Thursday invoked at the start of the ninth day of debate on unification a new rule aimed at obtaining all-party agreement for a time limit on the debate.

The Conservatives gave every indication they will not agree to any such limit.

A committee representing the five parties in the Commons must report by Tuesday whether agreement has been reached.

If there is none, the government would be permitted under the "guillotine" rule—a new one under test during the current session—to fix a date for ending the debate. This could force the unification bill to a vote by April 25 at the earliest.

The government's action caught the opposition parties by surprise. Less than two hours before notice was given of recourse to the guillotine, the House leaders had met to discuss the unification debate.

Stanley Knowles, New Democratic whip, said Mr. McIlraith gave no indication then that the government would apply the guillotine.

Later, the House leaders met for the first of the negotiating sessions required under the rule but agreed to postpone discussion until Friday because of the shortness of the notice of the meeting.

Mr. Hees, MP for Northumberland, said that if Defence Minister Hellyer is going to kick the armed forces around like his own football, the Liberals will get the same treatment at the polls as they did in 1957, when they edged the pipeline debate.

The Conservatives won the 1957 election by a whisker and in 1958 went on to win the biggest parliamentary majority in Canadian history.

The former trade minister said the government has misjudged the Canadian mood just as it had during the 1956 pipeline debate.

The Liberals were again calling on the opposition to "get on with the business of the House" and preparing to force a decision in the face of their disastrous 1956 experience in applying closure.

High John Fleming (PC—Victoria-Carleton) said unification would discourage recruiting and deprive young persons of a choice whether to serve in the navy, army or air force.

Lawrence Watson (PC—Assiniboia), a prairie farmer, said: "If I thought I'd end up on the water, you'd never get me in the services."

RCAF Jet Bomber Force Has Big Punch

OTTAWA (CP) — The number of RCAF nuclear jet bomber squadrons in West Germany has been reduced to four from six, informed sources say.

Despite the reduction, this bomber force packs an enormous nuclear punch—just how enormous was disclosed only this week by Defence Minister Hellyer.

"The RCAF now has available to it in Europe an explosive power comparable to several thousand times that used at Hiroshima," he told the Commons.

The single atomic bomb dropped on the Japanese city in 1945 was about 50 kilotons, the equivalent of 50,000 tons of TNT.

A multiplication of this by only 2,000, the smallest factor under Mr. Hellyers rule-of-thumb of "several thousand times, gives the size of the RCAF nuclear dumps as 100,000,000 tons of TNT.

In other words, each RCAF CF-104 Starfighter bomber in Europe can carry a nuclear bomb of about one megaton, the equivalent of 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

In the second World War, it would have required 100,000 bombers to carry 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

The six bomber squadrons in Europe are comprised 18 Starfighters each, or a total of 108 planes. The four remaining squadrons, based at Baden-Soellingen and Zweibruecken in southwest Germany, will complete some 92 bombers, sources indicated Thursday.

The American nuclear warheads on the Canadian bases in Europe are in the custody of U.S. military personnel.

The Starfighters are of comparatively short range—600 to 600 miles—and are not intended to reach targets in Russia. Their targets would be railway yards, missile sites and the like in Eastern Europe.

There are two other RCAF CF-104 squadrons in Europe. They now are based at Lahr, West Germany, after being evicted from France, but are intended primarily for photo-reconnaissance. They carry conventional weapons only.

Mr. Hellyer told the Commons Tuesday that Canada should never have taken on the nuclear bombing role in Europe because NATO already had a sufficient number of nuclear weapons at its command in that theatre.

In July, 1963, when the government was negotiating with the U.S. for acquisition of nuclear arms, Mr. Hellyer told the Commons defence committee that NATO's military leaders believed there was a shortage of tactical nuclear weapons.

His statement Tuesday indicated he now believes that the NATO military leaders were wrong in their 1963 assessment.

Five Life Memberships Given at Vimy Dinner

The Vimy Dinner at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall Monday evening April 10th was an outstanding success, and was attended by 133 world wars 1 and 2 and Korea Veterans, who gathered to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the famous battle of Vimy, when the Canadian Corps made history for Canada. Approximately 80 of the first world war veterans were included in the grand total. Many of these boys served at Vimy in the attack.

An outstanding event in the history of Branch 39 was the special presentation of five life memberships to the following comrades, Frank Grandame, Joe Giroux, Charlie Marriott and Ed. Smith. Comrade Bill Bailey of George Street could not be present owing to ill health. Comrade Jack Rashotte, Zone Commander F-3 assisted by Comrade Dick Kirby, immediate past president made the presentation.

Comrade Everett Liddle, Vimy banquet chairman, presided at the head table for the very fine program that was carried out. The Sergeant-at-Arms Comrade George Carbery, marched on the 1st World War Veterans from the lower floor and a guard of honor composed of members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in very colorful uniforms led the Veterans to the dining area and were followed by the head table guests consisting of 28 local citizens and legion members.

The ceremonies opened with the marching on of the colors under the direction of the Sergt.-at-Arms and two assistants Comrades, Ross Jamieson and Bill Shepherd and escorted by the guard of honor. Comrade Bruce Humphreys Branch Chaplain gave the invocation and was followed by the Toast to the Queen and the singing of the National Anthem "God Save The Queen". Comrade Ken Edgecombe Branch President gave the welcome to the assembled veterans and guests.

At this time Comrade Tom Purdey was called upon to propose the toast to the Veterans of the 1st world war. This toast was responded to by Comrade Art S. Hobbs, in a very capable manner.

Comrade Roy Madden proposed the Silent Toast to our fallen comrades with special mention of those who paid the supreme sacrifice at Vimy. The lights being turned out with the exception of two candles burning on a specially prepared table to represent the valiant dead and at this time all were requested to stand at attention and observe the two minute silence. Garry Chaplin at this time sounded the "Last Post" and "Reveille". Between the last post and the reveille Everett Liddle recited The Lines of Remembrance.

Comrade Lt.-Col. Everett S. Fairman introduced the guest speaker, Air Commodore Hull D.F.C. and Croix de Guerre officer commanding Air Transport Command, Canadian Forces Base, Trenton. The Air Commodore's topic was on the Transport Command activities in Canada and throughout the world.

Senator George S. White of the Canadian Senate and a member of the Legion of Madoc Branch was one of the veterans from Madoc area attending the banquet. Mayor Jack Ellis, honorary member of Branch 39 spoke briefly.

The entertainment chairman, Comrade Frank Bauer introduced the entertainers at this time, Gary Chaplin, trumpeter and Comrade Harold McNish his accompanist.

The thanks of the branch to the Ladies' Auxiliary, who did a very fine job catering for this event were extended by Comrade Bill Michaud and replied to by Dorothy Rashotte, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Peace Marchers Invade New York and Frisco

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of peace marchers jammed into United Nations Plaza today to hear Dr. Martin Luther King call on the United States to "honor its word" and "stop the bombing" of North Vietnam.

"What's more important, peace or the washroom?"

"I would like to urge students from colleges all over the nation to use this summer and coming summers educating and organizing communities across the nation against war," the Nobel Peace Prize winner told one of two mammoth anti-war rallies in the U.S.

In San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations and site of the second rally, thousands of persons from Pacific Coast states gathered to hear King's wife, Julian Bond, Negro Georgia legislator.

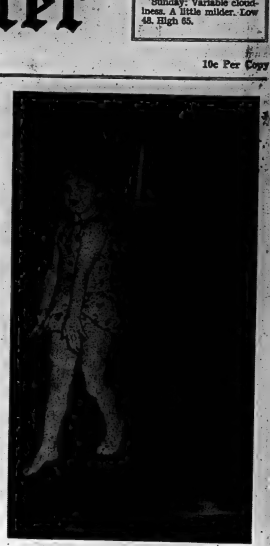
King made his remarks in a speech prepared for what could be the largest U.S. protest against the Vietnam war.

Up to a 500,000 persons were expected and police called in riot experts to prepare for scheduled mass draft card burnings and speeches.

"Distinguished statesmen the world over believe the end of bombings to be the key to peace," King said. "A large minority of Americans want the bombings terminated. I firmly believe that if it were clear to all Americans that this is a practical move to peace, 90 per cent of the nation would enthusiastically endorse it."

King, who 11 days ago called for more conscientious objectors and stepped-up demonstrations against the war, noted that "on Dec. 19, Washington officially asked UN Secretary-General U Thant to take whatever steps were necessary for a ceasefire."

"U Thant responded, 'Stop the bombing'.



"Why have we not yet done it? . . . Let us demand insistently that our government honor its word. If Washington did not hear U Thant, let us say it loudly and often enough so that the deaf can hear it—stop the bombing." He repeated the last phrase again and again.

King charged that Nguyen Cao Ky, supported by the United States as South Vietnamese premier, "acknowledges Hitler as his hero-figure," and "was a mercenary of the French against the Algerians."

"By entering a war that is little more than a domestic civil war," he said, "America has ended up supporting a new form of colonialism covered up by certain niceties of complexity."

He does not believe, he said, that the U.S. "cannot support both war and adequate anti-poverty programs," but feels that "men of power who never wanted to struggle for civil rights . . . will use the burden of war to scuttle constructive social programs."

"We are arrogant," King said, "in our contention that we have some sacred mission to protect people from totalitarian rule while we make little use of our power to end the evils of South Africa and Rhodesia."

Chipmunks Back Again

WINNIPEG (CP) — The RCAF is dropping its all-jet training program for pilots. Once again, initial flying instruction is being given in the propeller-driven trainer.

Under a program begun in 1964, pilot candidates began their flying in the Tutor jet trainer and then went on to the T-33 jet.

But Group Capt. G. R. M. Hunt, deputy chief of staff for training command, said Friday that the Chipmunk is being brought out of semi-retirement in a bid to increase the number of graduate pilots.

He said "we just can't turn out pilots fast enough with our present number of Tutor jets."

AIR VICE-MARSHAL A. CHESTER HULL

Transport Command CO Now Air Vice-marshal

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Commodore A. Chester Hull, 47, who has been in uniform since he was 13, has been promoted to air vice-marshal.

The new air vice - marshal heads the RCAF's air transport command at Trenton, Ont.

Another promotion also effective today will make Group Capt. Howard A. Morrison, 47, chief of staff for operations in air transport command, an air commodore.

Air Vice-Marshal Hull, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, served in the militia with the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa from 1932 to 1936 while going to high school.

An honor graduate of Royal Military College, Kingston, he joined the RCAF in 1939 and from the DFC and Croix de Guerre during the Second World War.

His postwar service has included senior posts in Clinton, Ont., and headquarters at Ottawa.

Air Commodore Morrison, educated at Lasalle, Man., Brandon and Winnipeg, joined the RCAF in 1940 and saw action with the famous 405 Fatfighter Squadron. He was awarded the DSO and DFC.

Jack-of-all-trades Objective Is Denied

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—Air Marshal F. R. Sharp, vice-chief of Canadian defence staff, Friday took issue with critics of armed forces unification who say the navy and air force are going to disappear.

The air marshal made his comments in an address to aerospace graduates at the Canadian forces base here.

He told the navy and air force graduates the desire for improved capability as a peacekeeping, peace - restoring service "doesn't mean that we will drop our present roles or that only the army is useful in a peacekeeping role."

He also denied that it was the intention "to create jacks-of-all-trades of our servicemen."

Montreal Tries To Curb Thieves

MONTREAL (CP) — Guy Beaudet, manager of the Port of Montreal, said Friday measures announced earlier in the day to curb thievery and control traffic in his port are only the beginning of a series of planned reforms.

The gruff port manager said it is impossible to determine the cost of pilfering by the claims of importers since handling damages are included along with theft losses in such claims. Eighty per cent of companies insuring cargos were based outside Canada, making calculation of their payments almost impossible.

The only figure on pilfering given at the press conference came from a harbor police official who said 300 arrests were made for thievery in the port in 1966.

Earlier Friday acting transport minister John Turner announced in Ottawa that the number of entrances to the harbor are to be restricted, and that documentation changes and a new system of truck marshalling will be implemented to increase control in the harbor.

The port manager said these reforms, plus preparation of a truck marshalling yard to which all trucks would have to report would cost about $100,000 — a price which would be charged mainly against the shipping companies.

Cheese Subsidy To Be Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Dairy Commission will deduct 11 cents for export equalization from its 1967 - 68 subsidy of $1.21 a hundredweight for manufactured milk, it was announced Friday.

The commission also announced an unchanged price of 38 cents a pound for Canada first grade cheddar cheese in carlots delivered to designated points.

A spokesman said, however, that an export subsidy on cheese is increasing 2½ cents a pound to 4½ cents, meaning an effective price of 44½ cents.

Details of the price stabilization and subsidy program for the year beginning April 1 were outlined in a press release. Main points were announced early this month.

The 1966-67 subsidy rate for manufactured milk was 41 cents, with a 10-cent deduction for the export equalization fund.

Robber Runs Out Of Wind

TORONTO (CP) — A sprint around a downtown city block was too much for a bank robbery suspect Friday afternoon.

At the end of the race, with two bank clerks and a customer in hot pursuit, a man sat gasping on the front steps of a furniture store and, docile, handed over to his pursuers $2,000 from the Bank of Montreal branch at Queen and Yonge streets.

"I can't talk. I've been running," he said.

The man walked into the bank just before closing time and handed the first teller a note saying: "Give me all your bills. I'm well armed."

He stuffed the money into his coat pockets and fled.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—"I've read about things like this, but you have to see it to believe it," said a doctor who rushed to the aid of some 60 Oceana View elementary school students who succumbed to fainting spells Friday.

Crime Syndicates May Be Involved In Business Frauds

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Police Commission says it has found that international crime syndicates have criminal contacts in Ontario and may be involved in stock frauds and corporate thefts.

The commission says in its annual report tabled in the legislature Friday that its knowledge of this subject is "far from complete."

The report says there is evidence that persons connected with criminal groups in Canada and elsewhere have "substantial financial interests in certain legitimate businesses in Ontario."

Knowledge gained by the commission during 1966 shows organized crime is interested in bankruptcies, arson, stock frauds, counterfeiting, narcotics, prostitution, the protection and extortion rackets and the distribution of pornographic material.

Labor Relations in Shipping Industry Are 'Almost Chaotic'

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor relations in the Canadian shipping industry remain in a "fragmented, almost chaotic state," the government's maritime union trustees warned Friday in their annual report to Parliament.

They said that unless shipping companies and their five unions take some solid steps toward a better relationship, the federal government may one day have to step in again with "far more radical surgery."

The unions were placed under trusteeship in the fall of 1963 after a federal inquiry into labor violence prompted drastic government action to clean up the situation. The inquiry blamed the violence on the Seafarers International Union of Canada.

The three - man trusteeship was originally due to expire last Dec. 31 but it was extended a year by cabinet order. Labor Minister Nicholson said at the time that the trustees had not yet accomplished all their aims.

Friday's 13,000 - word report reviewed the history of labor-management conflict in the industry and appealed to both sides to adopt those recommendations:

—Formation of a single bargaining association of employers, ending "the unfortunate degree of disunity" among them. The companies were accused of trying to exploit the division to obtain a competitive advantage.

—Closer affiliation of the unions, "a logical necessity." There still was too much unnecessary rivalry.

—Readmittance of the SIU into the Canadian Labor Congress, providing machinery to settle inter-union strife and eventual merger of the rival groups.

—Establishment of a government - labor - management committee "that can act as a catalyst to expedite the progress of joint plans.

—Joint control by labor and management of the seamen's hiring halls, now run solely by the SIU. The report implied criticism of the $340 fee demanded by the SIU for job preference.

All of these recommendations were repeated from last year's report, but in stronger terms.

The trustees also dealt with two matters that form the core of a current contract dispute between the SIU and the shipping companies. These are adoption of the 40-hour work week in place of the seven-day 56-hour week and a manning scale for vessels.

They agreed with the main stands on both sides: The union's insistence that seamen cannot be denied the 40 - hour week provided by federal law, and the companies' complaint that rigid adoption of the 40-hour week would price them out of business.

But the report offers no solution to the deadlock. It recommends only that the parties work out an acceptable formula.

Prince Edward Reassessment To Provide Realistic Values

The most recent county assessment rolls place the total value of Prince Edward County's real estate at $25,473,000.

But this is not a true figure because the policy of the assessment department, with few exceptions, has set the value of land at token amounts.

Now assessment commissioner Sydney Manley with five assistant assessors expects to bring the county's actual worth in proper perspective by 1969 for 1970 tax notices. The Assessor's Handbook of Cost Factors as revised to January 1967 is being employed. It calls for assessment to be determined by using a 100 per cent denominator for both land and buildings.

And unless something unforeseen happens, according to commissioner Manley, the final figures based on today's prices will provide "perhaps four times the current total."

While he made no firm prediction he did say results so far attained in the reassessment of Ameliasburg township and some places requiring special attention elsewhere in the county, prompted his belief.

From his vantage point he said: "I wouldn't be surprised if the county assessment ran in excess of $100 million dollars by the time assignments have been completed in the town of Picton, villages of Bloomfield and Wellington and the seven township."

At a time when any kind of inflated figures seems to distorted taxpayer in general, Prince Edward County assessment experts maintain increased county valuations will put an end to unfair situations and eventually eliminate appeals to the court of revision.

While those people who seek adjustment in their assessment usually have sound arguments the process is almost always unpleasant and seldom satisfying to the parties involved, it was pointed out. Under the provisions of the new manual, by 1969 wealthy residents, those with middle class incomes and the less fortunate would share the tax burden equally.

However, the practice of assessing land at 100 per cent of its worth is not going to affect the bona fide farmer too much. But exceptions to the rule will be applied in cases where farm property is located in designated residential areas where the price of land has been established by recent sales at rates in the subdividers market.

In this connection there are quite a few examples in the county particularly in Ameliasburg township along the 14 mile heavily populated strip between Carrying Place and Rossmore. One farm which changed hands at upwards of $20,000 will undoubtedly be used as a guide in any future assessment of relative properties.

On the other hand the property owner who moved into the county with the idea of enjoying the advantages of estate living, is going to have the value of his real estate determined to the full extent. "I believe he'll be happy when he sees the final figures," commissioner Manley explained.

Most property owners know what their place is worth, he said, pointing out he found those who considered their assessment too high invariably complained. "I'll be the first to entertain, their objection, and plead in their behalf if evidence for the purpose of preventing unfair and unequal assessment," he asserted.

Upgrading land values in the county from an assessment standpoint has much more than a singular aim. It means those people with large tracts of valuable land in choice residential locations in the county can look forward to shorter their rightful tax burden.

It also means the opportunities (holding property for more lucrative capital gain) will find taxes cutting into profits. In late years speculators took advantage of climbing land prices resulting from demands by an ever-increasing population and affluence in local society.

Normal spending on the part of municipal officials would have stood as ample as the tax load in many quarters by the time councils have the additional millions in assessment on which to raise money, one authority observes.

By then, speculates Mr. Manley, 30 mills will produce the same results in Ameliasburg as the $3.7 general rate generated last year.

By then also the township's total assessment will have passed the $10 million mark.

At the present time the county is assessing its concentrates efforts on the townships of Ameliasburg and Sophiasburg. Ameliasburg tackled first (apparently no sooner than was necessary) has already yielded an impressive $320,000 in new assessment. Residential development was the major contributor while a good percentage turned up when a number of inadequate assessments of long standing were re-examined. The extra assessment in this area are responsible for the 10 per cent reduction in 1968 taxes being enjoyed throughout Ameliasburg township this year.

When Mr. Manley assumed the role of commissioner in September 1965 he told county council bring him the proposed reassessment would involve three years at the most. But the plan had to be extended when records showed more revisions than anticipated were required.

Now in light of the recent change in assessment regulations, commissioner Manley proposes to first inform the taxpayers of Ameliasburg township by holding a series of meetings at public halls in Rossmore, Ameliasburg and Carrying Place. Subsequently, similar meetings will be arranged for the other places affected by reassessment.

The educational program to commence before 1967 assessment notices are mailed and in the fall will be conducted by the commissioner and his staff.

Briefing Prince Edward Assessors

Prince Edward County assessment Commissioner Sydney Manley explains to three of Prince Edward County's five assessors how the revised handbook works in re-assessment undertaking. Left to right are assessors W. K. Hemmings, D. O. Reynolds, R. I. Willans and Commissioner S. Manley.

Car Crashes Into Veranda At Trenton

Richard Gabbo, 23, of Coniston, Ont., escaped with a bruised hip early today when he crashed into a veranda in Trenton.

At 1.45 a.m. this morning he lost control of his car, mounted a curb, and struck a veranda at 79 Dundas St. East on Gilmour Hill.

His car was a write - off and $500 damage was done to the structure.

Costly to Hit Another Car

Nothing is supposed to stop the mail from going though, but when you run into another vehicle, you are supposed to stick around, the law says.

Raymond William Bonisteel of 276 Coleman St. didn't and was fined $75 and lost his licence for three months yesterday in city court.

Court was told that Bonisteel, who is under 21, was drinking. He got out of his truck, got back in and drove away. His employer ordered him to report to the police, but he didn't do so until the next day, February 16.

Defence lawyer Robert Temple wanted to know who owned the other car. He was told by Inspector R. W. Blatchford that William Argue, QC, did.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills said, "Knowing the party in the car, I can imagine him not getting the licence of the truck."

Suspend Sentence For 2 Years

Two Belleville youths were each given two years suspended sentence yesterday for stealing cars from Lightfoot Construction Co. W. T. Lightfoot, manager.

Police from Elliott Motors, plus 15 light bulbs from the agricultural building at the fair grounds. They are cousins.

One youth is going to work in Colborne and the other is going both with uncles, so the magistrate told them to advise the Belleville police when they leave his residence, but they did not have to report regularly.

Inspector Harold Reid told the court that an officer went to a home to investigate another complaint and the youths said they wanted to confess their misdemeanors. He said other than the gas missing from Hawkins, none of the other matters had been reported.

Employment News

By J. R. STAVELEY
Manpower Counsellor

After an initial slow start, the labor demand for additional workers increased during the past week. This trend, which is established by local employers listing their labor requirements with the Canada Manpower Centre, covered a fairly wide range of employment activities, but the greatest demands are in any one phase of economic activity.

A recent weekly report from the Tweed District Office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests advises that the extensive tree-planting program is scheduled to commence around May 1. The program calls for 1,500,000 trees to be planted, which will give a number of part - work for a three to four week period. The Canada Manpower Centre will be assisting in this labor requirement by an on-power counsellor will be interviewing prospective tree planters in Bancroft on April 19.

The following employment opportunities are now available at the Canada Manpower Centre:

In the female division locally, there is a position for an industrial cafeteria manager. The successful person must be a qualified cook with the ability to prepare menus and organize and supervise the staff. Urgently required are registered nurses and registered nursing assistants. There is a good opening for a practical nurse to look after an elderly lady. A capable housekeeper is needed to work for an adult family. This position calls for plain cooking, together with some housekeeping. Private living accommodation is supplied by the employer. Outdoor opportunities exist for a junior draftsman for engineering and mechanical design. The employer prefers someone with 4 to 5 years of experience. A travel service requires a ticket agent who will be responsible for arranging railway, airline and steamship travel. Typing ability is necessary in this case.

In the male division locally, experienced second farm hands either single or married, are required by local farmers. A young man possessing grade 12 education is required to initially work in the foundry division of Canadian Fairbanks. The person required by this company must be willing to undertake and complete training courses for further promotions. There is a vacancy for a qualified barber. Experienced asphalt plant workers and rakers are needed as soon as possible. There is an opening for a man who is physically capable and plant labor and who possesses his 4th class stationary engineer's papers. Other unskilled positions call for a retail store manager trainee, a qualified machinist, a mechanical draftsman, a service station attendant, and a truck mechanic.

If interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of re-entering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 324 Church Street, Belleville or telephone 962-9681.

IN MEMORIAM

LOTT — In loving memory of my dear wife Mrs. Alice Lott who passed away April 16, 1956.
God knows that she was suffering,
That the bills were hard to admit,
So He sent someone special,
And whispered, Peace be Unto,
For I can't bear to see you suffer,
So the Valley of rest we take.
Some time, some day I know not
Some time,
I will meet my loved one there.
—Sadly missed by husband John Lott.

ALEXANDER — In loving memory of my dear husband Percy Alexander who passed away April 15, 1961.
Sometimes it is hard to understand,
Why things have to be,
For in God's mysterious plan,
Everyday is not for me.
—Sadly missed, and ever remembered by his wife Pearl.

COONEY — In fond and loving memory of our dear father and brother Stuart Cooney who passed away on April 15, 1966.
Nothing can ever stay,
The love a heart holds dear,
Memories keep him near,
Remembrance keeps him near,
As long as memory lasts.
—Sadly missed by mother, and Gerald and family.

Reasons Given Not Sufficient For Magistrate

Malcolm Neil Barrett found out yesterday from Magistrate T. Y. Wills that the only is not obligated to put up signs every ten feet along Front St., saying parking is allowed at meters only.

Mr. Barrett told the court that he was raising and mowing when he parked a couple of months ago, and he did not see the white lines the city's crosswalk.

The magistrate said he had never heard of such a case, but on these grounds before. On top of the regular $5 ticket, Mr. Barrett had to pay $1 court costs.

Suspend Sentence For 2 Years

Hon. J. T. Thorson Outlines Ideas About Canada's Future

Hon. J. T. Thorson looked into the future for members of the Canadian Club of Belleville, as he addressed the club's annual meeting in the auditorium of Sir Winston Churchill School.

His topic was "The Shape of Canada In Its Second Century."

The chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. R. D. Arnott, presented the slate of officers for the coming season. This was unanimously accepted by members of the Club.

The officers for the 1967-68 season are:

President, Dr. R. S. Burtt; immediate past president, Mrs. J. G. Deneau; 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. C. Ellis; 2nd vice-president, Mr. A. C. Campbell; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Clare; treasurer, Mr. J. H. Lennox; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Rowe, and assistant secretary, Mrs. P. W. Kitcher.

Mr. Thorson was born in Winnipeg, graduated in Classics from the University of Manitoba, as a Rhodes Scholar studied Law at Oxford. Before entering politics he served with the Canadian Army overseas in World War I. He was elected to represent Winnipeg South and Selkirk in the government, and was appointed as the Canadian delegate to the League of Nations. Mr. Thorson has held many political and diplomatic posts, one being Chief Justice of the Exchequer Court of Canada.

The speaker stressed the formal recognition of all ethnic groups in our Dominion, and pointed out that Canada must never be known as bilingual or bicultural, but rather as multilingual and multi-cultural.

"In the century that is coming to a close," he said, "Canada has been preoccupied with political and economic problems. We have had great successes. Politically, we have emerged from a confederation of British colonies into independent nationhood and, economically, we have become an affluent society next only in our standard of living to our neighbor, the United States."

"This is not enough. To be truly great a country must have a national purpose. With the richness of her resources and the strength of her people of many origins, Canada should be an example for less favorably situated countries of the world to follow. The establishment of Canada as such an example ought to be our national purpose as we enter upon our second century."

"We have shown that it is possible for people of different racial origins and religious beliefs to live together in a state of amity on the basis of equality with one another and mutual respect. What is even more important, we have learned the value and importance of leaving one another alone with each individual in our society free to develop the talents with which he or she has been endowed. If Canada is to be the example that she ought to be we must prove that it is possible to build an orderly society based on our regard for the individual. This is the kind of society Canada should build in her second century."

"There are two principal tasks to which we must devote ourselves. We must bring our constitution into line with reality so that Canada may be better equipped than she now is for the fulfillment of her purpose. We must also clarify our concept of Canadian nationhood."

"Canada's people are of British origin, English, Scottish, Irish or Welsh. They are also of French origin, and 26 percent are of origins that are neither French nor English. In the Canada of today, all Canadians, regardless of differences in ethnic origin, stand on the basis of equality with one another. Those who continue to speak of the citizens of Canada as either French Canadians or English Canadians are ignorant of the composition and character of the Canadian nation, and do a disservice to Canada. It follows that a concept of a dual Canadian nationhood with the implication that Canada is a two-nation country, must be rejected."

"The Canada of today is a different country from that which was formed in 1867 and our views of our responsibilities have changed. That being so, we ought to give effect to this fact by making the necessary amendments to the British North America Act. "Human rights, social security and higher education are the basic needs of the nation as a whole. We believe in a strong central government. I do not look on Canada as an aggregation of provinces. I think of her as a strong nation with a single sense of purpose for the welfare of her people from which she cannot be deflected."

"Canada's national purpose should be to mould a society which will not only guarantee to each of its individuals freedom to develop his talents, but will also establish the social, economic, educational and cultural conditions that will enable the individual to enjoy the freedom to which he is entitled in a manner befitting the dignity of man. Canada can build such a society and this should be the aim for Canada in her second century."

The speaker was thanked by Mr. R. Cameron. A social hour followed the meeting.

Two Attend Convention

Two Belleville representatives, Mrs. James H. Forrester and Carl R. Whittemore, attended the Voluntary Agency Reviewing Body in Toronto, April 3 and 4.

The agencies that have been reviewed are: Canadian Mental Health Association, Boys' Clubs of Canada, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, Canadian Welfare Council, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Multiple Sclerosis Society, St. John Ambulance Association and the Rehabilitation Foundation.

As well, the Boy Scouts of Canada, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Ontario Welfare Council, Victorian Order of Nurses and the Canadian Red Cross Society have been reviewed.

Diplomas and Pins Given 10 Graduates

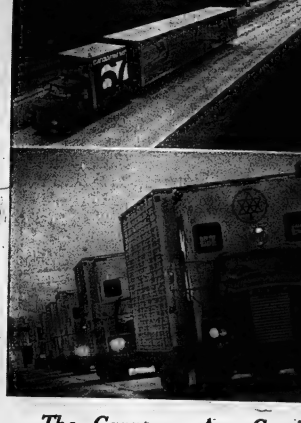
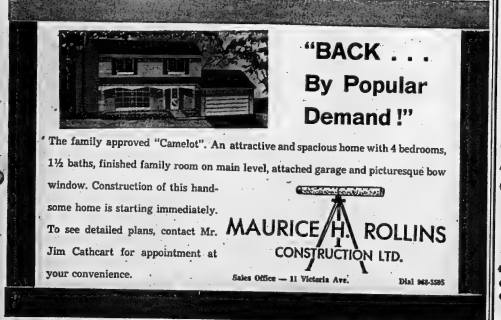
Ten students of the Belleville General Hospital of Medical Laboratory Technology, received their graduation diplomas and pins at graduation exercises held Friday night at Education Hall.



The speaker for the graduation was Raymond Simard, president of the Canadian Society of Laboratory Technologists. Mr. Simard was introduced by C. V. Pelfrey, chief technologist with the hospital's department of laboratory medicine.

The valedictorian for the graduating class was Miss Joanne Kropf of Trenton.

Chairman for the ceremonies was hospital chairman, Mr. Garfield A. Hamilton, while congratulations to the graduating class were extended by Dr. J. N. Hartt, president of the medical staff association; Mrs. W. G. Harvey, president of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, and Dr. L. J. M. Tremblay, head of the department of laboratory medicine.



Following the graduation the class members and guests attended a reception hosted by the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

Graduating class members were Sharon Brown, Huntsville; Ann Davidson, Midland; Susan Gray, Belleville, Joanne Kropf, Trenton; Mrs. Evelyn Patterson, Prince Albert, Sask., Jim Smith, Kingston, Carol Simpson, Trenton, Shirley Thompson, Picton, Barbara Tuttle, Tweed, and Kathleen Way, Belleville.

Major C. C. Sowden Dies in Car Accident

Former commanding officer of the C and D Companies, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Port Hope, Major Christopher Claude Sowden, 55, died yesterday following a car accident.

OPP in Cobourg say Major Sowden, known to many as "Barney" Sowden, lost control of his car on the 401 three miles west of the village. His car rolled an undetermined number of times and he sustained fatal internal injuries, dying in hospital. The accident happened at 10.15 a.m.

When the Hasty Pees absorbed the Midland Regiment in 1958, Major Sowden took command until 1960. He had greenhouses in Port Hope and owned considerable property in the area.

Went Wrong Way on Front Street

Robert Harold Stoughton of Sidney St. will come back and see magistrate T. Y. Wills next Friday to be sentenced for ten days in jail.

The court was told yesterday that Stoughton went the wrong way on Front St. and ran into a parked car just before Christmas. A charge of drunk driving was reduced to impaired and Stoughton pleaded guilty to it. He also pleaded guilty to driving with his licence under suspension.

Stoughton had a previous conviction for driving with his licence under suspension and was Magistrate decided ten days would be imprisonment was also fined $100 for being impaired and given six weeks to serve a further 21 days.

WANT PEACE CORPS OUT

KAMPALA (AP) — Leaflets have appeared in Uganda calling for the expulsion of the U.S. Peace Corps from Africa. Attributed to the Freedom for Africa Movement, they read: "We do not need American graduates in espionage nor uneducated ignoramuses pretending to the role of educators and benefactors of the African peoples."

New Sweeper Has Started Spring Cleanup

TRENTON — Trenton's 22 public works workmen have started the spring clean up and are busy at sewer maintenance and catch basin clean - out.

The newly acquired street sweeper is at work and town crews started Thursday to apply dominar "binding" to gravelled streets, in order to lay the dust.

Holes in streets are being patched as are strips of sidewalk. New portions of sidewalk are being installed in some places.

Because the town men are busy, tenders for curbing at the Centennial Park on Henry Street and Roxeee Ave. have been called. However, should the bid price prove too high for council's liking, the men will add this work to their spring agenda.

Vimy Furore

In the recent hassle over President de Gaulle's non-attendance at the commemoration of the Battle of Vimy Ridge perhaps the most significant remark made was that of the French ambassador to Canada.

Ambassador Francois Leduc said in London (Ontario) there were misunderstandings over the failure of the French to send a guard of honor to Vimy but that the French did co-operate in the organization of the ceremonies. He said it had never been envisaged that de Gaulle would attend the ceremonies.

Then he added this: "We have no one, of the rank of the Duke of Edinburgh who could have attended."

Now there is a two-edged sword. Either Mr. Leduc was being subtle in a very Gallic sort of way or else he committed a first class gaffe. For what would the president have to say to such a remark? Hasn't it been made very clear he was most upset about not being invited to the ceremonies?

Meanwhile, in the Commons, Prime Minister Pearson hedged when asked if President de Gaulle had received a formal invitation. From his replies it was clear he had not.

All this recalls an incident about a year ago when External Affairs Minister Paul Martin arrived in Paris. We do not recall the exact purpose of his mission, but the French authorities were aware of his arrival and it would have been common courtesy for French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville to have greeted him personally at the airport. But he did not — and that was interpreted as a snub by Ottawa, although Mr. Martin himself made light of it.

The French these days are extremely touchy. President de Gaulle is forever standing on his dignity, and it is becoming a little tiresome. The French in Canada — French Canadians — are equally sensitive. They could unbend a bit, and so could English Canadians. Both sides take themselves too seriously — and for different reasons. The French seek political status, equality, while the English Canadian is preoccupied with making money. No wonder there is little rapport between the two founding races.

40-mile Walk

It is not often that Parliament Hill in Ottawa, or any other hill or square or corner in Canada is witness to an aggregation of 4,000 people, who have come together spontaneously with one thing in common.

The organizers had expected perhaps 500, but eight times that number showed up in response to OXFAM of Canada's plan to raise funds for the famine-stricken in northeast India.

The plan involved a 40-mile walk and the money came from the participant's sponsors on a per-mile basis. Each was sponsored by an individual, company or organization.

The 4,000 who set out ranged from a 75-year-old grandfather to a nine-year-old girl. Prime Minister Pearson was among the starters who were led by Mrs. Ayla Weston, OXFAM's attractive president. And among the finishers were an 11-year-old boy and a girl of 15.

We salute them and others who may be prepared in future to make further sacrifices for the needy of this world. Canadians may be proud of OXFAM's initiative and of those who answered its call for support.

Computers

What is new in the world of computers? A recent advertisement in a U.S. magazine by a manufacturer of these astonishing machines gives one example:

There is a picture of a dark-haired Puerto Rican nurse with a baby in her arms and the advertisement says: "You can't send a computer to do a nurse's job. Why send a nurse to do a computer's?"

The advertisement goes on to say nurses and doctors spend more time with patients at the Puerto Rico Medical Centre in San Juan because a computer does the paperwork.

"Every day it schedules 1,125 outpatient appointments, does accounting, and billing for 4,000 beds, handles a 10,000-item inventory, and reports daily Medicare services for 18,000 patients."

And other applications will be implemented shortly.

Without a doubt computers are one of the most exciting inventions of our day, but let us not forget the human element. Computers can perform tedious tasks of mathematical reckoning in a fraction of the time taken by a human brain, but only individual human beings are capable of the great feats of creative art to be found in books or in the work of the artists's brush, sculpture and so on.

Triple Threat to Leftward Drift of Major Parties

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Three straws blowing in the Federal Government big-spending high-taxing wind:

Straw One: Some $20 — could be $30, or actually who - knows-how-many by the time you read this — leading business, industrial and professional men across the land have incorporated the swiftly growing "Congress of Concerned Canadians."

Straw Two: The Canadian Executive Council — a federally chartered group of Eastern and Western Canadian commercial leaders encompassing insurance, steel, finance, milling, lumbering, manufacturing and consumer service interests — has organized the rapidly expanding "Union of Taxpayers."

Straw Three: The editor of probably the most financially orthodox business pages in Canada's largest, conservatively-leaning newspaper has written these rather startlingly unorthodox words in The Toronto Globe and Mail:

"What is needed (to brake government spending, slow the spiralling of already vicious federal tax rates and halt inflation) is to have some tough-minded people who know how to pull a string, legal or not, against the Parliament Hill Crowd."

First this "Congress of Concerned Canadians" . . .

According to its articles of federal incorporation as set out by its 15 founding fathers — all prominent private enterprisers — the Congress is a non-partisan political organization aimed at pulling together "what's left of the Right."

With head offices in Ottawa it already has set up in a few weeks time its incorporation branches in 10 centres from Montreal to Calgary.

One of its 15 incorporators — it is a non-profit public service outfit — Ivan Sparks, leading Ottawa businessman and descendant of the family after whom the Capital's main street mall is named, explains that the Congress is rallying "all the C. D. Howe-type liberals and the Donald Fleming - style - conservatives."

They are using the small "l" and small "c" because they view with alarm both the "Pearson-type Liberals and the Diefenbaker - style Conservatives as being socialist, with equal ruinously reckless speed, headlong into Socialism."

The Congress will be taking a very active, and its incorporators hope "quite decisive hand" in the next federal election — and running any candidates itself, but giving strong working and financial support to those they like.

And those they like will be the candidates in Liberal and Conservative ranks who aren't the "swingers of socialism and the practitioners of Big Government."

Either Alberta Premier Manning or Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia — the Westerner as far unavailable, and the Easterner up to now indifferent.

The Congress believes that it is all quite worthwhile whatever the cost in effort and money. And for this reason:

"With the Liberals and the Conservatives in a wild cost-and-taxes-be-damned race to out-socialize the New Democrat," say Finance Minister Sharp and Trade Minister Winters — and far from an out - decidedly among the Tories, former Health Minister Monte Mcntaldi and ex-New Brunswick Premier and former Federal Forestry Minister Hugh John Flemming.

But more important, who looks good to the Congress as a leader of "what's left of the Right?"

Either Alberta Premier Manning or Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia — the Westerner as far unavailable, and the Easterner up to now indifferent.

The Congress believes that it is all quite worthwhile whatever the cost in effort and money. And for this reason:

"With the Liberals and the Conservatives in a wild cost-and-taxes-be-damned race to out-socialize the New Democrat," the incorporators are convinced, "there is enough left of the Right to give a coalition of small "c" conservatives and small "l" liberals a balance of political power."

Could it possibly be that winds of change are beginning to blow across the country — blowing hard and cold enough to change the leftward drift of the two old Parties?

If not, then how do you account for the business editor of the nation's most conservative newspaper suggesting a tax strike as the last resort for embattled business and investment executives of the Canadian Economic Foundation organizing, of all things, a union, a Taxpayers' Union — and for prominent private enterprisers digging into their own pockets and personally going to work to change the political shape of things.

Fashion for Men Is "In"

Christian Science Monitor

For a long time men have managed to dress as they please (within the limits of prevailing custom) by convincing their wives that women really don't know much about masculine attire. We figure that's how a man manages to keep wearing his favorite battered felt hat long after his wife has decided it is ready for the rummage sale.

But modern woman can be expected to find a way to change this situation, and it appears that now she has. It is a subtle approach but a simple one. She has put men's styles into her own women's magazines. Harpers Bazaar, for example, now has a "His Bazaar" department with a man editor. And it is not unusual to see men's fashions on the women's pages of daily newspapers.

Why this innovation? Not to catch the eye of men readers, probably, but to tell women what purchases should be made.

What will this lead to? Possibly to the wife-guided tour to the men's clothing store. And the purchase by the man (wife-counseled) of the fitted pinstripe suit which appeared on the woman's page of the family's favorite newspaper, and to the woman's purchase, next time she goes shopping for her husband's shorts and sox of a wide paisley tie and colored shirt to go with the suit.

There is no denying the power of either the press or the woman - behind - the - scenes. History acknowledges it. Added to these forces is that of today's persuasive advertising. It is a formidable combination.

But the force of a man whose comfortable and sensible habits are threatened is great, too. We have a feeling that very few men will be beguiled into wearing all the gay plumage that the fashion forecasts so hopefully predict for them. The rummage sale may not get the best - up hat in the end.

Crime Threat In the U.S.

Fredericton Gleaner

A threat nation cannot exist on the foundations of crime and terrorism. The United States is a great nation, the leading nation of the Western World today. It behooves its political and labor leaders, its judges and its citizens to combine in an all-out war to exterminate the criminal elements undermining it.

This is yet another of the many arguments against the complacent acceptance in Canada of American control of Canada's labor unions. This is a form of industrial colonialism which should be abhorrent to Canadians, and most of all to Canadian trade unionists.

Grammar Essential

Halifax Mail-Star

Although we never cared much for English grammar, with all those subjects and predicates and things, we oppose the suggestion of American English teacher Robert Hogan, that English should be taught as it is spoken and not according to grammatical rules.

This is like advocating the abolition of all restrictive laws. It would lead to linguistic anarchy and probably to complete confusion.

Syl Apps Still Young at 52

Hamilton Spectator .

When he turned in the report of the Legislature's Select Committee on Youth, chairman Syl Apps remarked that at the age of 52 he was young enough still to become minister of a proposed new department of youth. He said some young member of the Legislature should get the job.

Youth is not the only prerequisite. Experience counts just as much, and Mr. Apps certainly has that. His committee worked two and a half years preparing its report, held 162 days of meetings, and visited 18 cities and towns in the province. The final report proves its diligence — it's 408 pages long.

Syl Apps was one of Canada's greatest athletes. He started at McMaster both as a pole vaulter and in hockey and football. Undoubtedly he was the greatest centre ever to don a Toronto Maple Leafs' uniform. He may be 52, but he's youthful in his outlook and he is still able to inspire young people.

Just Like Old Times

Hamilton Spectator

It was simply great seeing 67-year-old Fred Astaire tripping the light fantastic with 56-year-old Ginger Rogers the other night on the Academy Awards show. He pulled up puffing to be sure, but no prefer to believe it was the still-gorgeous Miss Rogers and not poor condition that was to blame for that.

Dief Scores Pierre Trudeau's Left-wing Past Returns to Haunt Him

OTTAWA (CP)—Nothing delights parliamentarians in general, and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in particular, more than to quote back to cabinet ministers their words of earlier days.

The object is to try to illustrate that the ministerial victim changes his mind when he sits in the seats of power. Any consequent embarrassment of the minister is pure gravy.

So it was with great relish that Mr. Diefenbaker sprinkled the Commons record this week with quotations from the writings of Pierre Elliott Trudeau a week to the day after Prime Minister Pearson named Mr. Trudeau federal justice minister.

It was vintage Diefenbaker. The Opposition leader noted that the Trudeau article began with the words "Lester B. Pearson — the unfrocked priest of peace."

In concerned the 1963 declaration by Mr. Pearson that Canada was committed to accept cruise missiles. He said it after several years of sternly rejecting such a course.

The PM's reversal of a policy endorsed by the Liberal rank and file was a bitter encounter to the Commons defeat of Mr. Diefenbaker's government on the nuclear arms issue.

Among the selected Trudeau quotations placed on the record by Mr. Diefenbaker:

"I am only concerned with the anti-democratic reflexes of the spineless Liberal backbench.

"Power beckoned to Mr. Pearson; he had nothing to lose except his soul. He took it and his whole party lost it too.

"The political philosophy of the Liberal party is simplicity itself. 'Say anything, think anything you like, but put us in power because we are the best fitted to govern.'

"It is all right for Pearson and the Liberals to shout 'ready, aye, ready' when the word comes from across the border from the militarists and the fund raisers.

"No cartoon sparks by reducing politics to a system utterly denuded of principles seems to me far removed from the barking hauled out a few presents to the electorate."

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 15, 1967 . . .

The Canadian government withdrew its Manitoba Remedial Bill 71 years ago today—in 1896—after deadlock had been reached in the House of Commons. The Manitoba legislature had abolished the 20 - year - old bilingual school system and defied the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada that it had not the power to do so. Remedial legislation by the Conservative government failed but the Liberals won the ensuing election and worked out a multi-faceted compromise, sanctioning French, German, Ukrainian and Polish schools. The province was abolished in 1916.

1598—The Edict of Nantes promised civil rights to French Protestants.

1961 — Woodstock, Ont., was incorporated.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the Germans attacked the Bapaume - Cambrai road, losing 1,500 dead and 400 captured; HMS Acasta was torpedoed in the Mediterranean with the loss of 270 lives.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942 — the British abandoned Mayuanyne, 30 miles south of the Burmese oilfields; Soviet troops broke through German defences at Brymsk; Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton conferred with the King at Buckingham Palace.

April 16, 1967 . . .

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the French opened the battle of the Aisne, taking 10,000 prisoners between Reims and Soissons; the Turks approached a British post at Wadi Ghuzzeh, Palestine.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today — in 1942 — the King awarded the island of Malta the George Cross for steadfastness under the longest aerial bombardment civilians had ever endured; Canadian troops in Britain voted in the conscription plebiscite.

Mozart Tops

Hamilton Spectator

You could have flapped us over with a baton when we heard what teen-agers at a grammar school in Tunbridge Wells, England, did the other day. When asked to name their favorite musicians of all time, the kids gave the top honors to Mozart. In second place? Herman's Hermits. Next in line, the Monkees.

Mod Scene On Way Out?

Globe and Mail

It is possible to adapt to the ebb and flow of clothing fashions, either as a participant or as amused voyeur. Experience tells us that hemlines which have risen to the miniskirt level ultimately will plunge again to revisit the New Look, or that it might not be a bad idea to keep the old double-breasted suit in mothballs for another year.

There is something unsettling, however, about the rapid shortening of the cycle that seems to be taking place, the disconcerting abruptness with which a style can end. How can anyone come to terms with a fashion which is passe almost before it is arrive? Yet the word is out from the men's fashion designers that, like it or not, "We don't even use the term today," one of them said.

There is some among us whose wardrobes will not perish at those words, but there are many for whom it will be ruinous. It will avail them nothing to protest that mod was too young to die, cut off in the first bloom of youth. Forced up all that old-fashioned stuff and send it off to a have - not country. Make way for the purple corduroy pants and purple patterned knit collar of the brolly look. Whatever it is, it should be good for a week or two.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 15, 1947

The sleek black - and - white British American Oil Company's tanker "Britamoco" eased her way slowly into the slips at the company's dock—shortly after 2:30 on Tuesday afternoon, to officially open navigation for the 1948 season in the port of Belleville.

The Belleville Police Department said its numbers brought up to regular strength this morning with Clare Pazmas, formerly of London, Ontario, reporting for duty on the force. Constable Paxmas fills the vacancy caused when Roy Doherty left the force some weeks ago.

By Ken Kelly

Somewhat ruefully, Mr. Trudeau concedes that those were the sentiments of the university issue although he points out that he wasn't a Liberal party man then. In fact, he was a New Democratic Party sympathizer.

"I ought to charge Mr. Diefenbaker royalties," he said this week about the Opposition leader's remarks. "I think this is the first time a cabinet minister has written a major part of the speech of the leader of the Opposition."

"I don't retract the things I said at that time . . . I think one of John Kennedy's great contributions was to say: 'Don't burden me with the errors of the past; our decisions are decisions for our own time.'"

However, more seriously, he takes the stand that since he has been a Liberal he can't answer these complaints about the party or his leader, although he concedes that, like any other human institution, it has unattractive features.

"If you like, on the basis of political expediency, this is the party that can hold Canada together."

Die With Dignity Theory Raises Thorny Issue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

As medical technology advances, the borderline between life and death becomes more obscure. And the question of what measures are justified in retarding transition from the two poses troubles both doctors and theologians.

"With each advance in medical techniques, the problem grows more acute," says Rev. Dr. Charles W. Blaker, a Presbyterian theologian and academic dean of Brandon Hall, Atlanta, Ga.

The issue is pointed up in cases in which physical breathing can be maintained by artificial devices and drugs, sometimes for years, in incurable patients in comatose states.

How far should science go in such physical prolonging of "life"?

At a national Methodist convocation on medicine and theology in Rochester, Minn., no definite answers were determined to fit all cases.

But Dr. Edward H. Rynearson of the Mayo Clinic drew extensive applause when he urged that hopelessly ill patients be allowed to "die with dignity" and in peace rather than merely prolonging their bodily breathing.

With modern clinical methods, biological life can often be maintained long after the brain has stopped functioning, he said, the body and lungs working without thought or conscious-ness.

This raises questions of just what constitutes life or death.

Is the line crossed when the mind stops working, or the heart?

Canon Michael Hamilton of the National Episcopal Cathedral at Washington, D.C., said in a recent sermon:

"I think we will have to revise our understanding about the nature of man to the extent that we avoid tying man's personal identity ultimately to his biological functions, but rather relate it to his consciousness."

In ancient Judeo - Christian tradition, physical existence was viewed as secondary to spiritual life, although the two were considered intertwined, the sacred creations of God.

There is a "time for every matter under Heaven: A time to be born and a time to die," says Ecclesiastes.

The Hippocratic oath, the classic standard of the medical profession, demands that doctors do all they can to preserve life, but it was not composed in the light of 20th century medicine.

Today, the sustaining of mere biologic life can be "no longer good but tragic," Dr. Blaker says, describing a case in which a man was kept in a vegetating condition for eight years by extensive, costly measures.

The Roman Catholic Church has developed a hospital code of ethics saying that all "ordinary means" should be used to preserve life. Rev. Gerald Kelly, a Jesuit theologian, says "ordinary means" denote procedures which offer "a reasonable hope of benefit" in the long run.

Howard's First Task Was to Train Clergy

WASHINGTON (CP) — Howard University was founded 100 years ago to train clergymen for the newly - emancipated Negro — freedmen, they were called.

And while the first four students were white and some still are today, most of its 27,000 graduated students have been Negroes.

Their variety says something about the special status of Howard University as the leading Negro - oriented school in the country. Tuskegee Institute in Alabama is the other best-known one.

It also says something about how short of such high-calibre institutions the American Negro has been traditionally.

Howard University's enrolment today is 11,500 and President Johnson helped mark its 100th birthday with a personal visit March 2.

It is estimated that Howard has turned out more than half the Negro professors in the country, about 25 per cent of the lawyers and more than 50 per cent of the engineers and architects.

Senator Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, who last November became the first elected Negro in the U.S. Senate, is a Howard product. So are Thurgood Marshall, U.S. solicitor-general, and Patricia R. Harris, ambassador to Luxembourg.

Ralph Bunche, a senior United Nations official, was a professor there.

More than 5,000 Howard graduates live and work in the Washington area — in the judiciary, local government, civil service and in business.

Howard University in addition graduated the civil rights lawyers who began in the early 1930s the torturous path toward the Supreme Court decision which in the last decade have stripped away much of the legal base for segregated schools, public places or institutions.

Horticulturists Hear Address on Roses

Mr. W. J. Keenan, past president of the Canadian Rose Society and one of its directors, spoke to the Belleville Horticulturists at the April meeting in the Sunday school room of Tabernacle United Church. He was accompanied by Mr. C. B. Stephenson, a past show chairman, a rose judge and a director of the Society for 15 years.

The speaker, who has edited the "Clearing House," which is the evaluation section of the Canadian Rose Annual, entitled his talk "A Fireside Chat on Roses" or "Thoughts on Rose Culture."

He said there were eight things to consider when planning to grow roses: the preparation of the soil, purchasing the roses, planting, pruning, fertilizing, disease control, insect control and exhibiting the flowers.

He reminded his listeners that situation is very. Soils are different, no two roses are identical. Understocks differ. The facing of the garden to the north, south, east or west effects changes in the plants. Fertilizers and drainage are different.

In spring, more roses are lost than in later. Cold spring with only a little rain can cause roses to wither and die. The plants should have two gallons of water each, every week. Light showers do not provide enough moisture. All bushes should be planted so that they face the same way.

It is important, when pruning roses, to use a sharp, clean instrument, dipping it into a cleaning solution after making each cut to prevent the spreading of disease.

Mr. Keenan advised beginners not to try to grow too many roses at first. He suggested starting with three hybrid teas, one grandiflora, three to six floribundas and one shrub rose or a climber.

He answered the questions asked by the rose growers who had many problems. He also illustrated his lecture with colored slides of beautiful roses grown in his own garden and interspersed them with pictures of rose gardens at the Toronto exhibition grounds, at Niagara Falls, at Cleveland, Ohio, at Hershey, Massachusetts, and in Australia and Germany.

Mr. Harry Oconnor expressed the thanks of the large audience to the speaker for his interesting and helpful address.

Rose bushes were given as door prizes and were won by Mrs. Slack (a white floribunda rose „Saratoga"), Mr. Reg. Barber (a grandiflora rose "Queen Elizabeth"), Mrs. Matthews (a hybrid tea rose "Miss Canada") and Mrs. Everett Phillips (an ever - blooming floribunda "Fashion").

Mrs. Matthews was, also, the winner in the competition, for bringing in new members. She will receive a Crimson Shower tree donated by Mr. Larry Johnson.

Iris enthusiasts should be prepared to take notes next month when a representative of the Iris Society will be addressing the Belleville group and rose growers should be following all Mr. Keenan's instructions soon to be ready for the rose show here in June.

Marysville Parish Holds Centennial Ball

Mobile centennial symbols and balloons in vibrant colors twirled from the ceiling of Marysville Parish Hall for the Centennial Ball. Canadian flags were included in the windows, provincial crests outlined the stage and the "Pendinning" Centennial flag was draped over the right hand corner of the room. Spring tulips and daffodils adorned the side walls.

Dress was optional but most of the ladies turned back the pages of time and attended in gowns of yesteryear. Their escorts reflected the tin-types of grampa's day. Prizes were presented by Reverend J. J. O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. L. Guardiner, Melissa and Ann, the dressed couple. Mrs. Guardinger's gown was of soft rose satin with overlays of ivory lace. She wore a black velvet evening cape and carried a spatial bouquet. Mrs. W. Walsh, Consdale, in a printed red granny dress with matching bonnet received the ladies' prize. Joseph O'Neill, Napanee, carried off the gentlemen's prize. His high black hat and genuine beard gave him the look of the old fashioned gentleman.

A catered dinner was served, buffet style at 1 a.m.

This gala night was sponsored by the Catholic Women's League and the Holy Name Society of Holy Name of Mary parish. Mrs. W. McCauley and Ambrose McCambridge are the respective presidents.

MARYSVILLE CWL

Mrs. John English, Melrose, was the guest speaker for the April meeting of Marysville Catholic Women's League. Dressed in a long striped gown, with her hair in a bun and wearing "proper" oxfords, she began her talk with a humorous skit. Depicting a thrifty housewife of long ago, she wore an apron made from bed-ticking tied above her waist with binder twine. As she sorted her wash of pantaloons, bloders, petticoats, rompers and wool socks an unexpected knock at the door sent her scurrying for "company" apron. The wash was shovelled back in the basket and the emergency taker of 1867, Mrs. Don McLaren, was welcomed. Dialogue followed with the housewife misunderstanding most of the questions and singing the praises of her "good-for-nothing" husband, Mike.

Mrs. English, as historian for Tyendinaga Township has spent much time and energy in collecting the history of each small community.

The early settlers struggled for their existence, often having little food for themselves and their animals during the winter months.

Their log houses were moved into, even before the floor was laid or the door hung.

Burning sticks were thrown out into the yard to frighten wild animals.

Common fare was pancakes, buttermilk, pumpkins and sauce made from dried apples. In early days, a pound of butter cost 10 cents, two pounds of steak could be purchased for 25 cents and a 200 pound barrel of pork cost $20.

Old fat from the kitchen, mixed with lime-water, was boiled to make soft soap.

Wool from their own sheep provided their clothing.

Curling irons and pinched cheeks prettied the ladies for the barn-dance and taffy pulls which highlighted a quilting or barn - raising.

In 1837 Marysville Catholic Church had its first midnight mass with sleigh-loads of visitors coming to hear the parish choir from Belleville.

The church (today's parish hall) was decorated with evergreens and wintergreen.

The candles were made by the parishioners, many having to skimp on their home lighting. A picture of the church was displayed showing an outside belfry and a large onto which the ladies alighted from their bogies when attending Sunday mass.

Another picture was showing a survey, still in excellent shape and owned by Joseph Forestell, which often transported dignitaries of the church.

A letter written in Ireland in 1821 and addressed to Upper Canada was read by Miss Frances Fitzsimmons.

Antique treasures were displayed on a table and doughnuts and coffee were served.

Mayor J. Ellis and Rev. Eric Penny congratulate Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson on their 50th wedding anniversary. Celebration took place at Parkdale Baptist Church.

"This Is Your Life" Portrayed At 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson, 50 Auburn Street, Belleville, marked their 50th wedding anniversary April 7. A surprise gathering was held in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson April 1 at Parkdale Baptist Church with members of the family, relatives and many friends present.

Angus Hannah presented an excellent job of arranging and conducting an amusing skit entitled "This Is Your Life, in which many of the members of Parkdale Church portrayed interesting incidents in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson.

To the surprise and delight of Mrs. Robinson, her two sisters and brother from out of town were part of one scene in the skit. Tears could not be held back at the time and many other unexpected persons arrived at appropriate places during the presentation of the well planned skit.

While seated at a head table during the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson heard letters of congratulation read to them from Lester Pearson, John Diefenbaker, Premier J. Roberts and a host of others. Mayor Jack Ellis of Belleville and his wife attended and he spoke words of congratulation to the couple.

The pastor, Rev. Eric Penny, led in the singing of some favorite hymn choruses and made the presentation of a rose bowl suitably engraved. The occasion was concluded with a lunch, prepared and served by the ladies of the church.

U.C.W. Meetings

BATAWA U.C.W.

BATAWA — The Batawa United Church Women held an interesting meeting on Monday evening in the main auditorium of the church.

The main feature of the program was a panel discussion on church union, by the U.C.W. ladies of Hoard's Station.

Previous to the panel discussion a short business period was conducted.

Refreshments were served in the lower auditorium at the close of the meeting.

Centennial Tea Held by Roslin W.A.

ROSLIN — On Wednesday evening a successful Centennial tea was held in the Anglican Church Hall, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The hall was gaily decorated to mark the occasion. One painting depicted the Church Trading Post and Home of yesteryear, another a silhouette of the gay nineties.

A large number of antiques were on display and included spinning wheels, dash churn, clock, old fashioned picture in bum, quilts, a woven coverlid, of baptismal robes, brass candle stick, coal oil lamp and many other items.

A large spinning wheel and pillars marked the entrance to the tea room, where the small tables were centred with dolls dressed in centennial costumes.

The tea table with its white damask cloth, silver candelabra, silver tea services was centred with a large doll also in centennial dress.

Those pouring tea were: Mrs. C. Sills, Mrs. F. Gray and Mrs. J. Johnson.

Tables of home baking and fancy work were well patronized.

A large number of those present were in centennial costumes, some the originals, other made new.

Lunch was in keeping with the theme and included many old fashioned foods, biscuits, muffins, jam, honey, cheese, cookies, doughnuts and tea.

Eastern Ontario's largest antique show and sale opens in Kingston, Ontario the evening of Wednesday, April 19, at 6 p.m. with a festive first-night's preview and sale. The annual event is held in the Parish Hall of the Cathedral Church of St. George and will continue for two full days.

Twenty-three Ontario and Quebec dealers have rented booth space at the fair and their stalls will be filled with the finest of European, primitive and Canadian antiques. Furniture, glass and crystal, collector's items, silver, pewter, old documents, and objects d'art of bygone eras delight the eye of the

Cockney Cook Once Served Queen Tea

MONTREAL (CP) — Lavinia Wilkins, a cockney cook who served tea to Queen Victoria, became a centennial centenarian April 6.

The last survivor of a family of 10, she came to Canada from London in 1906 to work as a cook and maid. Her father was a cabinet maker with a small shop outside London.

As she munched birthday cake at a party for 36 friends, relatives and former employers held in her Montreal nursing home, she recalled her big moment.

It was when she was 20, working as a cook in the official residence of the Lord Mayor of London, that Queen Victoria came to call and Miss Wilkins served her a cup of tea.

TRAVEL WITH HUSBAND

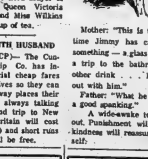
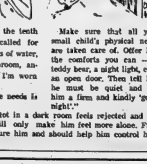
LONDON (CP)— The Cunard Steam-Ship Co. has introduced 'special cheap fares for sailors' wives so they can visit the faraway places their husbands are always talking about. A round trip to New York from Britain will cost only ₹10 ($30) and short runs to Europe will be free.

1000 and more patrons who have visited the fair each year.

Stalls will be set up in the great Gothic Hall, the longest in the Dominion. A refreshment booth will be staffed by churchwomen throughout the duration of the fair. Its keeping with Canada's centenary, many of the women assisting at the fair and several of the dealers will be in costume for the event.



Proceeds from St. George's Antique Fair benefit the cathedral organ restoration fund. The great pipe organ at the historic Anglican cathedral has been restored at a cost of $25,000.



In addition to being heard in concert when played by distinguished visiting organ recitalists, the organ provides the musical accompaniment for the renowned choir of St. George's Cathedral. Under the direction of Dr. George N. Mayboe, the choir of 100 men's and boys' voices enjoys an international reputation.

The fair's director is Mrs. C. W. E. Dansy, a noted collector of Canadiana antiques.

EARLY SCHOOLS

"Belleville had clever teachers in schools nearly a century ago." — from The Daily Intelligencer, August 1, 1925.

* * *

Did you know a school house once stood at the mouth of the Moira River?

Or that the man who taught it organized it as well?

It's true. The teacher's name was Mr. Leslie, and this was at the turn of 1800, the nineteenth century.

Our source of information is none other than Mr. W. J. Diamond, who for nearly half a century was the secretary of the Belleville Board of Education and back in the mid-twenties, wrote the following account for The Daily Intelligencer:

"Shortly after Mr. Leslie's school began Hester Sought a school, and after him a school was kept by the Rev. Mr. Wright, a Presbyterian clergyman, who also preached occasionally.

"In 1800 (the year Lincoln was born) just below the present market, back from the river side, stood a log frame school house which was taught by one John Watkins.

"About the year 1825 the Rev. John Attwood a man of scholarly attainment who had taught school prior to his call to the ministry was the pastor of the Methodist Church, afterwards known as the Pinnacle Street Church, and now known as the Bridge Street Methodist Church of the City of Belleville.

No Methodist clergyman could stay longer than two years in a place and though no effort was spared to detain Mr. Attwood in Belleville, the conference was obdurate and would not break the custom.

"Mr. David Jones followed Mr. Attwood as teacher for boys of all ages.

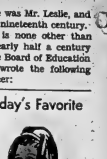
"About the year 1829 Miss Hankins, who was the first lady teacher of a private school in Belleville, had a school in a building on the lot where the Bridge Street United Church now stands.

"Miss Hankins who came out from England, married here and was the mother of J. J. B. Flint.

"In 1833 Dr. Marshall kept a school in a building on the east side of South John Street for boys.

"In 1834 Miss Mountcbad had a school for girls and small boys in her house on the east side of Pinnacle Street nearly opposite the Graham Evaporator and back of the Roman Catholic Church.

"In 1837 Mrs. Tapson had a private school for girls in Belleville on the west side of the Moira River, and was the mother of F. E. O'Flinn, attended this school.



"About this time there was a large immigration into the country from the British Isles of a superior class of people and among them was William B. Bland from Scotland, grandfather of Mr. Chandler B. Bland, and father of the brave old veteran Sergt. Major Bland.

"The former had been a teacher at home, and when he first came to Canada in 1837 he started farming, and after giving it a fair trial he found that he preferred to live in the town and moved into Belleville.

"Mr. Bland with all his ardor and ability for full 20 years gave of himself to the cultivation of the Belleville youth."

SEVEN RULES TO HELP IN DECORATING

TOMSETT

1. Let your home reflect your own personality. Learn from but do not copy - your friends and neighbors.

2. Combine beauty with comfort. Choose furniture that's lovely to look at and to live with.

3. Don't overcrowd rooms.

4. Use color lavishly, whether you like monochromatic harmonizing or contrasting color schemes. Avoid drabness.

5. Mix - don't match. Mix periods, wood finishes, and fabric textures so that each item in the room will have a character of its own. Your items do not have to MATCH but they must BLEND together beautifully.

6. Use your imagination, have the courage to express yourself and keep in mind good taste.

7. Sketch a lay-out of your rooms. In a new home this can be done right on the plans. Your furniture dealer can help you — ask his advice to come in and take advantage of our free decorator service.

Successful Living

Without Degree, Wants Work in Social Field

Dear Doris: For three years I've been taking foster boys on probation. I have also found homes for four other teenagers. I love them all. I can talk to the roughest and toughest ones and they'll all listen.

I'd do anything to work in this field. To my understanding this is like social work, which requires a degree. If this is really necessary, how can parents raise kids and cope with their problems? Shouldn't they all have degrees.

Or why couldn't I work and take a course at the same time? — Life's Ambition.

Dear Ambition: Would these young people need foster homes if their parents had coped? I'd say you have a superior kind of understanding, yet some probationers need more than that.

It's something like physical illness. There are times when home remedies and patent medicines will be effective. But in severe illness no sane person now avoids the doctor. An individual trained in recognizing symptoms of disease and treating them.

Some teen-agers have been so badly hurt and damaged by life that they need a good deal more than the love and attention of an understanding friend. Social work can be frightening and disheartening without enough training to handle some of the tough situations you can run into.

With just such grade, it would be a long haul for you to graduate as a social worker. You may be filling the greatest need in the best way by keeping right on the way you are.

Dear Doris: This guy at school is a real doll, but I don't think he thinks anything of me except as a very good friend. He's the kind of guy that can say sweet things to a girl and really make her feel tops, and that's how he's said he did for me and I guess that's why I fell for him.

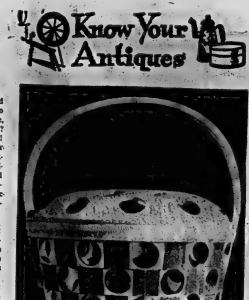
Well, he found out I liked him and I heard he was going with some girl, but not steady, so it didn't really bother me much. Anyway he just stopped talking to me; he wouldn't even smile at me in the halls.

Then all of a sudden he started talking to me again, and saying sweet things. Doris I just don't know what to do; he is really torturing me. Should I just be a good friend and take it all, or not talk to him at all which, of course, would torture me even more! — In a Sad State of Torture!

Dear Tortured: Your smooth-tongued friend doubtless enjoys the way you swallow those compliments! Until he follows through with something practical, like a date, accept what he says like a gracious, slightly remote lady.

Torture him a little.

Confidential to Both Forty: Is your flirtatious Freddie trying to prove something? To make the statement that he could have any woman seems to be stretching it!



Some men make eyes at the ladies to show they are still desirable. Then Wifey gets chilly and they feel even more unloved. Quite a vicious circle.

Divorce is not an easy solution; calls for proof of adultery, not just making passes. I'd suggest talking it over with a counsellor, or your minister or priest. You need an outside viewpoint.

Doris knows Canadian resources and can guide you to the help you need. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Know Your Antiques

Orange could be seen and smelled through the holes in this blue and white perforated basket made by the Wedgwood factory about 1800. It was made of jasper ware.

(Buten Museum of Wedgwood, Merion, Pa.)

Orange Was Popular in 18th Century Diet of the Rich

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The oranges was introduced to Europe from China prior to the 16th century. It was grown in Italy and in Portugal. The orange was a 17th century dish in England. It became a popular item in the diet of the rich by the 18th century.

The orange was used as a pomander ball. It was squeezed and the skin filled with sweet smelling herbs.

The orange was juiced and strained into popular alcoholic punches served at most social gatherings by the 1710-1720 period. The use of the orange required special utensils.

The pomander was held in a silver cage-like container that was pierced to permit the odor to escape. Punch required an orange juice strainer. A hemispherical strainer was made from silver so the punch could be mixed in front of the guests.

One of the most unusual orange holders was an orange basket. It was a pottery container filled with oranges and placed on the table. The basket was designed to take advantage of the color and odors of the orange.

Q. I have a blue beetle. It is made of glass and signed TM. Any. I believe it was originally purchased about 1910. Is it a collectors item now?

A. The famous Tiffany factory made many sizes of scarabs from the same iridescent glass used in their lamp shades. The scarabs were made for use as jewelry. They are glass and will easily break. Pins, bracelets and necklaces were made to hold the glass beetles. Anything made by Tiffany is collectable today.

We have written about large collections of paper antiques in many ways to dispose of them. Here are a few more hints.

If the collection of papers is to be sold, find a qualified person to evaluate it. If the collection is to be given to a historical society, let them do the sorting.

What you might think is foolish, to save could be the bit of history needed by a local group. Age is not the only guide.

Never remove a signature from a letter. It is the entire letter and not just the autograph that has the value. Old papers such as tax receipts or letters having postmarks indicating a town that is no longer in existence have a value.

Q. Why did some men in the 18th century wear two watches? Were their time pieces inaccurate?

A. Pictures often show the well-dressed man with a watch in each pocket. Because of the cut of the clothes a man looked better with balancing watches. Many watches were inaccurate and one watch was used to check the other. Most of the time wearing two watches was a not too subtle way of impressing others with the dual watch owner's wealth.

BOOK REVIEW

Newly published for the curious enthusiast, "A Social History of Furniture Design" by Gloag (Crown $12.30) tells in over 340 pictures how furniture reflects history and fashion. "British Furniture Through the Ages" by Stafford and Meiddleman (Coward-McCann $5.00), contains 370 drawings of superb quality that illustrates English furniture from 1300 to 1900.

Women's Institutes

CANNIFTON - CORBYVILLE W.I.

The wearing of centennial costumes by some of the members highlighted the April meeting of the Cannifton-Corbyville Women's Institute held recently at the home of Mrs. N. Welsh.

Mrs. C.-Ellsworth installed the new officers for the 1967-68 season and each executive gave a full report of the past year's activities. President Mrs. P. Meale thanked the co-workers for their support and co-operation during the past year.

The home of Mrs. Welsh, who is convener for historical research and centennial events, was well decorated with displays of scrapbooks, old relics and many other items of interest.

Miss J. McMurter the junior winner of the Thurlow public speaking contest gave her speech which was based on the history of Canniton. Mrs. Ellsworth showed a number of pieces of jewellery worn during the 1890s and described the style and history of the dress she was wearing.

Lunch was served by the hostess and assistants.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID A. SUMMERS

Summers – Conley

Margaret Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Conley, R.R. 4, Frankford and David Alden Summers son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Summers, R.R. 4, Belleville, were united in marriage by Rev. C. Dugan in Frankford United Church, April 8, 1967, at 12 noon. Mrs. E. Sykes was organist and Tom Hinchey soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie with fitted bodice and lily point sleeves Pearl trimmed re-embroidered Alencon lace flowers encircled the scoop neckline and lace appliques were created on the lower skirt front. The back terminated in a train, A cap of pearl trimmed re-embroidered Alencon lace supported a pearl trimmed tiara and a fourtier scalloped fingertip veil. The bride carried a cascade of pink roses.

Miss Dianne Cornthwaite, maid of honor, was attired in a street-length, light blue sparkle crepe dress with scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her headpiece was a wedding ring band and veil of matching color and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white mums. The bridesmaids, Miss Jean Bryant and Miss Lorrie Summers, sister of the bridegroom were attired in gowns identical to that of the maid of honor.

The bridegroom's niece, Miss Linda Williams, as flower girl, wore a waite dotted Swiss over-taffeta dress with a cummerbund of material matching the other attendants' gowns. Her headpiece was a wedding ring band of white peau de soie.

David Wayte attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Allan Geary and Larry Coles. The ring - bearer was Billy Summers.

The reception was held at Stockdale United Church. Mrs. Conley wore a beige lace over taffeta sheath with matching lace coat, while accessories included a corsage of orange delight roses. Mrs. Summers wore a light blue boucle knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink delight roses.

For her wedding trip to eastern points the bride chose a camel hair walking suit with yellow shell top, white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

On their return, the couple will live at 150 Albert St., Belleville.

Creamed Salmon Tasty Supper Dish

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: . . . I hope you will be able to send your recipe for creamed salmon . . . — Mrs. A. J.

ANSWER: Delighted!

CREAMED SALMON
(Serves 4)

One 7½-oz. can salmon (red or pink)
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. flour
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. M.S.G. (accent)
Milk (see amount below)
1 tbsp. chopped parsley or parsley flakes or 2 tbsps. cooked green peas or fresh green pepper or 1 tbsp. chopped sweet pickle

Drain and measure liquid from can of salmon. Make it up to 1½ cups by adding milk to it (see below). Flake the salmon coarsely and sprinkle the lemon juice over it.

Make Sauce by melting the butter, stirring in the flour, salt and M.S.G. and parsley (or other chosen greens). Stir in milk-salmon liquid until thick. Add flaked salmon and stir until well heated through. Serve on toast triangles or puff pastry shells.

NOTES: 1) You may want slightly thicker Creamed Salmon than this produces. I like this texture. But if you want it slightly thicker next time you make it add only enough milk to salmon liquid to measure 1 1-3 cups. 2) If you want to extend and enrich the Creamed Salmon you may add 1 or 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs.

QUESTION: Do you have any salad dressings that would compare with ——? I find the commercial ones a little expensive. I read and enjoy your column every night and particularly appreciate your explicit instructions and measurements . . . Mildred K.

ANSWER: Thank-you Mildred. That is my aim in life.

FRENCH DRESSING
(a thin emulsion — "homogenized" — that does not separate.

Brew 1 tsp. leaf oregano for 10 min. in 1-3 cup boiling hot cider vinegar, letting it cool while it brews. When cold strain into beater bowl and add 1 tbsp. canned tomato paste, 1 tsp. paprika, 1½ tsps. salt, dash cayenne (optional), ¼ tsp. garlic powder, 3 tbsps. sugar and 1 large cold egg. Beat until this thickens somewhat — at least 5 min. on high speed. Now SLOWLY add finest possible stream, begin to add 1 cup cold salad oil — stopping if oil begins to collect on surface, then, as soon as beaters incorporate this massive surplus, start slowly adding oil again. It takes at least 18 min. to make this homemade French dressing but it is highly recommended.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

SEWING SUZIES

The Foxboro Sewing Suzies met for their fifth meeting in the United Church Sunday School hall on Tuesday evening, April 4, with all members present.

Kathy Sine, president, presided for the opening of the meeting with the 4-H pledge. Sharon Rombough read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Miss Oliver was present to discuss judging of the dresses on achievement day. She also helped with the sample alterations which are to be put in the record book.

Several of the girls modelled their dresses for Miss Oliver, home economist for Hastings County. A few of the girls who had reached the hem stage of their dresses had the hems pinned in.

Some plans for achievement day, May 27, at Moira Secondary School, were discussed.

Ann Landers

Good Looking Men Make Poor Husbands

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I started to date I wouldn't consider going with anyone who wasn't at least five feet ten, well-built, and handsome. I made fun of the boys who were a little too fat or a little too thin. If a fellow's nose was too big or his teeth weren't straight he was automatically off my list.

A boy's clothes were important, too. If he didn't look like a fashion model I wouldn't consider being seen with him. My mother warned me that I was making a big mistake, but I wouldn't listen. I made fun of her, too. Guess what happened? I married the best looking, best-dressed fellow in town. All the girls were green with envy. Our wedding pictures were great.

Now we have five children. My handsome, well-dressed husband never takes me anywhere, not to church. I haven't eaten in a restaurant for three years. He prefers to go places alone.

I am disgusted and fed up, but I am determined to keep our marriage together. This rotten husband happens to be a good father.

Please warn the girls out there in Dateland not to pass up the short, homely fellows. I'm sorry I didn't have sense enough to grab one for myself. — SUSAN.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR SUSAN: You're so right. Marrying for looks is a lot like buying wax fruit. You can starve to death looking at it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is having a fifth birthday party in a few weeks. The problem is that the mothers always bring their children and sit around as if the party were for them.

I know from experience that young children behave much better when their mothers are not around. Our home is very small and it would be so much easier for me if the mothers did not stay.

If I come right out and tell them how I feel, will they be angry and perhaps retaliate by not allowing their children to come? What shall I do? — J.B.B.

DEAR J.B.B.: Be frank. When you speak to a mother ask her to drop her child and leave him in your care. And you can sweeten the situation by arranging to take the children home when the party is over.

It's A Long, Long Way

View from the stern illustrates the extreme length of the Canadian Century. The hull of the big laker was actually longer than the dry dock in which it was built, and final completion had to wait until it was moved from dry dock.

Still Riding High

Variable pitch propeller of the Canadian Century is more than half out of water as boat is being fitted in slip along the Welland Canal. Twin rudders of boat are still to be installed. Size of men in background illustrates size of boat.

Belleville Built Conveyor Boom

Conveyor boom 250 feet long for the Canadian Century coaler was designed and built in Belleville by Stephens-Adamson. The Port Weller built laker was built to supply coal for the steam generating plant at Lakeview west of Toronto.

Stephens-Adamson Ltd. Designs Coal Carrier For Speedy Unloading

PORT WELLER — A quiet revolution in cargo-shipping designed in Belleville, launched here today, soon will be plying the Great Lakes, noding into navigation history.

It's all contained in the trim bulk of the motorship "Canadian Century" . . . given its official blessing in traditional fashion this morning.

The ship was christened and commissioned by Mrs. G. E. Gathercole, wife of Ontario Hydro's chairman.

It marked the end of a chain of design events that started on the drawing boards of Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing Company of Canada Ltd., at its Belleville plant.

It also sees the start of a new concept in engineering of cargo loading and disposal anchored to a private-enterprise basis: cost-saving.

Primarily the Canadian Century's job will be to supply coal to Ontario Hydro's Lakeview generating station near Toronto.

It's not a new job, being a coaler, in fact it's one of the oldest, most crucial transportation roles in commerce — pre-dating by far the Industrial Revolution of the late eighteenth-century.

But, that role has now been shipped over the threshhold of the elecontronic age in the "Canadian Century."

Basically, this ultra-modern freighter carries more and unloads faster and cheaper than any other Great Lakes carrier yet designed.

How?

Simple:

"Canadian Century" is one big floating ship's hold — contrasted to the standard carrier with several divided holds.

There are no bulkheads to compartmentalize the ship's cargo capacity nor to slow its unloading.

Cargo unloading equipment, designed by Stephens-Adamson, replaces conveyor belts with a reclaiming machine, operated by one man standing on the ship's upper deck.

The electronic wand of modern engineering here enters the picture.

To unload, the deck operator throws a switch operating a gamma-ray mechanism controlling the opening of tunnel gates in the hold.

The flow of cargo (in this case coal) then feds into a specially - designed elevator raising the coal to the upper deck. There, trainfer-belt conveyors move the coal ashore.

The "Canadian Century" is also unique in more traditional ways.

Photos By Stuart Meeks

It has a depth of 46 feet — substantially greater than any other vessel plying the Great Lakes trade. Other skeletal statistics report it 730 feet long and 75 feet wide.

Built almost entirely of high-tensile steel, it will be the largest self-unloader on the lakes. It's calculated to carry up to 28,000 tons on each trip.

Overall, the secret of the new design's success is the high-tensile steel which drastically reduces the "Canadian Century's displacement by ruling out bulkhead weight and trimming the gauge of the hull's steel shell.

But, unloading of such a displacement of bulk also calls for keen-eyed engineering to solve new ballast problems.

Stephens-Adamson achieved this by designing a complicated balance system, pumping water ballast in the bow while the cargo is being unloaded toward the stern.

There are other features:

Canadian Century is powered by a single diesel engine.

It has twin-steering rudders.

It has a single propeller — and its pitch is controlled entirely from the bridge.

That pitch is variable — also something new in craft of this size.

A thrust propeller also is located up front, to control docking and canal manoeuvering.

Canadian Century, along with two other new lakers — SS Cape Breton Miner and SS Ontario Power — owned by Upper Lake Shipping Limited, will be supplying fuel to power Hydro's big Lakeview operation.

By 1975, Ontario Hydro will require — by current forecasts — an increase in generating capacity of close to nine million kilowatts.

Thermal electric plants already are being cast in a vital role for Ontario's expansion in the future — as they were in the past.

Lakeview is programed for production of 300,000 kilowatts from each of eight generators — a gigantic power source for a forecast matching demand.

When completed Lakeview then will be pumping 2,400,000 kilowatts into the province's hungry grid system. Some idea of the meaning of that statistic can be seen when comparison shows it is greater than the peak 1947 demand made on all Ontario hydro stations.

Last year, Cape Breton Miner and Ontario Power delivered a total of 789,000 tons of coal from Nova Scotia mines to Ontario's Lakeview and R. L. Hearn.

As with the upcoming Canadian Century, unloading equipment in the Cape Breton Miner and Ontario Power also was designed by Stephens-Adamson.

These are just some among the ships of Canadian-owned companies which have incorporated Stephens-Adamson designs.

Other corporations using such machinery include Canada Steamship Lines, Algoma Central Railway and Hall Corporation.

Meantime, business sources say it is fully expected Upper Lakes Shipping will soon order a sister-ship for Canadian Century.

Contracts for the cargo-handling equipment once more are expected to be placed with the Belleville designers.

Fog Forces Slow Start For Upper Lake Ships

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — The 1967 shipping season, which has had a sleepy awakening in the Upper Great Lakes, dozed off Friday under cover of heavy fog in the St. Mary's River.

A spokesman for the U.S. Coast Guard said fog forced five ships to either tie up or anchor at DeTour, Mich. Another five ships sailing down-bound from Duluth, Minn., in Lake Superior Thursday failed to turn up in Sault waters Friday morning.

So far, only nine outside cargo carriers have passed through Sault Ste. Marie since the shipping season opened last Monday — "unusually slim business," a spokesman for the U.S. Corps of Engineers said.

But he predicted traffic would pick up by Sunday when a fleet of 20 vessels is expected to pass through.

The U.S. Coast Guard's ice breaker Mackinaw would remain in the bay in case of winds pushing ice flows into the area from the lake.

SPORTSLICES

By Geo, H. Carver
Sports Editor

The new Broadway Lullaby — "The Blues in the Night."

The New York Rangers emerging from the dungeon of the National Hockey League to a spot in the charmed playoffs circle had the grizzled bench-jockey Gay Gotham since Earl Carroll dunked a nude chorus in a tub full of champagne.

The Rangers charged through the schedule (at one time they led the loop) like a wedded bungfull. The lights of the Great White Way took on an added brilliance.

Blase New Yorkers who thought a puck was a story-book figure gobbled up the sports magazines to find out what this game of ice hockey was all about.

Over in Brooklyn the Flatbush fusiliers hung strangely clad pictures alongside Jackie Robinson, Sal Maglie and other heros of the ex-Dafferytown Dodgers, behind the bars in their favorite bistros.

Emile "The Cat" Francis and his covey of blase-forsoyed puckchasing hitters became heroes practically overnight. From Greenpoint along the banks of the fragrant Gowanus strange names were bandied in new mouths.

The new mania caught on with the speed of an epidemic. Never in the Rangers 41-year history has Gotham flipped its collective wig over the Blueshirts as it did this winter.

Editors, sophisticates, spokesmen for the New Left publications which previously treated the Rangers as frigid pariahs suddenly knighted the sextet.

The New York Times which publishes "all the news that's fit to print" promoted Rangers stories from single paragraph-shorts to eight-column banners usually reserved for the Giants football squad, the Yankees and Mets.

The Rangers Fan Club doubled its membership, a lot of them tired-to-the-soul baseball fans who know how to verbally treat an umpire when he errs.

"Keeping up with the Joses" " hit Fifth and Park Avenues and other posh segments of the city like an April shower. "Get me a couple of playoffs tickets whatever they are" pleaded one Jack Newfield, a confidante of Senator Bobby Kennedy. A press row sally had it that the president of the United States will fore off the first puck in the Garden come opening time next season.

The select "New Yorker", one of Gotham's most sophisticated magazines carried a long essay on the Blues. So did the magazine sections of the New York Times. "The Village Voice", the hippiest magazine in New York assigned a writer as for a full length feature. A publishing company is considering a full-length book on the Blues.

This all before the Darlings of Broadway went down to defeat before the suddenly-unsophisticated wearing the uniform of the Montreal Canadiens.

Actually the Rangers deserved a better fate, but they failed to halt the rushing tornado that roared out of Montreal. It so happened that the team with the Blake buccaneers when they reached their full potential and rode the crest of a sustained victory wave.

But they have some solace, such as playoff bonuses and the fact that for the first time in their history they topped the half-million attendance mark. The previous high was 497,378.

The Garden which charged $1.50 to $6.60 for regular season tickets was sold out for the playoffs at $2.50 to $10.00. Scalpers asked $25 to $30 a throat and the most of them got it.

Now its all over and the Broadway Blues can hang up their pucks. But the echo of a cry that originated years ago from across the river when Ebbets's Field was the palace of a gaggle of daffy screwball baseball players has reached the Great White Way. "Wait 'Til Next Year".

Not Enough Time

Final; Fight Is Off!

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's only fight on schedule is the one against induction into the army April 28.

Herbert Muhammad, Clay's Black Muslim manager, called off Friday the proposed much bounced-around fight between Clay and challenger Floyd Patterson.

Muhammad's decision to call off the fight came about an hour after arrangements were under way to hold the bout in Albuquerque, N.M., April 27.

Before calling off the bout, Muhammad said he preferred Albuquerque to Atlanta as a last minute possibility. The fight previously had been chased out of Las Vegas and Pittsburgh by the respective governors of Nevada and Pennsylvania.

Muhammad was against the Atlanta site and said:

"I just don't think we should take the chance of having some state official commission or mayor jumping up at the last minute to forbid and cancel the fight."

As to calling the whole thing off, Muhammad said:

"The time is too short for proper and fair promotion of the fight. Such haste would only cheapen the heavyweight championship.

"I have talked to the champion and others involved in our camp and we all agreed not to hold the fight until we give some promoter enough time to hold the fight properly."

Clay, whose attorneys have petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to review his legal battle against army induction, agreed with Muhammad.

Referee Not Imlach's Man Friday!

CHICAGO (CP)—Glenn Hall wasn't expected to be in the nets for Chicago Black Hawks today against Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth game of their Stanley Cup semi-final series.

Hall, hit on the chin and throat Thursday night by a slapshot from Toronto forward Jim Pappin, may also miss Tuesday's sixth game, a Hawk official said Friday night.

Hawks won the game 4-3 to tie the best-of-seven series at two games each.

The lower part of his face covered in bandages, Hall lost two teeth and needed "about 24 or 25 stitches to close the cut."

Dean DeJordy, who played the first two games of the series, will be in goal.

Hall was injured in the third period Thursday night and DeJordy took over, surrendering one goal.

The Hawks have been established as 17-to-10 favorites for today's game scheduled for 1:30 p.m. EST. It was to be televised nationally in Canada by the CBC, and in the U.S. on CBS.

The Leafs arrived in Chicago late Friday night. Tim Horton, who left the ice in the third period Thursday with blood spurting from his nose after colliding with Dennis Hull's stick will play.

The only Leaf missing is captain George Armstrong, victim of a hard check from Bobby Hull in the second game of the series. Armstrong is out with an injured right knee but may play Tuesday.

Toronto coach Punch Imlach, asked Friday if injuries are hampering his club's play, said:

"I don't care if we've got 17 guys on one leg, we'll be OK." He said Terry Sawchuk would start in goal today, with Johnny Bower on the bench. Sawchuk, bothered by sore calves and the loss of 20 pounds, said: "I feel OK tonight and I'll be even better tomorrow."

The happiest Leaf around Friday night was Pappin. His wife, Karen, gave birth to a baby boy only hours before the team's plane left for Chicago. "We're going to call him Arnie," said Pappin as he handed out cigars. An avid golfer in the off-season, Pappin said the boy is named after Arnold Palmer.

Before the Leafs left for Chicago, Imlach showed them movies of Hawk 4-3 loss to Chicago. Mostly he concentrated on the work of referee Bill Friday and said he planned to send a piece of the film to National Hockey League headquarters.

The Toronto coach was upset about a holding penalty to Marcel Pronovost in the second period and an icing call against Toronto when Hall deflected the puck behind the Chicago net.

Take Series 3-2

Clippers Oust Aces

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five different Baltimore players scored Friday night as the Clippers defeated Quebec Aces 5-4 to win their best - of - five American Hockey League quarter-finals 3-2.

Baltimore will play Rochester Americans in New York Sunday in the first game of another five-game playoff to see which team will meet the winner of the Hershey - Pittsburgh series in the Calder Cup finals.

It's the first time in club history that Baltimore has passed the first-round playoffs.

Willie Marshall scored for Baltimore in the first period. Ron Ingram and Bob Cunningham tied the game in the second period, and Sandy McGregor and Doug Robinson scored in the third.

The Quebec goals were made by Jim Morrison, Cleland Mortimer and Gordon Labossiere. Labossiere scored in both the second and third period.

In Eastern Final

Aces Take Series

BROCKVILLE (CP) — A goal by Bob Rawson at the 17:45 mark of the second overtime period gave Kingston a 7-6 win over Morrisburg Combines and a berth in the Eastern Canada Allan Cup finals Friday night.

Kingston won the best-of-seven semi-final series four games to one.

The playoffs will now see Kingston facing Drummondville, Que. Buckler in a best-of-seven series.

Rawson battered the winning goal through a mass of players in front of the Morrisburg net.

Acres tied the game at 6-6 in the third period when defenceman John Ford fired a long screen shot past Combines goalie Wayne Thomas. Acres had pulled out goalie Steve Ron in favor of an extra forward seconds before.

Kingston took a 2-0 lead in the first period with goals by Dennis Le Kearns and Jackie Price.

Rawson added another for Kingston at 2:11 of the second period before Morrisburg was able to score in the game.

During the period, Acres added other goals by Dave Jones and Wayne Brown. Kingston's scorers were Derek Holmes with two goals and Bob Aube with one.

Combines went ahead for the first time in the third period with goals by Andy Desmond and Bob Aube with Kingston tying the game for the last time.

Scoreless 52 Innings

Dodgers Halt Jaster String

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Los Angeles a year and a half to score a run off Larry Jaster and by then it hardly mattered.

"I'm relieved it's over with," Jaster said after the Dodgers ended his scoreless streak against them with a run at 52 2-3 innings in the seventh at St. Louis Friday. "I'll take the win."

St. Louis led 8-0 by the time Jeff Torborg's fly ball accidentally fell into Lefebvre home with the drought-ending run. Three more Dodger runs in the ninth inning were scarcely enough to threaten the 23 - year - old left-hander's victory.

Jaster's streak went back to late 1955 when he pitched a scoreless inning in relief and extended all the way through last season and a record-tying five innings over the Dodgers.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta Braves edged San Francisco Giants 6-5, Philadelphia Phillies routed New York Mets 9-1, Houston Astros crushed Cincinnati Reds 8-2 and Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Orlando Cepeda drove in three Cardinal runs, and Roger Maris had three hits.

Felipe Alou and Joe Torre cracked home runs in the first inning, helping Atlanta to their first victory of the season.

Chris Short set the Mets down on seven hits, and the Phillies got maximum use out of five singles in the second inning when they scored three runs.

Mets manager Wes Westrum was tossed out of the game for vigorously protesting a foul ball call on a ball hit by Johnny Briggs that Briggs contended hit his foot.

Home runs by Aaron Pointer and Eddie Mathews sent the Braves to their triumph. Joe Adcock drove in four runs for the Reds.

Simmons scattered 11 hits in the Cubs' victory, which spoiled the Pirates' home opener.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Jean-Paul Parise scored with 1:38 gone in overtime Friday night to give Oklahoma City Blazers a 3-2 victory over Omaha Knights and a one-game lead in the best - of - seven Central Hockey League finals.

Ron Buchanan had tied the score with 16 seconds left in regulation time after Parise had forger of Omaha drew a tripping penalty. Oklahoma City pulled its goalie and launched an attack that netted the tying goal.

Jean Pronovost scored for the other Oklahoma City goal.

Al Hamilton and Larry Mickey scored for Omaha.

Seattle Leads 3-2

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Helped by a first-period 45-foot goal, California Seals won their semi - final Western Hockey League game against Seattle Friday night by withstanding a third-period Totem rally for a 4-3 victory.

The long goal came in the first period after Ron Harris fired from the centre red line. The puck hit the backboard, bounced off the goal pipe edge and was accidentally kicked into the net by Seattle goalie Jim McLeod.

Hawks Or Leafs; Habs Ready

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens came out of their four-game Stanley Cup semi - final sweep over New York Rangers with every team member physically ready for the final round of the playoffs.

Claude Provost, who did not participate in Montreal's 2-1 overtime win over the Rangers in New York Tuesday night due to a bruised thumb, is expected to be ready for the finals.

The Canadiens arrived in Montreal by train Friday morning. The players boarded for their homes, but were to return to the Forum Saturday for a practice session.

Except for the workout, the players will spend the weekend with their families before leveling north to their Laurentian retreat.

The Canadiens will commute from the Laurentians to the Forum for daily practices until the final round commences.

Montreal players do not know yet who they will face in the final series and when the first game will begin.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks were deadlocked at two games each going into today's fifth match at Chicago.

Today's games will be shown nationally at 1:30 p.m. EST on CBC television and in the over CBS.

The sixth game in the series is slated for Tuesday, April 16, in Toronto. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played April 20 in Chicago.

If the Toronto - Chicago series ends after six games, the finals will begin next Thursday in either Chicago or Montreal.

If the series goes to the limit, the first game of the final round will be played Saturday, April 22.

If the Maple Leafs defeat the Black Hawks, the first game of the series will be held in Montreal. If not, the series will open in Chicago.

The Canadiens are in their 10th final since the National Hockey League became a six-team circuit for the 1942-43 season.

Beehives Give Petes Heave-Ho

DIXIE (CP)—Dixie Beehives defeated Peterborough 6-2 to clinch the Eastern Ontario junior B hockey title.

Dixie won the best-of-seven series four games to one and will meet Stamford in the Ontario final.

Allen Gordanier led Dixie with two goals. Jim Barford, Steve Sterling, Bob Tucker and Scott Langdon scored singles.

Peterborough goals went to Terry Blewett and Ron Chittick.

Drumheller Remains In Contention

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)—Drumheller Miners fired a four-goal third - period barrage to defeat Nelson Maple Leafs 9-5 Friday and stay in contention in the Western Allan Cup best-of-five semi-final.

Nelson won the first two games before Drumheller came up with Friday's victory.

Hometowners Hoot Howard's Hit

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Care for a bit of Can You Top This?

Bill Dillman of Baltimore and Jim Rohr of Boston, a pair of pitchers' prodigies, played that odd game in their major league debuts Friday and if Dillman hadn't run out of innings, he might have won the match.

Rohr came within one strike of no - hitting New York Yankees but lost his bid on a two-out, 3-2 pitch, single by Elston Howard in the bottom of the ninth inning. He finished up a 3-0 winner.

Dillman came out of the bullpen for the Orioles and hurled five hitless innings, earning credit for Baltimore's 7-1 victory over Kansas City Athletics.

Both Dillman and Rohr are 21 and getting their first taste of life in the big leagues. And so far things couldn't be better for them.

"It would have been nice to have a no-hitter," smiled Rohr, "but it's awfully nice to be 1-0 in the big league." A lefthander, Rohr was 14-10 with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League last year.

Dillman never expected to be with the Orioles after spending last year between Durham, N.C., Elmira, N.Y., and Rochester, N.Y., with a combined 10-7 record.

On Friday's other American League action, Minnesota Twins downed Detroit Tigers 5-3 and California Angels clobbered Cleveland Indians 10-1. Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators were not scheduled.

The long ball provided Rohr with all his runs against the Yankees. Rookie Reggie Smith led off against Whitey Ford with a home run and Joe Foy added a two-run shot in the eighth.

An opening day crowd of 14,375 at Yankee Stadium began pulling for Rohr as the youngster set the Yankees down and clicked on the pursuit no-hitter.

When Howard drove what the youngster described as a flat curve into right field for the spoiler, the fans booed.

"It was the first time I ever got a base hit and got booed in New York," Howard said.

Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles hammered home runs for the Twins against Detroit.

Allison's shot in the ninth inning, tied the game at 3-3 and moments later, Minnesota took the lead when Versalles, who had singled, raced home on Jerry Lumpe's error.

Andy Etchebarren ripped a three - run homer for the Orioles, who knocked out Kansas City starter Lew Krausse on a three-run first inning which included a triple by Paul Blair and a double by Frank Robinson.

Jay Johnstone and Jim Piersall smacked three hits apiece and Don Mincher and Rick Reichardt hammered home runs as the Angels romped past Cleveland.

Wins SS Tournament

Badminton To Quinte

Quinte Secondary School captured the annual Bay of Quinte District High School badminton tournament held here Friday with an 11-point spread over their closest competitors.

Quinte piled up 42 points followed by Picton's Prince Edward Collegiate with 31, Moira Secondary with 30, BCIVS 28, Napanee 23, Ontario School for the Deaf 18, Stirling High School 13, Cloyne 8, Albert College 6 and Tweed 4.

Ten boys' teams and eight girls' teams represented their schools with first-round losers dropping back into consolation play.

In the championship round, Prince Edward Collegiate's Max Burley and Ben Lee won the junior boys' title.

Roger and Rick Hunter gave Quinte the senior boys' title in a tight battle against Robert Seefjelds and John Kiser, also of Quinte.

In junior girls', Prince Edward's Nancy Walters and Debbie McAlpine won top honors.

The senior girls' crown went to Judy Pulis and Wanda Wood, of Moira Secondary School.

In consolation play, Napanee won the senior boys' and senior Girls' championships while Quinte took the junior boys' title and Moira Secondary the junior girls' honors.

Quinte received the trophy, donated by Prince Edward Collegiate, for the points victory.

Nine Under Par

Beard Leads Pack At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The giants of golf remained in seats slightly to the rear today as Frank Beard, with a lead of three shots, paced the procession of 26 players into the third round of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

Beard, from Louisville, Ky., headed toward 54 holes with previous rounds of 65-68—133, nine strokes under par for the distance, and said happily:

"Maybe this is going to be my week."

Then at 136 were Jack Nicklaus, Doug Sanders and Dan Sikes.

Nicklaus and Sikes reached 136 with successive rounds of 68, while Sanders did it in 67-69.

Three - time winner Arnold Palmer, with 68-73, was down the line at 141, deadlocked with Art Wall Jr. and Don January.

The 139 bracket listed Gay Brewer, Bobby Nichols, R. H. Sikes and Bruce Devlin, while Bob Goalby was alone at 140. Par back at 143 was U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, who flailed away for his highest one-hole score, an 11, on the par — 5 13th hole of the par 36-35—71 Stardust Golf Club there is $20,000 at stake for the winner, but the pros haven't lost their sense of humor.

"I played like Barbara, but I didn't score like that," said Nicklaus, referring to his pretty wife.

"A real fabulous day," said Palmer, directing his sarcasm to himself. "I putted well the last three holes, but by then it was too late. The greens are the main reason."

Popular Jim Nieporte was disqualified under an automatic Professional Golfers Association rule when he failed to show up for his No. 1 starting time. Inadvertently, Nieporte said, his partner, Phil Rodgers, told him the night before they were slated to tee off last.

The sponsors said it was an honest mistake. Nieporte was given the minimum $1,500 purse and flew home.

Shrine Tournament

Fuels Win Opener

Belleville Smith Fuels, Trenton and Peterborough Rehill Fuels advanced into the "A" section of the annual Shrine peewee hockey tournament with first-round victories.

Smith's blanked Bowmanville 7-0 and Trenton whitewashed West Rouge by the same score in the two games played last night.

In this morning's 8.0 o'clock tilt, Peterborough Rehill squad defeated Brooklin 8-1.

Play continues all day today with "B" finals (for first-round losers) scheduled for 6.00 and the "A" championship game for 7.00 tonight.

The host Belleville club, which won the OMHA peewee "A" championship last weekend, was below par last night but beat Bowmanville with two first-period goals and five in the third.

Danny Lupenette paced the Smith scorers with three goals while David Flesch, John Mulvihill, Peter Smirke and Mark Mars netted the others.

Grant Goegan, Coates, Jim Richardson, with two each, Steve Smith, Lupenette and Mulvihill, had assists. Dave Rutherford was is goal for the shutout.

Joey Chouinard chalked up Trenton's shutout while Billy Glover fired two goals against the West Rouge club. Jim Whitney, Grant Martin, Victor McLean, Ron Ferguson and Phil Henson notched Trenton's other goals. The winners scored four goals in the first period, two in the second and one in the third.

The Peterborough Minor Hockey Association team took a slim 2-1 first-frame lead against Brooklin this morning but tries in the second and third wrapped up the win. Jim Heaslip scored Brooklin's lone goal. Mark Viterailli and Rick Minnie sparked Peterborough's attack with two goals each. Mark Carter, John Booth, Art Peterson and Steve McGillis added singletons.

Other teams in the tournament are Peterborough Trentways (Church League), Oshawa, Oakville and Richmond Hill Lions.

Walter Bailey Rolls a 408

Walter Bailey became the sixth bowler from the Quinte Classic League to top the 400 mark this season when he rolled 408 last night.

Bailey started with two strikes, spared the third, came back with eight more strikes and left the corner pin on his final ball.

Pauline, James of the Ladies' Thursday Afternoon League, came up with a great game this week too but missed the 400 mark despite having 11 strikes. She bowled 393.

She started with eight consecutive strikes but got only 13 in the ninth frame before adding three more strikes in the tenth.

Players Suspended, Fined

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo's Jim Nicksmp and Fort Wayne's Cal Purkeon were given one - game suspensions Friday for their part in an International Hockey League playoff brawl Thursday night.

League commissioner Andy Mulligan also levied fines on seven other players, four from Toledo and three from Fort Wayne. The amounts of the fines were not disclosed.

Toledo's 3-2 victory in the match gave the Blades a 2-1 edge over the Komets in the best-of-seven championship series.

Nicksamp and Purinton, both defencemen, were ordered suspended from tonight's fourth game in Toledo. They will be eligible to play in the fifth game at Fort Wayne, Mulligan said.

The brawl broke out in the third period of Thursday' game. Nicksamp and Purinton were suspended for unsportsmanlike conduct, Mulligan said.

Shade Red Wings 5-3

Marlies Take 2-0 Lead

HAMILTON (CP)—It's a big step from Junior B to Junior A in the Ontario Hockey Association, but Gord Davies, 18, of Toronto Marlies made it in style Friday night.

Davies, a left winger up from the York Steel Junior B club, scored the winning goal as Toronto defeated Hamilton Red Wings 5-3 to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven OHA Junior A finals.

"He's been doing a real good job for us," said coach Gus Bodnar after the game.

"He's a hockey sense and he looks as if he belongs out there."

Davies took a pass from the corner by defenceman Mike Pelyk and slapped the puck into the net after a Hamilton defenceman missed it.

Gerry Meehan, Terry Caffery, Steve Kasp and Pelyk got the other Toronto goals.

Fred Speck, Don Giesebrecht and Ted Snobelen scored for Hamilton.

Hamilton led 2-0 after the first period and 3-1 late in the second. The Red Wings forced Toronto goalkeeper Bob Whidden to right goal duties when Ron Renald/LeClerc and Bob Atkinson had a man advantage on both their first period goals.

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—After his Thetford Mines Canadiens had to scramble from behind with four goals in the third period to win 5-4, coach Rolland Morrisseau has developed a heightened respect for Cornwall Royals in their Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-final.

The victory gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven games series, but Morrisseau said after the game:

"We'll have to fight for every game. I have lots of respect for this Cornwall club and I can't see it will be them in four games."

KNUDSON'S WORLD OF GOLF

By GEORGE KNUDSON

MR. MAGOO

I'm sure you're all familiar with my good friend, Mr. Magoo.

You know the one — the little short-sighted character with squinty eyes in movie and television cartoons.

As unlikely as it might seem, Magoo is one of my favorite golf partners.

I'm speaking, of course, about Jim Knudson the man who does Magoo's voice. Jim has been my partner on many occasions, including three years in Bing Crosby's annual pro-amateur tournament in California.

Jim is a funy guy, especially after the game in the clubhouse, or when he hooks up with actor Peter Falk in a routine at the first tee.

But of course, he takes his golf seriously, shooting to a 14 handicap at the tough Riviera course in Lose Angeles.

A pro golfer gets a chance to meet quite a few celebrities from coast to coast, and Jim Backus is the best of the ones I've played with — Dorothy O'Connor, Vic Damone, Hoagy Carmichael, Ray Bolger — but O'Connor has the most potential.

Donald is full of rhythm, the way he is when he dances. And if he was in really peak condition, he'd probably be a scratch golfer.

Anyway, Backus and I were in a tournament this one day, standing on the tee at a par-three hole.

It was about 220 yards and he was addressing the ball suddenly, he backed away, started laughing.

"Hey, Jim," I said, "what's the matter?"

"George, I don't know whether to cut it in there or hook it in," he laughed.

"Just go ahead and hit it," I told him.

Can you imagine — here was a green ahead of us, + trapped everywhere but at the back and there was a boundary back there. And Jim was going to try and fade or draw the ball home to it.

Heck, Ben Hogan, the best man who ever played this game, would have hit the ball straight and hoped to land on the green in this situation. And Backus is no Ben Hogan.

That's the trouble with a lot of golfers. When they stand up to the ball, they have no idea what they're going to do with it.

Forget the fancy shots. I haven't seen a golf course yet where a straight ball won't do the job.

I still question my ability to fade or draw a ball gracefully and with control. It isn't often you find it necessary.

That's what I told Magoo that day.

He hit it straight and put it on the green.

Come to think of it, I'm always giving that guy tips. He owes me something.

I wonder if he would teach me some of his wacky voices?

Market's Down This Week Due To Blue Chip Leadership Lack

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's major stock exchanges bogged down again this week due to a lack of blue-chip leadership.

Some brokers said markets appear to be going through a period of correction after a long string of gains since the beginning of the year.

The Toronto exchange's industrial index, key indicator of the market's performance, dropped 1.86 to 182.57, reflecting investors' attitudes.

Volume at Toronto slumped to 12,585,000 shares compared with 15,038,000 last week — a week brokers described as slow.

At Montreal volume showed only a slight gain of 49,000 shares to 4,063,000.

An increasingly large percentage of Canadian investment money is being shifted from Canada to United States exchanges, brokers say.

One example of lack of activity in blue-chip stocks was B.C. Forest, which was down 1¼ on the week to 23 on only 1,726 shares. Royal Bank traded only 4,800 shares, down 1¼ to 80¾—and banks have been a leader in recent months.

There was little action in the speculative market.

One of the most active speculatives in Toronto was Argosy Mining, which dropped 45 to 80 cents on 395,000 shares.

"We've had three times that action on specs in one day when people were ready to take a gamble," one broker lamented.

Argosy absorbed its drop Friday on news that its drilling program on its Nevada property had shown poor results.

A few blue-chips also took a beating. Inco was down 4¼ to 94¾ following reports that the United States government is being urged to release 60,000,000 pounds of nickel from its stockpiles to meet domestic demand.

Falconbridge was off ½ to 87½. Sherritt - Gordon, another major nickel producer, was down 15 cents to 3.85.

Ureniume were one of the few bright spots in the market.

Rio Algom advanced 1¾ to 19¼, Denison 1¼ to 61¾ and Roman Corp.—whose chief asset is Denison shares—¾ to 16½.

GOLDIE COME BACK

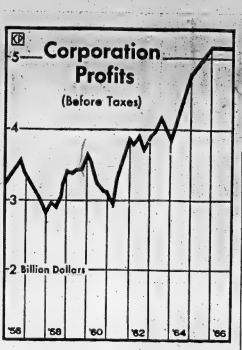
Golds rebounded from sharp drops suffered during the last two months and climbed 6.64 on index to 132.41 at Toronto.

Dons moved up 3¼ to 44, Campbell Red Lake 1 to 20, Giant Yellowknife 80 cents to 8.55 and Kerr-Addison ¼ to 12¼.

On index at Toronto, base metals edged up .18 to 91.29 while western oils fell 1.01 to 156.02.



At Montreal, industrials were down 1.72 to 161.67, banks .54 to 132.80 and papers 1.49 to 132.04. Utilities were up .01 to 146.30.

Output Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial output in the United States increased slightly during March following the biggest two-month drop in six years, the federal reserve board said Friday.

The rise provided a new hint of a possible upturn in the economy as predicted by the government for the second half of the year but officials have tried to say that an upswing has begun.

One key government source described the rise in the index to 158.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 158.1 per cent in February as a leveling out rather than an upward movement.

High Investment Rate Needed

TORONTO (CP) — Leslie Rowntree, Ontario minister of financial and commercial affairs, said Friday the province views with alarm those who tend to cradle a whipping boy out of foreign—and particularly American — investment in our country and province."

He told the Association of International Border Agencies: "We cannot improve our capacity and our productivity without a high rate of increase in business investment."

Even the strongest critics of foreign investment, he said, admitted the validity of non-resident investment in mining.

He said the Association of vided for the development of Canadian mineral deposits on the basis of a guaranteed market abroad.

He said the result of foreign ownership is "expanding job opportunities at wages and salaries above the average."

A text of his speech was released in advance of delivery.

New Town Is Planned

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Interurban Properties Ltd. of Toronto is planning a 15-year development of a 7,000,000,000 township, a company spokesman said Friday.

J. A. Lowrie, company president, said he could not comment on the actual location of the proposed township and added that the site will not be announced until early in May.

He said the company has entered into a preliminary agreement to purchase and develop the townsite which will have a projected population of 50,000. The site is believed to be in the Ottawa area.

ALCOHOL HURTS

Alcohol was blamed for 22,000 industrial accidents in Norway last year.

Profits Decline

Corporation profits before taxes were down slightly in 1966 from 1965, declining to $5,187,000,000 from $5,199,000,000, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says. The decline was well under one per cent, but represented profit decreases in a wide range of fields, including manufacturing, mining, retail trade and a group combining financial, insurance and real estate institutions. Notable exceptions were in the wholesale and service industries.

Not One Clause Yet Approved After Two Weeks of Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — The battle over the government's bill to unify the armed services ended its second week Friday with opposition guns still pounding and Liberal forces appearing to hold their ground.

Debate on the 61-clause bill began April 3 and not one clause has yet been approved as Conservatives continue their attack on the legislation that will bring together the army, navy and air force into a single service.

Opposition claims are that unification has not been properly defined and that Defence Minister Hellyer has refused to listen to reasonable criticisms. There has been criticism that Canada's foreign policy lacks definition and that it would be pointless to determine the character of a military force when it is not known what its role would be.

The government gave notice Thursday it will use its so-called "guillotine rule" if necessary to end the debate.

The rule, being tried for the season only, provides that allocation of time for a debate be determined by an all-party committee.

If there is no agreement, the government can introduce a motion setting time limits on the debate.

The all-party committee met Friday evening without reaching agreement and was to meet again Monday.

The legislation appeared headed for more rough handling next week in the wake of charges from a Maritimes member Friday that some servicemen wanting to leave the armed forces after serving their agreed time are being denied release.

Patrick Nowlan (PC—Digby-Annapolis-Kings) asked Defence Minister Hellyer to explain this "freeze" on releasing men entitled to retire.

The minister said he hoped to make a statement Monday.

He was asked a similar question by Mr. Nowlan Feb. 24 and said then that there was no such freeze.

The Nova Scotia member said outside the Commons he questions the legality of keeping men in the services against their will and knows of one man considering legal action.

Honor Dr. S. R. Beatty At Testimonial Dinner

MADOC — Over 300 people attended the testimonial dinner in honor of Dr. S. R. Beatty at the Centre Hastings Recreational Centre April 12.

Head table guests included Reeve Tom Burnside who chaired this happy occasion, Mrs. Burnside, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Cronk, C. T. Rollins, MLA, Dr. and Mrs. G. Allan, Senator and Mrs. George White, Dr. and Mrs. Stan. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Redden, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ketcheson, Mr. and Mrs. Kel Kincaid, Jack Kincaid, Rev. and Mrs. David Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown.

Letters of greetings were read by Reeve Burnside from Rt. Hon. J. G. Diefenbaker, Rod Webb, MP and Dr. Matthew Dymond, Ontario Minister of Health.

Dr. F. R. Ross of Belleville introduced visiting doctors and conveyed greetings from the board and medical staff of Belleville General Hospital.

Brian Blakley presented Dr. Beatty with a plaque on behalf of the Madoc Lions Club that he was the doctor's 1000th baby born on June 10, 1946.

Mrs. Hilda McGivern presented Mrs. H. Beatty with a bouquet of red roses from the ladies of the community.

Clarke T. Rollins, MLA brought greetings from the county and spoke on many achievements and contributions of Dr. Beatty during the 40 years he had practised in and around Madoc. Mr. Rollins presented Dr. Beatty with a colored portrait of himself from the Rollins family.

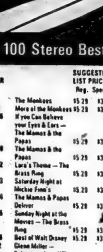
Kel Kincaid introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Sam Cronk of Belleville.

Dr. Cronk gave a detailed outline of the life and practice of Dr. Beatty. For 40 years Dr. Beatty had practised in Madoc. He had served six municipalities, Madoc Township, Hungerford Township, Tudor and Cashel, Elzevir and Grimsthorpe, Limerick and the Village of Madoc as medical advisor and family physician for over twenty years. He served on the Hydro Commission, the School Board, in the Kiwanis for 17 years, the church board of Stewards and Odd Fellows. Compliments were also extended to his wife for her loyal support not only to her husband but to many people, especially in taking calls, directing the doctor's movements and assisting in delivering.

Allen Ketcheson returned appreciation to Dr. Cronk and remarked of the many years he and Dr. Beatty had worked together.

Jack Kincaid, former Reeve of Madoc, who for many years worked with Dr. Beatty on community projects, especially the installation of the water works, expressed thanks on behalf of the community. He presented the doctor with a portable T.V. set and a remote control set.

Dr. S. R. Beatty expressed his deepest appreciation for this occasion. He thanked the many doctors present and said he appreciated their help, co - operation and friendship over many years. He also expressed appreciation to the Kiwanis Club of Madoc, Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce, Madoc I.O.O.F. No. 179, Madoc Lodge No. 40 A.F. and A.M., and a host of friends. The local municipalities and the O.P.P. during his many years as coroner were of great assistance. As a doctor, he said, he did his duty as he saw fit. Much of the credit he got to his wife for her loyal support and faithfulness. The doctor received a standing ovation following his speech.



Mrs. Beatty briefly conveyed her appreciation and thanks. She spoke of the nurses who had helped her husband during the past 40 years and introduced Mrs. Murial Bird, Mrs. Mabel McCann, Mrs. E. Heirland, Miss Bela Lee and Mrs. E. Mahony.

Chairman Burnside announced that the presentation would be shown on Channel 4 Thursday night and that a tape of the event would be presented to Dr. Beatty at a later date.

Entertainment was provided by Kenny Bronson, who sang three songs, by Mrs. E. Pigden and John Wagner who presented a humorous number and by Raymond Smith who sang a solo.

BEAVER'S FARM KNOW-HOW DEVELOPS A SILO "JUST RIGHT" FOR THE CANADIAN CLIMATE!

ALL NEW STANDFAST PRESSURE TREATED WOOD SILOS

PROVEN DESIGN ... This masonry silo is based on engineering principles developed from over 30 years of Canadian farm experience and tested conditions. Complete details for self construction are contained in our booklet.

WOOD ... still the best!

Wood, the traditional silo building material has outclassed all other types of silo construction materials. And no one knows wood construction as well as the Beaver Agricultural Engineer who developed this new Standfast Wood Silo.

PRESSURE TREATED ...
All lumber used in the construction of the Standfast Silo has been thoroughly pressure-treated to minimize the deterioration caused by the fungi ... and longer life to the building ... and longer life to the contents.

BETTER INSULATION ...
The 6" nominal thickness of the wood walls has 3 times the insulation value of a 6" concrete wall. Maximum protection from silage freezing.

LESS MAINTENANCE ...
There is little maintenance with the Standfast. Even the hardware used is galvanized corrosion resistant—all design loads and working stresses comply with the Canadian Farm Building Standards — Supplement #3 to the National Building Code of Canada.

Christian Pavilion Is Shock Show of Expo

MONTREAL (CP)—The shock pavilion of Expo 67 may well turn out to be the Christian pavilion, previewed for astounded reporters Friday.

The $1,200,000 project on a 28,000,000-square-foot site on the northwest of Notre Dame Island greets visitors with the conventional Expo unconventionality of exterior design. The surprise is waiting inside.

Eight churches representing 85 per cent of Canada's Christians take part—the Anglican, Baptist, Greek Orthodox, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Ukrainian Greek Orthodox and United Church of Canada.

There's not a pulpit in the place. No stained-glass windows, no religious statues or paintings, no hymns, no praying, no sermons.

Instead the pavilion's theme—The Eighth Day or man's day of rest—is laid out in three areas for visitors to experience.

Area 1 is heavy with the insistent thump of a human heartbeat, from a loudspeaker in an exhibition of photographs dealing with medical science.

All around this area large blown-up photographs show people caught unawares, walking down streets, arguing, singing.

The visitor passes into Area 2 by walking down a roughcast sloping ramp, lined with more photographs, of youths kicking a young boy, of Negro housemaids in women's clothing and mascop, of flies crawling over a dirty cup, of a wall with obscenities chalked on it.

The roof gets lower, the photographs are depressing, the walls are painted black, the visitor is being prepared for a brain-stunning 15-minute film presentation.

The film is the crux of the whole pavilion and leaps hysterically through 50 years of horror to fill the viewer with the realization of what man has done with his environment.

Starting with innocuous carousels and fairground rides it jumps to the struttings of Kaiser Wilhelm before the First World War, the start of hostilities and the raging massacre by naval gun, aircraft and infantry basement.

Hence comes the frenetic society of between the wars with fads and crazes and booms.

Hitler, the Japanese and the whole conflict of the Second World War zoom before us, then the ominous mushroom of the atomic bomb and the desolate wastes of Hiroshima.

The visitor walks up a ramp away from the small theatre, where no seats are provided, and into a small room called Aftermath where large photographs of dead children, shattered cities and blasted countryside point up the moral of the film.

Up a flight of stairs lies area 3, where projectors throw bags slides of people blessing and living happily. This area stresses human love and the hope of mankind.

Children seen playing in the Aftermath room wearing concentration camp striped blouses or now are laughing and elderly people stand on park benches to show their exuberance and defiance of authority.

Designer Charles Gagnon said the pavilion is intended to represent life itself.

"The pavilion has a message meant to fit religious denominations, that God is involved in everyday living."

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Joined Anything Lately?--- It Could Pay Off After 65

By THOMAS COLLINS

You are in sight of retirement. Most of your friends know this, and ask you about your plans. You give them a good spiel about what you'll do.

You don't really know what you'll do, though you have some vague ideas. You worry, mostly about too little money and too much time. You hunt around for any advice on how to make retirement succeed.

Perhaps you can use the advice of Carl W. Tillman who retired two years ago with a special formula of his own, and has made life good.

"My formula," he says, "was simply a matter of copying the technique of young lawyers and doctors who hang out their shingles and go into practice."

"These professional men, as you know, can't advertise. Ethics or something. A person nearing retirement can't advertise either, mostly because of pride and good taste. He can hardly go around proclaiming he is now in the sixth decade of life and can be had in the large economy size for a job, for a marriage, even for companionship . . ."

The lawyer and doctor find a way to get around the problem, Mr. Tillman explains. They join all the luncheon clubs they can find, such as Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis; all of the better community campaigns — in fact, about anything respectable that will spread their name around and let a lot of people know them. In time this builds a circle of friends, and friends.

"The retired person can advertise in the same dignified way, and should," Mr. Tillman continues. "It is the man and women who know the most people who fare best in retirement. And who get these good retirement jobs."

Mr. Tillman used his own formula, of course, starting about six months before he retired. Since retirement he has been chosen to head two major community campaigns, has made $2,200 on a four-month consulting job, and now gets a $100-a-month retainer fee from a company that uses him for sales contacts.

"All of these came from people I got to know in the organizations I joined," he says. "I never tried to win offices in the organizations — these should be left to the younger men. But I did any job I was handed, mixed and mingled with the membership, and became known favorably to a lot of influential people. When a good proposition came up somewhere they would remember me and phone. Always one such proposition would lead to another . . ."

Mr. Tillman is sure he has played the "organization game" better than anybody. But he cited these cases of other retired people he has seen following his formula to a good life:

A retired accountant, belonging to five organizations, found his growing circle of friends asking a growing number of questions about income taxes. He went into business as a tax adviser, set up an office in his home, and now has 18 clients, all of them organization members.

A retired woman school teacher went to the P.T.A. route, enjoying the parents of her fifth-grade pupils. The father of one of the pupils hired her as a companion for his aging and wealthy mother and she is now travelling with the mother in Mexico.

A retired merchant, named by his luncheon club as chairman of a community beautification project, did such a remarkable job at it that he parlayed it into a garden store at the edge of town . . . And a retired advertising man, crippled by arthritis, got through a friend in his Chamber of Commerce a job mapping mail-order campaigns for a department store.

"It's not just to get a job that any morsle is good," Mr. Tillman says. "It's to keep you out in the stream of life and among people — and that's what retired people need."

The Flower Girls

Little Muriel Turnbull finds out where artificial flowers come from while watching mother, Mrs. A. L. Turnbull (right) and Mrs. Stanley Kvarda make decorations for wine-cheese tasting festival. Event, to be held April 21, is in support of National Ballet Guild.

Stamford Edges Kitchener

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Stamford Bruins took a 3-2 lead in their Ontario Hockey Association Junior B semi - finals with Kitchener Greenshirts Friday night with a 5-4 victory.

The Bruins held off a Kitchener rally in the game's final four minutes when Kitchener scored two goals to cut Stamford's 5-2 lead to 5-4.

Gala Night in Store For Wine Tasters

The Belleville Branch of the National Ballet Guild has completed plans for its annual wine and cheese tasting party, to be held April 21-In the main auditorium at Club Canara from 8.30 to 11.30 p.m.

Mrs. Stanley Kvarda announced today that tea, as well as the traditional wine and cheese, will be available and gourmet sherry jelly will be for sale. Three fortune tellers will be in attendance and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson are in charge of the floor show.

Others assisting with the party are George Brickwood, Mrs. Peter Belton, Mrs. A. L. Turnbull, R. C. Greig, Mrs. Peter Harris, Mrs. Milton Lack, Mrs. Ken Soden and Mrs. Thomas H. Hammel.

Quebec City Man Named Drama Festival's Judge

OTTAWA (CP)—Guy Beaulne of Quebec City will be adjudicator at the Dominion Drama Festival finals to be held in St. John's, Nfld., May 22 to27, festival president John Brook announced today.

Six drama groups competing in the finals were chosen from 65 entries in 14 regional festivals held this spring across Canada.

Mr. Beaulne, director-general of artistic training for the Quebec ministry of cultural affairs, is a veteran of 30 years in Canadian theatre.

His adjudication of the finals will only be the third by a Canadian since the festival began in 1933. He was adjudicator of the 1965 finals and Prof. Emrys Jones of Saskatoon judged the 1947 finals.

To Your Good Health

Giving Birth Doesn't Alter Breasts

Dear Dr. Molner: So many of us young single girls are concerned with our figures "to be." After having children, we've found, the breasts never return to normal size. Either they completely disap-pear or stay very large.

What is the truth of this? Need they change? Can we smaller girls "hope for the future" or will there be disad-vant? Can fondness affect be achieved? — M., N., F., E., and J., The Girls at the P.O. Co.

Years ago I had a college professor who used to say, "It's sad when people don't know that causes the most troubles: it's the things they know that aren't so."

So you girls are jumping to conclusions that aren't facts.

Having children has very little to do with size of the breasts. Just a look around at young mothers who have kept their figures ought to convince you — but instead of looking, you seem to have been listen-ing to calamity howlers. And of course it's the calamities you always hear about, never the multitudinous normal cases.

More maturity brings some development, and none girls develop faster than others, so a girl is her teens who isn't very busty at times develops further when she marries and has children. But that is far from the major element involved.

Most of the "disasters" after childbirth are a result of weight fluctuation, not of hav-ing babies.

The breasts are to a large extent fatty tissues, and a gain in weight is very likely to have its effect there (along with other places).

There are women who, very unwisely, suddenly begin to take things too easy, and to eat too much, when pregnant. I know them. Some of them have gained 30, 40, yes even 50 pounds. A good many of them never get their figures back. It is among these women that you hear the story that childbirth makes their breasts too large.

At the other extreme are some who lose weight after the baby is born. What ever temporary enlargement there was during pregnancy, plus actual weight gain followed by loss, leaves them flatter than before. And a very large gain, followed by equally drastic loss of weight means that the tissues have been stretched, and afterward, become flabby.

The proper way is to keep weight within reason during pregnancy. A gain of about 20 lbs. is reasonable. More than that means excessive fat or fluid (in the tissues or within the uterus.)

Let yourself gain slowly; remain physically active. That way there will be little differ-ence in your figure before and after.

Underlying this advice is a much more important matter than your tape-measure wor-ries. Keeping weight within reasonable limits means you will be healthier, the baby will be healthier, the delivery will be easier, and the risk of compli-cations is greatly reduced.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should warts be removed and which is the best method? — Mrs. H. M.

Ordinarily warts disappear by themselves eventually, al-though they aren't always quick about it. Removal is usu-ally because they are painful (as on the sole of the foot) or are disfiguring. Simple office surgery or cautery usually suf-fices, but if cosmetic appear-ance is important, your doctor may send you to a dermatologist, plastic surgeon or other spe-cialist.

Note to W.S.: I have with-held your letter as you asked, but the answer to your ques-tion is no, cancer cannot be transmitted by contact, and cannot be transmitted by bed-ding.

Dr. Molner is interested in all kinds of readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his columns, but because of the great num-ber received daily he regrets that he cannot answer individ-ual letters.

Alberta to Vote May 23

EDMONTON (CP) — Pre-mier E. C. Manning, in a state-ment issued no more than two minutes, announced Friday a provincial general election for Tuesday, May 23.

Hours later, he was chal-lenged by Alberta's Progressive Conservative leader, Peter Lougheed, to debate campaign issues on provincewide televi-sion.

Liberal Leader Mike Mac-Pherson and New Democratic Party Leader Neil Reimer sent copies of the telegram con-taining the challenge.

Standing after the 1963 gen-eral election was Social Credit with 60, Liberal two and Coalition one.

The NDP and Liberals each gained a seat in byelections. third byelection resulted in Soc-ial Credit retaining a seat.

Redistribution will bring the total provincial ridings to 63, with one seat added in Edmon-ton and another in Calgary.

Micheners, Pearsons Embrace At Ottawa Airport Homecoming

OTTAWA (CP) — Two old friends met with obvious warmth Friday night as Roland Michener returned to Canadian soil for the first time since his selection as governor-general and was swept into the welcoming grasp of Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Michener, former Conservative MP and Commons Speaker, literally bounced down the ramp of an RCAF Yukon aircraft here for the greeting by the Liberal leader who had announced Mr. Michener's appointment 10 days earlier.

Both men were close friends since their student days at Oxford almost a half-century ago. Mr. Michener will be 67 next Wednesday, Mr. Pearson 70 just four days later.

Mrs. Michener and Mrs. Pearson threw arms around each other and exchanged hearty kisses. The two couples then strolled along a line of RCMP guards to an informal reception in the VIP lounge of an RCAF hangar.

The Yukon, which flew Mr. Michener and his wife from London, landed at 6:32 p.m. EST.

Earlier in the day Michener left Windsor Castle after spending Thursday night there as guests of the Queen. They had lunch with her Thursday after she signed Mr. Michener's formal commission as her representative in Canada.

The Mounties and RCAF personnel snapped into smart salutes as Mr. Michener's silver-haired head appeared in the doorway of the four-engined aircraft.

There was no guard of honor, no band, no artillery salute. All the pomp and ceremony is reserved for Monday when Mr. Michener will be formally installed in a ritual that begins at 11 a.m. EST in the Senate chamber. Until then he remains Hon. Roland Michener, Governor-General designate.

No formal engagements have been arranged for the Micheners this weekend. Some old Ottawa friends have been invited to call, but Mr. Michener is expected to spend most of the time preparing a speech for the installation ceremony and brushing up on the rigid protocol involved.

YOU CAN RAISE YOUR INCOME BY AS MUCH AS $3,500 PER YEAR

RAISING CHINCHILLAS

CHINCHILLA has long been recognized as one of the world's most valuable furs. The velvety softness and light weight of chinchilla have contributed to the spectacular growth of this industry, and the demand for top quality pelts far exceeds the supply.

added income — second income families, in their spare hours, produce most of the pelts sold on today's market. You, too, can share in the millions of dollars being earned by these people throughout North America.

convenience — most Chinchilla Breeders began in the basement of their homes or in their garages. Chinchillas are among the cleanest of animals, odor free, quiet and gentle.

investment — the Chinchilla business is one of the easiest, and least costly, in which to get started. If you are seeking security, are fond of animals and interested in making up to $3,500 per year in your spare time, then as little as $700 invested now can start you on the road to independence.

care and feeding — Chinchillas cost less than $3.00 a year to feed and require very little attention.

Most powerful fertilizer ever developed —

7-28-28 IS THE ANSWER TO HIGHER CORN YIELDS

Take our high analysis 7-28-28, and compare it to 5-20-20. Add up the plant food units and you find 40% more plant food in Agrico 7-28-28.

What does this mean in savings for you?

First, you handle less fertilizer. You can see the difference in the two piles, yet both piles contain the same amount of plant food.

Second, you can make more rounds in the field with the planter, without refilling. Where you apply 5-20-20 at 280 lbs/acre, you need only 200 lbs/acre of Agrico 7-28-28 to get the same amount of plant food into your soil.

Third, Agrico 7-28-28 is agronomically sound for the major crops and soils in Ontario. It's just right for corn and spring grains. Agrico 7-28-28 is high in phosphorous for early maturity and high in potash for sturdier stalks. Talk it over with your Agrico dealer and he'll get you started on an Agrico 7-28-28 program right away. You can get it in bulk or 50 lb. bag.

Spark Plugs Can Cause Rough Idle

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

When the car seems to shake and shiver at the engine idles, most amateur mechanics (and many professionals) reach for a screwdriver to adjust carburetor idle and throttle screws. According to many, this is the cure for rough idle.

The fact is, however, that faulty idle and throttle adjustment is only one of a dozen or more possible causes, the majority of which involve various fuel system, distributor and valve troubles. Most overlooked are the spark plugs.

Rough idle is not infrequently caused by dirty or incorrectly gapped plugs — or by plugs of the wrong heat range. The latter refers to the plug's ability to dissipate or retain heat. In general, hotter plugs — which hold heat longer — are needed for engines normally used for slow speeds or stop-and-go driving.

For consistent high-speed driving, colder plugs are better because they dissipate heat faster. Rapid fouling and rough idle can result when the wrong heat range is used.

W. A. asks: "What's the prime advantage of disc brakes? Do they ever have to be relined?"

The big feature is that they minimize brake fade. Disc brake linings must eventually be replaced, but they can be expected to last about half again as long as drum linings.

M. T. writes: "Have had my new stick-shift compact back to the dealer twice because the clutch pedal vibrates badly when I lightly rest my foot on it. I've been assured the clutch has been thoroughly checked out and nothing is wrong."

Then this vibration may well be due to loose or incorrectly adjusted engine mounts. Ask your dealer to check this out.

From T. S.: "You told one reader that the carburetor accelerator pump is at fault when the car hesitates or hits a flat spot upon acceleration. I've had this trouble, but my garage insists there is nothing wrong with the carburetor."

This is the most common cause, but late ignition timing will also bring on such trouble.

F. M. writes: "All winter long, after starting in the morning, my engine has been stalling the first four or five times I slowed down or stopped. After that, it runs fine. The choke was tested and pronounced A-1."

The fast idle cam on the carburetor may tend to stick when the car sits overnight. This cam is designed to increase engine speed when the choke is in operation during warm-up.

Expo Force At Practise

A squad of special guards known as Public Safety Expo 67, participated in an exercise in which they moved in a flying wedge through a pack of shouting spectators to protect an important speaker and prevent the possible outbreak of a riot. The guards, members of a 1,808-man force, will wear original Boer War pith helmets during the fair. (CP Photo)

Nixon States Shulman Inquiry Is Too Narrow

TORONTO (CP)—Leaders of the opposition fanned the flames of controversy surrounding the firing of Dr. Morton Shulman Friday as Premier John Robarts announced the selection of Mr. Justice W. D. Parker to head a royal commission to inquiry into charges against the Ontario government.

Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, said in Peterborough the terms of reference involved in the investigation of Dr. Shulman's charges are too narrow.

Mr. Nixon said the charges deal largely with matters outside of Dr. Shulman's jurisdiction as Metropolitan Toronto's chief coroner while the one-man royal commission has been limited to area's within Dr. Shulman's influence.

He said the coroner cannot be considered just another employee and added that his main responsibility is to the citizens of the community and not the government.

Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, said in Brantford that Dr. Cotnam has the right to supervise and advise other coroners under the Coroner's Act, but added that he does not have the right to intervene and take over an inquest.

Mr. MacDonald said Dr. Cotnam's action in trying to replace Dr. Elie Cass, named by Dr. Shulman to conduct the inquest, was "illegal."

"But when Dr. Shulman refused to accept Dr. Cotnam's illegal intervention, the government's action was even more indefensible—they simply fired him.

"Dr. Shulman didn't even have the right of appeal open to any lowly civil servant."

Dr. Shulman said he isn't happy with the appointment of Mr. Justice Parker to head the royal commission.

"I had hoped the government would have picked a jurist to conduct the inquiry who had not in the party," he said.

Mr. Justice Parker, 52, was president of the Hamilton West Progressive Conservative Association in 1957 and was appointed to the Ontario Supreme Court in 1962.

He declined to comment on Dr. Shulman's remarks.

Republic of Canada Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—The idea of a republic of Canada with Quebec as an associate state gets harsh treatment in a three-volume report by Ontario's advisory committee on Confederation.

Six specialists in constitutional law who wrote papers for the report agreed a bi-national status urged by some Quebec politicians was unworkable.

The 282 - page volume was tabled in the legislature Friday by Premier John Robarts who stressed that the views of the report "do not necessarily represent the views of the government."

However, the papers "will be of great value to the government in formulating policy."

Control Sought

QUEBEC CITY (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said on Friday the Quebec government intends to regain exclusive control of the content of educational radio and television programs broadcast in the province.

Pleas for Peace May Delay Truce

NEW YORK (CP - AP) — A weekend of mass peace demonstrations in New York and San Francisco has ended with disputes on their size and political hue and a statement by Secretary Dean Rusk that they "will not affect the conduct" of the war in Vietnam.

While Rusk questioned the degree of Communist participation in the rallies, a principal speaker at the New York rally, Dr. Martin Luther King, accused police of downgrading the number of peace marchers. The Nobel Prize winner minimized any Communist role.

King, who said he had "perhaps more experience than the New York police" in estimating crowds, challenged the official figure of 125,000 here, and fixed the turnout at "300,000 or 400,000." The San Francisco rally, he said, drew at least 15,000 more demonstrators than the police total of 60,000.

Of concern in the protests, Rusk said, was "that the authorities in Hanoi may misunderstand this sort of thing, and the net effect of these demonstrations will be to prolong the war and not to shorten it."

The marchers mixed the middle-aged and middle class with students and curiously-dressed representatives of Manhattan's East Village and San Francisco's Hippie districts. There were scuffles and a few arrests but no major incidents.

A Canadian contingent took part in the New York march, journeying to New York by bus from Toronto. They carried a banner accusing the Canadian government of "complicity" in the Viet Nam war.

Rusk, speaking in Washington Sunday, said:

"If we heard that 100,000 people were marching in Hanoi for peace we would draw very important conclusions from it. Now we don't know whether Hanoi is sufficiently sophisticated to understand that this is not the way the American people come to the decisions, and that these demonstrations will not affect the conduct of the war.

"I have no doubt at all that the Communist apparatus is very busy indeed in these operations all over the world and in our own country, but I don't mean to say by that that all those who have objections to the war in Vietnam are Communists. But the worldwide Communist movement is working very hard on this."

King said: "I don't think the Communists play any significant part. . . . The people protesting the war are by and large patriotic Americans."

King also criticized a report that the FBI was looking into "anti - war activity," a disclosure made without further elaboration Saturday by George Christian, White House press secretary.

King declared himself philosophically at odds with communism and said he could not "condone" draft - card burnings such as the ones that came as a preliminary to his speech Saturday by calling for an end to the war.

In Saigon, former vice-president Nixon expressed surprise at King's anti-war attitude. The effect of the demonstrations, he said, would be to give credence to the myth that the U.S. will pull out of Vietnam.

Ghana Coup Foiled

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)— Ghana's military rulers today foiled an attempt to overthrow them, and arrested young officers who staged the coup bid.

The National Liberation Council leaders, who themselves took over when they toppled President Kwame Nkrumah 14 months ago, announced they had seized members of a three-man junta which replaced power in a broadcast just four hours earlier.

J. W. K. Harley, vice-chairman of the council and one of the leaders of the anti-Nkrumah coup in February, 1966, went on the air to declare that the coup "by a small section of the army's reconnaissance unit" was thwarted.

He said those who took part in the attempt had been overpowered and disarmed.

The would-be junta, headed by a paratroop officer, Lt.-Col. Assasie, announced its seizure of power at dawn today.

It said it was disbanding the National Liberation Council and called on council members to report to army headquarters.

But the coup was apparently short-lived.

Four hours later, the government announced it was firmly in control and Harley, who also is inspector - general of police, said commanders of the army, navy and air force had announced their support for the council.

He appealed to Ghanaians to remain calm and return to work.

This capital was quiet today.

Michener Pleads For Unity

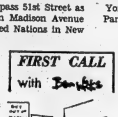
OTTAWA (CP) — Governor-General Michener called on all Canadians today to take pride in the achievements taking place in Quebec "for they will stimulate and strengthen Canada as a whole."

"We now see in French Canada a renaissance of that creative vigor and intellectual brilliance which have long been the mark of French civilization," he said in his installation address.



Stressing this theme of national unity, the new Governor-General said Canada is fortunate to have "two mighty currents of civilization," French and British.

HONG KONG (Reuters) — North Vietnam has rejected the lines of a four-point Canadian proposal to end the war in Vietnam.

TORONTO (CP) — Traffic accidents resulted in 25 of 30 accidental deaths across Canada during the weekend. A Canadian Press survey also showed three persons were drowned, one died in a fire and one in a fall.

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Two of the 39-man crew of the 33,627-ton Liberian tanker Diane were reported missing and the tanker was on fire after a dawn collision in heavy fog off Dutch coast. But the tanker's captain said the fire was under control.

Quick Mom, the Needle, I Picked Teacher's Brains

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence that specific information can be transmitted from one animal to another by means of brain extract injections was reported by two separate research groups today.

The experiments were with laboratory rats and mice, but Dr. George Ungar of Baylor University college of medicine, Houston, Tex., said the findings "probably can be extended to some of the more complex mental processes" in humans.

Both research groups reported their results at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Ungar said the probability of his findings being due to chance were "less than 1 in 1,000."

Dr. Walter H. Essman and Dr. Gerald M. Lohrer of the department of psychology, Queen's College, City University of New York, the other research team, described their results as "very statistically significant."

Both experiments tested the ability of mice to escape from a maze.

Extracts prepared from the brains of trained animals then were injected into untrained rats or mice, and a second group of rats and mice was given extracts from the brains of untrained laboratory animals.

Before the injections, slightly more than half of each group chose the lighted escape route.

But in later tests, more than three-quarters of the mice who had received brain extracts from trained animals chose the lighted or shock-free escape route. The other mice followed the same escape routes they chose before injections from untrained animals.

"Over 600 animals have now been tested . . . and over-all results indicate a very high probability that some specific learned information has been transferred from the trained donors to the recipients," Ungar said.

Lunar Robot To Dig

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) Surveyor III, packing its own little shovel to plow the moon's soil and scrape back open lunar rocks, sailed through space today aiming to land softly Wednesday at a site chosen for U.S. astronauts.

The 10-foot-tall spacecraft—most complex robot ever tossed toward the moon by the United States—blasted off at 2.05 a.m. EST today aboard an Atlas-Centaur rocket to begin a planned 65-hour, 237,000-mile trip.

The craft's digging device consists of a scoop about the size of a man's hand. It is attached to an expandable arm which can be manipulated, much like a mechanical shovel, by radio signals from the ground.

Bomb Intended For Man's Wife Leaves 5 Dead

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP)— "It's a bomb!" someone yelled as feed mill employee Lee Holbrook entered busy Bingman's drug store Saturday carrying a cloth - covered box that was smoking.

Within moments, a homemade dynamite bomb exploded, killing five persons, injuring 10 and touching off a fire that destroyed or damaged the drug store and at least three adjoining buildings in downtown Circleville.

Police disclosed later they had been investigating Holbrook, who had been having marital difficulties, "for some time."

"He was reported to have cut her (his wife) sometime Saturday morning," said Police Chief Robert Temple.

Holbrook's wife, Phyllis, was employed in the drug store but had not arrived for work when the bomb went off.

Second Bombing Error Kills 14

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command reported 14 Vietnamese killed and 25 wounded at dawn Sunday in the second bombing mistake by the U.S. Air Force in two days.

The command said a Super Sabre jet dropped at least seven bombs on a rebel hot-spot area — village for defectors from the Communists in the Mekong Delta and the nearby provincial capital of True Giant, in Kien Hoa province about 50 miles south of Saigon. There was no explanation for the mistake.

Saturday two F-100 Super Sabre jets mistakenly bombed a unit of South Vietnamese soldiers 293 miles northeast of Saigon. U.S. officials said 29 Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 70 wounded, while Vietnamese sources said there were 41 killed and 50 severely wounded.

Canadians Demonstrate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 2,000 persons demonstrated in cities across Canada during the weekend against the war in Vietnam.

The Canadian demonstrations coincided with mass protests in New York and San Francisco Saturday, involving about 155,000 marchers including some Canadians.

Most of the shouting and placard-waving at demonstrations in Halifax, Toronto, Regina and Vancouver were against U.S. involvement in the war. But they sparked counter - demonstrations that upheld the U.S. position.

Meanwhile, the United Church of Canada called on the federal government to "greatly increase its medical aid to both North and South Vietnam."

In a telegram Sunday to Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin, the church's board of evangelism and social service suggested the Canadian government should supply a hospital ship and aircraft to fly wounded North and South Vietnamese civilians to Canada for treatment in Canadian hospitals.

"The board recognizes that there may be conflicting views on the war in Vietnam, but surely no one would oppose such humanitarian actions which we propose," the telegram said.

Here Teen-agers Want Right To Attend Dances on Sunday

Citizens of Belleville witnessed their first march on city hall Saturday. Approximately 250 teen-agers turned out, either to participate in the demonstration, or to watch it.

About 40 or 50 youths picketed city hall with placards reading, "Support the Tiki," or "Dancing on Sunday!" and then marched up and down Front Street.

Other teen-agers pushed and shoved and milled about and one youth was knocked to the sidewalk. Police succeeded in averting any fights.

The demonstration was a reaction to the police enforcement of the Lord's Day Act which prohibits charging admission to Sunday dances. The Tiki Club charged admission on April 9.

The Tiki members are protesting discrimination against their club. They have accused authorities of allowing other organizations to charge admission for Sunday dances.

Although there was no dancing done, police had their hands full making sure that the demonstration was orderly. Officers were stationed at intervals along Front Street while motorcycles patrolled the area.

By the end of the afternoon, the protesters were gone and the excitement of the demonstration had cooled. All that remained were a few signs on the back windows of cars.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A storm centre is moving in from the southwest and will cross southern Ontario during the day, spreading rain across central and northern areas and creating extensive thunderstorm activity along the lower lakes. Very warm air ahead of the storm will raise temperatures to the high 70s north of Lake Erie but elsewhere 60 to 70 degree readings seem likely. Winds behind the storm will sweep cold air across the province Tuesday.

Break-up of City, Rural Roads More Severe This Year Than Usual

It's apparently a combination of several factors, but the spring break-up of rural roads this year is one of the worst in several seasons.

County roads Engineer Peter Anderson says "Severe breakup of roads has been experienced in all parts of southern Ontario. It's not just in Hastings county."

The reason for the greater than normal break-up is related to the amount of moisture in the roadbed at the time of freezeup last fall and also with the speed with which the frost came out of the roads this spring.

Two costly bad break-ups occurred on the suburban road between Bellleville and Wallbridge, while another on the Jones Creek road west of Bellleville resulted in this artery being closed for a few days. The breakup was so severe, that even the county grader got stuck.

Mr. Anderson says that break-ups in surface treated roads are considerably more difficult to repair than are gravel roads.

With gravel roads, new gravel and stone can be dumped in to provide a firm base but with surface treated roads the broken sections have to be graded out before even temporary repairs can be affected.

City engineer Wilbur Purcell said that much the same trouble was experienced in the city.

He blamed the frequent "freeze-thaw" cycles occurring during the past winter which allowed additional moisture to penetrate the road base.

Fertilizer Plant On Thurlow Site

Construction of a new $100,000 fertilizer plant in Thurlow township east of Highway 37 at Cannifton has been announced by Charles F. McGuire, district manager for Allied Chemicals Ltd., at Port Hope.

The announcement is that an immediate start is planned on the construction of a fertilizer mixing plant and service centre.

The site is the former Petrofina property east of the Cannifton pipeline tank farm which Agricultural Chemicals has acquired. The mixing plant, expected to employ four to five permanent employees with additional seasonal help, will be similar to a present company plant at Port Hope.

Fertilizer will be available in bag and bulk in conjunction with bulk delivery and spreader rental service.

In the past Mackenzie Feeds have operated an Agricultural Chemicals dealership warehouse at Bellevile.

Council Sets Aside Mill For Park

TRENTON — Trenton council has set aside one mill in its 1967 budget for the completion of Phase One of Centennial Park, scheduled for opening in June. While much work has been done on the park area, there still remains much to be done, funds for completion of curbing have been called and the roadway for the scenic drive must be paved.

Trenton Kiwanians have said they will develop the softball diamond; the Trenton Soccer League plans to build a soccer field, and the entrance gates will be built by Trenton Rotary.

An appeal from ex-mayor Kenneth Couch for donations to provide funds for flowers and shrubs has met with some response, but there is much to be done in this area also.

PRESENTED WITH TRAY

Retiring association president Douglas Tufford was presented with a silver tray at Friday night's Centennial sports dance in the Batawa recreation hall, announced by the Murray Township Liberal Association.

Among the many guests at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jess and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temple of Bellevile.

YMCA Again to Operate Four Camping Sessions

The Belleville YMCA Family Camping series of four sessions will open on Wednesday, April 19th when "Y" General Secretary Bert Messarar will give an illustrated talk on family camping in general. A discussion period will be held to answer questions and to find out the specific needs of families of those present for the rest of the series. Maps, booklets and information on "Where to go, and what to see" will be available for those registered. Other material such as lists of games to play in the car, check lists of things to take and to do before leaving, where to write for information on various areas will be available.

More and more families are finding in camping exciting inexpensive, fun-f, way of spending weekends or longer vacations. Family camping is one of the fastest growing recreational activities throughout America. A family camping revolution is sweeping the country. It is estimated that nearly 1,000,000 people may camp in provincial parks in Ontario this year. Today many families have discovered that it is a lot of good fun for everybody to go camping together. This new trend is consistent with the general trend to become less the spectator and more the participant in recreational activity. Do-it-yourself camping has arrived.

The Belleville Family YMCA is interested in promoting family camping as part of its program of working with and for families. "Y" General Secretary, Bert Messarar, an old hand at family camping, has arranged a series of sessions of interest to those who have not yet camped and also for experienced campers, who would like to share experiences and to find out about new and different places to go and what's new or recommended in equipment.

Speakers arranged for include Bert Messarar on April 19th, Harold Castelon of the Department of Lands and Forests on April 26th, Dorothy Batchelor on food and cooking for camping on May 3rd and Dr. Russell Scott on May 10th. Films and slides will be used. Included will be sessions on camping in Ontario, sites and resources; food selection, camp cooking and food preparation; equipment for camping; private camping areas with plenty of opportunity for questions and the sharing of camping experiences. All camping families, whether experienced campers or would-be campers are invited to this part. Registrations are being received at the "Y" office, phone 962-9243.

Vers McMurray Heads Council For Tourism

MADOC — Vers McMurray of Gilmour, has been elected president of the Regional Council of Tourist Region II — which includes Quinte district tourist areas.

Other officers named at a recent annual meeting are: O. F. Bradley (Belleville Chamber of Commerce), vice-president; Mrs. A. McLarkie, Belleville, secretary-treasurer.

Council members elected were Ted Turner, Frankford; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hopper, Bancroft; Carmen Gibson, Plainfield; Don Rogers, Stirling; R. Neal, Marmora; Del Hiatt, Stenburg; H. Wilmot Rose, Frankford.

Buoy Tender Puts Out Markers

Another navigation season in the Bay of Quinte was officially opened over the weekend with the annual arrival of the buoy tender Greenville.

The buoy tender tied up at the Belleville dock on Saturday afternoon and early Sunday morning hoisted aboard channel markers which had been stored on the dock for the winter months.

Greenville crewmen said their reason opening trip up the bay was a few days later than usual.

Since being picked up last fall for winter storage, channel markers have received a bright new coat of paint and are all ready for another season in the water.

Lights on the markers are battery operated and midway through the navigation season will have their batteries changed.

Now that the Greenville has made her annual spring rounds, Trenton Harbor Master Don Barrett says the first coal boat of the season is expected to arrive in a few days.

Walk-a-thon Centennial Project of Quinte School

The Phanism Walker is in Belleville. Sponsored by the downtown merchants of Belleville he has arrived to win Operation Blister, Quinte's Walk-a-thon. The Phanism Walker is probably the best walker of all time.

He will be walking with many other contenders on April 30 when they line up at Quinte Secondary School to begin the gruelling march.

Operation Blister is Quinte Secondary School's Centennial project to raise money for a track. The goal is $10,000. Each contestant must be sponsored by at least 10c a mile. More would be welcome.

Anyone who can walk may enter. Prizes have been donated by the merchants in Belleville to the top two finishers who complete the walk and collect the largest amount of money among the finishers.

Prizes will also be awarded to the top five people who collect the largest amount of money regardless of whether they finish the race or not.

The walk covers an area of nine miles, beginning at Quinte and continuing down College Street to Sidney Street to the Wallbridge Road in Cloverleaf Drive and finally to North Front Street and back to Quinte.

The Phanism Walker has challenged anyone to compete with him. The Phanism Walker so far is unbeaten.

Firemen Had Busy Weekend

Bellevile Firemen had a busy weekend. They were called out to Union Carbide on Saturday for 25 minutes to fight a fire set by unknown persons in a marshy area.

Later on Saturday they cleaned up some spilled gasoline on North Front Street.

On Sunday the rear kitchen of a house at 3 Starling Street caught fire. It is believed that children were playing with matches. Damage was slight.

The Fire Department has found many fires after dark left unattended smouldering in the streets. Fire Chief Postie cautions citizens in this regard and reminds them of the city bylaw prohibiting such fires on streets.

Square Dance Clubs Hold Party, Graduation

Swing Your Partner — Promenade!

That was the call Saturday evening at the Quinte Secondary School as the Quinte Twirlers square dance clubs held graduation exercises for 134 lovers of old time dancing.

It was the club's annual graduation for the square dance clubs operated under the auspices of the Belleville Recreation Club and Quinte's gym was a riot of color and gaiety as the dancers demonstrated their ability in modern square dance figures and round dances.

Age is no barrier to enjoyment of square dancing and Saturday evening's graduation saw dancers ranging from seven to 70 years.

For the graduates Saturday evening's program was the culmination of seven months of weekly lessons. During the year approximately 350 Belleville and district residents have been actively engaged in square dancing. Each week sees six club nights and three class nights.

In fact there is a square dance club for every age group.

There are the Quinte Young Twirlers for grade school children; Quinte Teen Twirlers for the high school group; the Sing "Beau Nots" for young adults; the Hits and Misses for the after graduates, the intermediate "Whirlaways" and the advanced level Dancelords.

Approximately 300 dancers turned out for Saturday evening's graduation program while the gym gallery was packed with onlookers. Garn May was the caller. Instructional classes were taught by Chic James, grade school children; Al Smith and Jim Ketcheson. Another class taught by Garn May was 26 married couple graduates.

Quinte Twirler chairman Rob Williamson welcomed the graduates to their new clubs.

Grand March

Girl Charged With Assault After Stabbing

TRENTON — A 15-year-old Toronto girl has been charged with assault causing bodily harm following last week's stabbing incident at the Hart's Corners' School. She will appear in juvenile court at Brighton April 26.

Provincial police are still investigating the circumstances of a playground incident during which one 14-year-old girl suffered a knife wound to her chest. The report was that a knife was drawn during an argument about a baseball game, and in the resulting melee, the younger girl was accidentally wounded. She has been released from hospital and is reported to be in good condition.

Parents of the children who attend the school met with area school board members Friday to discuss the incident. The 15-year-old girl, a ward of the Children's Aid, has been withdrawn from the school.

Residential Tax Rate Climbs Two Mills, Commercial Four

TRENTON — It's definite! Trenton residents will be paying more taxes in 1967.

It took town council a 10-hour special session Friday to bring down the budget submitted by Councillor D. E. Fraser and his finance committee.

With residential assessment set at $9,984,600 (down $25,000 from 1966), home owners will be levied at a rate of 32.81 mills, compared with the 30.81 rate which remained substantially unchanged for the past two years.

Commercial property owners and industries will pay municipal taxes this year at 103.43 mills — an increase of almost four mills over the previous rate.

The town's commercial assessment for 1967 is $6,999,600 — unchanged from last year.

The increased levies did not come as much of a surprise.

Mayor James MacDonald one week ago went on record predicting a tax hike to meet a number of "extras" for 1967.

One of these, which he felt would almost account for at least a one - mill increase, is the development of the town's Centennial Park.

The project must be completed this year to realize government grants.

Councillor Fraser agreed, noting increases would be in order to meet extra costs required to ensure the success of Trenton's centennial celebration.

The levy bylaw will be formally passed tonight.

The following is a breakdown of major budget expenditures for 1967 with comparisons for 1966 in brackets:

Public Works, $286,500 ($202,-600); general government, ($85,-400 ($83,600); fire department, $86,600 ($82,500); police department, $164,100 ($143,100); law enforcement, $35,300 $31,-400); other protection, $68,000 ($62,800); sanitation and waste, $144,400 ($138,100); health, $32,300 ($22,000); welfare, $136,-800 ($155,300); recreation, $95,-100 ($88,200); debt charges $279,300 ($286,100).

Capital expenditures revenue is estimated at $51,700 compared to $65,200.

Total figure on which taxes must be levied is $2,134,800.

This compares with last year's grand total of $2,050,900.

Education again contributes the heaviest bundle in the taxpayer's burden — although it is slightly lighter than last year.

Total expenditure on schools is estimated at $804,000 — compared with $815,000 in 1966.

The new school rate takes 24.64 mills on residential assessment and 28.49 mills on commercial.

A more favorable grant structure has helped slightly reduce education costs.

The next major item — public works — sees increased expenditures this year on road reconstruction and sanitary sewerage.

'Career-Opportunity Night' Sponsored by Women's Club

An ambitious project to encourage ambition in older school-age students undecided about future careers, will be presented in Belleville tomorrow night.

"Career - Opportunity Night" at Quinte Secondary School is a result of organizational work by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Invited by the guidance department of QSS to stage a project geared to raising student enthusiasm for later careers, the club has called on local industry and outside professional agencies.

Talks, exhibits and off-the-cuff counselling will be part of the program which gets underway in the school gymnasium at 7.30 p.m.

Belleville industries are seeding along exhibits and representatives while also on hand will be officials from Queen's University, Loyalist Campus of the College of Applied Arts and Technology and the Ralls College of Canada.

Students from all city high schools and public school grades 7 - 8 have been invited to take advantage of the project.

Apple Blossom Festival Gets County Support

PICTON (Staff)— Prince Edward County Council will give financial support to this year's Apple Blossom Festival in Ameliasburgh Township.

Members of council voted at their last meeting to authorize a grant of $200, toward the cost of the project.

The festival will be held on May 31, the holiday weekend, centred on the property of former warden of Prince Edward, Harold Bonter, who is one of the county's leading apple growers.

PC Women Hold District Advisory Meet

TRENTON — Well - known Conservatives from all corners of the Quinte area were in Trenton Saturday to attend the spring meeting of Eastern District No. 2 of the women's advisory committee, Ontario PC Association.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. J. R. McFarlane of Kingston and greetings were also extended by Mrs. Irene Markwart, president of the Trenton PC women's auxiliary and E. M. Parker Jr., Quinte riding PC association president. Councillor C. V. Graham represented town council at the dinner meeting in Canterbury Hall.

The scheduled guest speaker, Mrs. Dorothy Downing, national director PC Women of Canada, was unable to attend owing to illness, and in her place, Vice Coleburn of Toronto showed a film, the main theme of which was "how to win an election".

Will Write History Of Italian Canadians

The part which Italian Canadians have played and are playing in the development of Canada as a nation is to be the basis of a Centennial Committee sponsored book and Italians living in the Belleville area have an invitation to be included in its pages.

The Centennial Committee has made a grant of $3,000 available toward publication of the book of which several thousand will be printed, Antonio V. Spada will do the writing.

Last week Belleville Mayor J. R. Ellis received a letter from the sponsoring body involving information regarding Italians living in the Belleville area.

Italians who can supply the above information are asked to commmunicate with City Clerk Adam Stalker at city hall.

Liquor Vote Expected in Wellington

PICTON (Staff) — Another liquor vote is expected to be held in the near future for the village of Wellington.

Reeve Robert Boyce confirmed that the village is now due for another vote as it is three years since the last one was held, and a number of residents in the community have expressed interest in a second plebiscite. However, no date as yet has been set", he said, "but the time being most seriously considered at the moment is in February of next year".

Fire Chief's Son Suffers Broken Thigh

PICTON (Staff) — Seven-year-old David Foshay, son of Picton Fire Chief Clarence Foshay of Picton, was injured in an accident which occurred about 10:15 a.m. Sunday. The Foshay boy was on his way home from " Sunday School, when he ran in front of a car driven by Lila E. Holmes of Church Street, Picton, at the intersection of Church and Mary Streets. The driver of the car was alone at the time of the accident. The 7-year-old was taken to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital in Picton with a broken thigh. Picton Police Department investigated the accident and no charges will be laid.

Quota Policies Discussed

Elected representatives for milk producers in the counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, and Picton met Wednesday at the Cheese Marketing Board building.

The chairman of the meeting was George McLaughlin and the vice chairman was Orville Guy.

The milk committee members discussed quota policies and voted on quota policy proposals.

The members voted two thirds in favor of quotas in Ontario. They were also in favor of the proposal that allocation of a new quota would be free of cost to an eligible industrial milk producer or small fluid quota holder.

After a heated discussion the members decided in favor of a proposal that quotas be not pooled, should be made negotiable among producers, subject to board policies and approval.

Mineral Club Members View Two Movies

The April meeting of the Quinte Gem and Mineral Club was held in the Entomology Laboratory on Wednesday evening, Charlie Jeffs chaired the meeting in the absence of president Gordon Ajeya.

Club participation in the coming Hobby Show seems assured, and plans are proceeding to join with other local clubs for a fall show as well.

Two films were shown, the first entitled, "Adventure in Steel" which tells the story of Algoma's steel industry. Through the motion picture color camera the club members were shown some of Canada's industrial might in the form of massive steel - making and handling equipment; much of it Canadian designed and manufactured. The film leaves no doubt as to the importance of steel in Canada's economy, of the particular importance of the Algoma Steel Corporation.

Prior to the showing of the next film, a "show and tell" session was held in which specific members tell about some particular minerals which they have brought to the meeting.

The second film entitled, "the Big 2," tells the story of the uranium discoveries in the "2" shaped area in the Blind River and Elliot Lake districts. The film tells a story of determination by prospectors to unlock the secrets of the uranium deposits in their eventual success, and the multi - million dollar industry which resulted. Club members were able to participate via the film, in the frantic exploration, staking, and filing of the mining claims. The film provides an excellent look at the immense amount of work to be done and the money that must be spent before a mine starts to "pay off".

Tentative plans for field trips were made for the coming months, and suitable announcements will be made prior to each trip. A rock swap between members ended the meeting.

That great V.O. taste. Light, smooth, and labeled like this...

A Gloomy Sunday

John Sietma described his family's predicament as he visited the blackened ruins of what was their comfortable home until fire struck on Saturday. He saw the most part of 17 years of hard work written off by smoke and flames. He also talked about plans to relocate in a rented place and eventually rebuild.

Lawn Bowlers Prepare to Play

The curling stones have been put away in moth balls for another season but the bowling bowls are being shined up for another season on the greens.
